

New Store! New Goods!

B. F. MESERVEY,

HAVING returned to Quincy and taken the Store, one door north of David B. Steer's Variety Store, in

JOHNSON'S BUILDING,

will keep constantly on hand, a large stock of

Gold and Silver Watches.

Ob, Curb and Vest Chains,

LOCKETS,

Gold Stone, Jet, Florentine, Painted, Coral and Mosaic Jewelry.

OLD BRACELETS, BELT PINS,

Gents' Pins and Studs,

FINGER RINGS,

Together with a large assortment of

Silver and Plated Ware,

Clocks and Fancy Goods.

Having his Goods direct from the manufacturer he will be enabled to sell them much less than the usual retail prices. He will also keep a

LARGE STOCK

than ever offered before in Quincy.

All Goods warranted to be pure. Old Gold and Silver taken in exchange.

53-Coffin Plates Engraved.-42

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired in a skillful manner, and done when PROMISED.

Quincy Oct 24

GROCERIES, FLOUR,

AND

PROVISIONS!

THE Subscriber would respectfully invite the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity to call examine his stock of Groceries, Flour and Provisions, where they will find a

good assortment of all kinds

Goods kept commonly in a Grocery Store, and he will sell at the lowest wholesale prices.

A few more sheets of Old Hyslop Tea at 25 cents per pound.

40 Tubs of prime dairy Butter.

200 Bushels of Chienango and Long Red Potatoes.

All those in want of Goods will find at my store the best to call and examine, as they will find a good assortment at the lowest prices.

25-Goods delivered to any part of the Town and Express.

H. VINAL,

the Old Stand of Faxon & Brothers.

Quincy, Oct. 27.

loves, Handkerchiefs, Neck Ties

etc., etc., etc.

JOSEPH W. LOMBARD.

AS just received a large assortment of Black Gloves, from $2 to $3.50. Also—

Long Gloves, at low prices.

Neck Ties, Stocks, False Bosoms, White

and Black Silk Handkerchiefs from 75 cents

to $1.62.

Quincy Nov. 13.

Boots and Shoes.

MR. BRIDGE CLAPP has just received a full assortment of Boots and Shoes, suitable for the season, which he will sell at the

VERY LOWEST PRICES.

Give him a call soon.

Lot of Boots and Shoes slightly shop worn

at reduced prices.

Quincy, July 31.

Pickles.

GALLONS of Pickles just received and

for sale cheap for cash.

GEO. L. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Feb. 28.

WHITE HANDS!

ERSIAN BATH

SOAP.

the Toilet, Bath, Nursery, Shaving,

and for Cleaning the Teeth.

THIS superior Soap will make the HANDS

WHITE AND SOFT, and is a certain remedy

for CHAPPED HANDS, TANS, SLEIGHERS, and all medicinal purposes where a strong and healthful effect is desired.

WM. SMITH HALL,

Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass.

OVER, J. C. General Traveling Agent.

Price—25 cents per cake.

Sold by

MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy Aug. 22

Salt Pork.

POUNDS of good Salt Pork for sale at Boston prices.

DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Sept. 27.

Salt Pork.

FIRST article of Salt Pork packed by the subscribers for sale by the barrel or other quantities to suit purchasers, cheap for sale at the lowest market price.

GEO. L. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Jan. 10.

Are you Nervous?

DODD'S NERVE is a positive remedy for nervous suffering. It produces a delicious sense of repose—calms the agitated mind—relieves the nervous system and restores refreshing sleep, thus equipping the nervous fluid for the system. It contains NO OPIUM or any other poisonous mineral or narcotic.

The latest medical, wife, or mother, will find it ALWAYS safe and reliable. It does not produce consti-tion, but relieves it, being the best remedy for Nervous Diseases now known. Price $1.00.

WILSON, FAIRBANK, & CO., Boston, Mass.,

Sole Agents.

Mrs. E. HAYDEN, Agent,
Quincy, June 26.

OOD'S GLYCERINE LOTION,

FOR improving the complexion, and for the cure prevention of Chapped Hands, Tan,

cles, Sunburn, Roughness of Skin, Eruptions, etc. For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy Feb 6

Butter!

TUBS of Prime Dairy Butter in pack ages from thirty to one hundred pounds each at the lowest market prices. In the tubs

one, each by DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Dec. 20.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XXIII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, JANUARY 1st, 1859.

NUMBER I.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION
Over Mr. E. Clapp's Store, on Hancock St.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

Two DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.

No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.

Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business letters and communications, (postage paid), will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers: Railway Village, JOSIAH BARBOCK; West District, GEORGE H. LOCKE; Milton, CHARLES BRECK; Dorchester, ORIN P. RACON; Weymouth, F. A. KINGSBURY; Abington, JOSEPH CLEVERLY; South Scituate, SAMUEL A. TURNER; Brooklyn, (N. Y.) GERSHOM DREW.

Miscellaneous.

The Happy New Year.

BY T. S. ARTHUR.

Happy New Year, Papa! The sitting-room door was thrown open, and a sweet little girl came bounding in. Her cheeks were all aglow—smiles played around her cherry lips—her eyes were dancing with sunny light.

Happy New Year, Dear Papa! And the next moment she was in her father's lap—her small arms clinging around his neck, and her rosy mouth pressed to his.

Happy New Year, my sweet one! responded Mr. Edgar, as he clasped the child fondly to his heart. May all your New Years be happy, he added, in a lower voice, and with a prayer in his heart.

Little Ellen laid her head in confiding love against her father's breast, and he bent down his manly cheek until it rested on the soft masses of her golden hair.

To her it was a happy New Year's morning, and the words that fell from her lips were heart-renewing. But it was not so to Mr. Edgar. The cares of this world, and the deceptions of riches, had, like evil weeds, found a rank growth in his spirit; while good seeds of truth, which, in earlier life, had sent forth their fresh green blades that lifted themselves in the bright, invigorating sunshine, gave now but feeble promise for the harvest time.

No, Mr. Edgar was not happy. There was a pressure on his feelings; an unsatisfied reaching out into the future, a vague consciousness of approaching evil. Very tenderly he loved his little one; and as she lay nestled against him, he could not help thinking of the time when he was a child, and when the New Years were happy ones. Ellen loved no place so well as her father's arms. When they were folded tightly around her, she had nothing more to desire; so she lay very still and silent, while the thoughts of her father wandered away from the loving child on his bosom to his own unsatisfied state of mind.

For years, he said within himself, I have been in earnest pursuit of the means of happiness, yet happiness itself seems every year to be still further in the distance. There is something wrong. I cannot be in the true path. My days are busy and restless, my nights burdened with schemes that rarely do more than cheat my glowing fancy. What is the meaning of this?

And Mr. Edgar fell into a deep reverie, from which he was aroused by the voice of his wife, as she laid her hand upon his shoulder.

A happy New Year, and many joyful returns! she said in loving tones, as she pressed her lips to his forehead.

He did not answer. The tenderly-spoken good wishes of his wife fell very gratefully, like refreshing dew, upon his heart; but he was distinctly conscious of not being happy.

So far as worldly condition was concerned, Mr. Edgar had no cause of mental depression. His business was prosperous under a careful management, and every year he saw himself better off by a few thousand dollars. Always, however, it must be told, the number fell short of his expectations.

There is something wrong. Mr. Edgar's thoughts were all running in one direction. A startling truth seemed suddenly to have been revealed to him, and he felt inclined to look at it in all possible aspects. Why am I not happy? That was the question he asked. But the answer was not given.

After breakfast, Mr. Edgar left home and went to his store. As he passed along the street, he saw at a window the face of a most lovely child. Her beauty, that had something like heavenly innocence, impressed him so deeply that he turned to gain a second look, and in doing so, his eyes saw on the door of the dwelling the name of Abram James. There was an instant revulsion of feeling; and for the first time that morning, Mr. Edgar remembered one of the causes of his uncomfortable state of mind. Abram James was an unfortunate debtor who had failed to meet his obligations, among which were two notes of five hundred dollars each given to Mr. Edgar. These had been placed by the latter in the hands of his lawyer, with directions to sue them out, and obtain the most that could be realized. Only the day before—the last day of the year—he had learned that there were two judgments that would take precedence of his, and sweep off a share of the debtor's property. The fact had chafed him considerably, causing him to indulge in harsh language towards his debtor. This language was not just, as he knew in his heart. But the loss of his money fretted him, and filled him with unkind feelings towards the individual who had occasioned the loss.

No wonder that Mr. Edgar was unhappy. As he continued on his way, the angry impulse that quickened the blood in his veins subsided, and through the mist that obscured his mental vision, he saw the bright face of a child—the child of his unfortunate debtor. His own precious one was no lovelier—no purer; nor had her lips uttered on that morning in sweeter tones the words—"A happy New Year, Papa!"

How the thought chilled him!

With his face bowed, and his eyes upon the ground, Mr. Edgar walked on. He could not sweep aside the image of that child at the window, nor keep back his thoughts from entering the dwelling where her presence might be the only sunbeam that gave light in his gloomy chambers.

A happy New Year, Papa? Mr. Edgar almost started, for the words had so distinct an utterance to his inward ear, that they seemed as if spoken in the ambient air. In fancy, he had seen the troubled debtor, over whom hung many a sin, his own among the rest, leaving the chamber where he had passed his last night, and entering the sitting-room. There, alone, with his face bowed upon his breast in gloomy reverie, Mr. Edgar had seen him; and while his heart was enlarged with pity and sympathy, the door opened—light footsteps moved across the room—a child sprang into his arms, and a glad voice exclaimed—

A happy New Year, Papa! When Mr. Edgar arrived at his store, his feelings towards Mr. James were very different from what they were on the day previous. All anger—all resentment—were gone, and kindness had taken their place. What if Mr. James did owe him a thousand dollars? What if he should lose the whole amount of indebtedness? Was the condition of the former so much better than his own, that he would care to change places with him? The very idea caused a shudder to run along his nerves.

Poor man! he said to himself, pityingly.

What a terrible thing to be thus involved in debt—thus crippled, thus driven to the wall. It would kill me! Men are very cruel to each other, and I am cruel with the rest. What are a thousand dollars to me or a thousand dollars to my well-to-do neighbor, compared to the ruin of a helpless fellow-man? James asked time; in two years he was sure he could recover himself and make all good. But, with a heartlessness that caused my cheek to burn as I think of it, I answered—

The first loss is always the best loss. I will get what I can, and let the balance go. The look he then gave me has troubled my conscience ever since. No wonder it is not a happy New Year.

Scarcely had Mr. Edgar passed the dwelling of his unfortunate creditor, when the latter, who had been walking the floor of his parlor in a troubled state of mind, came to the window and stood by his child, who was dear to him as a child could be to the heart of a father.

Happy New Year, Papa! It was the third time since morning dawn that he had received this greeting from the same sweet lips—the third time that her kisses were given with the heart-warmth of childhood's unselfish love.

Mr. James tried to give back the same glad greeting, but the words seemed to choke him, and failed in the utterance. As the two stood by the window, the wife and mother came up and leaned against her husband, looked forth, with a sad heart. Oh no! It was not a happy new year's morning to them. Long before the dawning of another year, they must go forth from their pleasant home; and both their hearts shrank back in fear from the dark beyond.

Good morning, dear, said Mr. James, soon afterwards, as with hat and coat and muffler on, he stood ready to go forth to meet the business trials of the day. His voice was depressed and his countenance sad. Mrs. James did not say "good morning" in return. But her husband saw the motion of her lips and the tears in her eyes, and he knew what was in her heart.

The business assigned to that day, was a painful one for Mr. James. The only creditor who had commenced a suit, was Mr. Edgar, he having declined entering into any arrangement with the other creditors, coldly saying that, in his opinion, "the first loss was the best loss," and the extensions were, in most cases, equivalent to the abandonment of a claim. He was willing to take what the law would give him. Pursuant to this view, a suit had been brought, and the debtor, to anticipate the result, confessed judgement to two of his largest creditors, who honorably bound themselves to see that a pro rata division was made of all his effects.

The business of this New Year's Day, was to draw up as complete a statement as possible of his affairs, and Mr. James went about the work with a heavy heart. He had been engaged in this way for over an hour, when one of his clerks came to the desk where he was writing, and handed him a letter which a lad had just brought in. He broke the seal with a nervous foreboding of trouble, for of late, these letters by the hands of private messengers had been frequent, and rarely of an agreeable character. From the envelope, as he commenced withdrawing the letter, there dropped upon the desk a narrow piece of paper, folded like a bill. He took it up with almost reluctant fingers and slowly pressed back the ends so as to read its face, and comprehend its import. Twice his eyes went over the brief lines, before he was clear as to their meaning. They were as follows:—

Received, January 1, 18—, of Abram James, One thousand Dollars in full of all demands.

Hiram Edgar.

Hurriedly, now, did Mr. James unfold the letter that accompanied this receipt. Its language moved him deeply:

ABRAM JAMES, Esq.—Dear Sir: I was not in a right state of mind when I gave direction to have suit brought against you for the two notes which remain unpaid. I have seen clearer since, and wish to act from a feeling principle. My own affairs are prosperous. During the year which has just closed my profits have been better than in any year since I started business. Your affairs, on the contrary, are unprosperous. Heavy losses instead of fair profits, are the result of a year's tireless efforts, and you find yourself near the bottom of the wheel, while I am sweeping upwards. As I think of this and my unfeeling conduct towards you, in your misfortunes, I am mortified as well as pained. There is an element in my character which ought not to be there. I am self-convinced of cruelty. Accept, my dear sir, in the enclosed receipt, the best reparation in my power to make. In giving up this claim, I do not abandon an item that goes to complete the sum of my happiness. Not a single comfort will be abridged. It will not shrink the dimensions of my house, nor withdraw from myself or family any portion of food or raiment. Accept, then, the New Year's gift I offer, and believe that I have a purer delight in giving, than you in receiving. My best wishes are with you in the future, and if, in anything, I can aid you in your arrangements with creditors, do not fail to command my service.

Most truly yours,

Hiram Edgar.

For the space of nearly five minutes, Mr. James sat very still, the letter of Mr. Edgar lay before him. Then he folded it up, with the receipt inside, and placed it in his pocket; then he put away the inventories he had been examining, and tore up several pieces of paper, on which were sundry calculations; and then he put on his warm overcoat and buttoned it to the chin.

Edward, said Mr. James, as he walked down the street, I shall not return this afternoon. It is New Year's Day, and you can close up at two o'clock.

It cost Mr. Edgar a struggle to write that receipt in full. A thousand dollars was a large amount of money to give away by a single stroke of the pen. Love of gain and selfishness, pleaded strongly for the last feelings; but the better reason and better feelings of the man prevailed, and the good deed was done. How light his heart felt—how suddenly the clouds were lifted from his sky, and the strange pressure from his feelings! It was to him a new experience.

On the evening that closed the day—the first evening of the new year—Mr. Edgar sat with his wife and children in his elegant home, happier by far than he was on the morning, and almost wondering at the change in his state of mind. Little Ellen was in his arms, and as he looked upon her cherub face, he thought of a face as beautiful seen by him in the morning, at the window of his unfortunate debtor. The face of an angel; it had proved to him for it prompted the good deed from which had sprung a double blessing. While he sat thus, he heard the door bell ring. In a few moments the waiter handed in a letter. He broke the seal and read:

MY DEAR SIR: This morning my dear little Aggy, the light of our home, greeted me with joyous "Happy New Year." I took her in my arms and kissed her, keeping my face close to hers, that she might not see the sadness of mine. Ah sir! the day broke in gloom. The words of my child found no echo in my heart. I could have wept over her, if the strength of manhood had not risen above the weakness of nature. But all is changed now. A few minutes ago the "Happy New Year" was flowing to me from the lips of my child, and the words went thrilling in gladness to my heart. May the day close as happily for you and yours, as it is closing for me and mine.

God bless you!

ABRAM JAMES.

Mr. Edgar read his letter twice, and then handed it, without a word, to his wife.

What is the meaning of this? I do not understand it, Hiram. Mrs. Edgar looked wonderingly into her husband's face.

The story, to which she listened eagerly, was briefly told. When he had finished, she arose, and with tears of love and sympathy in her eyes, crossed over to where he was sitting, and drawing her arms around his neck, said—

My good, my generous husband! I feel very proud of you this night. That was a noble deed; and I thank you for it in the name of our common humanity.

Never had words from the lips of his wife sounded so pleasantly in the ears of Mr. Edgar. Never had he known so happy a New Year's Day as the one which had just closed; and though it saw him poorer than he believed himself in the morning, by nearly a thousand dollars, he was richer in feeling—richer in the heart's unwasting possessions—than he had ever been in his life.—Rural New Yorker.

Ancient Ship Building.

The ancients seem to have outdone all succeeding ages in the construction of their ships, excepted. Some of the galleys, from descriptions left us, were superb. Ptolemy Philopater had one built which was four hundred and twenty feet long and twenty-eight broad, and required a complement of four thousand rowers, four thousand sailors, and three hundred soldiers; but that of Hiero, constructed by the renowned Archimedes, consumed wood enough to build sixty large galleys; and it was fitted up in a style that throws the most splendid of our vessels into a wide distance. There was not only banqueting-room, galleries, bath, library, and a spacious gymnasium, finished and furnished with the most admirable skill and costly materials, with stables, fish ponds, mills and gardens; but there was a Temple of Venus, fitted up in a gorgeous style, the floor being inlaid with precious stones, the walls of cypress wood, ornamented with choice paintings and statues. The warlike appointments of this marine monster were on a corresponding scale of formidable grandeur. The vessel was surrounded by iron bulwarks, like a rampart, massy, and strengthened with eight towers, and there were machines sufficiently powerful to project a stone three hundred pounds weight, or a dart seventeen feet and a half long, a distance of half a mile.

The Sea at Great Depths.

Popular ideas with regard to sinking of bodies in the sea, have heretofore been vague; for the reason, perhaps, that the laws which govern this descent, and which are derived from the well known laws of fluids, have never been fully defined in their application to the depths of the ocean. Some imagine that ships which founder at sea, sink to a certain depth, and there float about until broken to pieces, or thrown upon some bank beneath the sea; and, indeed, a recent writer in England has published a book sustaining this absurd notion. Others again believe that the buoyant forces of the water at great depths is enormous, and due to the whole pressure of the column of water above, and that all bodies which are lighter than water at the surface, will, if sunk to the bottom and detached from the sinker, shoot upward with a great velocity; or, in other words, that the density of the water increases directly with the depth. These views are erroneous. It is true that pressure increases with the depth, to the amount of fifteen pounds upon every square inch, for every thirty-four feet in depth; but the density is not thereby sensibly increased, owing to the incompressibility of the water; so that neither the buoyant force, nor the resistance to the motion of any body, are sensibly increased from the surface to the bottom. At the depth of three thousand fathoms, for instance, the pressure upon a square inch is nearly eight thousand pounds, but the column of eighteen thousand feet of water, is only shortened about sixty feet; the density is thus but slightly increased; but the effect of this enormous pressure upon such bodies as wood, &c., is to condense their bulk, by which they may be rendered heavier than water, and will sink of their own weight. A piece of wood cannot float at the bottom of the sea, but a very slight extraneous force will bring it to the surface.—Sittman's Journal.

Hesitation.

Hesitation is often a sign of weakness, for inasmuch as the comparative good and evil of the different modes of action about which we hesitate are seldom equally balanced, a strong mind should perceive the slightest inclination of the beam with the glance of an eagle, particularly as there are cases where the preponderance will be very minute, even although time and other insoluble portions of food, accumulating and obstructing circulation, not only in the arteries and veins, but in every tissue, muscle, and bone in the body; in the same manner as we find a kettle, from being constantly supplied with water, becomes "furred" by the lime, &c., depositing as the water evaporates. Decrepitude is not produced by number of years, but by the deposit of earthly matter, which takes place during the period; as a man does not become rich by the length of time spent in business, but by the amount of property he accumulates. The time can be rendered soluble by mild chemical preparations, which have been proved by extensive practice, to be also highly beneficial to animal economy; and being in this soluble state removed from the system, the animal consequently becomes again elastic, and the passages being free, nutriment is again conveyed by the fluids to every portion of the animal, restoring its original plumpness and activity. As this deposit has been the accumulation of years of feeding on a limy food, it requires several months effectually to renew, or rather to cleanse the system. That the only alternative is certain death from what is falsely termed "old age" is undeniable, and in an animal we lose his services and acquired sagacity, and in a human being, the accumulated store of wisdom; and not only so, but the latter has been cut short in his days, that time is not allowed for any one person to avail themselves of the varied stores of knowledge even already opened, and therefore, so far as he is personally concerned, the knowledge exists in vain. Although this is opposed to orthodox theory, proofs of restored youthfulness are being given on all sides by the extensive application of the means referred to upon animals.

—Agricultural Chemistry

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Jan. 1st, 1859.

"BORN TO MASTER, OF NO SERVANT WAK."

The New Year

With the present number, we commence the twenty-third volume of the Patriot, entering upon the pleasant duties on New Year's day, and without an elaborate article on the subject, as the recurrence of the season will naturally suggest appropriate themes for meditation and improvement, we cordially wish all, especially patrons, a Happy New Year. Having retired from other labors, and to our legitimate business, we shall in future give our undivided attention to the paper, in the hope of making it better in every respect, and thus meriting an increased support. We desire to bring our accounts to settlement as soon as time will allow, confidently anticipating that all will be ready, as our ill health warns us to be prepared for the last summer.

"Tis well to walk with a cheerful heart,
Wherever our fortunes call,
With a friendly glance and open hand,
And a gentle word for all.
"Since life is a thorny and difficult path,
Where toil is the portion of all,
We all should endeavor, while passing along,
To make it as smooth as we can."

DEDICATION. We understand that the new and beautiful edifice, just finished at Quincy Point, for the public schools in that district, will be appropriately dedicated on next Tuesday afternoon, at two o'clock, by exercises suitable to the occasion, under the management of Caleb Murdock, the Principal of the Grammar School.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE. At a meeting of Quincy Stone Division No. 73 S. of T., the following officers were elected for the ensuing quarter:—Leonard L. Perry, W. P.; C. F. Leavitt, W. A.; Ezra Damon, R. S.; John D. Bartlett, A. R. S.; H. Chubbuck, F. S.; James F. Coe, T.; J. T. Sherburne, C. Geo. Starbuck, A. C.; J. W. Lombard, I. S.; F. A. Lapham, O. S.; Rev. John Paulson, C.

COURT AT DEDHAM. The December Term of the Court of Common Pleas for Norfolk county commenced its session in Dedham, on Tuesday morning last—Judge Morris presiding. Prayer was offered by Rev. Thomas P. Ryder, of Roxbury. The petit jurors from this town, are Messrs. Thomas Curtis and Gideon F. Denton, and they are on the first jury.

Mrs. Ellen Connor, of this town, has been convicted for violating the liquor law. There were three complaints—guilty on one, not guilty on one, and disagreement by the jury on the other.

INJUNCTION REMOVED. In the case of the Old Colony Railroad vs. the South Boston Railroad, Judge Bigelow, of the Supreme Judicial Court, has dissolved the injunction against the latter. By this decision, the rails are being laid in front of the passenger station of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad in Boston.

If any of our readers have pains to relieve, wounds to heal, or sores to cure, they should use "My Mother's Salve." See advertisement.

SKATING. This out-of-door amusement is fast gaining popular opinion among all classes. The rich and poor, the old and young, male and female, all lend their mite, either by the contents of their richly lined pockets, or by their smiling faces, upon the brilliant ice. And, is there any reason why it should not be thus? We pause for a reply from the small, still voice within. But all is silent. Yes, skating has the tendency to produce enjoyment, health and wealth. "But stop," says the old skin-flint miser, who is peeping over our shoulder, "you mistake; I will agree with you as to its enjoyment and health, but you are wrong, entirely wrong as to wealth." But we soon proved, to this lover of the glistening gold, as we will to our readers, that it is not so. Who is there, among us, if he is sick, will not give all he has to be restored? Is there one? No, not one. Then if health is wealth, dear reader, and skating causes both body and mind to grow vigorous and strong, who says these graceful movements do not produce wealth?

We received a kind invitation on Christmas afternoon, from our friend Lombard, to partake of a ride and visit Eaton's Pond, which we willingly accepted, where a pleasing sight broke upon our view. There were young ladies and gentlemen moving over the sparkling ice as gracefully and majestically as the eagle soars above our head; and the rosy cheeks they wore, imparted by nature's bracing air, surpassed the artistic skill of man.

Some of the young gentlemen are to obtain leave to overflow the meadows bordering on Webb's brook, near the railroad. We think this is a grand movement and hope all our citizens will help to forward its completion.

MONTHLY MEETING. The Fireman's Aid Company, No. 1, of this town, meet at their house next Monday evening, and after the usual business has been transacted, intend to enjoy a few hours with their friends in the usual round of pleasure and recreation for which they are noted.

Hall's Brass Band of Boston.

This popular and gentlemanly association of eighteen performers, during their late visit to Montreal, Canada, with the Boston Fusiliers, gave several concerts in the double character of a brass and orchestral band. Papers in that city, and at other places, remark that "this troupe stands unrivalled on the western continent, and nothing but the most careful training and old repeated rehearsal could have enabled them to produce such magnificent volumes of harmony."

One of the brothers Hall, during this visit, was entrusted by that genial and patriotic veteran, Capt. Griggs of Boston, to present to the Cleveland City Grays, (Ohio), a Canteen, which was used by a British soldier at the battle of New Orleans, and the annexed correspondence will more fully explain it:

"Presented by Capt. Chas. Griggs, of the city of Boston, Mass., to the Cleveland City Grays of the city of Cleveland, Ohio.

"This canteen was captured by General Andrew Jackson from the British army under command of Gen. Pakenham, at the battle of New Orleans, January 8th, 1815.

"A true fact. CHARLES GRIGGS.
"Boston, Mass., Nov. 13, 1858."

"GENTLEMEN—Allow me the honor of conveying to you, with the best wishes of the donor, (Capt. Charles Griggs, of Boston), as a token of respect and esteem, this small relic of by-gone days—small and of little account in itself, and yet how potent of incidents in our country's history.

"Had it the power of speech, how many thrilling scenes it could pour forth, or portray, as it swung cosily over the shoulder of one of Britain's noble sons, whenever and anon by its contents, it freshened and revived the weary spirits of the unfortunate soldier—doubly unfortunate to spill his blood in so unworthy a cause; for, in the language of Shakespeare:

"When valor preys on reason,
It eats the sword it fights with."

"This canteen, as the note will testify, was captured, with others, by Gen. Andrew Jackson at the battle of New Orleans, January 8th, 1815, where, from behind their breastworks of cotton, the Americans dealt death so abundantly to the British army. So glorious and worthy of imitation was the transaction, that even the ladies of our land (though not for so warlike a purpose, bless their hearts) have ever since been striving to excel in the elevation of their cotton breastworks.

"And now may this little relic be long treasured by the 'Cleveland Grays,' as a memento of all the spoils and victories achieved by our brave and valiant Jackson, as well as to the memory of its noble donor, Captain Griggs.

"In conclusion, I would offer as a sentiment—The Memory of Washington, and his hardships in 'Washing' the soil of the New World from the stain of British Tyranny: his 'Wash' tub and board, a Cannon and Musket; his soap, Powder; his starch, Lead; his iron, the Sword. May it be a long time ere the sheets of our Nation's History shall be so stained as to require a like 'Washing.'
"RONALD HALL."

Boston Correspondence.

Boston, Dec. 29, 1858.
Christmas—Phases of Business—Prosperity of the Leather Trade—Hon. H. Mann's Lecture—Legislative Omens on Organization—Speaker—President of the Senate—Sergeant-at-Arms—Judge Douglas again.

Saturday was a model Christmas day—"clear, cold, and eminently suggestive of those in-door comforts and social felicities attendant upon the dear old anniversary." It was observed here with more than usual interest, and in a very pleasant manner. The stores were generally closed, and business of a public character was entirely suspended. Christmas Eve witnessed a large number of social gatherings, including many gay balls and assemblies. Skating was another pastime of the day—an exercise, not altogether confined to the "lords of creation," but seems to be getting into general use by the ladies—all right, of course.

The mild weather of the week has given a slight impetus to business. Stocks are in good demand. Bank shares sell at high prices, and but few have been offered for sale. Railroad stocks seem to indicate an "ultimate destiny" of reaching par value.

The boot, shoe and leather business constitutes the largest manufacturing interest, not only of our own State, but of the whole country. The last Report of the Board of Trade here, says it is also safe and prosperous beyond most others. Its vigor and stability are attributable mainly to the adoption of sales at home.

Hon. Horace Mann, now of Ohio, gave rather an unique lecture before the Mechanics' Apprentices Library Association on Monday evening. The subject was College influence and College habits. He took the ground, that comparatively few self-educated men rose to distinction. That nine-tenths of all the persons bearing the standard of scholarship and science onward to fame, are and have been graduates of colleges. That morality, honor and piety should be the main features of a collegiate education. Science, he contends, without these restraining principles, is not worth seeking after. He points out many evils that exist in the domain of colleges, such as indolence, dissipation and levity, that call for reform. The laws of health are constantly violated. In substance, he urges a higher standard of moral attainment in all our educational institutions, as indispensable to their prosperity. This comes very well from the President of Antioch College, and with truthfulness, too, as to moral culture. But we have yet to learn that self-educated men are not more useful and fortunate than those who have received the honors of an alma mater. The history of our country will show that very many of its statesmen and distinguished men were not graduates of any college. Washington, Franklin, Jackson and others of our Presidents, and in our own State at the present, Boutwell, Wilson, Banks, and others, never were college graduates.

Our Legislature meets next Wednesday. Indications favor the election of Mr. Hale, Editor of the Boston Advertiser, to the Speakership. He is every way fitted for that responsible station, having had no little experience as a legislator. Hon. John Branning, of the Berkshire District, is named as a candidate for President of the Senate. His antecedents are of the Democratic party, but he is now strongly Republican. He has been for many years a member of the Senate or House, and is consequently well posted up in parliamentary matters.

The office of Sergeant-at-Arms is likely to pass into new hands. When first established the salary was $50 per year, and the use of the house belonging to the Commonwealth, situated at No. 12 Hancock street, Boston. Benjamin Stevens, Esq., has held that situation over twenty years, and is well and favorably known throughout the State. Such has been his worth and popularity, that through all the mutations of political parties, he has rode out the storm, and remained in office. A more excellent man does not exist. Should he be removed, it would be on the principle of rotation, now a sovereign right of party, and he would retire universally respected. The Republican party will be fortunate in the selection of a successor as worthy as Mr. Stevens.

Advices from Washington indicate an unsettled state of things in business and politics. The breach is evidently widening between the friends of Mr. Douglas and the administration. Mr. Douglas is in Cuba, but is expected soon to resume his seat in the Senate; and when there, according to letter writers, has many personal and political matters to settle. Whatever his future fortunes may be, his position before the people makes him one of the most prominent men in the country, and politically, he is the "observed of all observers."

The next Democratic National Convention is to be held in 1860, at Charleston, South Carolina. It is very questionable whether harmony of action will prevail. There must be great concession by the opponents of the Popular Sovereignty doctrine, before Judge Douglas receives the nomination for President.

P. S. Since writing, the Hon. Stephen A. Douglas has arrived at New York from Havana, with his family, and was cordially received by the people of our neighboring city. Honors await him wherever he goes.

AN OLD ROGUE RE-CAGED. Some eleven years ago or more, Thomas Kenon was arrested in this town, for stealing from Whitcomb Porter, Esq., and others, and after an examination was sent to Dedham jail for trial, where he was convicted and sentenced to States Prison for two years, but escaped after a few months' incarceration. It will be recollected that he attempted to escape from officer, Capt. Lewis Bass, while he was conveying him to Dedham jail, by running into the river near Mill Village, but by the energy of that officer he did not succeed. Last Thursday, under an assumed name, he called on Capt. Bass, and as he alleged for the purpose of finding a trunk, but the keen eye of that gentleman soon saw that he was the identical rogue of former years, and knowing that he had not served his sentence, caused his re-arrest, and he is now in his old quarters at Charlestown.

AGES OF MASSACHUSETTS CONGRESSMEN. Gen. Henry Wilson is 46 years old, Robert B. Hall 49, James Buffington 41, William S. Dammell 59, Linus B. Conins 41, Anson Burlingame 36, Timothy Davis 37, D. W. Gooch 38, C. L. Knapp 40, Eli Thayer 40, C. C. Chaffee 47, Henry L. Dawes 42.

MILITARY FESTIVAL. The ball given by the Braintree Light Infantry in that town on the 22d ult., was patronized by one hundred and twenty couples. There were visitors from North Bridgewater, Easton, Randolph, and Duxbury. Capt. Bumpus, by his courteousness and military etiquette, contributed largely to the pleasures and comforts of the social gathering.

A CUSTOM OF THE DAY. It is so common now days to see our citizens when dressed for a ball, party, or concert, ornamented with jewelry, that it attracts but little attention unless it is of a new style—then every eye is turned towards it. For this reason we take the pleasure of informing our readers that Mr. Meservey has received direct from New York, during the present week, a large assortment of new styles of Jewelry, which will be very appropriate for a New Year's gift. Our young readers, who may wish to make their pappas and mamma's a very pretty present this day, can find many articles well adapted for the occasion.

Caleb Packard has just received a fresh supply of Merrimac prints, owing to the unusual demand of the last few weeks.

CONVICTED. The second trial of William McNulty for the alleged murder of watchman Hodson of East Boston, resulted in a verdict of murder in the second degree. He was immediately sentenced by the court to be imprisoned in the State Prison, during his natural life. William Joyce, who is remotely connected with the matter, was discharged on his own recognisance.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

The Winthrop Church, in East Randolph, was formed two years ago; and from sixty members, who joined it, the number has increased to one hundred and eight.

Washington Irving has made a donation of five hundred dollars to the Mount Vernon fund.

The Yarmouth Register estimates that thirty thousand dollars worth of mackerel have been taken by means of nets in the lower part of Barnstable county during the fall and winter.

The steam power of Great Britain, at the present day, is equal to the manual labor of four hundred millions of men—more than double the number of male inhabitants on the globe. Scarcely seventy years have elapsed since the first steam engine was erected in Manchester.

Dr. Hayes, who was with Dr. Kane in his Arctic expedition, is engaged in the organization of another expedition to establish the truth of the theory of an open Polar Sea.

Rum is so scarce in the West Indies, that a cargo of St. Croix has been shipped back from New Haven, (Ct.) to the place of its production.

The Amazon River falls but a foot in fifty miles; the Rhine one foot in a quarter of a mile; the Loire a foot in one and a half mile.

In the Chicago, (Ill.) Post Office, mails are received daily from twenty railroads. Thirty-five hundred mails are made up every day.

When the United States become as densely populated as Holland, they will contain 900,000,000 inhabitants, nearly the present number of the whole human race.

The marine loss of 1858, thus far, are less than half the amount of last year's losses. But a little over eight millions have been lost on the water this year.

Gould's family of New York city, have all recovered. One of the servant girls, it will be recollected, died in the hospital. The other is still there, but is recovering. This is the termination of the murderous work of the son.

Among the thirty-four military companies in the State that fall short of thirty-two privates (the number required by law.) is Company E, of Abington, and Co. D, of Randolph.

Special Notices.

NOTICE. Rev. J. Paulson will preach at the Methodist meeting-house in Quincy centre, next Sabbath afternoon and evening. The subject of the evening discourse will be Spiritualism. A collection will be taken to defray expenses.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1w

SPIRITUALISTS MEETING. Services, usual hours, forenoon and afternoon. In Johnson's (Mariposa) Hall. Mr. Munroe, the editor of the Spiritual Age, will speak to-morrow, forenoon and afternoon.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1w

Annals, Juveniles, Toy Books, Fancy Goods, Toys, and a general assortment for Christmas and New Year's Presents, can be found at C. Gill and Co.'s.

Pocket Diaries, all sizes and kinds. A great variety for sale by C. Gill & Co.

Read C. Gill and Co.'s advertisement of Hats.

Be sure to go to C. Gill & Co.'s for Christmas and New Year's Gifts.

Beautiful Books for Gifts can be found at C. Gill & Co.'s.

C. Gill & Co. have a fine lot of Rubber Boots and Shoes, of all sizes, and can fit everybody, and sell at the lowest prices. This stock is of that manufacture known to have the best reputation. Buy for yourselves and children, and prevent wet feet and the consequences thereof.

C. Gill Co.'s Assortment of Toys is the best ever offered in Quincy.

A BOOK FOR THE MILLION. Just published by FEDERHEN & Co., Booksellers and Stationers, No. 13 Court Street, Boston, a Brief Treatise of 48 pages, on Diseases of the Sexual System of both sexes—their symptoms and treatment—prepared by a physician of the "Boston Eclectic Hospital." This work also contains a scorching exposure of the deception and imposture practiced by advertising quacks, with names of their names and locations. Sold by periodical dealers generally. Sent by mail, on the receipt of three postage stamps. Address Box 1802, Boston Post Office.
Feb. 27. 1y

Marriages.

In this town, on the 25th ult., by Rev. W. H. Knapp, on the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of James Baxter, Esq., and lady, Mr. Horace Eaton to Miss Rebecca P., their youngest daughter; also on the same occasion, Mr. Lyander S. Richards to Miss M. C. D. Jones, daughter of Capt. Rodgers, Esq.
On the 28th ult., by Rev. Mr. Colburn, Rector of Christ Church in this town, Mr. Ralph Crooker, of Roxbury, to Miss Sybil M. Jones, of St. John, N. B.

List of Letters, Remaining in the Quincy Post Office, Jan. 1st, 1859.

Persons calling for these letters, will please say they are advertised.

Adams George	Irwin Mary
Billings John	Jones J. J.
Brigham John E.	Johnson Samuel E.
Billings Lemuel	Johnson Wm.
Brennan James	Jacques Monsieur J.
Belser Wm. R.	Kelley James
Bartlett Joseph	Keller Azar A.
Blake Geo. E.	Kelley Mary
Baleum Cyrus	Mc Clair J. F.
Brown Charles H.	Mc Lean Donald
Brown Charles Jr.	Mildrum Samuel

Chase John I.	McConnell Caroline
Craig Joseph	Mines Mary A.
Clark Wm. H.	Mc Gorr Edward
Clegg John L.	Nieman Clemens
Coffin John	Noble Frederick A.
Carlin Thomas	Newcomb John
Coburn Francis	Owens Patrick
Chase Fred A.	Phillips George S.
Clark Mrs. Margaret	Rowell Thaddeus
Cousins Miss Martha A.	Russell James
Cummings Miss Julia	Ragan Thomas

Dismore Wm.	Smith F. C.
Davis Mrs. Mary Ann	Swain Edward
Dunn Isabella	Stanley Francis A.
Dawes Mrs. James E.	Smith Eileen
Damon Harriet	Shortell Thomas
Evans John	Snow George
Emerson Wm.	Stuart James H.
Emery James	Stevens James
French Wm.	Sutton Maria
Fahey Michael	Schasy John
Fraser Jane	Stanley Ellen M.
Fish Louisa	Sullivan Margaret

Gay Mehtable H.	Taylor Edwin R.
Gwynne Ellen	Taylor Geo. W.
Goodman I. C.	Wilson Thomas
Goodnow Lloyd	Woolburn John P.
Goulding John	Whitmarsh & Co. Z. N.
Green Jeremiah B.	Walch Hattie
Green Charles A.	Wells Mrs.
Hollis Reuben	White Mary
Holmes James W.	GEORGE BAXTER, Postmaster.
Harris Newson	Quincy Jan 1. 3w
Harris Henry A.
Herring Thomas J.
Hobart J. H.

OLD FATHER'S ALMANAC. Brown's Almanac and Pocket Memorandum, Lady's Almanac, Juvenile Almanac, &c. &c. and sizes, as the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Dec. 11. 1f

Carriage Painting.

THE subscriber has made alterations in his painting premises whereby he is prepared to do all kinds of

CARRIAGE PAINTING, having secured workmen of acknowledged skill and artistic taste, and therefore asks an examination of workmanship, and upon these references gratefully solicits a share of patronage.
Quincy, Dec. 18. 1f

Weymouth & Braintree Institution for Savings.

THE Annual Meeting of the members of the Weymouth & Braintree Institution for Savings, for the choice of Officers, for the year ending, will be held at the office of the Institution, on MONDAY, January 10th, 1859, at 2 o'clock, P. M. A full attendance is requested.
A. S. WHITE, Secretary.
Weymouth, Jan. 1. 1859. 2w

New and Beautiful Assortment

JEWELRY.

THE Subscriber has received this day a large variety of NEW JEWELRY, consisting in part of

LADIES' AND GENTS' GOLD CHAINS;
Gold Bracelets, New Styles;

Setts of Coral, Garnet, Lava, Cameo and Mosaic PINS and EAR RINGS;

Gents' Scarf Pins, New and Rich;

Gents' Seal, Plain, and Chaste Rings;

Studs and Sleeve Buttons, new styles in great variety;

GOLD FOR KEY AND SEALS;
MASONIC EMBLEMS;

Gold Locket, all sizes;

Gold Thimbles; Children's Rings;

Gold Tooth Picks, a very handsome articles for New Year's Presents;

MOURNING and MINIATURE PINS, NEW STYLES;

Please Call and Examine the above articles if you do not wish to purchase.

Benj. F. Meservey,
Hancock Street,
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1f

Boston Almanac for 1859

For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1f

Quincy Loan Fund Association.

THE regular monthly meeting, will be held at the Seamen's Room, on WEDNESDAY Evening, January 5th, at 7 o'clock.
Cash on hand for the redemption of shares, fifteen hundred dollars.
LOUIS CONGDON, Sec'y.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1859. 1w

Notice.

THE stockholders of the Quincy Canal are hereby notified that their Annual Meeting for choice of Officers and transaction of such other business as may come before them, will be held at the Hancock House, in Quincy, on TUESDAY, the 11th inst., at 3 o'clock, P. M.
A full meeting is requested.
JOSIAH BRIGHAM, Clerk.
Quincy, Jan 1. 1w

BOSTON THEATRE.

SATURDAY, JAN. 1st, at 2 O'CLOCK,
GRAND OPERA MATINEE.

DON GIOVANNI,
With its immense cast.

PICCOLINI, POINOT, GHIONI, LORINI, FLORENZA, FORMES,
THE IMMENSE CHORUS
and three distinct Orchestras of

Three Hundred Performers

On Tuesday Jan. 4th, at 1 1/2 o'clock,
Last Performance.

Positively Last Matinee, and Last Performance.
The Troupe leaves immediately after the performance by special train for New York.

The Opera will be duly announced, and will be one of the following:

HUGENOTS, MARTHA, or ROBERT.
Boston, Jan 1. 1w

FOUND.

PICKED UP on Hancock street in this town, on the 3d inst., a small Gold Locket, containing a Miniature, which the owner can have by proving property and paying charges, on applying to Quincy, Dec. 18. ALFRED FURNALD. 3w

WOOD! WOOD!!

A LOT of Dry Wood at $5 per cord, for sale at BRACKETT'S WHARF.
Quincy, Dec. 18. 3w

NEW BOOK.

Will be ready, JANUARY 1, 1859.
TWELVE MESSAGES from the Spirit John Quincy Adams through Joseph D. Styles, Medium, Joseph Brigham, Trice $1.50.
For sale by C. GILL & CO., at the Quincy Bookstore.
Dec. 25. 1f

Just Received.

A GOOD assortment of Candles, different kinds and sizes. Spermaceti, Wax and French Sperm.
For Sale by
Quincy, Dec. 18. MRS. E. HAYDEN. 1f

1859.

OLD FATHER'S ALMANAC, Brown's Almanac and Pocket Memorandum, Lady's Almanac, Juvenile Almanac, &c. &c. and sizes, as the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Dec. 11. 1f

Carriage Painting.

THE subscriber has made alterations in his painting premises whereby he is prepared to do all kinds of

CARRIAGE PAINTING, having secured workmen of acknowledged skill and artistic taste, and therefore asks an examination of workmanship, and upon these references gratefully solicits a share of patronage.
Quincy, Dec. 18. 1f

Weymouth & Braintree Institution for Savings.

THE Annual Meeting of the members of the Weymouth & Braintree Institution for Savings, for the choice of Officers, for the year ending, will be held at the office of the Institution, on MONDAY, January 10th, 1859, at 2 o'clock, P. M. A full attendance is requested.
A. S. WHITE, Secretary.
Weymouth, Jan. 1. 1859. 2w

Later From Europe.
A NEW and splendid assortment of Ladies' Collars, Sleeves, Flouncings, Bands, Edgings, and a general assortment of Lace and White Goods, just received and for sale by
ELBRIDGE CLAPP.
Quincy, Aug. 21. 1f

REMOV.

THE Water and Silt Establishment, corner of Hancock and Temple streets, removed to Building recently occupied

POST OFFICE.

On Hancock Street, next door

BRIERLEY & WHITNEY'S S

where the subscriber hopes by dealing with all to receive the continuance of a age bestowed upon the Old Stand

THE PAST EIGHTEEN Y

Every description of fine Watches as will be furnished from 5 to 20 per cent city prices, and no article sold will be higher than its merits will allow.

True Watches and Jewels, Repair a

New and Beautiful Assortment —OF— JEWELRY.

THE Subscriber has received this day a large variety of NEW JEWELRY, consisting in part of—
LADIES' AND GENTS' GOLD CHAINS;
Gold Bracelets, New Styles;
Sets of Coral, Garnet, Lava, Cameo and Mosaic
PINS AND EAR RINGS;
Gents' Seal, Plain, and Chaste Rings;
Stud and Sleeve Buttons, new styles
in great variety;
GOLD FOR KEY AND SEALS;
MASONIC EMBLEMS;
Gold Lockets, all sizes;
Gold Thimbles; Children's Rings;
Gold Tooth Picks, a very handsome
articles for New Year's Presents;
MOURNING AND MINIATURE PINS,
NEW STYLES.
Please Call and Examine the above articles
if you do not wish to purchase.

Benj. F. Meservey,
Hancock Street,
Quincy, Jan. 1. if

Boston Almanac for 1859
For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE,
Quincy, Jan. 1. if

Quincy Loan Fund Association.
The regular monthly meeting, will be held at the Selectmen's Room, on WEDNESDAY Evening, Jan. 5th, at 7 o'clock.
Cash on hand for the redemption of shares,
fifty hundred dollars.
LOUIS CONGDON, Sec'y.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1859. 1a

Notice.
THE stockholders of the Quincy Canal are herby notified that their Annual Meeting for choice of Officers and transaction of such other business as may come before them, will be held at the Hancock House, in Quincy, on TUESDAY, the 11th inst., at 3 o'clock, P. M.
A full meeting is requested.
JOSIAH BRIGHAM, Clerk.
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1a

BOSTON THEATRE.
SATURDAY, JAN. 1st, at 2 O'CLOCK,
GRAND OPERA MATINEE.
DON GIOVANNI,
With its immense cast.
PICCOLINI, POISSOT, GHIONI, LORINI, FLORENZA, FORMES,
THE IMMENSE CHORUS
and other Distinguished Artists of Three Hundred Performers
On Tuesday Jan. 5th, at 1 1/2 o'clock,
Last Performance.
Respectfully Last Motte, and Last Performance.
The Theatre leaves immediately after the performance by special train for New York.
The Opera will study announced, and will be one of the following:
BEGUINOT, MARTHA, or ROBERT.
Boston, Jan. 1. 1a

FOUND.
PICKED up on Hancock street in this town, on the 21st inst., a small Gold Locket, containing a Miniature, which the owner can have in proving property and paying charges, on applying to ALFRED FURNALD.
Quincy, Dec. 18. 2a

WOOD! WOOD!!
A LOT of Dry Wood at $5 per cord, for sale
AT BRACKETT'S WHARF.
Quincy, Dec. 18. 2a

NEW BOOK.
Will be ready, JANUARY 1, 1859,
TWELVE MESSAGES from the Spirit
John Quincy Adams through Joseph D. Bates, Medium, in Joseph Brigham Price $1.50.
For sale by C. GILL & CO., at the Quincy
Bookstore.
Dec. 25. if

Just Received.
A GOOD assortment of Candles, different kinds and sizes. Spermaceti, Wax and Tallow.
For Sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Dec. 18. if 1859.

OLD Farmer's Almanac,
Brown's Almanac and Pocket Memorandum,
and a general assortment of Lace and White goods, just received and for sale by
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Dec. 11. if

Carriage Painting.
THE subscriber has made alterations in his Painting premises whereby he is prepared to do all kinds of
CARRIAGE PAINTING,
being second workmen of acknowledged skill in artistic taste, and therefore asks an examination of workmanship, and upon these references steadily solicits a share of patronage.
E. B. HERSEY.
Quincy, Dec. 18. if

Later From Europe.
A NEW and splendid assortment of Ladies'
Collars, Shaws, Flossings, Bands, Edges,
and a general assortment of Lace and White goods, just received and for sale by
ELBRIDGE CLAPP.
Quincy, Aug. 21. if

REMOVAL!
THE Watch, Jewelry Establishment, formerly corner of Hancock and Temple streets, has been removed to Building recently occupied as
POST OFFICE.
On Hancock Street, next door to BRIESLER & WHITNEY'S STORE, where the subscriber hopes by dealing honorably with all to receive a continuance of the patronage bestowed upon the Old Stand.
THE PAST EIGHTEEN YEARS.
Every description of fine Watches and Jewelry will be purchased from 5 to 20 per cent. less than city prices, and no article sold will be represented higher than its merits will allow.
Fine Watches and Jewelry, Repairing done in a faithful manner. Silver Ware, Collar Plates, &c., &c., Engaged.
I shall continue to keep an assortment of American,
English and Swiss Watches, Silver Spoons, Forks, Knives, &c., manufactured to order, and of the best Silver.
Chains, Lockets, Pins, Drops, Rings, Thimbles, Spectacles, Sleeve Buttons, Pocket Cutlery and Razors, best quality of Eight Day and Thirty Four Clocks, Fancy Goods, &c., &c.
John O. Holden.
Quincy, Dec. 18. 2a

NEW GOODS
—FOR THE—
HOLIDAYS.
THE Subscriber has received a new lot of Goods suitable for Christmas and New Year Presents, comprising
All the New Varieties of Jewelry, which will be offered as low as the same quality of goods can be purchased anywhere.
B. F. MESERVEY.
Quincy, Dec. 18. if

C. GILL & CO.
Offer for sale a large assortment of
New and Beautiful Toys
—AND—
FANCY GOODS!
ANNUALS, GIFT BOOKS,
Juvenile and Toy Books,
with many other goods exactly suitable for PRESENTS!
—FOR—
Christmas and New Year, to which they invite the attention of
EVERY BODY.
Quincy, Dec. 18. if

FLOUR
—AT—
WHOLESALE PRICES.
THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity that he is receiving EXTRA FAMILY FLOUR, Direct from the South and West,
through Messrs. Faxon, Brothers &
CO. OF BOSTON,
on the same terms that they receive it, thereby saving the commission usually paid Flour dealers, which enables me to sell at Boston wholesale prices.
All in want of Flour of first quality are invited to call.
*ALSO—An Extra Quality of Buckwheat.
HOWARD VINAL,
Quincy, Nov. 10. if

For Sale.
1000 EXCELLENT POSTS AND RAILS.
Also 50 cords of Oak and Walnut WOOD.
Apply to
JEREMIAH NIGHTINGALE.
Quincy, Nov. 13. if

Quincy Bakery.
THE subscribers would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity that they have taken on the Quincy Bake-House, and intend carrying on the baking business in all its branches—adhering strictly to the Cash system and hope by manufacturing the Best Quality of Bread
to merit the patronage of the Citizens of this and the neighboring towns.
Trout & Glover.
Quincy, Oct. 16. if

REWARD.
A REWARD of Two Hundred Dollars will be paid by the Town of Quincy, to any person who will furnish evidence sufficient to convict any person who shall set fire to any building within limits of the Town of Quincy, previous to March 1st.
GEORGE MARSH, } Selectmen of EBEN ADAMS, } Quincy.
DANIEL BAXTER. }
Quincy, Sept. 14. if

India Rubber Boots, Shoes, &c.
NOTWITHSTANDING the great advance in the prices of India Rubber Boots and Shoes,
HENRY A. HALL & CO.
being headquarters for every variety of India
Rubber and Gutta Percha goods, will sell these indispensable articles, all warranted first quality, and further notice at the following low rates.
Men's Heavy Boots per pair $3.37
" Light " " " " 3.25
" Light and Heavy Overshoes " " 25 Ladies' " do. do. do. 25
Ladies' Long Boots 1.50
Misses' " do do 1.25
Misses' Overshoes and Sandals 45
Children's " do do 25
Boys' Boots 2.25
Youths' " do 1.50
Fishermen's Boots, extra heavy and wide, 4.00
Men's Wood-Lined Mittens 50
*ALSO—India Rubber Soleing and Cement, of superior quality.
WAREHOUSE, 146 CONGRESS ST.
Boston, Nov. 29. 6w

Neat's Foot Oil.
OF the best quality, for sale low by
D. BAXTER & Co
Quincy, Sept. 27. if

HEAVY Ribbed UNDER-SHIRTS and DRAWS, from 70 to $1.87.
T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31. if

Removal!
Fall and Winter Fashions for 1858
Just received by
JOHN DINEGAN,
Hancock St., a few rods from
THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
—ALSO—
New Styles of Fancy Cassimeres & Vestings, CONSISTING OF Velvets, Silks and Satins
—ALSO—
A CHOICE SELECTION
OF
French, English & German
BLACK AND COLORED
BROADCLOTHS and DOESKINS
which will be MADE TO ORDER in the LATEST STYLE.
Quincy, Sept. 11. if

PANTS, (Custom Made), from 1.75 to $5.
T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31. if

J. W. LOMBARD
Having replenished his Stock for
FALL & WINTER
DESIRES to invite the public generally to call and examine his Stock—which he has selected with care—which consists in part of Pilot Cloth, Beavers, Doeskins,
Keisymers, Velvet and Satin Vestings.
Over Coats, Ready Made, from 8 to $10.
Business Coats, Ready Made, from 6 to $8.
Ready Made Pants from 2.25 to $5.50.
Gentlemen Furnishing their own Cloths can have their Garments made with care.
Quincy, Nov. 13. if

BROADCLOTH Frock and Sack COATS,
(Custom Made,) from 6 to $12.
T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31. if

FINE READY-MADE
FALL AND WINTER
CLOTHING.
—ELEGANT OVERCOATS,
FROCK AND BUSINESS COATS,
PANTS AND VESTS,
superbly made and trimmed,
AT LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH,
BY
J. W. SMITH & CO.,
Dock Square, Cor. Elm street,
BOSTON.
HAVING connection with all the largest manufacturing establishments in New York together with home facilities, we enjoy superior advantages for supplying the very best goods at the lowest possible prices. The styles will be found to excel any thing made in the New England States, and the workmanship far exceeds any thing heretofore offered in this market, and is so acknowledged by all who patronize our establishment.
We also make to order garments of every description, at short notice, at a Small Advance on the prices of our ready-made clothing.
Boston, Oct. 23. 3m

VESTS, (Custom Made) from 1.75 to $5.
T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31. if

THE CITIZENS' CLOTHING HOUSE
STILL AHEAD.
Mark the Prices!
GOOD HEAVY, WARM, SERVICEABLE
Double Breast
OVER COATS!
$3.00.
HEAVY, WARM,
Durable, Fall and Winter
PANTS,
ONLY $1.25 PER PAIR.
UNDER SHIRTS AND DRAWERS,
FROM 40 TO 50 CENTS,
In connection with other styles of Fashionable
Clothing, as low in proportion.
We challenge the entire trade to produce a parallel instance.
Nos. 29 and 30 Dock Square,
Is the ONLY place for these bargains
IN BOSTON.
JACKMAN & MERRILL,
Nov. 20. if

Removal.
RESPECTFULLY informs his friends, the inhabitants of Quincy, and the public generally, that he has removed from Goodnow's Building, corner of Hancock and Granite streets,
to the corner of
Hancock Street and Cottage Avenue,
Opposite Panton's Carrying Shop.
He warrants to supply his customers with all kinds of Garments on the MOST REASONABLE TERMS
and in the
BEST AND NEWEST STYLES.
He also pledges himself to FIT, in any Style
of Garment, as he has had no misfit since his commencement in business.
Call and Give Him a Trial. 40
Quincy, Nov. 13. if

Removal!
Of Millinery Goods!
I HAVE removed my Goods
from my residence on Washington streets, into
GOODNOW'S BUILDING,
ROOMS OVER
Caleb Packard's Dry Goods Store.
—CORNER OF—
Hancock and Granite Streets,
Where may be found a good assortment of Fall & Winter Millinery,
AT LOW PRICES.
I have a great variety of ready made Dress
Hats in rich material which SHALL be sold low, also trimmed straw which SHALL be sold cheap.
To any one wishing to engage in a good business
I would dispose of my Stock and Fixtures, were the opportunity satisfactory. A lease of the premises may be obtained for a Term of years, and it is one of the best locations in the CENTRE OF QUINCY.
Until I dispose of my Goods to some party wishing to occupy the premises, I shall endeavor to keep a general assortment of desirable Goods, and would respectfully solicit patronage—duly acknowledging the favors of friends and the public for the LAST TEN YEARS.
As usual, Grave Cloths and Mourning
Goods constantly on hand or made to order.
A. J. KENISON.
Quincy, Oct. 16. if

MILLINERY
—AND—
FANCY GOODS STORE.
THE subscriber would respectfully inform the Ladies of Quincy and vicinity, that she has opened a Millinery and Fancy Goods Store,
at her residence on
FRANKLIN ST., SOUTH QUINCY.
where she will keep a full assortment of Articles usually found in a Store of this kind.
—ALSO—
DRESS MAKING,
Done at Short Notice.
Mrs. Mary E. Curtis.
Quincy, Oct. 9. if

OVER COATS, (Custom Made), from 7 to $12.
T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31. if

QUINCY BOOKSTORE
—AND—
BOOK BINDERY.
Established in the Year 1838.
BOOKS, STATIONERY
—AND—
FANCY GOODS!
C. GILL & CO. have always on hand a large assortment of the above—being fully prepared to meet all the wants of this market.
BLANK BOOKS
of any particular pattern, made to order.
STATIONERY, IN GREAT VARIETY,
at the lowest prices.
Miscellaneous and Juvenile Books,
will be sold low
ALL SCHOOL BOOKS,
used in this and neighboring towns,
at publishers' prices.
Book Binding.
ALL KINDS OF
MAGAZINES, PAMPHLETS,
SHEET MUSIC, &c.,
bound in a neat and durable style.
"Small Profit" to ensure "Ready Sales."
Fully equivalent for your money.
Twenty years' practice has proved these rules to be good ones, and we shall continue to be governed by them, in all branches of our business.
C. GILL & CO.
HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy, March 20. if

Salt!! Salt!!
Just received and for sale low by the subscriber, a lot of Liverpool Salt, suitable for Hay.
H. VINAL.
Quincy, Nov. 6. if

Money Wanted.
J. F. BURRELL has just received a lot of Men's Thick Sole'd Cal Congress Boots, which he is selling for $1.75 per pair.
You can get a pair of French Cal Boots, made to fit your foot,
FOR $4.00.
Quincy, Nov. 6. if

Removal.
Hou e, Sign, & Carriage Painting.
Ebenezer B. Hersey.
This old stand on Cuddington street, respectfully announces to his friends and patrons, with whom he has been located nearly twenty-five years, that he is still prepared to answer all orders for PAINTING,
in the different branches, equal to the most skillful, and satisfactory to all who may require his services.
Paints, Oils, etc., of the best quality, on hand or furnished at the earliest notice.
Come in old customers, one and all;
Bring in your jobs ever so small—
And that will make the subscriber laugh.
He'll work by the day for a dollar and a half Grateful for liberal manifestations of public support, in long years, the subscriber anticipates a renewed assistance.
E. B. HERSEY.
Quincy, Dec. 4. if

Painting Business.
THE subscribers having formed a partnership in business, under the firm of DAVENPORT & POPE,
and having opened a Shop, on the premises of George Curtis, in School Street, are now prepared to answer all orders with neatness and dispatch
Painting, Graining, Varnishing and GLAZING.
done to satisfaction, and in a workmanlike manner. Small as well as large jobs thoughtfully received, and a share of public patronage respectfully solited.
WILLIAM DAVENPORT,
CHARLES E. POPE.
Quincy, Oct. 9. 3a

Cabinet Manufactory
—AND—
COFFIN WAREHOUSE.
CHARLES H. KIMBALL,
Successor to W. M. French,
HAVING bought of Mr. French the Stock, Tools, Good-Will, &c., of the old Established Cabinet Factory and Coffin Ware Rooms, corner of Hancock and Temple streets is now prepared to receive orders in all its Branches; manufacturing new, or REPAIRING OLD FURNITURE TO LOOK
NEARLY AS WELL AS NEW,
or in manufacturing Counters, &c.
He would also say to the patrons of the Old Stand that he intends to keep on hand
An Assortment of Coffins, varying in Size and Material; holding himself in readiness to meet the views of the community, in this particular branch at all times.
Having for the last twelve years served in this capacity under Mr. French, he feels confident that by attention to business, to meet with success, and supply the wants of Quincy and Vicinity.
Quincy, Oct. 23. if

LIVERY STABLE.
THE subscriber having purchased the establishment of George J. Jones, on Hancock street, and made additions thereto, is prepared, at the old stand, to accommodate his friends
and the public with Horses and Carriages.
PLEASURE PARTIES furnished with teams and drivers, or single carriages, at the shortest
notice.
Personal attention given to the business, and a liberal support from the public solicited.
DAVID E. ROBY.
Quincy, Nov. 13. if

Apples for Sale.
THE subscriber has from 25 to 30 barrels of the first quality of Winter Apples consisting of Golden Russets, Baldwins and Pippins, which he will sell cheap for Cash.
*ALSO—A few barrels of second quality, which he will at $1.50 per barrel.
SOLOMON NIGHTINGALE,
Granite Street.
Quincy, Dec. 4. if

Sulphite of Lime.
OVERS of good Cider who wish to preserve their Cider through the season in Casks, can do so by the use of Sulphite of Lime, the substance recently discovered by Prof. Hors-ford of Cal. bridge, to possess such powerful antiseptic qualities. The chemical can be obtained at the store of
C. C. JOHNSON,
Druggist and Apothecary, corner of
HANCOCK AND GRANITE STREETS.
Quincy, Nov. 13. if

ADAMS & HERSEY,
GRANITE WHARF, (Quincy Point).
HAVE just received one cargo of FRANK-LIN COAL, which they will sell at $7.00 per ton.
OTHER KINDS OF
Coal at $5.50 per Ton.
Orders left at Geo. L. Baxter & Co.'s
Store, George H. Locke's, or with Geo. W. Kenison, will receive early attention.
Quincy, July 3. if

COAL COAL.
THE Undersigned has for sale at WEBSTER, SWATARA, and EAGLE MOUNTAIN COAL!
Also, Nova Scotia Wood!
Orders left at D. Baxter & Co.'s Store, Mr.
Averill's, near South Depot, Dea. Geo. Baxter's, or at the Office, will be promptly attended to.
OFFICE, and entrance to Wharf, on
WASHINGTON STREET.
NEAR DEJA. GEORGE BAXTER'S.
OWEN ADAMS,
Quincy, Sept. 4. if

Kitchen Furnishing Articles.
A NEW Store, for the sale of the above, has been opened at 29 SCHOOL STREET, near City Hall, Boston, where may be found the best assortment of useful articles in the city.
At prices 25 per cent. less
than usual charges.
BROWN & CO.
Boston, Nov. 6. 3m

Removal.
THE SUBSCRIBER HAS REMOVED TO
GOODNOW'S BUILDING!
Corner of Hancock and Granite Sts.
Where he will continue to keep his usual large and well selected stock of
Plain and Fancy Silks,
Shawls, Dress Goods of every variety,
Domestic and Housekeeping Goods,
Gloves, Hosiery, Trimmings,
Embroideries and Fancy
Goods, &c.
GENTS' AND BOYS' CLOTHING
AND FURNISHING GOODS!!
Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, &c., &c.
—A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF—
FURNITURE
Constantly on hand. Mattresses and Featherbeds of every quality. Carpets, Paper Hangings,
Crockery, China, Glass and Britannia Ware,
all of which will be offered at
Very Low Prices for Cash.
He takes this opportunity to thank the citizens of this and neighboring towns for the very liberal patronage which they have given him, and would be happy to see them at his new location, where he will offer such inducements as will secure their continued and increased favors.
CALEB PACKARD.
Quincy, Jan. 23. if

Francis P. Loud
WOULD respectfully inform the Citizens of Quincy, that he has taken the Store formerly occupied by the late George B. Nightingale,
In the rear of the Stone Temple, where he has on hand and intends keeping a
A FULL ASSORTMENT
—OF—
WORSTED FOR EMBROIDERY,
Patterns of all kinds, and a General Assortment of Fancy Articles.
—ALSO—
Ladies' & Children's Ready Made CLOTHES,
Dress Trimmings, Corsets, Head
Dresses, the best of Spool Cotton,
Sewing Silk, Embroidery Silk, Shirts and Shirt Bosoms, Overall,
Cravats, Collars, &c., &c.
*ALSO—A large assortment of
CONFECTIONARY, NUTS, &c.
N.B. Stitching done to Order.
Quincy, Sept. 11. if

READ THIS
—AND—
PROFIT BY IT!
AS this is about the time that I would like to reduce my stock, I shall offer
Extra Inducements,
to all those who are in want of any Goods in my line. I would say to those that are about purchasing Delains, Prints, Valencia Plaids,
Alpacas, or Dress Goods of any kind,
SHAWLS, HOSIERY, GLOVES,
Collars, Underclothes, Embroideries, Flannels, Casement and Clothing, that I shall offer the above named articles
At Reduced Prices,
and will guarantee to those who will favor me with a call that they shall be satisfied with prices.
Please call and examine and judge for yourself.
Over 25
CALEB PACKARD.
Quincy, Dec. 4. 3a

New Crop of Molasses.
JUST received a lot of the new crop of the New Orleans Molasses, and for sale low by
H. VINAL.
Quincy, Dec. 11. 6w

GRANULAR FUEL.
Patented, June, 1852.
Manufactured from Brushwood and Twigs
For Kindling Coal Fires
AND all purposes for which a quick hot fire is needed. It is intended
By its Cheapness and Cleanliness
TO SUPERSEDE CHARCOAL.
It is especially adapted for Summer Use, when a quick fire is wanted but a short time. As it can be used in all kinds of Stoves, and being allowed to go out immediately after using, enables the consumer to practice Economy.
The extreme low price of this Fuel is also a great advantage, being but one-half the price of charcoal. It is quick, is clean, and is cheap, and will be sold and delivered at the following
low prices for cash:
Under 25 bushels, 10 cents per bushel.
Over 25 " " 9 " "
Orders left at the Store of E. Clapp, Henry A.
Newcomb, Peter W. Newcomb, Quincy Point, or at Badger & Hanson's Machine Shop, will be promptly attended to.
MANUFACTURED AND SOLD BY
GEORGE SAVIL.
Rear of Badger & Hanson's—Cemetery st.
Quincy, Aug. 14. if

Selling Off.
DAVID B. STETSON
WOULD inform his friends and the public that he has Returned to his Old Stand,
A few rods East of the Stone Temple,
Where he will keep a good assortment of
WEST INDIA GOODS, FAMILY PRO-VISIONS, GROCERIES, BOOTS AND SHOES, FANCY GOODS, TOYS, CON-FECTIONARY, RUSSIA SALT, &c.,
and all the popular Medicines, Essences, Flavoring Extracts, &c. A good assortment of Wooden Ware.
Just received a fresh lot of the improved Rosemary.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Quincy, Dec. 11. if

Old Colony
Fall River Railroad.
On and after Monday, November 1st, 1858, Trains leave Boston for Atlantic (N. Quincy,) 8.30, 11.30. A. M. 2.30, 6.15, 9.15. P. M. Return 6.47, 7.56, A. M.
1.17, 4.47, P. M.
Waltham, 8.10, 11.30. A. M. 2.30, 6.15, 9.15.
P. M. Return 6.44, 7.53, A. M. 1.13, 4.44 P. M.
Quincy, 8.10, 8.30, 11.30. A. M. 2.30, 3.30, 4.30, 5.30, 6.15, 9.15. P. M. Return 6.40, 7.42, 7.50, 8.48, 10.03, 10.46, A. M., 1.10, 4.41,
5.02 P. M.
S. Quincy, 8.30, 11.30. A. M. 4.30, 6.15, 9.15.
P. M. Return 6.38, 7.48, 8.46, A. M. 1.07,
4.38 P. M.
*Saturdays at 10, and Tuesday at 11.15, P. M.
BOSTON, Oct. 26th, 1858. if

New Arrangement.
FURNALD'S
QUINCY EXPRESS
LEAVES BOSTON, DAILY,
AT 2 1/2 O'CLOCK, P. M. 44
38 South Market St. and 3 Washington St.
Quincy, June 5. if

W. M. BABBITT, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician!
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.
OFFICE HOURS:
7 to 8 A. M. 12 to 1 P. M.
6 to 7 P. M.
Quincy, Sept. 11. if

To Let.
A HOUSE at South Quincy, within one minutes walk of the Depot. Rent, $80 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, Aug. 28. if

For Sale or to Let.
ONE Large Two-story Dwelling House on Granite street, with eighteen rooms; Barn, Out-buildings, and about 1 1/2 acres of Land, with Fruit Trees of all kinds. Said premises are within two minutes walk of the Old Colony Depot in Quincy.
*ALSO—One house on Brackett street, suitable for two families.
*ALSO—One Farm, No. 77, in the Quincy Stone Chapel.
*ALSO—For sale about ten tons of good Hay.
Inquire of
Wm. TORREY,
Granite street.
Quincy, April 10. if

For Sale or to Let.
ONE Large Two Story Dwelling
House on Franklin street, South Quincy, containing nine Rooms, and about 1 Acre of Land with Fruit Trees—all in flourishing condition.
Said premises are within two minutes' walk of Churches, Schools, Stores and Depot.
For particulars apply to J. N. HARDWICK.
Quincy Sept. 25. if

For Sale!
THE Estate of the late John Spear, situated at Quincy Point, and consisting of a Large House, Barn, and about three acres of excellent Land, with a variety of Fruit Trees. It is in the vicinity of two flourishing Shipyards.
For information inquire of Ebenezer Adams, on the premises, or to GEORGE SPEAR, 24.
Quincy, May 16. if

To Let,
A GOOD House, Shoemakers' Shop, Barn, and other Outbuildings, and 7 1/2 Acres of good Land. There is a plenty of Fruit—Apples, Pears, Cherries, Grapes, Currants, &c.—on the premises, which is situated on Washington street, 1 mile from the Depot—a mile from the Point Schools. Apply to Jonathan Baxter, 23, near the premises, or GEORGE BAXTER, Hancock st.
Quincy, Dec. 4. if

Real Estate for Sale.
CONSISTING of Wood Land, Tillage Land, a Salt Meadow, and a Dwelling House, as follows, viz:—
25 Acres of Wood Land, situated in Quincy, in three lots, viz:—
11 Acres known as Mark's Lot,
6 1/2 " " " Huffs " "
8 " " " Pond " "
Two small lots of Salt Meadow, situated in Quincy, in the Broad Meadows, as follows, viz:
One lot of 1 1/2 Acres, known as Faxon's Meadow,
" " " " Broad Meadow Lot.
Seven Acres prime Tillage Land in one lot.
*ALSO—One Dwelling House situated on High street, Quincy, now occupied by Mr. William Hobart.
The above mentioned property belongs to the estate of the late Noah Curtis.
Inquire of
DANIEL BAXTER.
Quincy, Dec. 11. 5w

Notice!
A NEW and SPLENDID ASSORTMENT of VELVET VESTINGS,
for sale cheap, at
Joseph W. Lombard's,
Over E. Clapp's Store.
Quincy, Nov. 13. if

GRASS SEED.
HERDS Grass, Red Top and Clover Seed for sale at Boston Prices by
D. BAXTER & CO.
Quincy, April 3. if

Paper Hangings.
A NEW and splendid assortment of Paper
Hangings, Curtains, &c., just received and
for sale by
ELBRIDGE CLAPP.
Quincy, March 28. if

Poetry.

How Beautiful is Earth.

Oh God! how beautiful is earth,
In sunlight or in shade,
Her forests with their waving arch,
Her flowers that gem the glade.
Her hillsides, white with fleecy flocks,
Her fields with grain that glow,
Her sparkling rivers, deep and broad,
That through the valley flow.
Her crested waves that dash the shore,
And lift their anthem loud,
Her mountains with their solemn brows,
That woo the yielding cloud.
Oh God! how beautiful is life
That thou dost lend us here,
With tinted hopes that line the cloud,
And joys that gem the tear.
With cradle-hymns of mothers young,
And tread of faithful feet,
That scarce, in the elastic bound,
Bow down the grass flowers sweet.
With brightness round the pilgrim's staff,
Who, at the set of sun,
Beholds the golden gates thrown wide,
And all his work well done.
But if this earth, which changes mar,
This life, to death that leads,
And made so beautifully by Him
From whom all good proceeds,
How glorious must that region be,
Where all the pure and blest,
From chance, and fear, and sorrow free,
Attain eternal rest.

A Weary Life it is to have no Work to do

Ho! ye who at the anvil toil
And strike the sounding blow,
Where from the burning tress's breast
The sparks fly to and fro
And fire answers to the hammer's ring,
Oh, while ye feel 'tis hard to toil
And sweat the long day through,
Remember it is harder still
To have no work to do!
Ho! ye who till the stubborn soil,
Whose hand guides the plow,
Who bend beneath the summer sun,
With burning cheek and brow—
Ye deem the cruel still clings to earth
From olden times till now—
And while ye feel 'tis hard to toil
The long summer day through Remember it is harder still
To have no work to do!
Ho! ye who ride the sea's blue fields—
Who plow the restless wave,
Beneath whose gulfed vessel's keel
There lies a yawning grave,
Around whose bark the wistful winds
Like fiends of fury rave—
Oh, while ye feel 'tis hard to toil
And labor long hours through,
Remember it is harder still
To have no work to do!
Ho! ye upon whose fevered cheeks
The hectic glow is bright,
Whose mental toil wears out the day
And hails the weary night,
Who labor for the souls of men,
Champions of truth and right—
A though ye feel your toil is hard,
Even with the glorious view,
Remember it is harder still
To have no work to do!
Ho! all who labor—all who strive—
Ye wield a lofty power,
Do with your might, do with your strength,
Fill every golden hour,
The glorious privilege to do
Is man's most noble dower—
Oh, to your livelihood and yourselves,
To your own souls be true!
A weary, wretched life is theirs
Who have no work to do!

Life Pilgrim.

I saw a rosy maiden
At dawn of a sunny day,
Who sang "how beautiful is life!"
And gaily went her way.
I saw a thoughtful matron,
Her children round her knee,
"This life of tender care is sweet,"
She meekly said to me.
I saw an aged woman,
Her hair was silver white,
I saw a better life than this,
And vanished from our sight.
The maid the matron, and the old,
Though all unlike to see,
Were the same pilgrim pressing on,
Till eternity.

Anecdotes.

An Irishman, who had lain sick for a long time, was one day met by the parish priest, when the following conversation took place:
Well Patrick, I am glad you have recovered—but were you not afraid to meet your God?
Och, no, your reverence, it was the meeting of that other chap, that I was afeared of, replied Pat.
Pa, I know what a filibuster is.
Well, John, what is a filibuster?
It is green clover.
Green clover?
Cause, when Uncle Jack's Filly foundered herself, he said a little more of that green clover would a' busted her; and, if it had, wouldn't it a' been a Filly buste?
I will lay a wager, said one sportsman to another, that I will shoot more crows to-day than you.
O, yes, you always beat me crowing.
An over-proud domestic was enraged at her mistress for calling her help, and told her so.
Why, was the cool reply, you are some help!
Pray, Jack, why did you marry such a little wife?
Why? I think you ought to know that of all evils we should choose the least.

ALL KINDS OF Job Printing,

POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,
BILL-HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS,
AND EVERY VARIETY OF BOOK, PLAIN AND FANCY
PRINTING,
Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office
WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand
—ALSO—
Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,
QUINCY CANAL WHARF.
July 10, 1852.

FISHER A. KINGSBURY,
Counsellor at Law,
Commissioner for the States of
MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VER-
MONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE ISLAND AND NEW YORK.
Weymouth, Mass.
Nov. 26.

WHITE & FRENCH,
Attorneys at Law.
Room No. 5, Webster Bank Building.
Exchange Street, — BOSTON.
GEORGE WHITE. ASA FRENCH.
May 20.

ATTENTION.

The Largest and Most Complete ASSORTMENT OF HARDWARE
DOORS
BLINDS
SASHES, &c. &c.,
Ever offered to the people of Quincy, may be found by calling upon
Bailey, Carver & Co
Having recently made large additions to our stock of
BUILDING MATERIALS,
we are prepared to furnish them at prices to cor-
respond with the times.
CHEAPER THAN EVER!!
We will sell Nails by the Ton or single Pound.
SASHES,
BLINDS, WINDOW GLASS,
NAILS,
SHEET LEAD,
FRAMING PINS,
WINDOW FRAMES, DOOR BELLS, SCREWS,
&c., &c.

MORTICE LOCKS—in a great Variety
ALSO—P. d. Iron, Brass, Steel and Sash
LOCKS;
MORTICE, THUMB AND PEOPLE'S LATCHES;
BLAKE'S BUTTS,
AND AXLE PULLEYS.
A good assortment of Hinges of all kinds.
Wrought, Fancy Plate,
STRAP, BLIND, AND T HINGES;
SHOVELS; DOOR SCRAPERS;
Bacon's Patent Lever Blind Fast—(rowell's) improved Blind Fast. Also—A great variety of Sash Fasteners.
Foster's Patent Window Supporters,
The best things ever used in the place of weights;
DOOR BELLS HUNG TO ORDER.
DON'T FORGET
AT THE OLD STAND OF
BAILEY, CARVER & CO.,
SCHOOL STREET.
Quincy, Jan. 23.

SEASONED LUMBER,
Of all descriptions, at prices to suit the times.
DIMENSION FRAMES,
Furnished at short notice.
Best quality of Lumber constantly on hand.
ALSO—Good Pine Wood at $6 a Cord.
For sale at BRACKETT'S WHARF.
Quincy, May 8.

Coal, Lime, Brick and Sand,
—with a good assortment of—
SEASONED LUMBER. constantly on hand, and for sale by the subscriber
at Quincy Canal Wharf.
NATHANIEL WHITE.
Quincy, April 10.

Pure Cider Vinegar.
800 GALLONS PURE CIDER VIN-EGAR, made on the farm formerly owned by B. V. French, now in store, and for sale by the barrel or smaller quantity, by
GEORGE L. BAXTER & CO.
Quincy, Aug. 15.

Boot and Shoe Findings.
JUST received and for sale low, a lot of Boot
and Shoe Kit, Findings, &c., by Quincy, Apr 18.

BURNS, &c.
MES' Lotion for burn, scalds, cuts, bruises,
toothache, chilblains, &c., &c.
For sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Sept 18.

C. C. JOHNSON,

Druggist and Apothecary,
GOODNOW'S BUILDING,
CORNER of Hancock and Granite streets.
Keeps constantly on hand a large assortment
of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs,
Fancy Articles, Perfumery, Havana Cigars,
Foreign Fruits and Swedish Liqueurs.
Physicians' Prescriptions, Carefully compounded, with accuracy and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Hall's Great
SCROFULAR REMEDY.
This Purely Vegetable Preparation is pleasant
and agreeable to the taste, and simple in its action, causing neither vomiting or purging. It acts directly upon the primary cause of disease—
regulates the Bowels, removes all vitiated secretions, giving a daily action to the Liver and correcting the tone to the Stomach. It overcomes the itching of Languor which is often experienced in the Spring and Summer, and renovates and restores the vitality and Physical Strength.
In thousands of cases of Scrofula, Erysipelas,
Scald Head, Tumors, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Asthma,
Coughs, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Fever,
Scurvy, White Swelling, Dropsy, Boils, Barber's Itch, Piles, Old Sores, and all diseases which manifest themselves by Eruptions or Eruptions on the Skin, it has been used with the most gratifying success, after every other known remedy has been tried and failed to afford relief.
It is also an infallible remedy for Liver Complaint,
Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Constipation and Derangement of the Urinary Organs.
It is an infallible remedy for irregularities and other diseases peculiar to FEMALES, such as Weakness and Pain in the Back, Strangury, Affection of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart,
Dizziness and Headache.
It can be given with perfect safety and most desirable results in all cases, to any person, from infancy to old age.
Made and sold by MR. SMITH HALL, Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass., to whom all orders
must be addressed. Sold also by Redding & Co.,
No. 8 State Street; Geo. C. Goodwin, No. 99
Union Street, Boston, and all Dealers and Medicine Dealers throughout the United States.
Mrs. E. HAYDEN, Agent.
Quincy, Dec. 13.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and Tightness of the Lungs,
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Prepared by A. M. BECK
BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN
Oct 20.

THIS Purely Vegetable Preparation is pleasant
and agreeable to the taste, and simple in its action, causing neither vomiting or purging. It
acts directly upon the primary cause of disease—
regulates the Bowels, removes all vitiated secre-
tions, giving a daily action to the Liver and correcting the tone to the Stomach. It overcomes
the itching of Languor which is often experienced in the Spring and Summer, and renovates and restores the vitality and Physical Strength.
In thousands of cases of Scrofula, Erysipelas,
Scald Head, Tumors, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Asthma,
Coughs, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Fever,
Scurvy, White Swelling, Dropsy, Boils, Barber's Itch, Piles, Old Sores, and all diseases which manifest themselves by Eruptions or Eruptions on the Skin, it has been used with the most gratifying success, after every other known remedy has been tried and failed to afford relief.
It is also an infallible remedy for Liver Complaint,
Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Constipation and Derange-
ment of the Urinary Organs.
It is an infallible remedy for irregularities and
other diseases peculiar to FEMALES, such as Weakness and Pain in the Back, Strangury, Affection of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart,
Dizziness and Headache.
It can be given with perfect safety and most desirable results in all cases, to any person, from infancy to old age.
Made and sold by MR. SMITH HALL, Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass., to whom all orders
must be addressed. Sold also by Redding & Co.,
No. 8 State Street; Geo. C. Goodwin, No. 99
Union Street, Boston, and all Dealers and Medicine Dealers throughout the United States.
Mrs. E. HAYDEN, Agent.
Quincy, Dec. 13.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and Tightness of the Lungs,
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-
pared by A. M. BECK
BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN
Oct 20.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and Tightness of the Lungs,
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-
pared by A. M. BECK
BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN
Oct 20.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and Tightness of the Lungs,
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-
pared by A. M. BECK
BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN
Oct 20.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and Tightness of the Lungs,
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-
pared by A. M. BECK
BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN
Oct 20.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and Tightness of the Lungs,
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-
pared by A. M. BECK
BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN
Oct 20.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and Tightness of the Lungs,
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-
pared by A. M. BECK
BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN
Oct 20.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and Tightness of the Lungs,
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-
pared by A. M. BECK
BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN
Oct 20.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and Tightness of the Lungs,
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-
pared by A. M. BECK
BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN
Oct 20.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and Tightness of the Lungs,
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-
pared by A. M. BECK
BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN
Oct 20.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and Tightness of the Lungs,
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-
pared by A. M. BECK
BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN
Oct 20.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and Tightness of the Lungs,
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-
pared by A. M. BECK
BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN
Oct 20.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.
THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable
world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel at a duty to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,
to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
powers.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHLORIDE COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
Healing, Soothing and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTIVE, and all those trou-
bled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,
ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURNING SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.
"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE
are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it with proper directions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other
pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.
In cases of

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XXIII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, JANUARY 8th, 1859.

NUMBER II.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION
Over Mr. E. Clapp's Store, on Hancock St.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

Two DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.

No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.

Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business.

Letters and communications, (postage paid), will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers.

Railway Village, JOSIAH BABCOCK.
West District, GEORGE H. LOCKE.
Milton, CHARLES BREEK.
Dorchester, ORIN P. BACON.
Weymouth, F. A. KINGSBURY.
Abington, JOSEPH CLEVELY.
South Scituate, SAMUEL A. TURNER.
Brooklyn, (N. Y.) GERSHOM DREW.

Miscellaneous.

The Village Prize

In one of the loveliest villages in old Virginia, there lived in the year 175—, an old man, whose daughter was declared, by universal consent, to be the loveliest maiden in all the country around. The veteran, in his youth, had been athletic and muscular above all his fellows; and his breast, where he always wore them, could show the adornment of three medals, received for his victories in gymnastic feats when a young man. His daughter was now eighteen, and had been sought in marriage by many suitors. One brought wealth—another fine person—another this and another that. But they were all refused by the old man who became at last a bye-word for his obstinacy among the young men of the village and neighbourhood.

At length the nineteenth birth day of Annette, his charming daughter, who was as amiable and modest as she was beautiful, arrived. The morning of that day, her father invited all the youth of the country to a hay-making frolic. Seventeen handsome and distinguished young men assembled. They came not only to make hay, but also to make love to Annette.

In three hours they had filled the father's barn with the newly dried grass, and their own hearts with love. Annette, by her father's command, had brought the milk pail of her own brewing, which she presented to each enamoured swain with her own fair hands.

Now my boys, said the old keeper of the jewel they so much coveted, as leaning on the iron picket-fence, they all assembled, in the cool of the evening; now, my lads, you have nearly all of you made proposals for my Annette. Now, you see, I don't care anything about money or talents, book learning, nor soldier learning. I can do as well by my gal as any man in the country. But I want her to marry a man of my own grit. Now, you know or ought to know, when I was a youngster, I could beat anything in all Virginia in the way of leaping. I got the old woman by beating the smartest man on the Eastern Shore, and I have took the oath, and sworn it, that no man shall marry my daughter without jumping for her. You understand me, boys. There's the green and here's Annette, he added taking his daughter, who stood timidly behind him, by the hand. Now, the one that jumps the farthest on a dead level, shall marry Annette this very night.

This unique address was received by the young men with applause. And many a youth of trial cast a glance of anticipated victory back upon the object of village chivalry. The maidens left their looms and quilting frames, the children their noisy sports, the slaves their labors, and the old men their arm chairs and long pipes, to witness and triumph in the success of the victor. All prophesied and wished that would be young Carroll. He was the handsomest and best humored youth in the country, and all knew that strong mutual attachment existed between him and the fair Annette. Carroll had won the reputation of being the 'best leaper,' and in a country where such athletic achievements were the 'sine qua non' of man's cleverness, this was no ordinary honor.

The arena allotted for this hyemal contest was a level place in the front of the village inn, and near the centre of a grass plat reserved in the midst of the village, denominated the 'green.' The verdure was quite worn off at this place, by previous exercises of a similar kind, and a hard surface of sand, more befitting for which it was to be used, supplied its place.

The father of the lovely, blushing and withal happy prize, (for she well knew who would win,) with three other patriarchal villagers, were the judges appointed to decide upon the claims of several competitors. The last time Carroll tried his skill in the exercise, he 'cleared,' to use the leaper's phraseology, twenty one feet and one inch.

The signal was given, and by lot the young men stepped into the arena.

Edward Grayson, seventeen feet, cried out his judges. The youth had done his utmost; he was a pale, intellectual, student, but what has intellect to do in such an arena?—Without a look at the maiden he left the ground.

Dick Doulden, nineteen feet. Dick, with a laugh, turned away and replaced his coat.

Harry Preston, nineteen feet and three inches. Well done, Harry Preston! cried the spectators, you have tried hard for the acres and homestead. Harry also laughed, and swore he only jumped for the fun of the thing. Harry was a rattle brain fellow, but never thought of matrimony. He loved to walk and talk with Annette, but sober marriage never entered his head. He only jumped for the fun of the thing. He would not have said so if he were sure of winning.

Charley Shums, fifteen feet and a half.—Hurrah for Charley! Charley'll win! cried the crowd good humoredly. Charley was the cleverest fellow in the world. His mother advised him to stay at home, and told him if he ever won a wife she would fall in love with his good temper rather than his legs. Charley, however, made the trial of the latter's capabilities, and lost. Many refused to enter the lists altogether. Others made the trial, and only one of the leapers yet cleared twenty feet. Now, cried the villagers, let's see Henry Carroll. He ought to beat this, and every one appeared, as they called to mind the mutual love of the last competitor and the sweet Annette, as if they heartily wished his success.

Henry stepped to his post with a firm tread. His eyes glanced with confidence around upon the villagers, and rested before the bound forward upon the face of Annette, as if to catch therefrom that spark and assurance for which the occasion called. Returning the encouraging glance with which she met his own, with a proud smile upon his lip, he leapt forward.

Twenty-one feet and a half! shouted the multitude, repeating the announcement of one of the judges, twenty-one feet and a half! Henry Carroll for ever! Annette and Harry! Hands, caps, and handkerchiefs, waved over the heads of the spectators, and the eyes of the delighted Annette sparkled with joy.

When Henry Carroll moved to his station to strive for the prize, a tall gentlemanly man, in a military undress frock-coat, who had rode up to the inn, dismounted and joined the spectators, unperceived while the contest was going on, stepped suddenly forward, and with a keen eye measured deliberately the space accomplished by the last leaper. He was a stranger in the village. His handsome face and easy address attracted the eyes of the village maidens, and his manly and snowy frame, in which symmetry and strength were happily united, called forth the admiration of the young men.

May be, Sir, stranger, you think you can beat that, said one of the bystanders, remarking the manner in which the eye of the stranger scanned the arena, if you can leap beyond Henry Carroll you'll beat the best man in the Colonies.

The truth of this observation was assented to by a general murmur.

Is it for mere amusement you are pursuing this pastime, inquired the youthful stranger, or is there a prize for the winner?

Annette, the loveliest and wealthiest of our village maidens, is the reward of the victor, is the last open to all?

All, young Sir, replied the father of Annette, with interest, his youthful ardor rising as he surveyed the proportions of the straight limbed young stranger. She is the bride of him who outleaps Henry Carroll. If you will try you are free to do so. But let me tell you Henry Carroll has no equal in Virginia. Here is my daughter, Sir, look at her and make your trial.

The officer glanced at the trembling maiden about to be offered on the altar of her father's monomania, with an admiring eye. The poor girl looked at Harry, who stood by with a troubled brow and an angry eye, and then cast upon the new competitor an imploring glance.

Placing his coat in the hands of one of the judges, he drew a sash he wore beneath it tighter round his waist, and taking the appointed stand, made without effort the bound that was to decide the happiness or misery of Henry and Annette.

Twenty-two feet and an inch, shouted the judge.

The shout was repeated with surprise by the spectators, who crowded around the victor, filling the air with loud murmurs from those who were more nearly interested in the happiness of the two lovers.

The old man approached, and grasping his hand exultingly, called him son, and said he felt prouder of him than if he were a prince. Physical activity and strength were the old leapers true patents of nobility.

Resuming his coat, the victor sought with his eye the prize, although nameless and unknown, so fairly won. She leaned upon her father's arm, pale and distressed.

Her lover stood aloof and mortified, admiring the superiority of the stranger in an exercise in which he prided himself as unrivalled, while he hated him for his success.

Annette, my pretty prize, said the victor, taking her passive little hand, I have won you fairly.

Annette's cheek became paler than marble; she trembled like an aspen leaf, and clung closer to her father, while her drooping eyes sought the form of her lover. His brow grew dark at the stranger's language.

I have won you, my pretty flower, to make you a bride. Tremble not so violently; I mean not myself to wear so far a gem next to my heart. Perhaps, and he cast his eyes inquiringly, while the current of life leaped joyfully to her brow, and a murmur of surprise ran through the crowd, perhaps there is some favored youth among these who has a higher claim to this jewel. You sir, he continued, turning to the surprised Henry, I think you were the victor on the list before me. I strove not for the maiden, though one could not well strive for a fairer, but from love of the manly sport in which I saw you engaged. You are the victor, and as such, with the permission of the large and worthy assembly, you receive from my hand the prize that you have so well and nobly won.

The youth sprang forward and grasped his hand with gratitude, and the next moment Annette was weeping for pure joy upon his shoulder. The welkin rang with the exclamations of the delighted villagers, and amid the temporary excitement produced by this act, the stranger withdrew from the crowd, unnoticed and unperceived.

That night Henry and Annette were married, and the health of the mysterious and noble-hearted stranger was drunk in overflowing bumpers of rustic beverage.

In process of time was born into the married pair sons and daughters, and Henry Carroll had become Colonel Henry Carroll of Revolutionary fame.

One evening, having just returned home after a hard campaign, as he was seated with his family on the gallery of his handsome country house, an advance courier rode up and announced the approach of Gen. Washington and suite, informing him that he should crave his hospitality for the night. The necessary directions were given in reference to the household preparations, and Col. Carroll, ordering his horse, rode forward to meet and escort the distinguished guest, whom he had never yet seen, although serving in the same widely extended army.

That evening, at the table, Annette, now become the dignified, matronly, and still handsome Mrs. Carroll, could not keep her eyes from those of her illustrious visitor. Every moment or two she would steal a glance at his commanding features, and half doubtfully, half assuredly, shake her head, and look again to be still more puzzled. Her absence of mind and embarrassment at length became evident to her husband, who inquired affectionately if she were ill.

I suspect, Colonel, said the General, who had been for some time, with a quiet, meaning smile, observing the lady's curious and puzzled survey of his features, that Mrs. Carroll recognizes in me an old acquaintance. And he smiled with a mysterious air as he gazed upon both alternately.

The Colonel started, and a faint memory of the past seemed to be revived as he gazed, while the lady rose impulsively from her chair, and bending eagerly forward over the tea-table, with clasped hands, and an eye of eager inquiry fixed full upon him, who stood for a moment with her lips parted.

Pardon me, my dear madam, pardon me, Colonel, I must put an end to this scene. I have become, in spite of camp fare and hard usage, too unwieldy to leap again twenty-two feet and one inch, even for so fair a bride as the one I wot of.

The recognition, with the surprise, delight and happiness which followed, are left to the imagination of the reader.

General Washington was indeed the handsomest young leaper whose mysterious appearance and disappearance in the native village of the lovers is still traditional; whose claim to a substantial, bona fide flesh and blood was stoutly contested by the village story-tellers, until the happy denouement which took place at the hospitable mansion of Colonel Carroll.

The oldest piece of furniture is the multiplication table, and is now as good as new.

Sit Straight.

Why? Because God made your backbone to be erect, and not curved or hunched. It is true, he formed it of several bones, in order that it might be flexible to suit different motions of the body; but its natural position is erect. Sit straight, also, to give your lungs room to work in. They contain two sets of cells or tubes, one set for the air, and the other for the blood, separated by a thin membrane. It is necessary for life and health that the membrane should come in contact with the air, and take from the air that part of it which is called oxygen; oxygen purifies the blood, and gives it life and freshness. Now when you stoop, you cannot take in a sufficient quantity of air to answer these purposes, and therefore the blood remains bad; and the little air tubes, squeezed and pressed together, become sore and irritated. By and by the lungs ulcerate, and then you are likely to get sick, and probably die.

Steel Pens

The number of Steel Pens annually produced in Birmingham, England, is said to be upwards of one thousand millions. One establishment has the distinctive marks of five hundred different dealers in all parts of the country, as well as on the continent of Europe and America, for whom the pens are manufactured, according to order. The sheets of steel are reduced to the requisite tenacity by successive transits through the rolling mill operations, tended by men and boys. When reduced to the thickness of a steel pen, length about two feet, breadth two and a half to three inches, the sheets are ready for punching out the blanks. The process is performed with great rapidity, one girl of average industry and dexterity being able to punch out about one hundred gross a day. The next operation is to place the blank in a concave die, on which a slight touch from a convex punch produces the requisite shape—that of the semi-tube. The slits and apertures, to increase the elasticity and the quaker's or vander's name or mark, are produced by a small roller.

Every pen undergoes a variety of other processes. When complete, all but the slit, it is soft and pliable, and may be bent or twisted in the hand like a piece of thin lead. Being collected in grosses or great grosses, the pens are thrown into iron square boxes, and placed in a furnace, where they remain till box and pen are of a white heat. They are then taken out and thrown, hissing hot, into pails or tanks of oil, when they may be broken like so many wafers; after draining, they are made to revolve rapidly in a perforated cylinder.

The Dreamers and the Emperor

Charles V., while hunting, lost his way, and entered a miserable roadside inn for rest and refreshment. He noticed four men living on a bed, whose countenances were by no means indicative of good intentions. In fact, they were thieves. Charles asked for refreshments, but had scarcely swallowed a drop, when one of the ill-looking fellows got up and approached him, with the remark—"I dreamed you had a mantle that would fit me to a T," and thereupon he appropriated the garment.

"And I," said the second fellow, following his comrade's example, "I dreamed you had a buff coat which would fit me nicely." At the same time he seized upon the buff coat. The third took his hat, the fourth prepared to take a whistle which the Emperor wore suspended from his neck by a gold chain.

"Softly, my friend," said Charles; "let me first show you the use of this whistle."

Accordingly he raised it to his lips, blew a shrill note, and the house was filled with his armed retainers.

"Here," said Charles, pointing to the ruffians, "are a set of fellows who dream whatever they want. It is my turn now. I have dreamed that all these rascals were worthy of a gibbet. Let the dream be realized instantly."

The hint was taken, and without further delay or formality the rascally quartette were swung up before the inn door, a signal warning to all unprincipled psychologists.

Willow.

The common willow is the plant for farmers who would make hedges. It grows four times as fast as any of the thorns. Willows are propagated at a twentieth part of the cost of the thorn, and they come to a growth large enough to make a fence in less than a fourth part of the time required for thorns.

We have various kinds of willows in this quarter, and they bear our cold winters as well as the oak and maple. The yellow willow is of very rapid growth; and it is quite common in this quarter. No seeds are required, as the willow is propagated by cuttings, which may be had in abundance without cost. These are run into the ground on the line of the fence at any time in April, and they will grow without culture where the soil is good.

Take any willow cuttings that are from one and a half to two inches in diameter, let them be twelve inches long, and on setting them take an iron bar to make a hole. This should be twelve inches deep, so as to let the upper end of the cutting come even with the surface of the ground.

The cuttings should be procured before the sap begins to move. The fore part of March is a good time to cut them, and then they might lay out in the sun, on the wood-pile, or elsewhere, to the time of setting—the bark thus adheres more closely to the wood than when the willow is cut in April, and will not peel.

Most people who set willows for hedges, leave the ends of the cutting several inches above ground, thinking to gain one year's growth—but they are more likely to lose the cutting.

The willow has an advantage over all kinds of them, as the trimmings are worth something for firewood, and will repay all the labor of trimming when cut once in five years.

Wet meadows are the home of the willow; and where a ditch makes a partial fence the willow on the bank will soon make the rest. When the fence alone is the object, the willows should be cut as low as four or five feet from the ground.—Ploughman.

The Speed of Railway Cars.

Many of the accidents which happen to persons attempting to cross railroads are the result of ignorance of the velocity of the iron horse when fairly under way. It seems almost incredible that as we glide smoothly along, the elegantly furnished car moves nearly twice its own length in a second of time—about seventy-four feet. At this velocity we find that the locomotive driving-wheel six feet in diameter, makes four revolutions per second. It is no idle piston rod that traverses the cylinder thus eight times per second. If a man with a horse and carriage town should approach and cross the track at a speed of six miles per hour, which would be crossing rapidly, an express train approaching at the moment would move towards two hundred and fifty-seven feet while he was in the act of crossing a distance barely sufficient to clear the horse and vehicle. If the horse was moved at a rate no faster than a walk, as the track is usually crossed, the train would move towards him, while in the act of crossing, more than five hundred feet. This fact accounts for the many accidents at such points. The person driving thinks he may cross because the train is a few rods distant. How compares the highest speed of the train with the velocity of sound? When the whistle is opened at the eighty rod "whistle post," the train will advance near one hundred feet before the sound of the whistle traverses the distance to and is heard at the crossing. The velocity exceeds the flight of many of our birds. Dr. J. L. Comstock, the well-known author of several philosophical works, states that he was recently passing through Western New York, when the train actually "ran down" and killed a common hawk. The train was stopped, and the game so rarely captured was secured.

A String of Curious Facts.

The following striking scientific facts were picked up in the course of our reading, from various reliable authorities. We think many of them will be new to our readers:

The difference between the skulls of a domestic hog and wild boar, is as great as that between the European and negro skull. Domesticated animals that have subsequently run wild in the forest, after a few generations lose all traces of their domestication, and are physically different from their tame originals. It is not natural for a cow, any more than for other female animals to give milk when she has no young to nourish. The permanent production of milk, is a modified animal function, produced by an artificial habit for several generations. In Columbia the practice of milking cows having been laid aside, the natural state of the function has been restored. The secretion of milk continues only during the suckling of the calf, and is only an occasional phenomenon. If the calf dies, the milk ceases to flow, and it is only by keeping him with his dam by day, that an opportunity of obtaining milk from cows by night can be found.

The barking of dogs is an acquired hereditary instinct, supposed to have originated in an attempt to imitate the human voice. Wild dogs, and domestic breeds become wild, never bark, but howl. Cats, which so disturb civilized communities by their midnight "cat-crawls," in the wild state in South America, are quite silent.

The hair of the negro is not wool, but a curled and twisted hair. The distinction between hair and wool is clearly revealed by the microscope.

The dark races have less nervous sensibility than the whites. They are not subject to nervous disease. They sleep sound in every disease, nor does any mental disturbance keep them awake. They bear surgical operations much better than the white people.

A certain species of fungus has been known to attain the size of a gourd in one night; and it is calculated that the cellulose of which it is composed, must amount to forty-seven thousand million. If it grew in twelve hours, this would give four thousand million per hour, or more than sixty-six million each minute.

Animalecules have been discovered so small that one million would not exceed a grain of sand, and five hundred million would sport in a drop of water. Yet each of these must have blood-vessels, nerves, muscles, circulating fluids, &c., like large animals.

One of the most wonderful achievements of astronomers, is the weighing of the bodies of the solar system. It is certain that the mass of Jupiter is more than 322, and less than 323 times the mass of this globe—so accurately has this work been accomplished.

The mass of the sun is 350,551 times greater than that of the earth and moon, and seven hundred times greater than the united masses of all the planets.

The planet Saturn is composed of matter only half as heavy as water; Mercury is considerably heavier than quicksilver, and a third heavier than lead; and our own globe is twice as heavy as common rock, and half as heavy as lead—a fact which shows the great density of its internal parts.

A flash of lightning on the earth would be visible on the moon in a second and a quarter; on the sun, in eight minutes; on Jupiter, when farthest from us, in fifty-two minutes; on Uranus, in two hours; on Neptune, in four hours and a quarter; on the star Vega, of the first magnitude, in forty-five years; on a star of the eighth magnitude, four thousand years; and such stars are visible through the telescope.

It is the most French custom between the heavenly bodies all attractions are transmitted with a velocity which, if it be not infinite, surpasses several thousand times the velocity of light. His annotator estimates it as eight million of times greater than that of light.

The circumference of the earth is twenty-five thousand and twenty miles. A railway train, traveling incessantly night and day, at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour, would require six weeks to go round it. A tunnel through the earth, from England to New Zealand, would be nearly eight thousand miles long.

Natives of the Gold Coast.

The natives stand in ignominious contrast to the overpowering wealth of the scenes in which they live; beneath the blaze of the fierce tropical sun, and through forests in which the very trees are gorgeously clothed with orchids heaped about in brilliant festoons. He bears on his head an earthen vessel of palm oil, or carries two or three quills of gold dust, the result of his own industry in washing the sands after the rains. His sole article of clothing is a Manchester remal, or length of chequered cotton, girdled round his loins. But he knows the value of his own merchandise, and of that for which he intends to exchange it. He is a bird by no means to be caught with chaff. He will not change his palm oil for a bunch of feathers, nor his gold for a string of beads; neither does he affect any article of European clothing, or hanker after any produce of European civilization. He wants rum—the strong, coarse American rum—and he knows to a spoonful how much he ought to get of it. He wants from time to time a new remal, also a cloth or blanket to throw over his shoulders on state occasions, and a musket to make a row with and fire off when he keeps custom. But he wants no food, because the maize springs up for him almost without cultivation, and his women pound it between two stones, and add water to make a paste which he calls kankee, and on this he gorges himself with great relish. Sometimes his soul laments for meat, and then the black snails of the forest, as big as a fist, furnish him with a soup of which palm oil is also an essential ingredient. The provident house-wife threads these snails on a big of grass and dries them in the sun, thus saving her lord and master from the toil of putting out his hand to take them. The long, black haired monkey also provides him with a bounteous repast. Pity the sorrows of an European traveling through the bush and partaking of the hospitality (he will have to pay handsomely for it) of a native, when, as a delicacy reserved for him, there is fished up out of the big pot of soup a black head with the lips drawn back and the teeth grinning, and such a painful resemblance of the faces

Insurance against Fire.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, of Massachusetts, in Real and Personal Property against the hazard of Fire, for five years or less, on favorable terms.

Owners, Mechanics, Householders, Traders, Farmers, and all Owners of Property not extra-terrestrial, are solicited to patronize this Company. Every effort will be made to accommodate them.

Letters, by mail or otherwise, from persons residing at a distance, relating to Fire Insurance, will be promptly attended to.

PRESIDENT, WILLIAM S. MORTON.

SECRETARY, ISRAEL W. MUNROE.

DIRECTORS, STEPHEN BATES.

Quincy, Milton, Charles Breech.

Wm. S. Morton, Charles Breech.

El W. Munroe, Dorchester.

Wm. C. Webb, H. W. Blanchard.

Stoughton Porter, Cohasset.

Allen Bates, Solomon J. Beal.

Wm. B. Duggan, Hingham.

James Curtis, Ebenezer Gay.

Port Thompson, South Hingham.

Wm. W. Turner, North Bridgewater.

South Scituate, Sumner A. Hayward.

Wm. W. Turner, Barnstable.

Wm. W. Turner, George Marston.

Wm. W. Turner, Dedham.

Wm. W. Turner, Athan A. Cobb.

References, by permission:

GEORGE T. BULLOW, of Boston.

JOSIAH QUINCY, Jr., of Boston.

AMASA WALKER, of North Brookfield.

JAMES MAQUIRE, of Randolph.

SOLOMON LINCOLN, of Hingham.

CHARLES F. ADAMS, of Quincy.

JOSIAH BEECHAM, Esq., of Quincy.

OFFICE: Quincy Square, Quincy, near of Stone Temple.

and 1.

Local Police Gazette.

His Great Journal of Crime and Criminals is in its Twelfth Year, and is widely circulated throughout the country. It contains all the most interesting and important news of the day, together with information on Criminal Matters not to be found in other newspapers.

Subscriptions, $2 per annum; $4 for six months, to be remitted by subscribers (who write their names and the town, county and where they reside plainly.)

W. W. MANSUELL & CO.,

Editors & Proprietors of the National Police Gazette.

New York City, Apr 25.

GEORGE R. FRENCH,

Engraver and Plate Printer,

Washington, near Water St., Boston.

Attention given to the Engraving and Printing of

Maps, Charts, and Plans of Locations, Reception, Marriage, Address and Visiting Cards.

LONG and practical experience in this particular branch, warrants me in saying that no other establishment can do so well as I can in any of the above mentioned business.

PRINTING STATIONERY, constantly on hand. Portraits, Views, Maps, Engravings, Ballads, Blank Checks, Notes, Bills of Exchange, &c., &c., engraved and printed at short notice.

Plates, Seals, and anything in the line of stationery and printing, at equally low prices.

Orders by mail, express, or otherwise, promptly attended to.

Feb 20

6m

RICH'S PATENT

ON BEAM PLOW.

WADSWORTH JR

South Weymouth,

Agent for the County of Norfolk.

THE SALE OF THIS PLOW.

will visit the various parts of the County during the first of April. Plows will in any part of the County Green of charge, and cash on delivery.

Weights and Prices.

Minimum, 3 horse, 135 lbs. price, $13 50

1, 2 horse, 125 " " 12 00

Minimum, No. 2, 2 horse 110 " " 11 00

Minimum, 1 horse 90 " " 9 00

Minimum, 1 horse 40 " " 4 00

Minimum, 1 horse 30 " " 3 00

around him that for a moment he wonders which of the younger members of the family has been sacrificed to the exigencies of the occasion. But he is reassured, and discovers that he is not eating man, but monkey. The native of the Gold Coast has no desire to buy a house, or to build a house, or to live in a house. He does not wish to add field to field, or to make a name in the land. His only desire is to eat when he is hungry, drink whenever he can and to sleep in the interim. He has no anxiety for himself and certainly none for his offspring, who have neither to be educated or clothed; nor has he any misgiving about their future prospects. They run about in the bush if he lives inland, or he turns them into the sea if he lives on the coast. You may watch them in any number and of all ages, from two to twelve, diving and ducking under the waves, waiting for a big one; and then, on the crest of it, you see the little shining black bodies tossed over and over and around and around, till, screaming with pleasure, they are washed up on the sand, like a tangle of black seaweed. Then slowly, and with much noise, they unravel themselves and crawl back to the water, and continue this sport the whole day long, with the exception of the time occupied in consuming huge lumps of kankoe, brought to them by the mothers. The paternal domain is, for the most part, a circular hut, under the mud floor of which the ancestors of the family have been buried for many generations.—Dickens' Household Words.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Jan. 8th, 1859.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

Pecuniary Distress

A Western correspondent of one of the Philadelphia papers thus writes:—"Multitudes of Western men are coming to Philadelphia to borrow money on farms and town lots, and, failing to do so, are offering their property at less than half its market value two years ago. They generally say they must have cash enough from one property to save another from the sheriff. Lands well located three or four years ago are offered at less than a dollar per acre for the money. Improved farms with fine buildings are offered at prices equally low. Some distressing cases of embarrassment have been related on homesteads, to escape which, it is utterly impossible to procure the money. Most of these borrowers and sellers meet with no success among our money men. Real estate and mortgages can be bought low enough at home to tempt capitalists, and large sums have been diverted from stocks into this channel."

Coal Oils for Light

By a statement in the last number of the Scientific American, it appears that the coal oils, which are supposed to be entirely safe, so far as regards explosiveness, have in some cases been already adulterated and made dangerous by the addition of alcohol, this article being used to make inferior coal oil burn without smoking. The obnoxious "burning fluid," it will be remembered, is made by simply adding alcohol to some of the resinous oils. The Scientific American remarks:

"Pure coal oils are not—strictly speaking—explosive, because they are only subspontaneous, and stand midway between the fixed and volatile oils. They are, however, (like camphene) capable of intimate mixture with alcohol, and if adulterated with it, they become like the common burning fluids, which have caused so many dreadful explosions. Most of the lamps which have recently been invented for burning coal oil, and volatile burning fluids are perfectly safe in the charge of careful persons; we, therefore, advise all those who use coal oils—since they cannot tell whether they are a adulterated or not—to exercise the utmost caution in filling their lamps, and in having them made strong and tight, and they will be sure to avoid explosions."

FIREMEN'S AID MEETING. The Hook and Ladder Company, of this town, spent a very pleasant time at their house last Monday evening, partaking of excellent refreshments, both fish and clam, with other refreshments. Nightingale's band furnished good music, and the company, with their guests, enjoyed several hours in dancing. It was an occasion long to be remembered.

QUINCY LYCEUM. It will be seen by a notice in to-day's paper, that a Lecture will be delivered by Rev. Mr. Knapp, of this town, before the Quincy Lyceum on Thursday evening next. An able lecture may be expected.

TO THE LADIES. We would call the attention of the ladies, and all others interested, to the sale by auction, on Thursday next, of Mrs. L. Clapp's Millinery goods. This is a rare chance for those wishing to purchase. For full particulars see advertisement.

Boston Correspondence.

Boston, Jan. 5, 1859.

Storm—City matters—Hon. Horace Mann on Education, Antislavery College, California vs. Unitarianism—Meeting of the Massachusetts Legislature—Organization—Congress—Fishing Bounties.

The violent storm of yesterday has caused a general apathy here in all circles, bringing business to a stand; and the votaries of pleasure have been sadly disappointed at the rude hostility of winter. It is not improbable that marine disasters of a calamitous character have occurred on the coast.

The City Government for 1859 was organized, with the usual ceremonies and congratulatory speeches, on Monday. Mayor Lincoln gave the City Council a full and satisfactory view of the affairs of Boston. The present debt has reached the alarming sum of $9,163,049.77. From all appearances, we are incurring a large public indebtedness for future generations to pay, which can hardly be reconciled as just, and with no plan, except increased taxation, to extinguish an enormous debt, whose interest, at six per cent, exceeds a half million dollars yearly.

The Hon. Horace Mann has given us at the Music Hall another Lecture—Subject, Education at the West. The venerated Josiah Quincy presided at the meeting, which was addressed by President Mann, Rev. Dr. Ganey, and Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr. Eighteen months ago Antislavery College owed a debt of $83,000. It is now all paid but $1,500. The object of this meeting was to adopt measures for raising that sum. The College, as you are aware, is under the auspices of the Unitarian denomination. Mr. Mann, in the course of his remarks, said, "In all the State of Ohio there are but four Unitarian churches, and but one of these has any secure foundation in means and members. The Calvinists or 'Evangelical' denominations have the entire field almost to themselves, and by their dilatory course to all seceders, any recruiting to the ranks of Liberal Christian views is very difficult, for so intolerant are the leaders now on the ground, that if they wish to pour out the bitterest val of wrath upon a person's head, they use their bitterest vituperation when they call him a Unitarian." This expression was received with sensation by the meeting; and if true, it is to be regretted that such religious intolerance should prevail at this enlightened day, among a people boasting of the largest religious liberty enjoyed by any other on earth. We need further light, to reconcile all of Mr. Mann's statements, that, as the stern tenets of the Puritans bent their way out of New England, they relaxed in rigidity—we are still of that opinion.

The Legislature met at the State House to-day. The Senate made choice of Hon. Charles A. Phelps, of Boston, as President. Dr. Phelps was a graduate of Union College in 1841, and received his medical degree at Cambridge in 1844. He is by profession a Dentist of this city, in good practice. The honors of legislation have been meted to him most liberally, having been Speaker of the House of Representatives in 1857, a State Senator in 1858, and now President of the Senate. Since the organization of our State government in 1787, it is believed that but two individuals, before Dr. Phelps, have had the fortune to fill both these offices, namely, Harrison Gray Otis and Daniel P. King.

After the House of Representatives had been called to order, on motion of William S. Morton of Quincy, a committee, consisting of that gentleman and others, were appointed to receive, sort and count the votes for Speaker. The committee reported as follows: Whole number of votes 202; necessary for a choice, 102. Charles Hale, of Boston, received 185; Caleb Cushing, of Newburyport, 15; Tappan Wentworth and Increase Sumner one each.

Mr. Hale is favorably known as the accomplished editor of the "Boston Daily Advertiser," a graduate of Harvard University in 1850. He is a nephew of Hon. Edward Everett, and for the past three years has been a prominent member of the House of Representatives.

The office of Speaker, was formerly the initiative for a Seat in Congress or the gubernatorial chair—but of late there have been exceptions to the rule. At all events it is a honorable position, ranking but little lower than the Governor in dignity. Mr. Hale is in the prime of life, and may yet feel the influence of his present office in future honors, being now but twenty-eight years of age.

Our Washington news is meagre, the Committee of Commerce in the House have agreed to report a bill repealing the fishing bounties, by one majority; and an effort will be made to pass it under the operation of the previous question. Should the bill go to the Senate it will certainly pass. Every New England man will be sorry. But the interests of the Northern States are but secondary considerations nominally, with the majority of our national legislature.

ILLINOIS SENATOR. Hon. Stephen A. Douglas has been re-elected United States Senator by the Illinois Legislature, receiving fifty-four votes to forty six cast for his opponent.

A New Firm. Messrs. J. T. Beckford and H. Bartlett have recently commenced business in the iron building, No. 116 State Street, Boston, as importers and wholesale dealers in wines, brandies, etc. It is their intention to keep no adulterated liquors, and for purity, quality and richness of flavor, they do not mean to be excelled. For medicinal purposes or family use this will be the place to send your orders, as the character of the firm is a sure guarantee that you will get only the genuine articles.

ST. PATRICK'S SOCIETY. The Ball by St. Patrick's Society of this town, which took place last Wednesday evening, at the Town Hall, was well attended, and the pleasures of the dance enjoyed until the early hours of morning. Wright's Band, of Boston, was in attendance.

A CURE FOR DRUNKENNESS. An eminent physician of Danzig, in Germany, has just made a curious discovery. He has found an antidote, or rather a counter poison, for ardent spirits. It is a mineral paste, which he encloses in an olive, and which, once absorbed, destroys not only the rising effect, but likewise the disastrous consequences of drunkenness. He tried several experiments on a Pole, an irreclaimable drunkard. The individual swallowed three bottles of brandy in succession, and after each bottle, ate an olive prepared by the doctor. He experienced neither the effect of drunkenness nor the slightest sickness.

COMMUTATION. The Governor and Council of this State, have commuted the sentence in the case of Jones, the murderer, in jail at Springfield, from hanging to imprisonment, and close confinement in the Prison for life.

THE DEPTHS OF THE MIGHTY DEEP. Commander Maury, in one of his lectures on the "Highways and Byways of the Ocean," states that animal matter, at the bottom of the deep sea, owing to the superincumbent pressure, the exclusion of light and heat, and the saline properties of the water, cannot decompose, but must remain in precisely the same state in which deposited, for ages and ages.

WEIGHT OF LEGISLATORS. The Boston Herald, in speaking of the present Massachusetts House of Representatives, says that this body "has an intelligent aspect, composed of very heavy bones among the number—Patrick Riley and Moses Kimball of Boston, and Wm. S. Morton of Quincy, being about as heavy a trio as there is in the House."

SALT RHEUM is a very grievous disease—scabby, itching, and painful. "My Mother's Salve" soothes the irritation, draws off the scabs, and relieves the pain. Every one troubled with Salt Rheum should use My Mother's Salve. See advertisement.

OBITUARY.

Lines written on the death of Mrs. Mary D., wife of Bryant Newcomb, Jr., aged eighteen years. Died December 15th.

We miss thee here, dear sister,
We miss thee from our side;
With grief our hearts are breaking
For thee, since thou hast died.

Thou voice is hushed in death,
Which we so oft have heard Mingling in strains of music
Around the family board.

The winter winds are sighing
A requiem o'er thy tomb,
But soon the spring will open,
And flowers around thee bloom.

Memories I see thee now,
Standing on that bright shore,
The eternal lake beside thee,
Waiting to embrace me more.

Yes! thou art waiting now,
To greet thy husband there,
Where death can never rob us
Of those we love so dear.

Thou art gone in youth's bright spring-time,
Ere care had left its trace,
Or grief had left its shadows
Upon thy sunlit face.

Mother and child are sleeping
Together, side by side;
Husband and friends are weeping,
For her the angel bride.

Adieu then now, dear sister,
Till we meet you in that land,
And join ourselves together
In a happy family band.

Marriages.

In this town, on the 1st inst., by Rev. J. Paulson, Mr. George Starbuck to Miss Caroline Ford, both of North Weymouth.

On the 30th ult., Mr. Harvey L. Cushing to Miss Josephine Arnold.

On the 1st inst., by Rev. Mr. Tucker, Mr. Owen W. Jones to Miss Elizabeth Fletcher.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 1st inst., suddenly, Mr. William Torrey, aged 62 years.

On the 2d instant, Mr. Moses C. Parker, aged 40 years.

MELANCHOLY SUICIDE. Mr. William Torrey, of this town, terminated his existence by hanging himself in his barn, last Saturday noon. We understand that he had lately exhibited some signs of mental disorder, but not of a nature to create serious alarm. Mr. T. commenced life poor and with a limited education, but by energy and industry he acquired wealth—a portion of which he appropriated to the erection of a beautiful residence, and the land adjoining he well stocked with choice fruit trees, etc.—but, alas! he lived to enjoy these comforts but a few years. He was a fond and affectionate husband, a kind and indulgent parent, a faithful and sympathizing friend, and a worthy and respected citizen.

LARGE INVESTMENT. The Melodeon estate, on Washington Street, Boston, has been sold at auction, to Hon. Charles F. Adams of this town, at $8.06 1-4 per foot, amounting to the sum of $75,811 15.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

A lady's clothes caught fire in a church at Detroit, a few Sabbaths since, from standing over a furnace register. She was greatly frightened, but escaped injury with the loss of one of her garments.

The Comptroller's tax-budget for 1859, was sent to the Common Council of the city of New York Monday evening. It calls for nearly eight millions of dollars. A mild call.

Ten States have agreed to co-operate in erecting a monument in Independence Square, Philadelphia, to the Signers of the Declaration of Independence, and the work is soon to be commenced.

A shipment of "mess beef" lately arrived at San Francisco from Australia, has proved on examination to be pickled kangaroo.

The New York contractors get Bibles for the public institutions for thirty cents each, and charge them a dollar in the bills. They don't wish to see the blessed book undervalued.

The colored students who were refused admission to the Berkshire Medical College a few months ago, were received at Yale College, where they are pursuing their studies.

It is stated that within the last three years the number of unknown persons who have died in New York city, has averaged three hundred per annum.

A witness in a liquor case lately tried, testified that what he bought for rum was a mixture of burning fluid, rot gut, and soft soap.

A dangerous young widow of thirty years of age, in Ludlow, (Mass.) with four dead or discarded husbands, has torn a young lad of eighteen years from his afflicted parents in the same town, and taken him to bed and board as No. 5.

Six members of Congress, elected last November, in New York city, have been refused their certificates—four Democrats and two Republicans—on account of some provision of law not having been literally fulfilled.

A circular saw flew out of its bearings while running in a single mill at Chicago, (Ill.) and struck a workman on his side, cutting him diagonally in two, and coming out near the opposite shoulder.

A young woman, of Shenandoah, (Va.) promised two young men to marry them, and having got into this scrape, took arsenic and died, to get out of it.

The New York State Government has agreed upon a plan for the location of the New York Quarantine, at Orchard Shoal, where an artificial island is to be constructed at a cost of $135,000.

A free negro in Kentucky holds his own brother in slavery.

Isaac Levitt, convicted at Plymouth (Mass.) for the murder of his wife—sentence commuted—received Sept. 27, 1858, is now the oldest inmate of the State Prison at Charlestown.

The managers of the Washington National Monument have had a meeting, and expressed an intention to go on with the work as soon as possible. The shaft is one hundred and seventy feet high.

Some of the lakes of Switzerland are one thousand feet deep.

The claims of American citizens against Mexico are said to amount to nearly eleven millions of dollars.

The Albany (N. Y.) Standard says that a certain railroad company recently employed a female to watch a suspected conductor, and she pretended to be a crazy, and would stick to the train. She put a pin in her dress for every passenger, and soon showed the conductor short in his cash account.

A farmer on the Wabash has made four hundred gallons of molasses from the sugar cane grown on a single acre of ground the past season. The molasses selling readily at fifty cents per gallon gives him two hundred dollars as the return of his crop on a single acre.

The Providence Journal states that an old lady aged upwards of eighty years, was found intoxicated to such a degree that the officers had to carry her to the station house. When found she was inebriated, and her only companion was a bottle emptied of its contents.

Over four hundred persons were arrested in Baltimore one Saturday night for being drunk and disorderly.

John A. Washington, proprietor of Mount Vernon, advertises five negro women and girls and two boys for hire, application to be made at Mt. Vernon, "where the negroes can be seen and examined."

Special Notices.

QUINCY LYCEUM. The next Lecture before this Association will be given on THURSDAY Evening, January thirteenth, at 7 1-2 o'clock, by Rev. Mr. KNAPP, of this town.

To be succeeded by Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., Thursday, Jan. 20th.

JOHN O. HOLDEN, Sec'y.
Quincy, Jan. 8.

NOTICE. The regular monthly meeting of the Hancock Light Guards will take place at their Armory THIS EVENING, at 7 o'clock. Every member is requested to be present. The fine is Fifty Cents, under the new regulations, for each member that is absent. Per order,

W. L. BURRELL, Clerk.
Quincy, Jan. 8.

SPIRITUALISTS MEETING.
Services, usual hours, forenoon and afternoon. In Johnson's (Mariposa) Hall, Mrs. S. A. Magoun will speak to-morrow, forenoon and afternoon.

Annals, Juveniles, Toy Books, Fancy Goods, Toys, and a general assortment for Christmas and New Year's Presents, can be found at C. Gill and Co's.

Pocket Diaries, all sizes and kinds. A great variety for sale by C. Gill & Co.

Read C. Gill and Co's advertisement of Hats.

Be sure to go to C. Gill & Co's for Christmas and New Year's Gifts.

Beautiful Books for Gifts can be found at C. Gill & Co's.

C. Gill & Co. have a fine lot of Rubber Boots and Shoes, of all sizes, and can fit everybody, and sell at the lowest prices. This stock is of that manufacture known to have the best reputation. Buy for yourselves and children, and prevent wet feet and the consequences thereof.

C. Gill Co's Assortment of Toys is the best ever offered in Quincy.

A BOOK FOR THE MILLION. Just published by FREDERICK & Co., Booksellers and Stationers, No. 13 Court Street, Boston, a Brief Treatise of 48 pages, on Diseases of the Sexual System of both sexes—their symptoms and treatment—prepared by a physician of the "Boston Eclectic Hospital." This work also contains a scorching exposure of the deception and imposture practiced by advertising quacks, with some of their names and locations. Sold by periodical dealers generally. Sent by mail, on the receipt of three postage stamps. Address Box 1802, Boston Post Office.

Feb. 27. 1y

Notice.
THE Annual Meeting of the stockholders of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad Company for the election of Directors and such other business as may come before them, will be held at the Hall, over the Passenger Station, in Boston, on THURSDAY, the 27th inst., at 11 o'clock, A. M.

Per order of the Directors,
JAMES H. BEAL, Clerk.
N. B. Stockholders by exhibiting their certificates to the conductors will be passed.

Millinery Goods, &c., at Auction.
THE subscriber, about retiring from business, will offer her Entire Stock of Goods at Auction, on THURSDAY, JAN. 13, 1859, at 2 o'clock, in the afternoon, at her residence on Hancock Street, nearly opposite Eldridge Clapp's Store.

Her stock consists of Ready-Made Bonnets, Ribbons, Flowers, Feathers, Silks, Satins, Laces, and numerous other articles pertaining to the Millinery Business.

If stormy the sale will be on the first fair day.

Mrs. L. Clapp.
J. T. FRENCH, Auct.
Quincy, Jan. 8

New Orleans Syrup.
JUST received, and for sale by the subscriber, a lot of prime New Orleans Syrup, put up in 1-2 barrels expressly for Family use.

ALSO—20 barrels of first quality Russet Apples for sale low by

H. VINAL.
Quincy, Jan. 1.

Executor's Sale.
WILL be sold, on THURSDAY, the 13th of January next, at 3 o'clock, P. M., at the Court House in Quincy, the real estate, to-wit: No. 97 in Rev. Mr. Perkins' Meeting House.

Also, at the same time, 91 Shares in the Braintree and Weymouth Turnpike Corporation. Said property belonging to the estate of the late Col. Abner Thayer.

Per order of the Executor,
E. F. THAYER, Auct.
Braintree, Jan. 8

To Let,
A GENEELE Dwelling House, very pleasantly situated opposite Dr. Woodward's, on Washington St., corner of Maple Place, and near the Railroad Depot, in Quincy, having two parlors, a dining room and kitchen on first floor—six chambers and good cellar.

Apply to
STEPHEN BATES,
Quincy Insurance Office

Weymouth & Braintree Institution for Savings.
THE Annual Meeting of the members of the Weymouth & Braintree Institution for Savings, for the choice of Officers, for the year ensuing, will be held at the office of the Institution, on MONDAY, January 10th, 1859, at 2 o'clock, P. M. A full attendance is requested.

A. S. WHITE, Secretary.
Weymouth, Jan. 1, 1859.

Money Wanted.
J. F. BURRELL has just received a lot of Men's Thick Sueded Calf Congress Boots, which he is selling for $1 75 per pair.

You can get a pair of French Calf Boots, made to fit your foot,
FOR $4.00.
Quincy, Nov. 6.

Collector's Notice.

THE owners or proprietors of the following described Real Estate, in the Town of Quincy, are hereby notified that the same is taxed in the list of taxes committed by the Assessors of said Town, to the subscriber, Collector of said town for the year 1857, as follows, viz:

PATRICK GARVIN,
About 3-4 acre of land, with the buildings thereon, bounded northwesterly on Summer street, easterly on land of S. E. & C. H. Edwards and land of one Howley, southerly by land of Daniel Baxter, and easterly by land of John Driscoll, the same being represented on a plan of said town recorded in the Registry of Deeds at Dedham, and numbered (14) thereon.

The State, County and Town Taxes, on said Real Estate, is $7.65.

If the aforesaid Taxes and costs are not paid previous to MONDAY, the 7th day of February next, I shall, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, proceed to sell at public auction, on the premises, so much of said Real Estate as shall be sufficient to discharge said Taxes, and all necessary costs.

LEWIS BASS, Collector
of Taxes for 1857,
Quincy, Jan. 8.

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.
THE owners or proprietors of the following described Real Estate, in the Town of Quincy, are hereby notified that the same is taxed in the List of Taxes, committed by the Assessors of said town to the subscriber, Collector of said town for the year 1857, as follows, viz:

MOSES R. MARSH,
About two acres of land, with the buildings thereon, bounded southwesterly on Hancock street, northwesterly on land of A. W. Russell, north-easterly and south-easterly on land of the heirs of Edmund Marsh.

The State, County and Town Taxes, on said Real Estate, is $33.60.

If the aforesaid taxes and costs are not paid previous to MONDAY, the 7th day of February next, I shall, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, proceed to sell at public auction, on the premises, so much of said Real Estate as shall be sufficient to discharge said taxes, and all necessary costs.

LEWIS BASS, Collector of Taxes for 1857,
Quincy, Jan. 8.

New and Beautiful Assortment
—OF—
JEWELRY.

THE Subscriber has received this day a large variety of NEW JEWELRY, consisting in part of

LADIES' AND GENTS' GOLD CHAINS; Gold Bracelets, New Styles; Sets of Coral, Garnet, Lapis, Cameo and Moss PINS AND EAR RINGS;

Gents' Seal Pins, New and Rich; Gents' Seal, Plain, and Chaste Rings;

Studs and Sleeve Buttons, new styles in great variety;

GOLD FOR KEY AND SEALS; MASONIC EMBLEMS;

Gold Lockets, all sizes; Gold Thumb-rings; Children's Rings; Gold Tooth-Picks, a very handsome articles for New Year's Presents; MOURNING AND MINIATURE PINS.

NEW STYLES:
Please Call and Examine the above articles if you do not wish to pass chase.

Benj. F. Meservey,
Hancock Street,
Quincy, Jan. 1.

Boston Almanac for 1859
For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE,
Quincy, Jan. 1

LIVERY STABLE.
THE subscriber having purchased the establishment of George J. Jones, on Hancock Street, and made additions thereto, is prepared, at all seasons, to accommodate his friends and the public with

Horses and Carriages.
PLEASANT PARTIES furnished with teams and drivers, or single carriages, at the shortest notice.

Personal attention given to the business, and a liberal support from the public solicited.

DAVID E. ROBY,
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Notice!
A NEW AND SPLENDID ASSORTMENT of VELVET VESTINGS,
for sale cheap at
Joseph W. Lombard's.
Over E. Clapp's Store, if
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Apples for Sale.
THE Subscriber has from 25 to 30 barrels of the first quality of Winter Apples consisting of Golden Russets, Baldwins and Pippins, which he will sell cheap for Cash.

ALSO—A few barrels of second quality, which he will sell at $1.50 per barrel.

SOLOMON NIGHTINGALE,
Granite Street,
Quincy, Dec. 4.

OVER COATS, (Custom Made,) from 7 to $12.
T. DODDS,
Quincy, Oct. 31.

Later From Europe.
A NEW and splendid assortment of Ladies' Collars, Sleeves, Flouncings, Bands, Edgings, and a general assortment of Lace and White Goods, just received and for sale by

ELBRIDGE CLAPP.
Quincy, Aug. 21.

List of Letters

Remaining in the Quincy Post Office, 1st, 1859.

Persons calling for these letters say they are advertised.

Adams George Irwin M.
Billings John Johnson
Brigham John E. Johnson
Billings Lemuel Johnson
Bremann James Jacques
Bolser Wm R.
Bartlett Joseph Kelley J.
Blake Geo E. Kelley M.
Bacon Cyrus Kelley M.
Brown Charles H.
Brown Charles Jr.

Chase John L. Me Clair
Davis Mrs Mary Ann Me Term
Dunn Isabella Me Leom
Hawes Mrs James E. Russell T.
Damon Harriet Russell J.
Ragon Th.

Collector's Notice.

THE owners or proprietors of the following described Real Estate, in the Town of Quincy, are hereby notified that the same is taxed in the list of taxes committed by the Assessors of said Town, to the subscriber, Collector of said town for the year 1857, as follows, viz:

PATRICK GARVIN,
About 3-4 acre of land, with the buildings thereon, located northerly on Summer street, easterly on S. R. & C. H. Edwards, and westerly on Hovey, southerly by land of Daniel Baxter, and easterly by land of John Driscoll, the same being represented on a plan of lots recorded in the Registry of Deeds at Boston, and numbered (14) thereon.
The State, County and Town Taxes, on said Real Estate, is $7.48.
If the above said taxes and costs are not paid previous to MONDAY, the 7th day of February next, I shall, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, proceed to sell at public auction, on the premises, so much of said Real Estate as shall be sufficient to discharge said Taxes, and all necessary costs.

LEWIS BASS, Collector
of Taxes for 1857.
Quincy, Jan. 8. 3w

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

THE owners or proprietors of the following described Real Estate, in the Town of Quincy, are hereby notified that the same is taxed in the list of taxes committed by the Assessors of said Town, to the subscriber, Collector of said town for the year 1857, as follows, viz:

MOSES R. MARSH,
About two acres of land, with the buildings thereon, located south-westerly on Hancock street, north-westerly on land of A. W. Russell, north-easterly and south-easterly on land of the heirs of Edmund Marsh.
The State, County and Town Taxes, on said Real Estate, is $3.69.
If the above said taxes and costs are not paid previous to MONDAY, the 7th day of February next, I shall, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, proceed to sell at public auction, on the premises, so much of said Real Estate as shall be sufficient to discharge said taxes, and all necessary costs.

LEWIS BASS, Collector
of Taxes for 1857.
Quincy, Jan. 8. 3w

New and Beautiful Assortment

JEWELRY.

THE Subscriber has received this day a large supply of NEW JEWELRY, consisting of:

- LADIES' AND GENTS' GOLD CHAINS;
- Gold Bracelets, New Styles;
- Sets of Coral, Garnet, Lava, Cameo and Mosaic PINS and EAR RINGS;
- Gents' Scarf Pins, New and Rich;
- Gents' Seal, Plain, and Chaste Rings;
- Studs and Shirts Buttons, new styles in great variety.

GOLD FOR KEY AND SEALS;
MASONIC EMBLEMS;
Gold Lockets, all sizes;
Gold Tooth Picks, a very handsome article for New Year's Presents;
MOURNING AND MINIATURE PINS,
NEW STYLES.

Please Call and Examine the above articles if you do not wish to purchase.

Benj. F. Meservey,
Hancock Street,
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1f

Boston Almanac for 1859

For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE,
Quincy, Jan. 1. 1f

LIVERY STABLE.

THE subscriber having purchased the establishment of George J. Jones, on Hancock street, and made additions thereto, is prepared, at an additional cost, to accommodate his friends and the public with

Horses and Carriages.
PLEASE RE PARTIES furnished with teams and drivers, or single carriages, at the shortest notice.
Personal attention given to the business, and a liberal support from the public solicited.

DAVID E. ROBY,
Quincy, Nov. 13. 1f

Notice!

A NEW AND SPLENDID ASSORTMENT OF VELVET VESTINGS,
for sale cheap, at
Joseph W. Lombard's,
Over E. Clapp's Store. 1f

Quincy, Nov. 13. 1f

Apples for Sale.
THE Subscriber has from 25 to 30 barrels of the best quality of Wines, Apples, and Pears, which he will sell cheap for Cash.

ALSO—A few barrels of second quality, which he will at $4.50 per barrel.

SOLOMON NIGHTINGALE,
Granite Street.
Quincy, Dec. 4. 1f

OVER COATS, (Custom Made,) from 7 to $12.
T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31. 1f

Later From Europe.
A NEW and splendid assortment of Ladies' Collars, Stoves, Flouncings, Bands, Edgings, and a general assortment of Lace and White Goods, just received and for sale by

ELBRIDGE CLAPP.
Quincy, Aug. 21. 1f

List of Letters,

Remaining in the Quincy Post Office, Jan. 1st, 1859.
Persons calling for these letters, will please say they are advertised.

Adams George	Irwin Mary
Billings John	Jones J. J.
Brigham John E.	Johnson Samuel E.
Billings Lemuel	Johnson Wm
Brennan James	Jacques Monsieur J.
Belser Wm R.	Kelley James
Bartlett Joseph	Keller Azar A.
Blake Geo E.	Kelley Mary
Balcom Cyrus	Mc Clair J. F.
Brown Charles H.	Mc Ternan Thomas
Brown Charles Jr	McLean Donald
Chase John L.	McLennan Samuel
Craig Joseph	McConnell Caroline
Clark Wm H.	McGerr Edward
Clapp John	Niemann Clemens
Clapp John L.	Noble Frederick A.
Carlin Thomas	Newcomb John
Cornwall Francis	Owens Patrick
Chase Fred A.	Phillips George S.
Clark Mrs. Margaret	Packard J.
Cousins Miss Martha A.	Rawell Thaddeus
Cummings Miss Julia	Russell James
	Russell Thomas
	Smith F. C.
	Swan Edward Smith Eben
	Shortell Thomas
	Snaw George
	Stuart James H.
	Stevens James
	Sexton Morris
	Stanley Ellen M.
	Sullivan Margaret
	Taylor Edwin R.
	Taylor Geo W.
	Wilson Thomas
	Washburn John P.
	Whitmarsh & Co Z N
	Wright Hattie
	White Mrs
	White Mary

GEORGE BAXTER, Postmaster.
Quincy Jan 1. 3w

Soft Hats.

C. GILL & Co. sell
A good Black Hat for $0.57
A good Black or Brown Hat for 1.25
A handsome, new Black Hat for 1.50
A handsome, fine, Black or Brown Hat for 1.75
An excellent Black or Brown Hat for 2.00
An extra quality Black Hat for 2.25
A superior extra Black Hat for 2.50
A superfine Black Hat for 4.00
Quincy, Dec. 25. 1f

1859.

OLD Farmer's Almanac,
Brown's Almanac and Pocket Memorandum.
Early Christian Almanac, Laid's Almanac,
Juvenile Almanac,
Diaries of all kinds and sizes, at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Dec. 11. 1f

Carriage Painting.

THE subscriber has made alterations in his Painting premises whereby he is prepared to do all kinds of

CARRIAGE PAINTING,
having secured workmen of acknowledged skill and artistic taste, and therefore asks an examination of workmanship, and upon these references gratefully solicits a share of patronage.

E. B. HERSEY,
Quincy, Dec. 18. 1f

Kitchen Furnishing Articles.

A NEW Store, for the sale of the above, has been opened at 29 SCHOOL STREET, near City Hall, Boston, where may be found the best assortment of useful articles in the city.
At prices 25 percent less than usual charges.

BROWN & CO.
Boston, Nov. 6. 3w

FLOUR

WHOLESALE PRICES.
THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity that he is receiving EXTRA FAMILY FLOUR, Direct from the South and West, through

Messrs. Faxon, Brothers & CO., OF BOSTON,
on the same terms which they receive it, thereby saving the commission usually paid Flour dealers, which enables me to sell at Flour wholesale prices. All in want of Flour of first quality are invited to call.

ALSO—An Extra Quality of Buckwheat,
for sale by
HOWARD VINAL,
Quincy, Nov. 10. 1f

Pimple Destroyer, &c.

GARDNER'S Pimple Destroyer, for the cure of pimples, eruptions, salt rheum, and all other eruptions of the skin.
Fitzridge's Woodland Creams, a beautiful article for the hair.
Wright's Frangipanna, an everlasting perfume, for the handkerchief.

For sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Dec. 4. 1f

NEW BOOK.

Will be ready, JANUARY 1, 1859.
TWELVE MESSAGES from the Spirit John Quincy Adams through Joseph D. Stiles, Medium, to Josiah Brigham. Price $1.50.
For sale by C. GILL & CO., at the Quincy Bookstore.
Dec. 25. 1f

Book Binding.

ALL KINDS OF
MAGAZINES, PAMPHLETS, SHEET MUSIC, &c.
bound in a neat and durable style.
"Small Profit," to ensure "Ready Sales."
Full equivalent for your money.
Twenty years' practice has proved these rules to be good ones, and we shall continue to be governed by them, in all branches of our business.

C. GILL & CO.
HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy, March 20. 1f

READ THIS

PROFIT BY IT!

AS this is about the time that I would like to reduce my stock, I shall offer

Extra Inducements,
to all those that are in want of any Goods in my line. I would say to those that are about purchasing

Delains, Prints, Valencia Plaids,
Alpines, or Dress Goods of any kind,
SHAWLS, HOSIERY, GLOVES,
Collars, Underclothes, Embroideries, Flannels, Cassimeres and Clothing, that I shall offer the above named articles

At Reduced Prices,
and will guarantee to those who will favor me with a call that they shall be satisfied with prices. Please call and examine and judge for yourself.

CALEB PACKARD.
Quincy, Dec. 4. 3w

REMOVAL.

JOSEPH MORAN
TAILOR,
RESPECTFULLY informs his friends, the inhabitants of Quincy, and the public generally, that he has removed from Goodman's Building, corner of Hancock and Granite streets, to the corner of

Hancock Street and Cottage Avenue.
Opposite Panton's Carrying Shop.

He warrants to supply his customers with all kinds of Garments on the

MOST REASONABLE TERMS
and in the

BEST AND NEWEST STYLES.
He also pledges himself to FIF, in any style of Garment, as he has, and no misfit since his commencement in business.

Call and Give Him a Trial.
Quincy, Nov. 13. 1f

MILLINERY

FANCY GOODS STORE.
THE subscriber would respectfully inform the Ladies of Quincy and vicinity, that she has opened a

Millinery and Fancy Goods Store,
at her residence on

FRANKLIN ST., SOUTH QUINCY,
where she will keep full assortment of Articles usually found in a Store of this kind.

DRESS MAKING,
Done at Short Notice.
Mrs. Mary E. Curtis.
Quincy, Oct. 9. 1f

Removal!

Of Millinery Goods!
I HAVE removed my Goods from my residence on Washington street, into

GOODNOW'S BUILDING,
ROOMS OVER
Caleb Packard's Dry Goods Store.

Hancock and Granite Streets.
Where you can find a great assortment of

Fall & Winter Millinery,
AT LOW PRICES.

I have a great variety of ready made Dress Hats in rich material which I shall be sold cheap. Also, a great variety of ready made Gowns, and would respectfully solicit patronage—fully acknowledging the favors of friends and the public for the LAST TEN YEARS.

Until I dispose of my Goods to some party wishing to keep a general assortment of desirable Goods, and would respectfully solicit patronage—fully acknowledging the favors of friends and the public for the LAST TEN YEARS.

As usual, Grave Cloths and Mourning Goods constantly on hand or made to order.

A. J. RENISON.
Quincy, Oct. 16. 1f

QUINCY BOOKSTORE

AND
BOOK BINDERY.
Established in the Year 1838.

BOOKS, STATIONERY
AND
FANCY GOODS.

C. GILL & CO. have always on hand a large assortment of the above—being fully prepared to meet all the wants of this market.

of any particular pattern, made to order.
STATIONERY, IN GREAT VARIETY,
at the lowest prices.

Miscellaneous and Juvenile Books,
will be sold low
ALL SCHOOL BOOKS,
used in this and neighboring towns,
at publishers' prices.

Book Binding.
ALL KINDS OF
MAGAZINES, PAMPHLETS, SHEET MUSIC, &c.

bound in a neat and durable style.
"Small Profit," to ensure "Ready Sales."
Full equivalent for your money.

Twenty years' practice has proved these rules to be good ones, and we shall continue to be governed by them, in all branches of our business.

C. GILL & CO.
HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy, March 20. 1f

Cabinet Manufactory

COFFIN WAREHOUSE.

CHARLES H. KIMBALL,
Successor to W. M. French,
H. French bought of Mr. French the Stock, Tools, Goods, &c., of the old established Cabinet Factory and Coffin Warehouse, corner of Hancock and Temple streets is now prepared to receive orders in all its Branches; manufacturing new, or

REPAIRING OLD FURNITURE TO LOOK
NEARLY AS WELL AS NEW,
or in manufacturing Counters, &c.

He would also say to the patrons of the Old Stand that he intends to keep on hand

An Assortment of Coffins, varying in Size and Material; holding himself in readiness to meet the views of the community, in this particular branch at all times.

Having for the last twelve years served in this capacity under Mr. French, he feels confident that by attention to business, he will meet with success, and supply the wants of Quincy and vicinity.

Quincy, Oct. 23. 1f

Hou e, Sign, & Carriage Painting.

Ebenezer B. Hersey,
This old stand on Collingdon street, respectfully announces to his friends and patrons, with whom he has been located nearly twenty-five years, that he is still prepared to answer all orders for

PAINTING,
in the different branches, equal to the most skillful, and satisfactory to all who may require his services.

Paints, Oils, &c., of the best quality, on hand or furnished at the earliest notice.

Come in old customers, one and all; bring in your jobs ever so small—You will find that the subscriber laughs, He'll work by the day for a dollar and a half

Grateful for liberal manifestations of public support in business, the subscriber anticipates a renewed assurance.

E. BENEZER B. HERSEY.
Quincy, Dec. 4. 1f

Painting Business.

THE subscriber having formed a partnership in business, under the firm of

DAVENPORT & POPE,
and having opened a Shop, on the premises of George Curtis, in School Street, are now prepared to answer all orders with neatness and dispatch.

Painting, Graining, Varnishing and GLAZING,
done to satisfaction, and in a workmanlike manner.

Small as well as large jobs thankfully received; and a share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

WILLIAM DAVENPORT,
CHARLES E. POPE.
Quincy, Oct. 9. 3w

ADAMS & HERSEY,

GRANITE WHARF, (Quincy Point.)
HAVE just received one cargo of FRANKLIN COAL, which they will sell at $7.00 per ton.

OTHER KINDS OF
Coal at $5.50 per Ton.

Orders left at Geo. L. Baxter & Co's Store, George H. Locke's, or with Geo. W. Kenison, will receive early attention.

Quincy, July 2. 1f

COAL COAL.

THE undersigned has for sale at WEBSTER, SWARTZ, and EAGLE MOUNTAIN COAL.

Also, Nova Scotia Wood!

Orders left at D. Baxter & Co's Store, Mr. Overton's, or at the Depot, Dear Geo. Baxter's or at the Office, will be promptly attended to.

OFFICE, and entrance to Wharf, on WASHINGTON STREET, NEAR DEAR GEORGE BAXTER'S.

OWEN ADAMS,
Quincy, Sept. 4. 1f

NEW GOODS

FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

THE Subscriber has received a new lot of Goods, suitable for Christmas and New Year Presents, comprising

All the New Varieties of Jewelry, which will be offered as low as the quality of goods he can purchase anywhere.

B. F. HERSEY.
Quincy, Dec. 18. 1f

C. GILL & Co.

Offer for sale a large assortment of
New and Beautiful Toys
AND

FANCY GOODS!
ANNUALS, GIFT BOOKS,
Juvenile and Toy Books,
with many other goods exactly suitable for

PRESENTS!
FOR

Christmas and New Year,
to which they invite the attention of

EVERY BODY.
Quincy, Dec. 18. 1f

Quincy Bakery.

THE subscribers would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that they have taken the Quincy Bake-House, and intend carrying on the baking business in all its branches—adhering strictly to the Cash system—and hope by manufacturing the

Best Quality of Bread
to merit the patronage of the Citizens of this and the neighboring towns.

Trout & Glover.
Quincy, Oct. 16. 1f

VESTS, (Custom Made) from 1.75 to $5.

T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31. 1f

Fall and Winter Fashions for 1858

Just received by
JOHN DINEGAN,
Hancock St., a few rods from

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
ALSO

New Styles of Fancy Cassimeres & Vestings
CONSISTING OF

Velvets, Silks and Satins
ALSO

A CHOICE SELECTION
OF—
French, English & German
BLACK AND COLORED

BROADCLOTHS and DOESKINS
which will be

MADE TO ORDER in the LATEST STYLE.
Quincy, Sept. 11. 1f

PANTS, (Custom Made) from 1.75 to $5.

T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31. 1f

THE CITIZENS' CLOTHING HOUSE

STILL AHEAD.
Mark the Prices!

GOOD HEAVY, WARM, SERVICEABLE
Double Breast
OVER COATS!
$3.00.

HENRY, WARM.
Durable, Fall and Winter
PANTS,
ONLY $1.25 PER PAIR.

UNDER SHIRTS AND DRAWERS,
FROM 10 TO 50 CENTS.

In connection with other styles of Fashionable Clothing, as low as proportion.

We challenge the entire trade to produce a parallel instance.

NO. 29 AND 30 Bock Square,
IS THE ONLY PLACE for these bargains
IN BOSTON.

JACKMAN & MERRILL,
Nov. 20. 1f

HEAVY RIBBED UNDER-SHIRTS and

DRAWERS, from 70 to $1.37.
Quincy, Oct. 31. 1f

FINE READY-MADE

FALL AND WINTER
CLOTHING.

ELEGANT OVERCOATS,
FROCK AND BUSINESS COATS,
PANTS AND VESTS,
superbly made and trimmed,
AT LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH,

BY
J. W. SMITH & CO.,
Dock Square, Cor. Elm street,
BOSTON.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XXIII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, JANUARY 15th, 1859.

NUMBER III.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION
Over Mr. E. Clapp's Store, on Hancock St.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

Two DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.
No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.
Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business.
Letters and communications, (postage paid), will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers.
Railway Village, JOSIAH BARCOCK.
West District, GEORGE H. LOCKE.
Milton, CHARLES BRICK.
Dorchester, ORIN P. BACON.
Weymouth, F. A. KINGSBURY.
Abington, JOSEPH CLEVELY.
South Scituate, SAMUEL A. TURNER.
Brooklyn, (N. Y.), GERSHOM DREW.

Miscellaneous.

The Little Strawberry Girl.

Straw-berries! Straw-berries! Who will buy? Who will buy?

The musical voice of Nellie trilled the words so sweetly that the memory of the tones lingered with the passer by as he went on his daily task, and haunted him through the long hours like the remembrance of a joy that has passed away. Her rosy face, too, was worthy of a place in memory, with its sunny smiles and dimples, shaded by careless natural curls, and its soft, black eyes, large and full, and dreamy. It was not beautiful, only, but so indicative of goodness and purity, and all that we most love to cherish as a heart-picture of childhood.

Many an eye turned to look after Nellie, as she tripped along in the bright June morning, in her neat pink calico and white apron, and large straw hat shading her pretty face, while her little baskets of fruit, covered with dewy, fresh, green leaves, were swung picturesquely over her arms and shoulders; and her hands each held a huge basket filled to overflowing with the smaller ones. She was so neat and attractive in her aspect, that many who would have passed others by unheeded, stopped to purchase the tempting fruit of Nellie, who was well known, as she came with the other beautiful things of summer, and trilled her little song like a bird beneath the open windows.

Straw-berries! Straw-berries! Who will buy? Who will buy?
Come in, child; what is your price?
Tenpence a basket, miss.

Nellie stepped into the spacious hall of a fashionable house in Montague street, where a young lady stood in her morning robe, with flowers in her hand, just gathered from the conservatory, and surrounded with all the appliances of wealth and luxury.

Well, they are worth all that—so fresh and ripe! Give me half a dozen baskets. Here, Mary.

And while Mary emptied the baskets, she drew out her portmanteau and dropped the sixty cents in fives and tens into Nellie's little purse—not into her hand, as the reader must remember; for this apparently trivial act was the pivot on which turned the moral event of the day and of our story.

The smile with which she received the money and thanked her for it, penetrated like a sunbeam into the heart of Minnie Hamilton, for there was coldness there—the chill of discontent and disappointment, which find their way sometimes even into luxurious homes; and the association of poverty and contentment seemed very incongruous to one born in affluence, as she had been.

You seem very happy, she said, responding to Nellie's smile. Do you earn your living by selling strawberries?

Yes, miss. In the summer I sell berries; in the winter I go to school part of the day, and help mother the other part.

And what makes you so happy? Can you tell me the secret?

Mother says that we must be bright and happy, because we have so much to be thankful for.

Minnie looked at her in amazement. So much to be thankful for! thought she; and in their position! How does your mother support herself, child?

She takes in common sewing, miss. Sometimes she sews half the night.

Then what in the world has she to be so very thankful for? she exclaimed; and a silent self-reproach came stealing up from her heart, that she had so often murmured over some evil in her own lot, which certainly seemed a bright one in comparison.

Nellie smiled again sweetly as she answered:

Some people, as good as we are, have no home, and have nothing to eat. But mother and I have a little room to live in. She sings at her work all day long, because, she says, God is so good to us. We have bread and potatoes every day, and on Sundays we have meat. Don't you think, miss, that is something to be thankful for? she asked, simply.

A deeper tint glowed upon Minnie's cheek. Yes, yes, child, she answered nervously; and then followed a pause, during which she stored away in her heart, like hidden treasure, the lesson which Nellie had taught her, and which was to be perused often in after years, when discontent caused her to murmur at some little cloud, real or imaginary, that hung over her destiny. And she thought within herself—It is your own sunny heart, poor child, that robs the world for you in its own love-lighted and rose-tinted atmosphere. You are happier far than I; may God forgive me!

Minnie Hamilton, a beautiful girl of eighteen, was an only daughter, petted and idolized by her parents. Indulgence had injured, though it had not spoiled her. So fully had every wish of her heart had been gratified from birth, that she regarded it as a kind of privilege, peculiar to her condition, to murmur if the slightest shadow came between her and the fulfillment of her most extravagant desires. Poor Minnie! poor, though abounding in riches. "One thing thou lackest"—one thing which wealth cannot purchase—the joy of a sunny and contented heart.

Yet Minnie had noble qualities; generosity and active benevolence, with strong moral and religious principles. One shadow—the shadow of discontent—clouded them all. Nellie had put her little purse into the pocket of her apron; and now she issued into the street again, and recommenced her strawberry song, until she was summoned by another customer, who purchased largely. As she was about adding the payment she received to her little store, she discovered a small rent in her purse, and sitting down she emptied the money into her apron to examine it. As she did so she discovered among the fives and tens a gold dollar, which had evidently been given by mistake by the first purchaser.

I will go right back with it, thought Nellie.

She waited, however, to arrange her baskets; and while doing so the tempter came with evil thoughts to test her strength of principle.

Why go back with it? said the wicked voice; perhaps the lady meant to give it. But I do not know that, said the tender conscience of Nellie.

Well, you can do good with it, said the voice, appealing artfully to her filial love; you can purchase something for your mother. She works hard enough for all she has, and this will buy her a neat dress to wear to church.

For a moment—only a moment—Nellie listened to the sinful suggestion, and she thought how pleasant it would be to carry a nice calico to dear mother, and how pretty she would look in it. Perhaps, too, she could earn enough to-day to buy a new bonnet to match; and how happy that would make her!

But suddenly the smile died away on Nellie's lip; her step grew less light. There was a weight at her heart. It was the burden of a guilty thought. She had parleyed with evil, and its shadow was on her path. It had dimmed the happiness which innocence had hitherto bestowed.

And now, happily for Nellie, conscience, that "voice of God in the soul," came powerfully to her aid. It recalled vividly the precious Sabbath evening when her mother sat with her at the window, just as the sun was sinking, and after their scanty supper had been disposed of.

Nellie, my darling, she said as she laid her head upon her knee, and smoothed back her dark hair, you could not go to Sunday school to-day because you had no shoes to wear. Perhaps we can earn a pair before next Sabbath; but I will teach you the commandments.

Then Nellie repeated them after her. All were vivid now to her memory; but especially, as if written in letters of fire, stood the eighth, "Thou shalt not steal."

Nellie's heart sank within her. Had she listened and obeyed that evil voice what might she have become? A breaker of God's holy commandment! The sin would have lain heavy and dark on her soul, dimming its sunlight, and weighing down her happy, buoyant spirit. And then her home would have been changed to her. She would have destroyed its peace, and her mother's cheerful song would have been hushed. Nellie wanted a moment, but terrified at her own thoughts, she rushed back with the speed of light, lest that evil voice should speak again, and rested not until she reached the home of Minnie Hamilton.

You made a mistake, miss. You gave me this—holding up the gold dollar—for a silver piece.

Did I? Well, it was a mistake. I am very near-sighted; but you are an honest little girl, and you shall have it as a reward.

No, miss, thank you; I would rather have the silver piece.

You would?
Yes, miss.

You are a singular child. Pray tell me why you would rather.

Because—because—it would remind me—Nellie burst into tears and covered her face with her hands.

Of what? tell me, child.

How I was tempted to break God's commandment.

And to keep the dollar, do you mean?
Yes, miss.

But you resisted the temptation, as God gave you strength. That was beautiful in you. Now tell me your name; I must remember it.

Nellie Townsend.

There is no sin, Nellie, in being tempted. The sin consists in yielding to temptation. Now that you have resisted, you will find yourself strengthened in might to overcome evil. Henceforth I shall not fear for you. Only resist the first promptings to do wrong—resist them, and all will be well. Nellie, you were not aware of it, to-day you taught me a lesson of contentment, which I shall not easily forget; and you shall have the happiness of knowing that you, though a little child, have been a minister of good to me. And you must let me reward you. You must keep that identical dollar to remind you of what has occurred to-day; and you have no reason to be ashamed of it. Now tell me what was the temptation? What did you most desire to do with it?

Nellie hesitated, and then said, Last Sunday mother had no neat dress to go to church. That would just buy a calico. I only thought of it for a moment.

Minnie Hamilton turned aside without speaking. When she looked again there was a moisture on the eyelids which had not been there before.

Does your mother require anything else? does she want a bonnet, too?

Yes, miss; but I shall soon earn that by my berries. Mother's sewing has already paid the rent for this month.

Nellie, you and I must be friends. Go now and sell the remainder of your strawberries, and call here on your way home.

That evening Nellie was tripping home with her empty little baskets strung around her, as usual; but in the larger ones lay a new straw bonnet, trimmed with a neat ribbon, and a package which she was directed not to open until her return. Mrs. Townsend was looking anxiously for Nellie when she arrived, but what was her astonishment and gratitude when she heard her story, with a full confession of the temptation, not a word of which she withheld.

When the packet was opened, it was found to contain a fine calico dress for each, with a five-dollar bill fastened within. Upon a slip of paper were written these words:

"For Mrs. Townsend, as an acknowledgment of a benefit received from her little girl, whom she has reared to be an example of truth, and honesty, and virtue."

From this time Nellie and her mother were under the peculiar patronage of the Hamilton family. Sewing was supplied for which they received good pay, and Nellie was transferred to Minnie's Sunday School class, where she was received as a pattern of truth and integrity for her associates.

And shall not her example speak also to our little readers, and remind them of that which the Bible teaches—to "resist evil," and "to follow that which is good;" for that will bring them "peace at last."—New York Examiner.

Country Papers—Their Use.

Country papers are of much more use than the people imagine.

They aid in directing public attention to matters in which every citizen of the country is more or less interested.

They contribute in a variety of ways, to the formation of public opinion on subjects of public interest.

They aid in giving character and importance to the county in which they are published.

They stimulate a taste for reading, and disseminate, in the course of a year a vast amount of useful information which would not reach a portion of their readers through any other channel.

They are of essential use in a family in fostering a taste for reading among children. Country papers enjoy an advantage in this respect over papers published at a distance; because many of their items are of a local interest, which naturally attract a child's attention. The advertising columns of these papers are particularly attractive to this class of readers.

Country papers, by the information they contain, are the means of drawing new and valuable citizens to the country in which they are published.

To the objection we do not unfrequently hear urged against the support of country papers, that the price charged for them is too high, it may be replied, that the price at which the paper can be afforded rests mainly upon the number of subscribers. The chief expense in the publication of a paper consists in setting up the matter. One thousand, or even ten thousand copies can be furnished at a very small addition to the cost over and above that of composition.

From the Homoeopath.

Resistance to Improvement.

BY W. M. BABBITT, M. D.

How often we hear people speak disparagingly of the medical art. Frequently persons of great intelligence and education declaim against medicine as it is commonly practiced, in terms hardly complimentary to physicians of the nineteenth century.

And these non medical people stand not alone in their outcry. One of the most distinguished professors of the Allopathic School (Prof. Mott) quite recently informed his students and the public, that "While other departments of human knowledge were advancing, the practice of medicine appears to make no progress."

It is, doubtless, true that Allopathy is deserving of this and similar charges, but the Homoeopath can fling back proudly such imputations.

Homoeopathy is founded on a sure and solid basis, and not on conjecture, and has steadily advanced since its first promulgation by the great Hahnemann; while it appears to be characteristic of the old school to wield her barbarous implements the same from one generation to another.

Although Samuel Hahnemann during his life, like many other benefactors of the human race, was calumniated, and his doctrines treated with coldness, contempt and misrepresentation, at the present time the public of Europe and America are fast rendering to this great man a place amongst the noblest in the world's history.

He possessed true moral courage, which enabled him to strike out a new course, in disregard of the erroneous yet firmly established doctrines of antiquity.

He laid the foundation of a new, beautiful and true system, while all was yet in disorder and confusion.

He rescued the science of medicine from its standpoint of empiricism, and gave it a rank in design, in magnitude, in intellectual grandeur, surpassing any other science cultivated by man.

As long as the immutable laws of nature and human life remain as they are, so long will Homoeopathy endure.

"Not for a day, but for all time."

The practice of the old school at the present time is empirical and uncertain. In proof of this see the latest and standard works on Allopathic practice, and for examples we need only look at three diseases, bronchitis, rheumatism and epilepsy.

In these from fifteen to forty-five drugs are recommended almost indiscriminately, and if one does not cure another is to be tried, and so on till the right happens to be found.

The following sentence was recently uttered by a professor in one of the first Allopathic Colleges in his clinic: "Gentlemen, we cannot have our list of diuretics too long. We frequently have to go through the whole list before we hit on the right one?" What a commentary on their system! This uncertainty of the so called regular system has been noticed by a number of eminent physicians before the time of Hahnemann, but none had the practical genius to institute a reform.

He was convinced that it was important to have a more exact knowledge of the medicines he used, as well as to notice more accurately the variety of symptoms which each disease presented.

Accordingly Hahnemann in an earnest and respectful manner made an appeal to physicians to assist him in reforming the Materia Medica, and proposed that each one should devote a certain time to noting down the precise action of medicines on the healthy body, and to prove drugs on themselves.

His contemporaries, instead of joining him in perfecting that art, so important to mankind, treated all his propositions with contempt and ridicule.

Knowing the vast importance of the work, he had too much spirit to be thwarted and turned from his noble purpose. He therefore commenced experimenting with drugs on himself, and such friends as he could prevail on to join him. Quite a number of scientific men of the first rank in Europe assisted him.

It is not a pleasant undertaking, as it requires not a little suffering to prove medicines, and of which few people indeed who have not tried it can form a just idea. Is it "selfishness and quackery" to undergo pain and self denial; to be a martyr in a cause like this to benefit mankind? how does this compare with the representations made by the malicious traducers of Hahnemann?

Persevering in this course, he collected a vast amount of reliable information relative to a great number of medicines, upon which is based his Materia Medica Pura of Homoeopathy.

Compared with man's brief existence monuments of granite are enduring; but there are more enduring monuments, which the gratitude of each succeeding generation will perpetuate and in their majesty will remain towering toward Heaven, while material blocks of granite and marble are crumbling to dust. They are monuments of the mind, and this is one.

It is often the fate of true reformers to be treated with ridicule and abuse during their lives, for abstract truths travel slowly, and perhaps it may be wisely ordered.

Dr. Dudgeon tells us that the oyster forms those beautiful lustrous pearls around certain extraneous substances that intrude themselves within the cavity of its shell, and irritate and vex its tender flesh. And so it is, with the great and good. The vexations and annoyances of life are often the means of eliciting and developing those rich pearls of the mind which excite our wonder and admiration.

It would be contrary to the laws of mind and improvement to expect old school physicians to advance the Homoeopathic System. Physicians of the highest standing were most opposed to the doctrine first taught by Harvey. The circulation of the blood, they said, was the "brain born fancy of the enthusiast."

The most experienced navigators were most virulent in their opposition to Columbus's views.

Dr. Priestley, the eminent discoverer of oxygen gas, was the very last man in the world to admit the compound nature of water.

The greater any one's skill and experience in his own department, and the more he is entitled to the deference which is proverbially due to each man eminent in his own department, the more likely indeed will he be a good judge of improvements in detail, but the more unlikely to give a fair hearing to any proposed radical change.

An experienced stage coachman is likely to be a good judge of all that relates to tripe roads and coach horses, but you should not consult him about introducing railroads and steam carriages.

Hahnemann's fame is secure. The Homoeopathic School is powerful. It is growing every day, both by its own colleges and by large accessions from among the Allopaths. In many towns and cities it has already gained the ascendancy over ancient medicine.

Its whole history, its scientific origin, its tardy reception, its gradual extension, its repeated trials, its constant triumphs—all indicate that it is destined in proper time to be generally received as the regular School of Medicine.

What's in a Kiss?

"Mother, mother, kiss!" pleaded a little cherub boy, with blue eyes, anxiously searching his mother's unusually serious face, as she tenderly laid him upon his soft, warm bed, and lovingly folded the snowy drapery about him. "Do kiss me, mother!" And the rosy lips began to tremble, the tear-drops to gather in the pleading-upturned eyes, and the little bosom heaves with struggling emotion.

"My little son has been naughty to-day," replied the mother, sadly; "how can I kiss those lips that have spoken such angry words?"

"Too much, too much! Dutiful mother, relent! The little heart is swelling, breaking with grief; tumultuous sobs break from the agitated bosom; the snow-white pillow is drenched with penitent tears, and the little dimpled hand is extended so imploringly. Relent!"

"Tis enough! Once more the little hand is plowed upon the maternal bosom—once more the little cherub form is pressed to that mother's aching heart, and the good night kiss of forgiveness and love is given two fold tenderer. A few moments and the sobbing ceases, the golden head droops, the weary eyelids close, and the little erring one is laid back upon his couch, penitent and humbled by one kiss from mamma."

What's in a kiss—a simple kiss? Much, very much! More potent than the sceptre—dearer to affection than countless wealth. Who has not felt its magic influence? 'Tis the lover's tenderness and fidelity! and not only is it dear to the youthful and ardent, but also to old age, to the withered heart and bloomless cheek.

Lady Skaters.

The ponds are now in a condition to bear armies of skaters, and since it has become fashionable for ladies to strap the skates upon their delicate feet and adventurously sallied forth with their partners to engage in this invigorating and health giving, though somewhat difficult sport until one has had experience in the art of skating, it may be as well to offer a few observations to the new beginner. The first great mistake which is made in putting on a pair of skates, is an improper estimate of a forcefulness of the difference of supporting the body on a pair of thin steel runners and on one's proper feet. The second great mistake is an over estimate of the difference that is thus created which induces an excess of caution whereby quite as many defeats are experienced as where there is a lack of caution. The true rule is to avoid either extreme, neither be so foolishly or venturesome, nor timid and trembling. Confidence with caution, neither exaggerating difficulties nor undervaluing them, will carry a learner triumphantly through in two or three easy lessons.

The editor of the Detroit Free Press, who has had, probably, large experience, undertakes wickedly to laugh at young ladies, and the mishaps they experience, who essay to learn to skate without an instructor. He supposes that the fair candidate for skating borrows or purloins her brother's skates, and selects the biggest puddle in the yard where high fences secure her from public view, she proceeds to strap them over a pair of heavy shoes. The lady then proceeds to skate, and the operation is somewhat as follows: She makes a dash at the ice, and instantly finds herself flat on her back, with her feet in the air and her back comb smashed to splinters against the ice. Nothing daunted, the heroine she attempts to render a perpendicular. She gets one foot under her, and has nearly placed the other in the same position, when both suddenly slip off like a shot and down she comes "bump" upon the ice. Once more the attempt is made, and back slip the feet the other way, leaving the fair struggler kissing the ice. But proceeding more cautiously this time, after creeping to the land and regaining her feet, she ventures again, and regains the middle of the ice; when she begins to exult in her proficiency, her feet begin to part company, working out gradually sideways. The agonizing suspense of such a movement can only be appreciated by a person who has confidently trusted his weight to two saw-logs in the water, and, with one foot upon each, sees them gradually recede from each other until he drops helpless into the cold bath beneath. The young lady comes down as before, only a little more so, and becomes convinced that skating is a lumbag.

The Detroit editor redeems himself after poking this fun, however, by telling young ladies, candidly how to do it. After they have gone through with the experience, he has related, the result of their rashness, if they will procure the assistance of a gentleman and proceed confidently they will do well. The most unassuming efforts may be made at first, which, if followed up, will tell. A larger piece of ice will then be necessary in which to branch out with proper assistance, and a little time will render any lady a proficient in one of the most delightful recreations. An hours' skating on the smooth surface of some glacial field will cause the breath to come quicker, the lungs to expand, and the whole system to feel as though renewed life were infused in the cold invigorating air. The light, graceful and exhilarating art of skating, cannot be described, but our word for it, it is the next thing to a midnight sleigh-ride, with the speed of ten thousand horses to propel, a myriad of stars thrown in, and the most angelic of all femininity reconquering closely. We leave our readers to their inferences, and advise the ladies to learn to skate.

Opium Smoking in China.

Opium is not smoked in the same manner as tobacco. The pipe is a tube of nearly the length and thickness of an ordinary flute. Towards one end of it is fitted a bowl of baked clay or some other material, more or less precious, which is pierced with a hole communicating with the interior of the tube. The opium, which before smoking is in the form of a blackish viscous paste, is prepared in the following manner: A portion the size of a pea is put on a needle and heated over a lamp until it swells and acquires the requisite consistence. It is then placed over the hole in the bowl of the pipe, in the form of a little cone that has been previously pierced with a needle so as to communicate with the interior of the tube. The opium is then brought to the flame of the lamp, and after three or four inspirations the little cone is entirely burnt, and all the smoke passes into the mouth of the smoker, who then rejects it again through his nostrils. Afterwards the same operation is repeated, so that this mode of smoking is extremely tedious. The Chinese prepare and smoke their opium lying down, sometimes on one side, sometimes on the other, saying that this is the most favorable position; and the smokers of distinction do not give themselves all the trouble of the operation, but have their pipes prepared for them.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Jan. 15th, 1859.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

THE WEATHER. The cold the present week has been intense. The thermometer indicated the temperature to be about fifteen degrees below zero in the morning, and at zero at noon on Monday last. Exposure to the frigid atmosphere told even on the most rugged natures, and we hear of several cases of people being frost bitten.

A driver of an omnibus in New York City was frozen to death on his seat, and another became benumbed and fell from his seat.

IMPORTANT MOVEMENT. The petition of Wm. S. Pattee and others, of this town, that school books shall be published hereafter by the State, under the order of the Board of Education, has been presented by Mr. Morton to the Legislature, and referred to the Committee on Education. The petitioners say, "By enacting such a law we think a more just, equitable, and uniform system would be adopted, and in a great measure would relieve the burdensome tax that now weighs so heavily upon our citizens, by having so great a variety, and frequent change of books in the various schools of this Commonwealth."

LEGISLATIVE. The petition of the "Quincy Fire and Marine Insurance Company," for change of name to "Suffolk, &c.," came down from the Senate referred.

Mr. Cushing, of Newburyport, informed the House that the Quincy Company came to the Legislature last year for change of name, and its name was changed to the "Chauncey Fire and Marine Insurance Company." That was not the name of the company, and it was disrespectful to the House that it now came here under its old name. On his motion the petition was laid on the table.

On motion of Mr. Morton of Quincy, that the Committee on the Judiciary inquire whether the 100th chapter of the Statutes of 1838, (entitled an Act Concerning the Reports of the Decisions of the Supreme Judicial Court,) has been complied with, and if not, what remedy is necessary to cause said statute to be carried into effect.

LARGE HOGS. Not long since, there was slaughtered on the premises of Noah Cummings, Esq., in this town, two large "Porkers," weighing respectively 636 and 638 pounds. We are aware that there are some good farmers in that vicinity, and we learn that they "give up beat" by the Captain, who makes no pretensions in the farming line, only raising a few pigs, calves, &c., merely for the pleasure of seeing them grow.

RAILROAD TERMINUS IN BOSTON. A hearing was recently commenced before the Mayor and Aldermen of Boston, on a petition to require the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad Company to substitute horse power for locomotives on the Boston end of their road. The Barnstable Patriot understands this petition comes from residents of South Boston, who dislike the action of the Road respecting the Broadway (Horse) Railroad. This horse power project, originating in a spirit of retaliation, has, the Patriot believes, no just grounds of support. The present motive power on that end of the line is considered as safe as any other would be. The rate of speed is said to be no less as it would be, in the main, by horse power. The effect of this plan of horse substitution, if it can be successful, must be to retard and annoy the passengers and business of the line which takes into Boston the travel and traffic of the whole Old Colony. The Patriot hazards the opinion that the Old Colony is of as much real value to Boston, and has as strong claims upon Boston for consideration, as the whole of South Boston.

STATE LIQUOR AGENCY. By the report of Geo. P. Barnham, the Liquor Commissioner, it appears that the amount of sales from April 1 to October 1, 1858, amounted to $79,707, and the commissions (5 per cent) on the cost of the liquors, to $3985. The expenses of the agency have been $2628, leaving the income of the Commissioner for the six months $1357. Fifty-six towns and cities have not purchased of the Commissioner this year. The net cost of the liquors on hand Oct. 1, was estimated at $33,183. The average value of the stock on hand is about $30,000, on which there is an insurance of $18,000.

Boston Correspondence.

BOSTON, Jan. 12, 1859.

Governor Banks' Address—Council—Hon. Joseph McKean Churchill—Sergeant at Arms—Short Session—U. S. Senatorship—Lieut. Gov. Trask—Legislative Items—Hon. Henry Wilson's Speech.

The address of Governor Banks is spoken of as one of the best ever delivered to our Legislature, for the elaborate manner in which it sets forth the affairs of the State, for its important recommendations, and for its general ability. It has been most favorably commented upon by the press of all parties, and gives the "little man of iron" a new wreath of laurel as one of the most remarkable and promising public men of our country. Massachusetts has reason to feel proud of such a governor. Among other things he recommends the establishment of State agricultural exhibitions every three or five years. A full survey is taken of our charitable institutions. He does not seem favorably impressed with the experiment of State almshouses, and favors the old system of providing for paupers, which would impose a large part of the burden on towns, as formerly. He recommends a special session for revision of the statutes. That the salaries of the Judges of the Supreme Court be raised one thousand dollars each; that the school fund should be increased to three millions dollars, before the income is diffused to towns, &c.

The Governor recommends that no poll tax be assessed upon minors, and that no portion of the State tax be assessed upon polls; that a tax of twenty-five cents, annually, be imposed upon enrolled citizens not of the active militia.

He goes searching into the subject of the Peace in Norfolk County, relative to the rich harvests by criminal prosecutions of late years. More caution should be exercised in the appointment of these magistrates; that their tenure of office should be but two years, and that a tax of three to five dollars be levied upon their commissions when issued. There are over four thousand Justices of the Peace in our State.

The message very wisely says nothing about national topics, but devotes itself exclusively to State matters. The address, if not brilliant, is eminently practical, and cannot fail to increase widely the popularity of this self-educated and talented Chief Magistrate of the old Bay State.

The Governor's Council, eight in number, entered upon their duties on Monday. They advise with the Governor in the Executive part of the Government, and in the civil arrangements of the Commonwealth rank next after the Lieutenant Governor. Their duties are highly honorable; keeping council through the year with the Governor, in directing the affairs of the State according to its laws. For this purpose they convene at the discretion of the Governor very often through the year at the Council Chamber in the State House—but their pay is small, being not over five hundred dollars per year.

The Councilor from our district, comprising a large part of Norfolk and Bristol counties, is the Hon. J. McKean Churchill, a lawyer of Milton, but doing business in Boston. Mr. Churchill was graduated at Cambridge in 1840, and entered upon the practice of law in 1845. He is thirty-seven years of age, though looking much younger; a gentleman of fine social qualities, and highly beloved by a large circle of friends—yet, to the surprise of many, still confines himself to single blessedness. This is less excusable, because his fortune is ample. His first entrance into public life was as a member of the State Convention in 1853, to revise, for the third time since 1787, our State Constitution; and he took a prominent part in its debates. During the last year he was an active member of the House of Representatives, and served on some of the most important committees. His election as Councilor by a large majority, last November, was a deserved compliment to his talents and worth, and we doubt not he will discharge its duties with great fidelity. He is a son of the late Asaph Churchill of Milton, an eminent lawyer, who graduated at Harvard University in 1789, and died in 1841.

The Hon. Asaph Churchill, one of the most talented and extensive practitioners of law at the Norfolk bar, and a member of the Senate in 1857, is the eldest brother of the new Councilor. A younger brother, who graduated at Cambridge in 1845, C. M. S. Churchill of Milton, is also of the legal profession. It is seldom that we see chronicled among the alumni of our neighboring University a father and, seriatim, three sons, all of the legal profession, in so good standing.

Hon. John Morrissey, of Plymouth, is elected Sergeant-at-Arms, as was expected. He is well spoken of, and has some legislative experience, having been a member of the House in 1849, and State Senator last year. Mr. Stevens retires from the post he has filled for a quarter of a century with the good wishes and esteem of all men.

The business of the session has hardly begun, but it seems well settled it will be short, probably not exceeding sixty days, and yet, I doubt not, a large amount of business will be accomplished.

The re-election of Hon. Henry Wilson to the U. S. Senate is settled in the affirmative, securing his seat there for six years more.

It is rumored that Mr. Sumner has resigned, and that the Governor will leave the robes of State and succeed him for the unexpired term of four years; but it is mere rumor, though a bare probability. Should Gov. Banks be elected to the U. S. Senate, the gubernatorial duties will devolve for the remainder of the year upon Hon. Eliphalet Trask, the present Lieut. Governor—an honor which falls to the lot of few men to realize.

Among the items of the week now before the State Legislature, are the House resolves complimentary to the late Sergeant-at-Arms—A resolve, substituting in the place of the use of the house of the Commonwealth in Hancock street, a part of the new Sergeant-at-Arms' salary, the sum of seven hundred dollars, fixing the salary at two thousand dollars. Mr. Stevens remains in the house rent free the current year.—A petition was presented for the annexation of the City of Roxbury to Boston. The chances are, that the two cities will soon be united, thus clipping off as much from Norfolk County.

This would very much contract your County business as to Registration of Deeds, criminal and other law matters, but would take a large portion of county valuation to Boston.—An effort is making to have afternoon sessions immediately.—The Standing Committees are appointed, to which I will allude in my next.

The Hon. Henry Wilson made a smart speech in the National Senate on Monday, on the Pacific Railroad, advocating the central route across the continent from Missouri to San Francisco. His strong points were on what route it should be constructed, and how it should be built. The Senator was severe in reply to a speech from Mr. Iverson of Georgia, who a short time since, in speaking on this subject, took occasion to introduce his disunion doctrines, threatening that the South would secede in the event of the triumph of the Republican party in 1860, by the choice of President. A small quotation from Mr. Wilson's speech will suffice to show its boldness and spirit—"That Senator" (Mr. Iverson of Georgia) "thought the time was at hand when the South must go out of the Union or give up slavery, if the Senator from New York, or any of his compatriots shall be elected President in 1860, which he seems to think may be the case, inasmuch as the Republicans had swept the Free States. That Senator might rest assured that the threat to raise the demon of disunion in 1860 would not make the Senator from New York (Mr. Seward), Mr. Chase of Ohio, Read of Pennsylvania, Banks of Massachusetts, or their political associates whose names had been connected with the Presidency, any the less dear to the freemen of the country."

"But the Senator from Georgia would construct a road over the El Paso route preparatory to receding from the Union. This Southern route had been known as the Desert, but hereafter would be known as the Disunion route. While he (Wilson) would not vote for any plan that would make that route the national highway to the Pacific, he would vote any amount of land to build it as a local route. He would give the whole country, south of the thirty-fourth parallel, from El Paso to the State of California, to the construction of this local road."

SPIRITUALISM. We shall endeavor to attend to the request of our spiritual friend, by inserting a part or the whole of his article, in our next issue.

BUTTER, CHEESE, ETC. It will be noticed on reference to our advertising columns, that George W. Kenison and George D. Follett of this town, have commenced business in Boston. It is their intention to keep the best articles and sell them at the lowest possible rates, believing that small profits and quick sales is the best way to secure trade and make money. Give them a call.

ADAMS LITERARY ASSOCIATION. At the semi-annual meeting of this Association, the following officers were chosen:

President—Uriel Joseph. Vice-President—H. C. Rogers. Secretary—C. H. Porter. Treasurer—J. Jameson. Librarian—G. A. Barker. Directors—Peter B. Turner, G. A. Brackett, Augustus Nightingale, C. Jameson, and C. A. Spear. Trustees—J. P. Lake, H. C. Rogers, G. A. Barker, Edwin Young, and J. M. Marsh.

Keep a box of "My Mother's Salve" by you; there is nothing equal to it for relieving pains, healing sores, etc. See advertisement.

PUB. DOC. Wm. White, printer to the State, has our thanks for a pamphlet copy of Gov. Banks' Address and the accompanying tabular statements. The mechanical execution of the work is in the best style.

The Erie Canal contains more water and boats more vessels than any canal in Europe, and has 5,568 vessels on its register, of which 1,446 are larger than the one on which Columbus discovered America.

The celebrated E. MENIAM, of Brooklyn, (N. Y.) says that during the past year, so far as he has been able to learn, fifty-three persons have been killed by lightning, and sixty-eight injured.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

Steamer "C. Vanderbilt," from New York for Stonington, was lost on Tuesday morning, in the snow storm, on Fisher's Island, opposite New London. The passengers and mails were all saved. The boat was valued at $150,000. Last accounts state that she was fast going to pieces.

Charles Hale is the youngest Speaker who has ever presided over the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

Judson J. Hutchinson, one of the celebrated Hutchinson family, has committed suicide in Lynn, by hanging himself in an unfinished house belonging to his brother John.

A couple in Hartford (Ct.) are the happy parents of twenty-seven children.

On Christmas day, a gentleman at Cumminsville, Ohio, who had previously invited all the little people in the neighborhood to call upon him, presented to each a package of candy and a new penny. The total number who were sweetened and coppered was just five hundred and seventy-one.

A man at Brunswick, (Me.) whose son assaulted his school teacher, has settled the matter by paying five hundred dollars damages.

It is estimated that one thousand deck hands and deck passengers have been lost overboard from the Mississippi steamers during the past year, independent of three hundred and fifty-nine lost by accident to the boats themselves.

The deposits in the Hingham Institution for Savings amount to over half a million of dollars.

The Shawmut Camp No. 1, Sons of Malta, of Boston, have appropriated one hundred dollars in aid of the Mount Vernon Fund, to be placed in the hands of Hon. Edward Everett.

In Russia, the right of literary property belongs to the heirs of the author for twenty-five years after his decease.

A wife at Homer, (N. Y.) the other day, threw a knife violently at her husband, which put out one of his eyes. The amount of her conjugal grief may be measured by the fact, that she said, afterwards, she would give five dollars rather than to have had it happen.

In Brooklyn, (N. Y.) which contains a population of 250,000 souls, there were only eighty-eight deaths for one week. Of those, fifty-three were children.

Two hundred and ninety-seven vessels are laid up in the harbor of Chicago, Ill., for the winter.

An individual of Salem, Mass., returned home a short time since, after a mysterious absence of thirty-two years, having left when he was sixteen years old.

The St. Louis Republican says that two young men of that city, were recently driven by a storm upon a desert island of that place, and remained there for five days without food. At last they managed to escape to the main land.

The Suffolk Bank of Boston, continues to redeem the bills of about three hundred of the country banks of New England, while about one hundred and fifty transact their business through the Bank of Mutual Redemption and other Boston banks.

The fires in the United States last year, in which the loss was not less than $10,000,000, produced an aggregate loss of 12,054,000, which is two millions less than the losses of the previous year.

Special Notices.

QUINCY LYCEUM. The next Lecture before this Association will be given on THURSDAY Evening, Jan. 20th, at 7 1/2 o'clock, by Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., of this town.

JOHN O. HOLDEN, Sec'y.

Quincy, Jan. 15.

SPIRITUALISTS MEETING. Services, usual hours, forenoon and afternoon.

In Johnson's (Maine) Hall, Mrs. S. A. Magoun will speak to-morrow, forenoon and afternoon.

Quincy, Jan. 15.

Annals, Juveniles, Toy Books, Fancy Goods, Toys, and a general assortment for Christmas and New Year's Presents, can be found at C. Gill and Co.'s.

Pocket Diaries, all sizes and kinds, a great variety for sale by C. Gill & Co.

Read C. Gill and Co.'s advertisement of Hats.

Beautiful Books for Gifts can be found at C. Gill & Co.'s.

C. Gill & Co. have a fine lot of Rubber Boots and Shoes, of all sizes, and can fit everybody, and sell at the lowest prices.

This stock is of that manufacture known to have the best reputation. Buy for yourselves and children, and prevent wet feet and the consequences thereof.

C. Gill & Co.'s Assortment of Toys is the best ever offered in Quincy.

A BOOK FOR THE MILLION. Just published by FEDERHEN & Co., Booksellers and Stationers, No. 13 Court Street, Boston, a Brief Treatise of 48 pages, on Diseases of the Sexual System of both sexes—their symptoms and treatment—prepared by a physician of the "Boston Eclectic Hospital."

This work also contains a searching exposure of the deception and imposture practiced by advertising quacks, with some of their names and locations. Sold by periodical dealers generally. Sent by mail, on the receipt of three postage stamps. Address Box 1802, Boston Post Office.

Feb. 27.

Marriages.

In this town, on the 25th ult., by Rev. W. B. Colburn, Mr. Henry Weber, of Roxbury, to Miss Sarah Jane Brown, of Quincy.

Selectmen's Notice.

ALL Persons having accounts against the Town of Quincy are requested to present the same for payment on SATURDAY, the 29th of January inst., between eight o'clock, A. M. and five P. M., at Selectmen's Room.

All Persons indebted to the Almshouse Establishment are requested to pay Mr. Lewis Wood.

GEORGE MARSH, Selectmen of Quincy.

EBEN ADAMS, Do.

DANIEL BAXTER, Do.

Quincy, Jan. 15.

To Let,

THE Farm of the late Thomas Greenleaf. Possession given the First of April.

Enquire of E. WOODWARD.

Quincy, Jan. 15.

For Sale,

PEW No. 50 in Stone Temple—Broad Isle. Price $300.

ALSO—Pew No. 120, North Isle. Price $200.

Enquire of E. WOODWARD.

Quincy, Jan. 15.

To Let,

ONE-HALF of a two-story house pleasantly situated on Hancock street, and lately occupied by Dr. Marden. It is in the immediate vicinity of a Railroad Depot, Churches, Schools, &c. Possession given immediately.

Enquire of J. W. ROBERTSON.

Quincy, Jan. 15.

KENISON & FOLLETT,

JOBBER AND COMMISSION DEALERS IN

Butter, Cheese, and Eggs,

Beans, Dried Apples,

AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Cellar, 19 Merchant Row, Boston.

GEORGE W. KENISON,

GEORGE D. FOLLETT.

Jan. 15.

GEO. R. HICHBORN

AUCTIONEER,

AND

REAL ESTATE BROKER.

Office, No. 1 Scollay's Building,

Entrance, Tremont Row, Boston.

G. R. H. will give his personal attention to Sales at Auction of Real Estate, Farms and Farm Stocks, Stocks of Goods in Stores, Furniture at Residences, &c. &c. in City or Country.

Also, to Real Estate at Private Sale.

Refers by permission to

Hon. E. G. Loring, Dr. J. V. Smith,

Hon. Moses G. Cobb, Isaac Thacher, Esq.,

Dr. J. C. Hayden.

Jan. 15.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate and Insolvency, for the County of Norfolk.

PETITION of Huldah Doane, Administratrix, of the Goods and Estate of late of Braintree, in said County, deceased, respectfully represents, that the said deceased died at the time of his death, Real Estate, consisting of a dwelling house and about an acre of land, and about the same of the value of $2900 and that the lawful claims against the Estate of said deceased, for just debts, including funeral expenses, amount to $4750 00, and that the charges of administration are $75 00 making the whole claims 4525 00, and that the value of his Personal Estate is 2174 47, being insufficient by the sum of $2850 53 to satisfy said claims; that said Estate is so situated that by a partial sale thereof the remainder would be greatly injured; and that the persons interested in the Estate of said deceased, as heirs or otherwise, are Heman F. Calvin, H. and Mary F. Doane. The said Administratrix therefore prays that she may be licensed and empowered to sell and convey the whole of said Real Estate, first taking the oath and giving the bond by law in such cases required.

CALVIN DOANE,

HULDAH DOANE, Adm.

Copy.—Attest,

J. H. COBB, Reg.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. Probate Office, Jan. 1, A.D. 1859.

UPON the petition of HULDAH DOANE, Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of

CALVIN DOANE,

late of Braintree, in said County, Townsman, deceased, praying that she may be licensed to sell and convey certain Real Estate of said Calvin Doane.

ORDERED—That the said Huldah Doane, not only all persons interested in the Estate of said Calvin Doane, to appear at a Court of Probate to be holden at Quincy, in said County, on the Second Tuesday of February, A. D. 1859, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, by publishing this Order three weeks successively in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

Quincy, Jan. 15.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. Probate Office, Jan. 1, A.D. 1859.

UPON the petition of HULDAH DOANE, Administratrix of the Estate of

CALVIN DOANE,

late of Braintree, in said County, Townsman, deceased, praying that she may be licensed to sell and convey certain Real Estate of said Calvin Doane.

ORDERED—That the said Huldah Doane, not only all persons interested therein that they may appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden at Quincy, in said County, on the Second Tuesday of February, A. D. 1859, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, by publishing this Order three weeks successively in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

Quincy, Jan. 15.

OVER COATS, (Custom Made,) from 7 to $12.

T. DODDS.

Quincy, Oct. 31.

Collector's Notice.

NORFOLK SS. THE proprietors of the following described Real Estate, situated in the Town of Braintree, are hereby notified that the same are taxed in the tax bill committed to the subscriber, collector of taxes for said Braintree, for the year 1858, as follows, to wit—

SIMEON P. CUSHING, House and Land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Heirs of Eldon White, southerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by Braintree & Weymouth Turnpike. Taxes, $13 70.

BENJAMIN B. FRENCH, About six acres of Land and Buildings thereon, bounded northerly and westerly by Pond street, southerly by land of Isaac Bass, easterly by Farm River. Taxes, $36 98.

ABEL HOLBROOK, About five acres of Land, with Buildings thereon, situated in Braintree, bounded southerly and westerly by land belonging to the Braintree School Fund, easterly by Granite street, and northerly by land of Lydia Chase, or however otherwise bounded. Taxes, $51 20.

HENRY HOBART, House and Land, bounded easterly by land of Thomas Griffin, northerly by land of Porter & Loud, westerly by a Private Way, southerly by Allen Street. Taxes, $5 70.

NATHANIEL M. HOBART, Ten acres of Land, more or less, with Buildings thereon, bounded northerly by land of Lemuel Shaw, southerly by land of Abraham Hobart, easterly by Shaw street, or however otherwise bounded. Taxes, $19 27.

JAMES MANION, House and one-quarter acre of Land, bounded northerly by Plain street, westerly by Hancock street, easterly by O C & F R Railroad, Taxes, $3 94.

ELISHA NIGHTINGALE, Ten acres of Land, more or less, with Buildings thereon, bounded northerly and easterly by North street, southerly by land of Henry Abbott, westerly by Granite street. Taxes, $3 88.

ISAAC PORTER, House and about half an acre of Land, bounded southerly by Franklin street, northerly and westerly by land of Elisha Hobart, easterly by land of John F. Arnold, or however otherwise bounded. Taxes, $7 71.

BARDIN H. PROUTY, House and 1-4 acre of Land, bounded southerly by Commercial street, easterly by land of William Bowditch, northerly and westerly by land formerly owned by the heirs of Jacob Allen. Taxes, $7 88.

JACOB RICHARDS, Half a Dwelling House and about an Acre of Land, bounded northerly by Monmouth river, westerly by land of heirs of Elisha White, southerly by land of William Cole, Jr., easterly by Braintree and Weymouth Turnpike. Taxes, $18 73.

ELISHA SAVIL, House and about an Acre of Land, bounded northerly by West street, westerly by land of Braintree School Fund, southerly and easterly by land of Lydia Chase. Taxes, $6 28.

SYLVANUS THAYER, About two Acres of Land, bounded northerly by Union street, westerly by Middle street, southerly by land of John Bowditch, easterly by land of Harvey and Lewis Thayer. Taxes, $11 28.

HEIRS OF JOHN SPRAGUE, Five Acres of Land, more or less, bounded northerly, southerly and easterly by land of Peter Wainwright, westerly by Braintree and Weymouth Turnpike. Taxes, $4 36.

And I hereby give notice, that unless said Taxes are respectively paid on or before the Sixteenth day of February next ensuing, I shall on that day, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the Lyceum Store in said Braintree, proceed to sell at public Auction said parcels of Real Estate, or so much of the same as shall be necessary to discharge said Taxes respectively, and all necessary intervening charges.

E F E THAYER, Collector.

N. B. The Collector will be under the necessary of advertising additional Real Estate next week, unless the taxes on them are paid immediately.

Braintree, Jan. 15, 1859.

3w

Collector's Notice.

THE owners or

Collector's Notice.

NORFOLK SS.
THE proprietors of the following described Real Estate, situated in the Town of Quincy, are hereby notified that the same is taxed in the tax list committed to the collector of taxes for said Brantree, the year 1858, as follows, to wit:

SIMEON P. CUSHING,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $70.

BENJAMIN B. FRENCH,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $36.98.

ABEL HOLBROOK,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $20.

HENRY HOBART,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $5.70.

NATHANIEL M. HOBART,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $19.27.

JAMES MANION,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $5.34.

ELISHA NIGHTINGALE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $8.71.

ISAAC PORTER,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $7.88.

BARDIN H. PROUTY,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $18.79.

JACOB RICHARDS,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $18.79.

ELISHA SAVIL,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $6.28.

SYLVANUS THAYER,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

New and Beautiful Assortment

JEWELRY.

THE Subscriber has received this day a large variety of NEW JEWELRY, consisting in part of

LADIES' AND GENTS' GOLD CHAINS;
Gold Bracelets, New Styles;
Sets of Coral, Garnet, Lava, Cameo and Mosaic

PINS AND EAR RINGS;
Gents' Seal Pins, New and Rich;
Gents' Seal, Plain, and Chaste Rings;

Studs and Sleeve Buttons, new styles
in great variety;
GOLD FOR KEY AND SEALS;
MASONIC EMBLEMS;

Gold Lockets, all sizes;
Gold Thimbles; Children's Rings
Gold Tooth Picks, a very handsome
articles for New Year's Presents;
MOURNING AND MINIATURE PINS,

NEW STYLES:
Please Call and Examine the above articles
if you do not wish to purchase.

Benj. F. Meservey,
Quincy, Jan. 1. if

Cabinet Manufactory
AND COFFIN WAREHOUSE.

CHARLES H. KIMBALL,
Successor to W. M. French,
Quincy, Jan. 1. if

ELISHA NIGHTINGALE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $8.71.

ISAAC PORTER,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $7.88.

BARDIN H. PROUTY,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $18.79.

JACOB RICHARDS,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $18.79.

ELISHA SAVIL,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $6.28.

SYLVANUS THAYER,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

HERS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,
use and land bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Alexander Bowditch. Taxes, $4.36.

Later From Europe.

A NEW and splendid assortment of Ladies' Collars, Sleeves, Flouncings, Bands, Edgings, and a general assortment of Lace and White Goods, just received and for sale by
ELBRIDGE CLAPP,
Quincy, Aug. 21. if

Notice!

A NEW and SPLENDID ASSORTMENT of VELVET VESTINGS,
for sale cheap, at
Joseph W. Lombard's,
Over E. Clapp's Store.
Quincy, Nov. 13. if

DAVID B. STEINSON
WOULD inform his friends and the public that he has returned to his Old Stand,
A few rods East of the Stone Temple,
Where he will keep a good assortment of
WEST INDIA GOODS, FAMILY PRO-VISIONS, GROCERIES, BOOTS AND SHOES, PANCAKE, TOYS, CON-FECTIONERY, RUSSIA SALAD,
and all the popular Medicines, Essences, Flavoring Extracts, &c. A good assortment of

WOODEN WARE.
Just received a fresh lot of the improved Rosemary.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Quincy, Dec. 11. if

FRANCIS P. LOUD
WOULD respectfully inform the Citizens of Quincy, that he has taken the Store formerly occupied by the late George B. Nightingale,
In the rear of the Stone Temple, where he will keep a full assortment of
A FULL ASSORTMENT
of
WORSTED FOR EMBROIDERY,
Patterns of all kinds, and a General Assortment of Fancy Articles.
Quincy, Oct. 23. if

Ladies' & Children's Ready Made
CLOTHES,
Dress Trimmings, Corsets, Head
Dresses, the best of Spool Cotton,
Sewing Silk, Embroidery Silk,
Shirts and Shirt Bosoms, Overalls,
Cravats, Collars, &c., &c.
ALSO—A large assortment of
CONFECTIONARY, NUTS, &c.
N. B. Sticking close to Order.
Quincy, Sept. 11. if

Removal.
THE SUBSCRIBER HAS REMOVED TO
GOODNOW'S BUILDING;
Corner of Hancock and Granite Sts.,
Where he will continue to keep his usual large
and well-selected stock of
Plain and Fancy Silks,
Shawls, Dress Goods of every variety,
Domestic and Housekeeping Goods,
Gloves, Hosiery, Trimmings,
Embroideries and Fancy
Goods, &c.
GENTS' AND BOYS' CLOTHING
AND FURNISHING GOODS!!
Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, &c., &c.

A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF FURNITURE
Constantly on hand. Mattresses and Frames of every quality. Carpets, Paper Hangings,
Crockery, China, Glass and Britannia Ware,
all of which will be offered at
Very Low Prices for Cash.
He takes this opportunity to thank the citizens of this and neighboring towns for the very liberal patronage which they have given him, and would be happy to see them at his new location, where he will offer such inducements as will receive their continued and increased favors.

CALEB PACKARD.
Quincy, Jan. 23. if

GRANULAR FUEL.
Patented, June, 1852.
Manufactured from Brushwood and Twigs
For Kindling Coal Fires
AND all purposes for which a quick hot fire is needed. It is intended
By its Cheapness and Cleanliness
TO SUPERSEDE CHARCOAL.
It is especially adapted for Summer use, when a quick fire is wanted but a short time. As it can be used in all kinds of Stoves, and being allowed to go out immediately after using, enables the consumer to regulate the temperature.
The extreme low price of this Fuel is also a great advantage, being but one-half the price of charcoal. It kindles quick, is clean and cheap,
and will be sold and delivered at the following
low prices for cash:—
Under 25 bushels, 10 cents per bushel.
Over 25 " " 9 " " "
Orders left at the Store of E. Clapp, Henry A.
Newcomb, Peter W. Newcomb, Quincy Point, or
at Badger & Hanson's Machine Shop, will be promptly attended to.
MANUFACTURED AND SOLD BY
GEORGE SAVIL.
Rear of Badger & Hanson's—Quincy st.
Quincy, Aug. 14. if

Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Neck Ties
etc., etc.
JOSEPH W. LOMBARD,
HAS just received a large assortment of Black Buckles, from 37 to $1.50. Also—Driving Gloves, at low prices.
Neck Ties, Stocks, False Bosoms, White Shirts; Black Silk Handkerchiefs from 75 cents
to $1.62.
Quincy Nov. 13. if

Trout & Glover.
Quincy, Oct. 15. if

NEW BOOK.

Will be ready, JANUARY 1, 1859,
TWELVE MESSAGES from the Spirit
John Quincy Adams through Joseph D.
Stiles, Medium, to Joseph Brigham. Price $1.50.
For sale by C. GILL & CO., at the Quincy
Bookstore.
Dec. 23. if

Soft Hats.

C. GILL & Co. sell
A good Black Hat for $0.87
A good Black or Brown Hat for 1.00
A handsome, nice Black Hat for 1.25
A handsome, fine Black or Brown Hat for 1.50
An excellent Black or Brown Hat for 1.75
An extra quality Black Hat for 2.00
A superior Black Hat for 2.25
A superior extra Black Hat for 2.50
A superior Black Hat for 4.00
Quincy, Dec. 23. if 1859.

OLD Farmer's Almanac,
Brown's Almanac and Pocket Memorandum,
Family Christian Almanac,
Ladies' Almanac,
Juvenile Almanac,
Diaries of all kinds and sizes, at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Dec. 11. if

Carriage Painting.

THE subscriber has made alterations in his Painting premises whereby he is prepared
to do all kinds of
CARRIAGE PAINTING,
having secured workmen of acknowledged skill and artistic taste, and therefore asks an examination of workmanship, and upon these references graciously solicits a share of patronage.
E. B. HERSEY.
Quincy, Dec. 18. if

Kitchen Furnishing Articles.
A NEW Store, for the sale of the above, has been opened at 29 SCHOOL STREET,
near City Hall, Boston, where may be found the
best assortment of useful articles in the city.
At prices 25 per cent. less
than usual charges.
BROWN & CO.
Boston, Nov. 6. 3m

FLOUR
—AT—
WHOLESALE PRICES.
THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he is
receiving EXTRA FAMILY FLOUR, Direct from the South and West,
through
Messrs. Faxon, Brothers &
CO. OF BOSTON,
on the same terms which they receive it, thereby enabling me to sell at Boston wholesale prices.
All in want of Flour of first quality are invited to call.
ALSO—An Extra Quality of Buckwheat.
HOWARD VINAL,
Quincy, Nov. 10. if

Pimple Destroyer, &c.
GARDNER'S Pimple Destroyer, for the cure of pimples, eruptions, salt-rheum, and all other eruptions of the skin.
Fetridge's Woodland Creams, a beautiful article for the hair.
Wright's Eucalyptus, an everlasting perfume,
for the hands and face.
For sale by
Quincy, Dec. 4. if

List of Letters,
Remaining in the Quincy Post Office, Jan.
1st, 1859.
Persons calling for these letters, will please say they are advertised.

Adams George
Irwin Mary
Billings John
Brigham John E.
Billings Lemuel
Brannen James
Baker Wm R.
Bartlett Jos. Ph.
Blake Geo E.
Bacon Cyrus
Brown Charles H.
Brown Charles Jr.
Chase John L.
Craig Joseph
Clark Wm H.
Clapp John L.
Clapp John L.
Cobb John
Carrin Thomas
Coburn Francis
Chase Fred A.
Clark Mrs. Margaret
Cousins Miss Martha A.
Cummings Miss Julia
Dinsmore Wm
Davis Mrs Mary Ann
Dann Isabella
Davies Mrs James E.
Damon Harriet
Evans John
Emerson Wm.
Eager James
French Wm
Foley Michael
Fraser Jane
Fish Louisa
Gay Mabletha H.
Gwynne Ellen Goodwin I C.
Goodnow Loyd
Goulding John
Greenleaf Jeremiah B.
Green Charles A.
Hollis Reuben
Holmes James W.
Harris Newton
Harris Henry A.
Herring Thomas J.
Hobart J H.
Wilson Thomas
Washington John P.
Whitcomb A Co Z N
Wells Hattie
Wells Mrs
White Mary
Taylor Edwin R.
Taylor Charles
Taylor Geo W.</

Poetry.

Two Words.

God's world is bathed in beauty,
God's world is steeped in light;
It is the self-same glory
Which makes the stars so bright,
Which thrills the earth with music,
Or hange the stars in night.

Did in earth's mines of silver,
Floating on clouds above,
Ringing in autumn's tempest,
Murmured by every dove;
One thought fills God's creation—
His own great name of Love!

In God's word, strength is lovely,
And so is beauty strong,
And light—God's glorious shadow—
To each great gift belong;
And they all melt into sweetness,
And fill the earth with song.

Above God's world bends heaven,
With day's kiss pure and bright,
Or folds her still more fondly
In the tender shade of night;
And she casts back heaven's sweetness
In fragrance, love and light.

God's world has one great echo,
Whether blue mists are curled,
Or lingering dew drops quiver,
Or red storms are unfurled,
The same deep love is throbbing
Through the great heart of God's world.

Man's life is black and blighted,
Stepped through with evil and sin;
And should his feeble purpose,
Some feeble good begin,
The work is halted and tainted
By leprosy within.

Man's world is bleak and bitter;
Wherever he has trod
He spouts the tender beauty
That blossoms on the sod,
And bleeds the living heaven
Of the great good world of God.

There strength on coward weakness
In cruel night will roll;
Beauty and joy are cankers
That eat away the soul;
And love—O God, avenge it!—
The plague-spot of the whole.

Man's world is Pain and Terror;
He found it pure and fair,
And wove in nets of sorrow
The golden summer air;
Black, indus, gold and dreary,
Man's curse, not God's, is there.

And yet God's world is speaking;
Man will not hear it call;
But listens where the echoes
Of his own discords fall,
That clamor back to heaven
That God has done it all.

The Beautiful Land.

There is a land immortal,
The beautiful of lands,
Beside the ancient portal,
A sentry grins and stands.
He only can and do it,
And open wide the door;
And mortals who pass through it,
Are mortals never more.

That glorious land is Heaven,
And death the entry gate;
The land therefore has given
The opening keys to him,
And ransom'd spirits, sighing
And sorrowing for sin,
Do pass the gate in dying,
And freely enter in.

Though dark and drear the passage,
That leadeth to the gate,
Yet grace comes with the message,
To souls that watch and wait;
And at the time appointed,
A messenger comes down,
And leads the Lord's anointed
From the cross to glory's crown.

Their sighs are lost in singing,
They're blessed in their ears,
Their journey homeward winging,
They leave to earth their tears,
Death like an angel's smother,
"We welcome thee," they cry;
Their face with glory beamed—
"This life for thee to die."

Anecdotes.

Come here, sissy, said a young gentleman to a little girl, to whose sister he was paying his addresses; you are the sweetest thing on earth.

No I ain't, she replied; sister says you are the sweetest.

The gentleman "popped the question" the next day.

In a very thin house, an actress spoke very low in her communication with her lover—
"The actor, whose benefit it happened to be, exclaimed, with a woful humor:

My dear, you may speak out; there is no body to hear us.

They tell a story about a man out West, who had a hair-pow, upon which he performed an operation himself, by inserting into the opening a piece of chicken feed—it adhered, and filled up the space admirably. This was well enough until, in compliance with the prevailing fashion, he attempted to raise moustaches, when one side grew hair and the other feathers.

Pompey, what am dat goes when de wagon goes, stops when de wagon stops; it an no use to de wagon, yet de wagon can't go without it.

I gubs dat out, Clem.

Why, de noise, ob course.

Why are ladies the biggest thieves in existence? Because they steel the petticoats, some the stays, and crib the babies.

A laborer, reading a journal to his wife, instead of "the President" was received with three huzzas," pronounced the last word
"huzzas."

More shame for him, replied the indignant and scandalized lady.

FASHIONABLE
Tailoring Establishment

J. W. LOMBARD,

HAS taken rooms over the store of E. Clapp, (formerly occupied by Mr. J. M. Beckford), and wishes respectfully to inform his friends and the public generally that he intends to carry on
THE TAILORING BUSINESS.

In all its branches, and hopes by punctuality and strict attention to business to merit a share of patronage.

JOS. W. LOMBARD.
Quincy, Apr 18

BUSINESS COATS, (Custom Made,) from 6 to $10.

Quincy, Oct. 31. T. DODDS.

Cut this out and keep it for Reference.

Great Chance to Save Money!!

BY HAVING YOUR CLOTHES MADE BY

C. A. COLLINS,

203 Washington Street,
Cor. Broadfield street, up stairs.

REASONS WHY. Let. My rent is less than any Custom Tailor in Boston.

2. I buy my Goods for Cash only.

3. I sell my Goods for Cash only.

4. I make no bad debts for Customers to pay for.

5. I work for the interest of my Customers.

Gentlemen can depend on having Garments which for style, fit, neatness, and faithful work, cannot be surpassed.

I pay particular attention to making Pants, being the most difficult of all Garments to fit nicely,
and at the same time be perfectly easy.

My Pants are cut by a system original with myself, and used by no other person. I warrant my Pants to retain their shape at the knee till worn out, and to fit handsome and be easy in every particular.

Some of the Prices.

I sell a new Frock or Dress Coat, from German black or colored Broad Cloth, made to order,
for from $15 to $25

Black German Due Pants, 5 to 8

Side Band and other style Pants, 5 to 8

Best quality Silk Vests, 25 to 5

Black, Valencia and Plaid Vests, 25 to 5

Business Coats, 9 to 15

Spring and Fall Over-Coats, 12 to 20

Winter Over-Coats, 12 to 20

Where gentlemen furnishing their own Cloth,
I make and trim it for them into Garments in the best style, at less prices than any other Tailor in Boston.

Always on hand the newest and best goods of all the manufacturers of this and foreign countries.

CHESTER A. COLLINS,

203 Washington street, corner Broadfield street,
(Up stairs.) - - - - - BOSTON.

Well known as the place to SAVE MONEY.
July 17.

New Stock and New Styles!

PAPER HANGINGS.

HAVING a desire to accommodate many of our customers, and to increase the trade of our place, we have added to our former variety of Goods, an entirely

New and Beautiful Stock of Paper Hangings, Borders, Curtains, &c.,

COMPRISING 100 PATTERNS!
manufactured on the best paper and in the highest perfection of colors and styles.

Our assortment will always be kept good, and we shall spare no efforts to give the best satisfaction to the taste of all who wish to paper their rooms with attractive and pleasing patterns, on good paper and in good colors.

Our prices will range lower than is usual with the same qualities and styles in Boston, but we shall engage in no mean underselling any of our neighbors, our object being to present an advantage to the public, and to the Quincy people, to bestow their patronage upon their own traders, and thus themselves aided in every respect as well or better than in the City.

Builders of new houses will be supplied on the most favorable terms.

Black and Colored Dressings, finished especially. Black, Brown and Drab Cassimere, for Congress Shoes, new style.

Black Brown and Drab Feltings, for snow shoes, lastings, all wool, Italian Co. Silk and Cotton Waist do.

Rubber Gutter Wells, of beautiful quality for Congress Shoes.

Boot and Congress Wells, from 4 in. to 14 in.,
new style.

Gallons, black and colors, 4, 6 and 8 in. widths.
Shoe Ducks; Congress and London Canvas.

Snow Ribbons, Rosette, and Laminated Web, Eyeslets, Cord, Shoe Laces and Straps, all sizes and lots. Shoe Buttons of all descriptions.

Linen Machine Threads,

Of the well known XXX Golden Fleck Stamp, of every description required in the manufacturing of Boots, Brogans, Shoes and Laminated Canvas, from No. 25 to 100, in 2 to 10 cord, in Black, Drab, Grey, Orange, Yellow and W. Brown, in Hanks, Balls and Spools, for sewing, closing, sewing, binding, etc., etc., being of superior quality and under the same. Also Shoe Threads.

Machine Silk, all colors and sizes.

Sea Island Hank Cotton, Blacks, Colored, Un-
bleached and White.

Spool Threads and Sewing Cotton, of all descriptions.

Manufacturers of Clothing

Will find in our stock everything in Linen and Cotton Threads required to their work, and the quality much superior to any other in use.

BROWN, DIX & Co.,
No. 52 Milk street,
Quincy, June 19

Balsam, Plaster, &c.

DR. Blackman's Genuine Healing Balsam
and Plaster.

Dr. Sam'l B. Smith's Magnetic Salve for Sore Throat, Ring Worm, and similar diseases.

Dr. Bennett's Canker Powder and Tooth
Preservative—For sale by Quincy, Aug 22. Mrs. E. HAYDEN.

Insurance against Fire.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY OF MASSACHUSETTS, insures Real and Personal Property against the hazard of Fire, for five years or less, on favorable
terms.

Farmers, Merchants, Household, Traders,
Merchants, and all Owners of Property not extra hazardous, are solicited to patronize this Company; every effort will be made to accommodate customers.

Letters, by mail or otherwise, from persons residing at a distance, relating to Fire Insurance, will be promptly attended to.

RESIDENT,
WILLIAM S. MORTON,
TREASURER,
ISRAEL W. MUNROE,
SECRETARY,
STEPHEN BATES,
DIRECTORS,

Quincy, Milton,
William S. Morton, Charles Beecher,
Israel W. Munroe, Dorchester,
Thomas C. Webb, H. W. Blanchard,
Whitecomb Porter, Cohasset,
Stephen Bates, Solomon J. Beal,
William B. Duggan, Hingham,
Thomas Curtis, Ebenezer Gay.

Boston, Alfred Loring,
Albert Thompson, North Bridgewater,
Royal W. Turner, Sumner A. Hayward,
South Braintree, Barnstable,
Apollis Randall, George Marston,
Dorham,
Jonathan A. Cobb.

References, by permission:

Hos. GEORGE F. BELLOW, of Boston,
Hos. JOSIAH QUINCY, Jr., of Boston,
Hos. AMASA WALKER, of North Brookfield,
Hos. JAMES MAQUIRE, of Randolph,
Hos. SOLOMON LINCOLN, of Hingham,
Hos. CHARLES F. ADAMS, of Quincy,
JOSIAH BRIGHAM, Esq.,

OFFICE:
Washington Square, Quincy, near of Stone Temple
April 1. 1y

National Police Gazette.

THIS Great Journal of Crime and Criminals is published throughout the country. It contains all the Great Trials, Criminal Cases, and appropriate editorials on the same, together with information on Criminal Matters, not to be found in any other newspaper.

Subscriptions, $2 per annum; $1 for six months, to be remitted by subscribers, (who should write their names and the town, county
and state where they reside plainly.)

GEORGE W. MATSILL & CO.,
Editors & Proprietors of the
National Police Gazette.

New York City, Apr 25 1y

GEORGE R. FRENCH,
Engraver and Plate Printer,

257 Washington, near Winter st., - - Boston

Particular attention given to the Engraving
of Maps and Printing of

A LONG and practical experience in this particular branch, warrants me in saying that persons about ordering Cards of any description, will study their interests by calling,
or sending their orders as above, as he will furnish the most fashionable card producer at prices as low or lower than any other establishment.

WEDDING STATIONERY, constantly on hand. Portraits, Views, Maps, Diplomas, Labels, Bill-Heads, Blank Checks, Notes,
Drafts, Bills of Exchange, &c., &c., engraved or printed at short notice.

Door-Plates, Seals, and anything in the line, furnished to order and at equally low prices.

Orders by mail, express, or otherwise,
promptly attended to.

Boston, Feb 20 6m

RICH'S PATENT
IRON BEAM PLOW.

J. WADSWORTH JR
South Weymouth,

Is Agent for the County of Norfolk,
FOR THE SALE OF THIS PLOW.

WHO will visit the various parts of the County during the first of April. Plows delivered in any part of the County free of charge
Terms, cash on delivery.

Weights and Prices.

Old Dominion, 3 horse, 135 lbs. price, $13 50

C. No. 1, 2 horse, 125 " " 12 00

Washington, No. 2, 2 h 110 " " 11 00

D. Improved, 90 " " 9 00

E. Corn Plow, 1 horse, 60 " " 5 00

F. Corn Plow, 1 horse, 40 " " 4 00

Double Mould Board, 40 " " 4 50

Side Hill and Level Land 100 " " 10 00

Either of the Plows weighing 100 pound or over, wards, with an extra point, 50 cents more; under 100 weight, 25 cents.

Quincy, March 4 3y

Paper Hangings.

JUST received new styles of Paper Hangings
and for sale cheap for cash.

DANIEL BAXTER & Co.,
Quincy, March 25.

Burnett's Cocaine.

FOR preserving and beautifying the Hair,
and restoring it to its natural gloss. "Thomson's" Golden Lustrate. The German Toilet Balm, and various other hair preservatives, for sale by

MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, June 26.

Fresh Tamarinds,

FOR sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Oct. 16. 1y

C. C. JOHNSON,

Druggist and Apothecary,
GOODNOW'S BUILDING,

CORNER of Hancock and Granite streets,
keeps constantly on hand a large assortment
of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs,
Fancy Articles, Perfumery, Havana Cigars,
Foreign Fruits and Swedish Leeches.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness,

ATTENTION.

The Largest and Most Complete

ASSORTMENT OF

HARDWARE

BAILEY, CARVER & CO.

Having recently made large additions to our

BUILDING MATERIALS,

we are prepared to furnish them at prices to cor-

respond with the times.

CHEAPER THAN EVER!!

We will sell Nails by the Ton or single Pound.

DOORS,

SASHES,

BLINDS,

WINDOW GLASS,

NAILS,

SHEET LEAD,

FRAMING PINS,

WINDOW FRAMES,

DOOR BELLS,

SCREWS,

&c., &c.

MORTICE LOCKS,—in a great Variety.

ALSO—P. d. Run, Closet, Store and Sash

Locks;

MORTICE, THUMB AND PEOPLE'S

LATCHES;

Pottery, Glass, Mineral and Mahogany Knobs;

BLAKE'S BUTTS,

AND AXLE FULLEYS,

A good assortment of Hinges of all kinds,

Wrought, Fancy Plate,

STRAP, BLIND, AND T. HINGES;

SHOVELS; DOOR SCRAPERS;

Also—Patent Lever Blind Fastenings—A great variety of Sash Fastenings.

Posters, Patent Window Supporter,

The best things ever used in the place of weights;

DOOR BELLS HUNG TO ORDER.

DON'T FORGET

AT THE OLD STAND OF

BAILEY, CARVER & CO.,

SCHOOL STREET.

Quincy, Jan. 23.

SEASONED LUMBER,

Of all descriptions, at prices to suit the times.

DIMENSION FRAMES,

Four-sided at short notice.

Best quality of Lumber constantly on hand.

ALSO—Good Pine Wood at $6 a cord.

For sale at BRACKETT'S WHARF.

Quincy, May 8.

Coal, Lime, Brick and Sand,

—with a good assortment of—

SEASONED LUMBER,

constantly on hand, and for sale by the subscriber

at Quincy Canal Wharf.

NATHANIEL WHITE.

Quincy, April 30.

ALL KINDS OF

Job Printing,

SUCH AS

POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,

WELL-HEADS, DRAWERS, CARDS,

AND EVERY VARIETY OF

BOOK, PLAIN AND FANCY

PRINTING,

Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office

WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

NATHANIEL WHITE,

—HAS FOR SALE—

LUMBER,

Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand

—ALSO—

Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,

QUINCY CANAL WHARF.

July 10, 1852.

FISHER A. KINGSBURY,

Counsellor at Law,

Commissioner for the States of

MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VER-

MONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE

ISLAND AND NEW YORK.

Weymouth, Mass.

Nov. 26.

WHITE & FRANCH,

Attorneys at Law,

Room No. 3, Webster Bank Building,

Exchange Street, — BOSTON.

GEORGE WHITE. ASA FRANCH.

May 20.

Pure Cider Vinegar.

800 GALLONS PURE CIDER VIN-

EGAR, made on the farm formerly owned by B. V. French, now in store and for sale by the barrel or smaller quantity, at GEORGE L. BAXTER, & CO.

Quincy, Aug. 15.

Root and Shoe Findings.

JUST received and for sale low, a lot of Root and Shoe Findings, &c., &c.

For sale by

MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Sept 18

BURNS, & Co.

MES' Lotions for burn, scalds, cuts, bruises, sooths, chilblains, &c., &c.

For sale by

MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Sept 18

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XXIII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, JANUARY 22d, 1859.

NUMBER IV.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION
Over Mr. E. Clapp's Store, on Hancock St.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.
Two DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.

No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears-ages, unless at the option of the publisher.

Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited
to their own immediate business.

Letters and communications, (postage paid,
will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers:
Railway Village, JOSIAH BABCOCK.
West District, GEORGE H. LOCKE.
Milton, CHARLES BRICK.
Weymouth, ORIN P. BACON.
Abington, F. A. KINGSBURY.
South Scituate, JOSEPH CLEVELY.
Brooklyn, (N. Y.), SAMUEL A. TURNER.
GERSHOM DREW.

Communications.

For the Patriot.
Resistance to Improvement.

MR. EDITOR: I have somewhat to say in regard to the article under the above caption in the Patriot of last week, with which, however, I was much pleased.

Dr. Babbitt can be no more opposed to Allopathy than I am, but until he shows me medicine necessary in any case, I cannot agree to his assertion, that "as long as the innumerable laws of nature and human life remain as they are, so long will Homoeopathy endure." As I understand it, "the sure and solid basis of Homoeopathy" is only a reformed materia medica, which, after all, is based on experiment, hence is uncertain and not free from the charge of empiricism, and it is no wonder the contemporaries of Hahnemann ridiculed his proposition "to prove drugs on themselves."

But I have no need to find with Homoeopathy, except for what it retains of Allopathy:
practically it is a long stride in the right direction; but it owes its success chiefly to its disuse of powerful medicines, and its greater attention to and dependence on the indications and powers of nature, which, in many cases, would effect a cure better without any scientific (?) aid whatever.

The grand error, which lies at the foundation of all medical science, is "the erroneous yet firmly established doctrine of antiquity," that medicine acts on the living system, whereas the fact is, the living system acts on the medicine; can anything be plainer? is it not absurd to say the dead acts on the living?
Will Dr. B. call this "brain-born fancy of the enthusiast," or "give a fair hearing to the proposed radical change?"

Disease is remedial effort; the effort of the system to get rid of a morbid or abnormal condition of some organ, as in a common cold the pores of the skin, one of the main avenues for discharging waste matter from the system, being closed by suddenly checking per-piration, its duty devolves on the lungs, another great outlet, and the lungs being overburdened by this great addition to their labor become in turn diseased, and if no relief be obtained the whole system becomes diseased, and fever or even death may ensue.

Here is the modus operandi of medicine:
to check the disease some drug is taken, which, being the greater evil, it diverts to itself the efforts of the system from the original disease, thus putting a quietus on and curing (?) it, but the last state is worse than the first.

The natural remedy for a cold or fever is to restore a healthy action of the skin and lungs by the use of pure water in drinking and bathing, and abstinence from food, which cannot be properly digested while the whole vital force is at work expelling the morbid matter already in the system, and would only increase the work for the jaded organs.

Nature always indicates the proper course, and if we are wise enough to understand and obey her dictates we shall have little need of physicians, and take their vile stuff with extreme caution.

I am no spleen victim of the doctors, but I know the "better way" of living in accordance with nature's laws, and treating disease on the Water Cure or Hygieo Therapeutic plan of which the above is a specimen, and which is fully illustrated in "The Water-Cure Journal and Herald of Health," by Fowler & Wells; and as Dr. B. boasts of the "ascendency over ancient medicine" of his favorite Homoeopathy, I would inform him that the above paper has the largest circulation and is the best health paper in the world, and its doctrine is "destined in proper time to be generally received" as the true doctrine of health and disease.

PRO ARIS.

For the Patriot.
To the Fathers of the Town.

MR. EDITOR: Allow us the privilege of calling the attention of the Selectmen to the mud-puddles on the sidewalks in the vicinity of the Stone Temple—particularly on Maple, and the upper end of Washington streets.
We hope our worthy Fathers will cast an eye to the inconveniences of pedestrians in this vicinity, and oblige the CITIZENS.

[BY REQUEST]
"Free Love" in the Churches.

If we can credit the reports of the secular press, examples of domestic infidelity and crime are becoming fearfully prevalent among "members of churches," "ministers of the gospel," and even dignitaries of prominent sects. The following is a brief summary of cases which have been chronicled by the press within a short time. We omit names, because our object is not to give currency to this sort of scandal, but simply to "point a moral," which will appear in the end:

A Methodist local preacher has eloped from Elk River (Va.) with two daughters of Michael Griffith, leaving his wife and a large family in destitute circumstances.—New York Paper.

One of the churches in this city is engaged in investigating a lamentable charge of conjugal infidelity—invoking the reputation of several church members, both male and female, and even assailing with suspicion some of the highest authorities in the church.—New Haven Journal.

A flour merchant in Cincinnati, who has been a rigid member (outwardly at least) of the church, and a Sunday-school teacher, was called before a Justice, a short time since, to answer a charge of illicit fatherhood, preferred against him by a young woman who had lived in his family and been a pupil in his class at Sunday-school. She swore point-blank that he had ruined her while she was beneath his roof, and taking care of his two young children.—Boston Herald.

A man about fifty years of age, said to be a minister of the gospel, from Brown County, (Ind.) in company with a young lady aged about seventeen, came to Richmond, (Ind.) and put up at a private boarding house, where the young lady gave birth to a child. [This child they afterwards murdered, and the guilty pair were arrested and committed to jail.]— Dayton (O.) paper.

Rev. Dr. —, of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, has been deposed from exercising the privileges of his office as a minister of the gospel, on account of a crim. con. with a lady residing in Pittsburgh, Pa. The doctor is about seventy-five years of age; is a man of commanding presence, and wears long silver hair. He has been married twice. * * * His second wife has for a long time been bedridden; and in one of his letters to Mrs. —, used as evidence against him, he mentioned that fact, and said that she was getting better, but that it was not his fault. [The lady in the above case is the widow of a clergyman, who is eddies and proprieties of a monthly magazine, which is regarded as the organ of the American Scotch Covenanters.]—Herald.

—, of Montgomery county (Ind.), was arrested at Detroit, charged with having poisoned his wife. — is about fifty years of age, a farmer in good circumstances, and has for a long time been an active member of the Methodist Church, and claims a high character. The woman whose death he is charged with causing was his second wife. She died very suddenly, having been in perfect health the day previous. Remarks made by — after her burial aroused suspicion, and his body was taken up for examination, when — fled. A large quantity of strychnine was found in the woman's stomach
—'s first wife, who died very unexpectedly about fifteen years ago, it is now believed was poisoned. —'s incentive to the crime was probably an improper intimacy with a young woman.—Boston Journal.

—, sexton of the Home Mission Chapel, of Cleveland, Ohio, eloped with a young woman named — has a wife and eleven children, and heretofore has been considered a pattern of propriety and morality, and an affectionate husband and father.—Id.

The record might be extended indefinitely, but we desist. The first remark we have to make is, that not one of the above papers has a single word to say about the "denominational tendencies" of Methodism, or Presbyterianism, or churches, or Sunday-schools! It is only when a professed Spiritualist proves derelict to the principles of true Spiritualism, which is the opposite of sensualism of every form, that the eyes of these guardians of the public morals are opened in holy horror, and the welkin is made to ring with wholesale denunciations of the class to which they belong and the doctrines they profess.

The organ of the Harvard Professor, who has taken the lead in this fanatical crusade against Spiritualism, in noticing the flagrant case of Rev. Dr. —, of the Presbyterian Church, above mentioned, neglects even to inform its readers of the nature of the offence for which he was deposed. It tenderly passes the matter over with the indefinite remark that "there was a lady in the case." Imagine the torrent of righteous wrath against doctrines that destroy "the integrity of man and the purity of woman," which would have been outpoured, had the parties been Spiritualists instead of Presbyterians!

This is conclusive proof, if any were needed, of the utter one-sidedness and hypocrisy of the Courier's display of virtuous indignation against Spiritualism. Other presses stand convicted of more or less of the same insincerity.—Boston Spiritual Age.

Miscellaneous.

The Young Methodist Preacher.

BY REV. A. M. SCOTT.

'Twas in the month of February, 1832, and the weather was extremely cold. Snow had fallen all the night previous, and occasionally during the day it came down afresh, while the winds blew from the angry north, bearing a sleety snow. The cold was bitter and piercing.

Alfred Wilson was a mere youth, not having reached his nineteenth natal day, by several months. During the preceding autumn he had been licensed to preach, just as a call had been made for ministers to carry the tidings of salvation West of the great Father of Waters.

Alfred and seven others volunteered, and were by the Bishop accepted. He received his appointment to a circuit of five hundred miles west of the Mississippi, and hastened at once to his field of labor.

The eight young men all set out together from their native State, and travelled in company until they reached the territory, now State of —. They then separated, and each sought his own circuit. Alfred's was farther west than any of the rest, and it required the travel of many a weary mile to enable him to find his destination.

Late in January he reached his circuit, and managed to send his appointments round a few days in advance; and then he commenced the great work of preaching to the emigrants in their new and rustic homes.

Houses were like angels' visits, few and far between; for the population was only in settlements, and very sparse at that. It required four weeks to go round his field of labor, and this involved many long rides. There were creeks to swim, mountains to cross, and dim traces to follow. He experienced no little difficulty, when passing round for the first time, in finding the way.

The day referred to at the beginning of this article was one occupied in that first "round." At twelve o'clock he preached to about a dozen hearers, who had gathered for that purpose at the house of one of the neighbors. Here he learned that his appointment for the next day was more than thirty miles distant, and that the road would lead over a mountain. That he might be able to reach it in due time, it was necessary that he should travel some part of the way that same evening.

There was a house on his route, seventeen miles distant, at which he could be entertained, and from it he could on the following morning, travel the remaining portion of the way.

About two o'clock that cold afternoon, our hero, wrapped up as he best could be, was on the road, pressing on through the fallen and falling snow. His road was dim at best, and the vast quantity of snow that had fallen had well nigh obliterated all traces of it whatever. He was told that no other road intersected his, that he would see no human habitation for seventeen miles, and that he would cross the mountain.

The sun was not more than half an hour high by the young preacher's watch, when he arrived at the mountain's base. The ascent was steep, difficult, and in some places even dangerous. The distance was over three miles, and there he would find shelter for the night. After he had gained the summit he was fearful that he had lost his way. He could perceive no signs of it; there were no trees standing there, nothing but a few stunted bushes, vines and long grass, and these were all bending with a weight of snow.

The thought that he was bewildered and lost on the mountain, and night with all its horrors just at hand, was by no means a pleasant reflection. He pressed forward as rapidly as practicable without any road or knowledge of the course, entirely bewildered.
He reached the brow of the mountain just as the night was drawing her dark mantle over hill and dale; but here he found the descent impracticable, and it was with no small share of difficulty that he succeeded at last in finding a place where, by dismounting and sliding on his hands and feet, and forcing his poor horse over huge stones and frightful chasms, he made his way to the valley beneath.

He was now in complete darkness. Briars, vines and the deep tangled undergrowth, as well as fallen trunks and branches of huge forest trees, impeded his progress.

This was an hour of trial. All hope of reaching a house that night now faded from his mind. He had no means of obtaining fire, and should he even escape from panthers and wolves, of which he knew there was no scarcity, he felt sure that he would freeze to death before morning. But what could he do?
He stopped, and was standing by his horse, and shivering with cold. He began to conclude that he had pretty well run his race, and just perish in the lone wild woods, with none to witness his last agony.

Just as despair was claiming him as a victim, he distinctly heard the sounds of an axe —some one was chopping wood not six hundred yards distant. Inspired with fresh hope, he pressed forward, thinking to get to some house, perhaps to some hunter's camp, where, at last, he could find fire. In a few moments found a road. He then mounted his horse, and soon saw the glimmering of fire ahead the voices of children.

Here was small log house, with no fence around it. There seemed to be no other house, as kitchen, meat-house, crib or stable at hand. A lad was chopping wood; six or eight dogs barked very furiously at the stranger as he rode up, but were pacified by a simple nod from the wood chopper. A woman came to the door. He asked her if he could find entertainment for the night.

Well, tired, sir, said she, it's a mighty bad chance.

But, m'm, I know of no other. It is very cold I dark, and I am almost frozen.
I wish to y if you can only permit me to sit by your fire.

Yes sir, you can stay. We're mighty poor people, but we can feed your horse, and give you such a as we have every day.

That'll madam—it's all I can ask.

Light, and come in. John (to the boy) take this horse, and turn out old Speck, and put him in the pen, and give him some corn. Ciren, get out of the gentleman's way! Heir, take that stool. We are too poor to chairs.

The fire was earthen, beaten hard and made ash. The chimney was of rude construction, and there was a large fire of hickory burning, as Alfred Walton drew up before.

At one of the fireplace was a table, made bying four small staves, forked at the upper end, into the ground, and laying upon three parallel poles, across which rough on boards were placed. At this table sat men, each on a stool, and intently eyed in a game of cards. Besides the cards, bottle and a tin cup occupied their respec places on the table, evidently for the convenience of this interesting trio.

One of men seized the bottle and cup, poured out portion of the contents of the former into latter, and offering it to Mr.
Walton, said

Here's e'ching to warm you better than the fire! y some!

Thank, sir, said the preacher. I can soon vary this fire, and I do not wish to drink anyrith.

Maybe young gentleman belongs to the temple, suggested the woman.

If he said the man, what of it? This is a cashnecessity.

I do wish to drink—thank you, sir!

said the preacher, and commenced taking off his snows, leggings and over coat.

Maandook here! said a little redheaded girl,

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Jan. 22d, 1859.

"BORN IN A MASTER, OF NO SECTARE WE."

Old Colony and Fall River Railroad.

The Barnstable (Mass.) Patriot notices the fifth annual Report of the Directors of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad Company to the Legislature. By this document it appears that the corporation is under excellent management, and in good condition. Two dividends, of three per cent each, have been paid during the year, amounting to $180,906, and leaving a surplus not divided of $76,154 57. The net earnings were therefore $257,060 57, over a quarter of a million of dollars. The gross income for the year on the main road and branches owned by the company, was $433,544 83; while that derived from other roads (Cape Cod, Fairhaven Branch, Taunton and New Bedford, South Shore, Middleboro' and Taunton, and Dorchester and Milton Branch) was only $90,005 10. This shows how unfounded is the assertion often made by those who have not examined the facts, that the Cape Cod Road furnishes a very large proportion of the income of the Old Colony and Fall River Road.

During the year much of the line has been relaid with the joined or spliced rail, giving the effect of a continuous rail, and affording comfort and security to passengers. The company has also purchased the right to use Cremon's patent brakes, which give to the engineer almost absolute control of the train, and render accidents from collision almost impossible. The stations of the line are connected by telegraph, of which the company has the exclusive use, thus adding much to the security of trains, and diminishing the chances of disaster. A careful relocation of the road has been made during the past year, at a cost of about two thousand dollars. It will thus be seen, that while this road pays regular dividends, its object is not wholly to earn money to divide among its stockholders. We venture to say, that no where do the managers of a railroad more conscientiously regard their duty to the public, or perform more carefully and efficiently the service required by that duty, than on the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad. While upwards of a million passengers—1,013,743—have been carried in the cars during the past year, only one has been injured, and that one solely in consequence of her own carelessness.

SPIRITUALIST LEVEE. On Friday evening of last week, the Spiritualists of this town, held their annual social gathering in the Town Hall. During the latter part of the day it rained, which caused the walking to be extremely bad—this did not prevent a large number of our citizens from being present. About eight o'clock, the entertainment commenced with a grand display of Tableaux interspersed with music from that favorite Band, known as Hall's, of Boston. After the exhibition of these beautiful living pictures, the party listened to some remarks from Mrs. Magoun, "a trance medium," and a song from D. L. Wentworth. The delightful amusement of young and old—dancing—commenced at half past ten, and lasted several hours, when all returned to their homes with light and happy hearts.

LYCEUM. It gives us pleasure to inform our readers, that the Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., has been positively engaged and will deliver the next lecture before the Association on Friday evening next. A rich intellectual feast may be expected.

ICE CREAM. This pleasant refreshment at the late Spiritualist Levee, in this town, was prepared by Charles H. Pray, and pronounced by the lovers of this delicacy to be as good as that obtained in the city. Mr. P. understands how to make it in the best manner, having had much experience; and he will supply parties or families at a much less price, with equally as good-flavored, besides as rich and pure an article as can be obtained in Boston. Give him a trial, and then decide.

PAINTING BUSINESS. We are gratified to learn that Messrs. Davenport & Pope, who, a few months since, commenced the painting business in this town, have met with flattering success; as they are young gentlemen every way deserving of the patronage of their townsmen, intending faithfully to execute their work at a moderate price. See advertisement.

FURNITURE POLISH. Somers & Co. of Boston, have advertised in to-day's paper their superior compound for polishing furniture, etc. It is highly valued by all who have used it, renewing the looks and adding a beautiful lustre, being applied with little labor. It should be tried, and its merits will then be fully appreciated.

The question is often asked, "Why is it 'My Mother's Salve' sells so well?" Simply because those who use it once are satisfied of its medicinal virtues to relieve pain and heal wounds, and consider it worthy of confidence. See advertisement.

Boston Correspondence.

Boston, Jan. 20, 1859.
Glance at European news—Congress—Things at the Capitol—The new Presidency—Legislature, its movements.

European advices since my last are more than usually interesting to the American reader—indicating a disturbed state of feeling among many of our transatlantic brethren. Trouble is anticipated between France and her old ally Austria. Lombardy appears to be in a state of siege, and a formidable conspiracy is discovered in Cracow,—all Italy is in a very unsettled state.—The Spanish ministry declare that Spain will never sell Cuba, and protest against the insulting hypothesis to the contrary, implied in the President's message. The press throughout Europe comments with great severity upon the course of President Buchanan relative to the purchase of Cuba.—On Central American affairs, England thinks the American government and its officers are pushing matters very hard indeed. Thus we see European Powers verging to a state of fusion, and with many of them an unbounded hostility towards the United States, relative to Cuban matters. There is, commercially speaking, a sensible decline in the public funds. There is a gathering cloud in Europe, and a complicated condition in its political affairs, whose issue before the present year will end, no one can tell.

The present session of Congress ends in six weeks. But it would not be surprising if an extra session should be called in April. In fact it has been intimated, that unless a new tariff law is passed and the government well cared for, by appropriations, the President will not hesitate to convene the new Congress. The French Spoilation bill is likely to pass, and Mr. Buchanan sign it, because the records of the Senate show that he has approved the justice of the claims by advocating their payment. There is a hope that the bill for the repeal of the Fishing Bounties will be passed off the present session. The fate of the tariff bill is very uncertain—so with regard to the Pacific railroad. The bill for pensioning the old soldiers of the war of 1812, has a good chance of success.

While Congress is toiling, at least moderately well, we learn gaiety and amusement are reigning at Washington, and the city is filled with visitors from all parts of the Union to overflowing. The under current of most of the movements there has a bearing upon the next Presidency. No one will now admit, from present signs, that Mr. Douglas will be the nominee of the Charleston Democratic Convention. It is likely to fall upon either Mr. Hunter, or Wise of Virginia. Should Mr. Douglas acquiesce in the nomination of some other person than himself by the Buchanan democracy, and not consent to run as a candidate on his own merits, the election of a Republican is reduced to a moral certainty, as a large portion of the Douglas democrats would coalesce with them. In this event, it is not improbable that Governor Banks will be the next President of the United States. The star of this gentleman is ascendant in the political firmament; and, from present appearances, he would be more likely than another of receiving the Republican nomination for President in 1860.

The State Legislature has reached the fifteenth day of its sittings, and has prospected, through committees, a large amount of public business. Your respected representative from Quincy, W. S. Morton, Esq., is placed on the Committee of Finance, and has proved himself a very industrious and useful member of the House. He has presented several orders, and takes, as was expected, a deep interest in the concerns of his constituents. Having an intimate acquaintance with the leading members of the Legislature, his advice is sought after in many of the measures now before them. Indeed, he may be classed as one of the most active and useful members of the popular branch. The order submitted by him on the petition of Dr. Pattee and others of your town, relative to school books, has attracted very favorable comments by the press, and I doubt not will lead the Legislature to the passage of some wholesome statute that will make text-books more uniform in our schools, and impose suitable restraints against the too frequent change of books in our common schools, at the caprice of school committees, or the winning arguments of many book publishers. It is no small credit to the town of Quincy that she has taken, through her citizens, the first steps to correct these abuses, by calling the attention of the Legislature to its importance.

Some interesting topics have been brought before the Legislature the present week—an order from Mr. Butler, in the Senate, providing for a joint standing committee to inquire what legislation is necessary to prevent delay in the administration of justice. The same gentleman presented a series of resolutions for the appointment of a joint special committee to consider and examine, during the recess of the Legislature, the Report of the Committee to Revise the Statutes of the Commonwealth. A petition was presented in the House, for such alteration of the law affecting Juries, that three-fourths or more of any jury in a civil case may find a verdict. This proposed innovation strikes at the foundation of our jury system in civil actions, requiring, time out mind, an agreement of the whole twelve jurors for a verdict, and should be regarded with caution. An important bill in reference to the taxation of mortgaged estates is before the House. The effect would be, if passed, a complete revolution in the mode of taxing mortgaged property. The mortgagees to be taxed to the amount of their mortgages. To mortgagor to the value only over the mortgage.

UNIVERSALIST LEVEE. The Annual Levee given by the Universalist Society of this town, is to be held this year on Wednesday, the 9th of February.

ERRATUM. In the communication, "To the Father's of the Town" on a first page, the readers are requested to substitute the word "Temple" in the place of "Maple" in the fourth line.

Summary of Duties.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

The supplies actually furnished to each pauper in the State Almshouse at Bridgewater, cost but sixty cents per week.

The Supreme Court of the United States has just decided that Gridley v. the State of Massachusetts, and Horatio Allen the Novelty Works, New York, were the true originators of the eight-wheeled car track.

The Abington Loan and Fidelity Association last year received $41,200. This finea reached over $1000.

The Nashville News tells a venerable old man in Williamson county, eighty-five years of age, who never knew a chew of tobacco—though making in life millions of pounds—who never smoked cigar or pipe, and never had on a pair of boots.

A German went into a liquor store in New York and drank three pints gin, after which he managed to get into his house and died there.

The editor of the Paterson (N. J.) Register, who had been indicted for libel the Grand Jury of Passaic county, for printing the name of an Excise Judge of that county in connection with the picture of a judge, has been tried and found not guilty.

The Salem (Mass.) Register, that during the late cold spell the th and ice cracked frequently with a loud roar, and, in one instance, a large ladder tree that city, was split from the roots to top of the trunk, with an explosion like that of ordnance.

A little boy in Philadelphia, ing the late cold weather, was persuaded apply his tongue to an iron lamp post, which became frozen tight. He was finally rescued by the application of salt, but suffering pain.

At Montpelier, Vt., the thermometer remained congealed from midnight daylight on the 10th inst., when it shrank to give fifty degrees below zero.

It is said that the farmers of Qey, Michigan, were ploughing a farm-house, the weather being like April. They had been only one considerable fall of suture this winter.

A bill has been introduced in Legislature of Missouri, which provides two slave shall hereafter be emancipated at State, unless the master shall provide his transportation from the State.

The cost of construction and cement of the railroads in the United States point to $1,650,455,870, or money enough break down any other country in the world.

The State of Arkansas has a single telegraph wire within her border. A project is on foot for establishing between Memphis and Little Rock.

A man at New Orleans has in find forty-three dollars and costs, for using a letter in a newspaper.

Roxbury boasts of paying nine cents per child for common schools, and paying higher salaries to teachers than any other city save Boston.

The seven hundred boys who their books by the burning of the Quaker school house in Boston, have been resupplied by the city, at a cost of about three dollars.

In 1841 Ireland had 9,820,000 inhabitants; in 1851 it did not contain more than 9,000,000, and this moment its population is nearly 10,000,000.

The City of London was first laid with gas in 1807, and it was not until 3, that the streets of New York were illuminated by the now universal light given.

The amount of taxes annually exacted in Cuba is $28,000,000, about forty-dollars for every inhabitant.

In 1789, the mean wages of a field hand in France were nineteen cents per day; at present, they are thirty cents. Thefts of farming have doubled; still France half a century behind England in agricultural skill and prosperity.

Marriages.

In Woburn, on the 15th inst., by R. Mr. Marsh, Mr. John Page, Jr., of Sharn, formerly of this town, to Miss Catherine L. daughter of Samuel R. Parker, Esq. W.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 16th inst., Bet A. daughter of Mr. Henry and Mrs. Het A. Curtis, aged 3 years.

On the 17th inst., Mrs. Eunice M. wife of Mr. Jerome Hersey, aged 25 years.

On the 20th inst., Mrs. Susan B. wife of Mr. Asa P. Russell, aged 26 years.

Funeral to-morrow at two o'clock, in the meeting house, Quincy Point.

In Wilmington, Richardson county, Kansas Territory, Nov. 15, 1858, Mrs. L. W. wife of Mr. Nathaniel S. Spear, late of Quincy, aged 58 years.

Special Notices.

QUINCY LYCEUM. The next Lecture before this Association will be given on FRIDAY Evening, Jan. 28th, at 7 1-2 o'clock, by Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., of this town.

JOHN O. HOLDEN, Sec'y.

Quincy, Jan. 22.

SPIRITUALISTS MEETING.

Services, usual hours, forenoon and afternoon.

In Johnson's (Maple) Hall.

Mr. John H. Currier, will speak to-morrow, forenoon and afternoon.

Quincy, Jan. 22.

QUINCY SINGING SCHOOL. The Second Term will commence on Wednesday evening next, at 7 1-2 o'clock in the Lyceum Room, under the direction of Mr. D. L. Wentworth. Tuition—Ladies, 50 cents; Gents, 75 cents. Per order.

SINGING COMMITTEE.

Quincy, Jan. 22.

C. Gill & Co. have a fine lot of Rubber Boots and Shoes, of all sizes, and can fit everybody, and sell at the lowest prices. This stock is of that manufacture known to have the best reputation. Buy for yourselves and children, and prevent wet feet and the consequences thereof.

C. Gill Co.'s Assortment of Toys is the best ever offered in Quincy.

A BOOK FOR THE MILLION. Just published by FIDELITY & Co., Booksellers and Stationers, No. 13 Court Street, Boston, a Brief Treatise of 48 pages, on Diseases of the Sexual System of both sexes—their symptoms and treatment—prepared by a physician of the "Boston Eclectic Hospital." This work also contains a scorching exposure of the deception and imposture practiced by advertising quacks, with some of their names and locations. Sold by periodical dealers generally. Sent by mail, on the receipt of three postage stamps. Address Box 1802, Boston Post Office.

Feb. 27.

BOWDITCHES

Quincy and Boston

EXPRESS.

OFFICE—39 & 40 South Market Street, BOSTON.

SLATE AT DANIEL BAXTER & CO.'S, D. B. STETSON'S, AND THE HANCOCK HOUSE.

All orders thankfully received and promptly attended to.

Quincy, Jan. 22.

Administrator's Sale

REAL ESTATE.

PURSUANT to a license granted by the Judge of Probate and Insolvency, in the County of Norfolk, will be sold at Public Auction, on the FOURTEENTH DAY OF FEBRUARY next, beginning at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, on the premises first named, a lot of Land consisting of about Eleven Acres, with the buildings thereon, situated in Braintree, and known as the Nightingale Place. The first piece is bounded northerly by land of L. White; easterly by land of Jonathan French; southerly by Town street; westerly by land of Josiah French. The second piece is bounded northerly by Town street; easterly by Town street; southerly by land of Henry Abbott; westerly by Granite street.

ALSO—One undivided third part of about Fifty Acres of Woodland, situated in Braintree, and owned in common with Oliver Hayden and Seth Mann. It is bounded northerly by land of Henry Abbott and Abram & Wm. G. Prescott; easterly by land of Henry Abbott; southerly by land of David Thayer; westerly by land of Henry Wood and Wm. G. Prescott.

ALSO—A lot of about Twelve and three-fourths Acres of Cedar Swamp, situated in Gardner Swamp, so called, and bounded northerly by land of Boston Creamery; easterly by land of Albert Hollis and Jonathan French; southerly by land of Eunice Collins and Town of Quincy; westerly by land of Abel Holbrook and Adam French.

ALSO—One undivided half of a lot of Woodland in Randolph, owned in common with Nathan White.

The sales to be made in succession on the respective premises, and in the order named, beginning as above.

ALSO:

On the Twenty-first day of February, On the premises, at two o'clock in the afternoon, at the house of Josiah French, situated in Hingham, near Pine Hill, so called, and formerly owned by Amos Stetson.

All the above being the Estate of Calvin White, late of said Braintree, deceased.

JOHN AUSTIN WHITE, Adm'r.

Jan. 22, 1859.

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of late of Braintree, in the County of Norfolk, Married Woman, deceased, and has accepted said Estate.

MARGERY WHITE,

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased, are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

AUSTIN WHITE, Adm.

Quincy, Jan. 22, 1859.

Painting Business.

THE subscribers having formed a partnership in business, under the firm of

DAVENPORT & POPE,

and having opened a Shop, on the premises of George Knapp, in School Street, are now prepared to answer all orders with neatness and dispatch.

Painting, Graining, Varnishing and GLAZING.

Done to satisfaction, and in a workmanlike manner. As well as large jobs thankfully received; and a share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

WILLIAM DAVENPORT, CHARLES E. POPE.

Quincy, Oct. 9.

Collector's Notice.

NORFOLK SS.

THE proprietors of the following described Real Estate situated in the Town of Braintree, are hereby notified that the same are taxed in the tax bill committed to the subscriber, collector of taxes for said Braintree, for the year 1858, as follows, to-wit—

ISA THAYER,

20 Acres of Upland and Meadow, bounded as follows, easterly by the Monaquot River; southerly by land of John Niles; westerly by land of Melvin Thayer and Pond street; northerly by land of Lilla Thayer. Taxes, $41 83.

GEORGE PRAY,

House and about half acre of Land, bounded as follows, easterly by land of Caleb Steison; southerly by Commercial street; westerly and northerly by a Town Way. Taxes, $8 36.

DAVID HOLBROOK,

20 Acres of Land, more or less, bounded as follows, easterly by land of Joseph Byer; southerly by Monaquot River; westerly by land of Hayden W. Holbrook and Josiah W. Thayer. Taxes, $38 13.

GEORGE W. PALMER, of Boston, House and about quarter an Acre of Land bounded as follows, easterly by Depot street; southerly by land of I. Snow and A. H. Hunt; westerly by a Passage Way; northerly by land of Perley Steadman. Taxes, $16 49.

Heirs of PHILIP DASCUM, of Boston, About half an Acre of Land, bounded as follows, easterly by land of Stephen S. Tinger; southerly by land of Porter & Loud; westerly and northerly by a passage way. Said land is situated on Montrose. Taxes, $1 46.

S. S. MANN, of Randolph, 16 Acres of Woodland, in an undivided lot containing 48 acres, bounded as follows, easterly by land of Henry Abbott; southerly by land of David Thayer; westerly by land of Wm. G. Prescott and Henry Wood; northerly by land of Wm. G. Prescott and Henry Abbott. The said Wood Lot is owned together by Oliver Hayden, the Heirs of Calvin White and S. S. Mann. Taxes, $4 88.

EPHRAIM WALES, 2d, of Randolph, 3 Acres of Fresh Meadow, in Braintree, bounded easterly by land of Abel Holbrook; southerly by land belonging to the South Parish; westerly and northerly by land of Abel Holbrook. Taxes, $0 73.

CALEB LATHROP, of Randolph, 16 Acres of Woodland, bounded northerly by land of Caleb & William Hayden; southerly by land of Amos Jay; easterly by land of William Hayden, or however otherwise bounded. Taxes, $3 64.

JOSEPH S. BEAL, of Quincy, 10 Acres of Woodland, bounded easterly by land of Caleb Lathrop; southerly by land of the Heirs of Samuel V. Arnold; westerly by land of Abraham Jones; northerly by land of the aforesaid Arnold's Heirs and William Hayden. Taxes, $4 85.

Heirs of GEORGE BEAL, of Quincy, 2 Acres of Land, more or less, bounded easterly by land of Henry Wood; southerly and westerly by land of Abel Holbrook; northerly by land of E. Miller's Heirs. Taxes, $0 48.

HENRY WOOD, of Quincy, 18 Acres of Woodland, bounded easterly by William G. Prescott, S. S. Mann and others; southerly by land of Moses Hunt; westerly by land of Abel Holbrook; northerly by land of the Heirs of Ebenezer Harmon. Taxes, $5 82.

Heirs of NOAH CURTIS, of Quincy, 7 Acres of Land, more or less, bounded as follows, easterly by land of the Heirs of Thomas Adams; southerly by land of the same; westerly by Washington street; northerly by Towns of Quincy and Braintree line. Taxes, $19 40.

TOWN OF QUINCY,

10 Acres of Land, more or less, bounded as follows, easterly by the old Town Road; southerly by land of the Heirs of Ebenezer Harmon; westerly by the Town Road and the Town line; northerly by land improved or owned by John Peirce. Taxes, $9 70.

And I hereby give notice, that unless said taxes are paid on or before the first day of March next ensuing, I shall on that day at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the New Town House in said Braintree, proceed to sell at Public Auction, said parcels of Real Estate, or so much of the same as shall be necessary to discharge said taxes and all intervening charges.

E. F. E. THAYER, Collector.

Braintree, Jan. 22d, 1859.

Executors' Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscribers have been duly appointed Executors of the will of

WILLIAM COOLIDGE,

late of Weymouth, in the County of Norfolk, Gentleman, deceased, and have accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

RACHEL COOLIDGE, EUGENE H. RICHARDS, Executors.

Jan. 22d, 1859.

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

WILLIAM TORREY,

late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Gentleman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

JOANNA TORREY, Administratrix.

Quincy, Jan. 22d, 1859.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ELDAH DOANE, Administratrix on the Estate of

CALVIN DOANE,

late of Braintree, in said County, deceased, having presented her account in her said capacity for allowance.

Ordered, That said Huldah Doane, notify all persons interested therein that they may appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden at Quincy, in said County, on the Second Tuesday of February, A. D. 1859, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, by publishing this Order three weeks successively in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, } and Insolvency.

Quincy, Jan. 15.

Selectmen's Notice.

ALL Persons having accounts against the Town of Quincy are requested to present the same for payment on SATURDAY, the 15th of January next, between eight o'clock, A. M. and five P. M., at Selectmen's Room.

All persons indebted to the Almshouse Establishment are requested to pay Mr. Lewis Wood, } Selectmen.

GEORGE MARSH, EBEN ADAMS, DANIEL BAXTER, } Quincy.

Quincy, Jan. 15.

Important to Housekeepers.

SOMERS & CO.'S

POLISH,

THE proprietors of the following described Real Estate situated in the Town of Braintree, are hereby notified that the same are taxed in the tax bill committed to the subscriber, collector of taxes for said Braintree, for the year 1858, as follows, to-wit—

Any lady or child can use it. It removes

OIL, GREASE, OR STAINS

of any kind, and will make any article of Furniture look as well as new. It is decidedly the best article in use for restoring Carriage Leather, Harnesses, Patent Leather Boots, &c. &c.

SOLD BY SOMERS & CO.

At his Upholstery Room,

265 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

Persons wishing Furniture Repaired or custom work executed, can have it

Important to Housekeepers.

SOMERS & CO.'S
POLISH,

IS needed by all who have used it, to be the BEST ARTICLE yet discovered for cleaning and polishing Parlor, and Furniture of every description, in the shortest possible time. Any lady or child can use it. It removes OIL, GREASE, OR STAINS of any kind, and will make any article of Furniture look as well as new. It is decidedly the best article in use for restoring Cane, Leather, Harnesses, Patent Leather Boots, &c. &c.

$3 per dozen, or 27 cents Single Bottle.

SOLD BY SOMERS & CO.

At his Upholstery Rooms.

265 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

Persons wishing Furniture Repaired or Painted, can have it done at their houses, by addressing a line through the mail.

Boston, Jan. 22.

Collector's Notice.

NORFOLK SS.

THE proprietors of the following described

Real Estate, situated in the Town of Braintree, are hereby notified that the same are taxed in the last bill committed to the collector, collector of taxes for said Braintree, for the year 1858, as follows, to wit—

SIMEON P. CUSHING,

House and Land, bounded as follows, northerly by land of William Cole, Jr., westerly by land of Heirs of Eliza White, southerly by land of Alexander Bowditch, easterly by land of Braintree & Weymouth Turnpike. Taxes, $1370.

BENJAMIN B. FRENCH,

About six acres of Land and Buildings thereon, bounded northwesterly and westerly by Pond

Street, southerly by land of Isaac Bass, easterly by Farm River. Taxes, $36 98.

HENRY HOBART,

House and Land, bounded easterly by land of Thomas Griffin, northwesterly by land of Porter &

Good, westerly by a Private Way, southerly by Allen Street. Taxes, $5 70.

NATHANIEL M. HOBART,

Ten acres of Land, more or less, westerly by the town, bounded northwesterly by land of Samuel Shaw, southerly by land of Abraham

Hobart, easterly by Shaw street, or however otherwise bounded. Taxes, $19 27.

JAMES MANION,

House and one-quarter acre of Land, bounded northwesterly by Main street, westerly by Hancock street, easterly by O & F Railroad. Taxes, $9 34.

ISAAC PORTER,

House and about half an acre of Land, bounded southerly by Franklin street, northwesterly by land of Eliza Hobart, easterly by land of John F. Arnold, or however otherwise bounded. Taxes, $9 71.

BARDIN H. PROUTY,

House and 1-4 acre of Land, bounded southerly by Commercial street, easterly by land of William Bowditch, northwesterly and westerly

by land formerly owned by the heirs of Jacob

Allen. Taxes, $7 88.

ELISHA SAVILL,

House and about two Acres of Land, bounded northwesterly by West street, westerly by land of Braintree School Fund, southerly and easterly

by land of Lydia Chase. Taxes, $6 28.

SYLVANUS THAYER,

About two Acres of Land, bounded northwesterly

by Union street, westerly by Middle street, southerly by land of John Bowditch, easterly

by land of Harvey and Lewis Thayer. Taxes, $11 58.

HEIRS OF JOHN SPRAGUE,

Five Acres of Land, more or less, bounded northwesterly, southerly and easterly by land of Dr. Wainwright, westerly by Braintree and Weymouth Turnpike. Taxes, $4 36.

And I hereby give notice, that unless said taxes are respectively paid on or before the fourteenth day of February next ensuing, I will on that day, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the Auction Room in said Braintree, offer to sell at public Auction said parcels of Real Estate, or so much of the same as shall be necessary to discharge said taxes re-

KENISON & FOLLETT,

JOBBING AND COMMISSION DEALERS IN

Butter, Cheese, and Eggs,

Beans, Dried Apples,

AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Cellar, 19 Merchant Row, Boston

GEORGE W. KENISON,

GEORGE D. FOLLETT.

Jan 15

New Arrangement.

FURNALD'S

QUINCY EXPRESS

LEAVES BOSTON, DAILY.

AT 2 1/2 O'CLOCK, P. M.

38 South Market St. and 3 Washington St.

Quincy, June 5

W. M. BABBITT, M. D.,

Homeopathic Physician.

HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

OFFICE HOURS:

7 to 8 A. M. 12 to 1 P. M.

6 to 7 P. M.

Quincy, Sept. 11.

GEO. R. HICHBORN

AUCTIONEER,

Office, No. 1 Scollay's Building,

Entrance, Tremont Row, Boston.

G. R. H. will give his personal attention to

Sales of Auction of Real Estate, Farms and Farm

Stocks, Stocks of Goods in Stores, Furniture at Residences, &c. &c. in City or Country.

Also, to Real Estate at Private Sale.

Refers by permission to

Hon. E. G. Loring, Dr. J. V. Smith,

Hon. Moses G. Cobb, Isaac Thacher, Esq.

Dr. J. C. Hayden.

Jan 15

Notice!

A NEW AND SPLENDID ASSORTMENT OF

VELVET VESTINGS,

for sale cheap, at

Joseph W. Lombard's.

Over E. Clapp's Store.

Quincy, Nov. 12

THE CITIZENS'

CLOTHING HOUSE

STILL AHEAD.

Mark the Prices!

GOOD HEAVY, WARM, SERVICEABLE

Double Breast

OVER COATS!

$3 00.

HEAVY, WARM,

Durable, Fall and Winter

PANTS,

ONLY $1 25 PER PAIR.

UNDER SHIRTS AND DRAWERS,

FROM 40 TO 50 CENTS,

In connection with other styles of Fashionable

Clothing, as low in proportion.

We challenge the entire trade to produce a

parallel instance.

Nos. 29 and 30 Dock Square,

IS THE ONLY place for these bargains

IN BOSTON.

JACKMAN & MERRILL,

Nov. 20.

HEAVY Ribbed UNDER-SHIRTS and

DRAWERS, from 70 to $1 37.

T. DODDS.

Quincy, Oct. 31.

Fall and Winter Fashions for 1858

Just received by

JOHN DINEGAN,

Hancock St., a few rods from

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Also—

New Styles of Fanny Cassimeres & Vestings

CONSISTING OF

Velvets, Silks and Satins

Also—

A CHOICE SELECTION

OF—

French, English & German

BLACK AND COLORED

BROADCLOTHS and DOESKINS

which will be

MADE TO ORDER in the LATEST STYLE.

Quincy, Sept. 11.

NEW BOOK.

Will be ready, JANUARY 1, 1859,

TWELVE MESSAGES from the Spirit of John Quincy Adams (through Joseph D.

Stiles, Medium, to Joseph Brigham. Price $1 00.

For sale by C. GILL & CO., at the Quincy

Bookstore.

Dec. 25.

GEORGE WHITE,

Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

Quincy, Jan. 15.

REMOVAL.

JOSEPH MORAN

TAILOR,

RESPECTFULLY informs his friends, the Inhabitants of Quincy, and the public generally, that he has removed from Goodnow's

Building, corner of Hancock and Granite streets,

to the corner of

Hancock Street and Cottage Avenue.

He warrants to supply his customers with all

kinds of Garments on the

MOST REASONABLE TERMS

and in the

BEST AND NEWEST STYLES.

He also pledges himself to FIT in any Style

of Garment, as he has had no misfit since his

commencement in business.

Call and Give Him a Trial. 40

Quincy, Nov. 13.

PANTS, (Custom Made,) from 1 75 to $5.

T. DODDS.

Quincy, Oct. 31.

FINE READY-MADE

FALL AND WINTER

CLOTHING.

ELEGANT OVERCOATS,

FROCK AND BUSINESS COATS,

PANTS AND VESTS,

superbly made and trimmed,

AT LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH,

BY

J. W. SMITH & CO.,

Dock Square, Cor. Elm street,

BOSTON.

HAVING connection with all the largest

manufacturing establishments in New York

together with home facilities, we enjoy superior advantages for supplying the very best goods at the lowest possible prices. The styles will be found to excel any thing made in the New England States, and the workmanship far exceeds any thing heretofore offered in this market, and is so acknowledged by all who patronize our establishment.

We also make to order garments of every description, at short notice, and at a small Advance on the prices of our ready-made clothing.

Boston, Oct. 23.

BROADCLOTH Frock and Sack COATS,

(Custom Made,) from 6 to $12.

T. DODDS.

Quincy, Oct. 31

MILLINERY

AND

FANCY GOODS STORE.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform the Ladies of Quincy and vicinity, that she has opened a

Millinery and Fancy Goods Store.

at her residence on

FRANKLIN ST., SOUTH QUINCY,

where she will keep a full assortment of Articles

usually found in a Store of this kind.

Also—

DRESS MAKING,

Done at Short Notice.

Mrs. Mary E. Curtis.

Quincy, Oct. 9.

Removal!

Removal!!

Of Millinery Goods!

I HAVE removed my Goods

from my residence on Washington street, into

GOODNOW'S BUILDING,

ROOMS OVER

Caleb Packard's Dry Goods Store,

CORNER OF

Hancock and Granite Streets,

Where may be found a good assortment of

Fall and Winter Millinery,

AT LOW PRICES.

I have a great variety of ready made Dress

Hats in rich material which SHALL be sold cheap.

Also, a variety of styles which SHALL be sold cheap.

Any one wishing to engage in a good business I would desire of my Stock and Furnishings, were the opportunity satisfactory. A lease of the premises may be obtained for a Term of years, and it is one of the best locations in the

CENTRE OF QUINCY.

Poetry.

The Sweetest Dream.

How my loving heart has wandered,
Up and down this vale of dreams;
Filling up the wide recesses
With a thousand glory-beams—
Making all the day so happy
With some heavenly thought,
That, from out the fleeting visions,
I had by some magic caught.

Oh, I've had sweet dreams of childhood—
Dreamed my heart was light and free,
And I danced across the meadow,
With a shout of childish glee,
Gathering the starry blossoms—
Chasing butterfly and bird—
Listening to their mystic language,
Which my spirit only heard.

And I've dreamed of halls of grandeur,
Where in haughty pride I dwell,
While a crowd of gold and servers,
Ever at my footstool kneel;
Pearls and gems were on my bosom,
On my brow a crown of gold—
On my lips a song of gladness,
But within, a heart so cold.

Then I dreamed of gorgeous temples,
Where was shrouded the Goddess Fame,
And she gave me wreaths of laurel—
Told me that my simple name
Eclipsed wide o'er land and ocean—
That each thought and highest word,
Had within some human bosom,
Deep the fount of feeling stirred.

But I've had another vision,
That has made my warm heart leap;
I would yet the memory keep:
For the world has failed to charm me
With its hollow utterance,
And my spirit, sad and lonely,
Sighs for olden, brighter days.

Then a noble form stood near me,
And an earnest voice, but low,
As it simply whispered—Darling,
Though my being sent a glow;
For I knew my heart, so weary,
Now had found a place of rest,
Like a bird that long has wandered—
Reached at last the dear home-nest.

Gazing now down the vista
Of the starry train of dreams,
Here and there, a thought the cloud rifts,
Bright some ray of glory beams;
And as all these haunting visions
Come at memory's gentle call,
Still this last one is the brightest
And the sweetest of them all.

The Winter's Night.

'Tis the high festival of night!
The earth is radiant with delight;
And, fast as weary day retires,
The heaven unfolds its secret fires,
Bright, as when last the firmament
Around the midnight world was bent
And infant stars peeped from the blue,
Like rays of heaven came shining through.

And mark the heaven's reflected glow
On many an icy plain below;
And where the streams, with tinkling crash,
Against their frozen barriers dash,
Like fairy dances fleetly past,
The glittering ripples hurry past;
And floating sparks of light appear,
Like rivals of some upper star.

And see, beyond, how sweetly still
The snowy moonlight wraps the hill,
And many an aged pine receives
The steady brightness on its leaves,
Contrasting with those giant forms,
Which, reared by the winter's breeze,
With naked branches, broad and high,
Are darkly painted on the sky.

From every mountain's towering head
A white and glistening robe is spread,
As if a melted silver tide
Were gushing down its lofty side;
The clear, cold, lustre of the moon;
Is purer than the burning noon;
And day hath never known the charm
That dwells and this evening calm.

The idler, on his silken bed,
May talk of nature, cold and dead;
But we will gaze upon the scene,
Where some transcendent power hath been,
And made these streams of beauty flow
In gladness on the world below,
Till nature breathes from every part
The rapture of her mighty heart.

Anecdotes.

Mrs. Rugg, a widow, having taken Sir Charles Price for her second husband, and being asked by a friend how she liked the change, replied:
Oh! I have got rid of my old Rugg for a good Price.

Keep your dog away from me, said a dandy to a butcher's boy.
Darn the dog, replied the boy, he's always after the puppies.

My love, said an author to his wife, I want a bright idea.
Why, replied the wife, getting close to him, and laying her hand upon his shoulder, didn't you get a bright-idea when you got me?

A priest said to a peasant whom he thought rude. You are better off than I thought.
Should think I was, replied the clothopper, as I feed myself and you teach me.

What brutes your Southern men are, always smoking cigars, said a young lady to a Creole miss.
Yes, but your Northern men in Maine, you know, smoke herrings, was the quick reply.

John Adams, being called upon for a contribution for foreign missions, remarked: I have nothing to give for that cause, but there are here, in this vicinity, six ministers, not one will preach in the others' pulpit: now I will give as much and more than any one else to civilize these clergymen!

Do thou but thy best, and then thou may'st defy the Devil to do his worst.

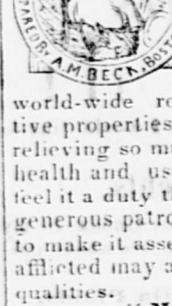

Apothecary Store.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of European Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Groats, cracked Wheat, Sago, Tapioca, Arrow-root, Corn Starch, Broom, &c. Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Guava Paste, &c. Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and bells, patent Nursing Shields, Tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens, Flesh Brushes, &c. &c. Fresh European Leeches always on hand. Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicine of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington St., near of Stone Temple. Quincy, Nov. 1. 451f

YOU HAD BETTER TRY My Mother's Salve. THIS CELEBRATED PREPARATION has obtained an enviable and world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to health and usefulness, that the proprietors feel it a duty they owe to the public for their generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve, to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all afflicted may avail themselves of its healing qualities.

"My Mother's Salve" IS A PERFECT CHEMICAL COMPOUND, prepared from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from the forest, and possesses HEALING, SOOTHING and PAIN-RELIEVING VIRTUES never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.

"My Mother's Salve" IS SAFE and EFFECTUAL, and all those troubled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM, ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such like diseases, will find in its use great relief, and in most cases a permanent cure.

"My Mother's Salve" IN A BURN or SCALD, takes out the fire, soothes the irritating pain, and heals the wound more speedily and effectually than any other preparation.

"My Mother's Salve" IS WORTHY OF CONFIDENCE, and thousands having used it and recommended it to their friends is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS FOR USING "My Mother's Salve" Are simple. Every mother and nurse know how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and all who use the Salve will apply it in proportion, renewed at times, as good judgment may direct. For Rheumatism and other pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve. In case of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs, Sore Throat, and such like ailments, rub-in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Prepared by A. M. BECK.

BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors. No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston. For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN Oct. 30. 451f

C.C. JOHNSON, Druggist and Apothecary.

CORNER of Hancock and Granite streets. CARRYING constantly on hand a large assortment of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, Fancy Articles, Perfumery, Havana Cigars, Foreign Fruits and Swedish Leeches.

Physicians' Prescriptions, Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy and despatch; and warranted of the purest quality. Quincy, Nov. 13. 451f

Hall's Great SCROFULAR REMEDY.

THIS Purely Vegetable Preparation is pleasant and agreeable to the taste, and simple in its action, causing neither vomiting or purging. It acts directly upon the primary cause of disease, regulates the bowels, removes all vitiated secretions, giving a healthy action to the Liver and corrects the tone to the Stomach. It overcomes that feeling of Lassitude which is often experienced in the Spring and Summer, and renews and restores the vital energy and Physical Strength.

In thousands of cases of Scrofula and Scrofulous Humors, such as Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Scald Head, Tumors, Ulcers, Brouchitis, Asthma, Coughs, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Fever, Sores, White Swelling, Dropsy, Boils, Blisters, Itch, Piles, Old Sores, and all diseases which manifest themselves by Eruptions or Eruptions on the Skin, it has been used with the most gratifying success, after every other known remedy has been tried and failed to afford relief.

It is also an effective cure for Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Constiveness and Derangement of the Urinary Organs. It is an infallible remedy for irregularities and other diseases peculiar to FEMALES, such as Weakness and Pain in the Back, Strangury, Affections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart, Dizziness and Headache.

It can be given with perfect safety and most desirable results in all cases, to any person from Infancy to old age. Made and sold by WM. SMITH HALL, Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass., to whom all orders must be addressed. Sold also by Redding & Co. No. 8 State street; Geo. C. Goodwin, No. 99 Union street, Boston, and all Druggists and Medicine Dealers throughout the United States. Quincy, Dec. 13. 451f

ALL KINDS OF Job Printing.

SUCH AS POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS, BILL-HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS, AND EVERY VARIETY OF BOOK, PLAIN AND LANCY PRINTING.

Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

NATHANIEL WHITE, HAS FOR SALE—LUMBER.

Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand

Coal, Hard and Soft Wood. QUINCY CANAL WHARF. July 10, 1852.

FISHER A. KINGSURY, Counsellor at Law.

Commissioner for the Stes of MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VERMONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE ISLAND and NEW YORK. Weymouth, Mass. Nov. 26.

WHITE & FRENCH, Attorneys at Law.

Room No. 5, Webster Building, Exchange Street, STON. GEORGE WHITE. AFRENCH. May 20. 451f

SEASONED LUMBER.

Of all descriptions, at prices to suit the times. DIMENSION FRIS, Furnished at short notice. Best quality of Lime constant on hand. ALSO—Good Pine Wood at a Corn. For sale at BRACKETT'S SHARP. Quincy, May 8. 451f

Coal, Lime, Brick and Sand.

with a good assortment of SEASONED LUMBER, constantly on hand, and for sale by subscription at Quincy Canal Wharf. NATHAN WHITE. Quincy, April 10. 451f

ATTENTION. The Largest and Most Complete ASSORTMENT OF HARDWARE.

SAVES, &c., Ever offered to the people of Quincy by found by calling upon

Bailey, Carver & Co.

Having recently made large additions to our stock of BUILDING MATERIALS, we are prepared to furnish them as to correspond with the times.

CHEAPER THAN R!! We will sell Nails by the Ton or Pound. DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS, WINDOW GLASS, NAILS, SHEET LEAD, FRAMING, DOGELLS, LEWIS, &c., &c.

MORTICE LOCKS,—in a Variety ALSO—Pa. d, Run, Closet, Sash Locks

MORTICE, THUMB AND PLE'S LATCHES Porcelain, Glass, Mineral and Metal Knobs; BLAKE'S BUS, AND AXLE PULLS

A good assortment of Hinged kinds. Wrought, Fancy P STRAP, BLIND, AND TIES; SHOVELS; DOOR SCERS; Bacon's Patent Lever Blind Frowell's Improved Blind Fast. Also—A variety of Such Fastenings.

Foster's Patent Window-roller, The best thing ever used in the weights; DOOR BELLS HUNG TOGETHER. DON'T FORGET AT THE OLD STAP BAILEY, CARVER & CO., SCHOOL STREET Quincy, Jan. 23. 451f

Pure Cider Vine.

800 GALLONS PURE VINEGAR, made and bottled by B. V. French, now on hand for sale by the barrel or smaller quantity. GEORGE L. BAXTER & Co. Quincy, Aug. 15. 451f

Boot and Shoe Bags.

JUST received and for sale by Bag and Shoe Kit, Findings, &c. Quincy, Apr. 18. 451f

BURNS, & AMES' Lotion for burn, scald, bruises, &c.

For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, Sept. 18. 451f

New Store! New Goods!

B. F. MESERVEY, HAVING returned to Quincy and taken the Store, one door north of David B. Stearns's Variety Store, in JOHNSON'S BUILDING. Will keep constantly on hand, a large stock of Gold and Silver Watches, Fob, Curb and Vest Chains, LOCKETS, Cameo, Gold Stone, Jet, Florentine, Painted, Cord and Mosaic Jewelry.

GOLD BRACELETS, BELT PINS, Gents' Pins and Studs, FINGER RINGS, Together with a large assortment of Silver and Plated Ware, Clocks and Fancy Goods.

Having his Goods direct from the manufacturer, he will be enabled to sell them much less than the usual retail prices. He will also keep a

LARGER STOCK than ever offered before in Quincy. All Goods warranted as represented. Old Gold and Silver taken in exchange. 57 Coffin Plates Engraved. 451f

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired in a faithful manner, and done when PROMISED. Quincy Oct 24. 451f

QUINCY BOOKSTORE

BOOK BINDERY. Established in the Year 1838. BOOKS, STATIONERY AND FANCY GOODS.

C. GILL & CO. have always on hand a large assortment of the above—being fully prepared to meet all the wants of this market.

BLANK BOOKS, of any particular pattern, made to order. STATIONERY, IN GREAT VARIETY, at the lowest prices.

Miscellaneous and Juvenile Books, will be sold low. ALL SCHOOL BOOKS, used in this and neighboring towns, at publishers' prices.

Book Binding. ALL KINDS OF MAGAZINES, PAMPHLETS, SHEET MUSIC, &c., bound in a neat and durable style. "Small Profit" to ensure "Ready Sales." Full equivalent for your money.

Twenty years' practice has proved these rules to be good ones, and we shall continue to be governed by them, in all branches of our business.

C. GILL & CO. HANCOCK STREET. Quincy, March 20. 451f

PICKLES.

50 GALLONS of Pickles just received and for sale cheap for cash. GEO. L. BAXTER & Co. Quincy, Feb. 28. 451f

GROCERIES, FLOUR, PROVISIONS!

THE Subscriber would respectfully invite the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity to call and examine his stock of Groceries, Flour and Provisions, where they will find a Good assortment of all kinds of Goods kept commonly in a Grocery Store, which he will sell at the lowest wholesale prices. A few more chests of Old Hyson Tea at 25 cents per pound.

50 Tubs of prime dairy Butter. 200 Bushels of Chenango and Long Red Potatoes. All those in want of Goods will find it for their interest to call and examine, as they will find a good assortment at the lowest prices. 57-Goods delivered to any part of the Town free of expense. H. VINAL, Quincy, Oct. 27. 451f

Salt Pork.

FIRST rate article of Salt Pork packed by the subscribers for sale by the barrel or smaller quantities to suit purchasers. cheap for cash. GEO. L. BAXTER & Co. Quincy, Dec. 6. 451f

SALT PORK.

FIRST qualities of Salt Pork—raised in town and packed by the subscriber—which he will sell at the lowest market price. H. VINAL, Quincy, Jan. 10. 451f

SALT PORK.

4000 POUNDS of good Salt Pork for sale at Boston prices by DANIEL BAXTER & Co Quincy, Sept. 27. 451f

WHITE HANDS! PERSIAN BATH SOAP.

For the Toilet, Bath, Nursery, Shaving, and for Cleaning the Teeth. THIS superior Soap will make the HANDS WHITE and SOFT, and is a certain remedy for CHAPPED HANDS, TASS, SUN-BURNS, CHAFING, and all medicinal purposes where a Healing and Emollient effect is desired. WM. SMITH HALL, Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass. C. DYER, Jr., General Travelling Agent Price—25 cents per cake. Sold by MRS. E. HAYDEN. Quincy Aug 22. 451f

WOOD'S GLYCERINE LOTION.

FOR improving the complexion, and for the cure prevention of Chapped Hands, Tan, Freckles, Sunburn, Roughness of Skin, Eruptions, &c. For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN. Quincy Feb 6. 451f

Insurance against Fire.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY of Massachusetts, insure Real and Personal Property against the hazard of Fire, for five years or less, on favorable terms.

Farmers, Mechanics, Household, Traders, Merchants, and all Owners of Property not extra hazardous, are solicited to patronize this Company; every effort will be made to accommodate customers.

Letters, by mail or otherwise, from persons residing at a distance, relating to Fire Insurance, will be promptly attended to.

PRESIDENT, WILLIAM S. MORTON, TREASURER, ISRAEL W. MUNROE, SECRETARY, STEPHEN BATES, DIRECTORS.

Quincy, Milton, Dorchester, Charles Brock, William S. Morton, H. W. Blanchard, Thomas C. Webb, Cohasset, Whitcomb Porter, Solomon J. Beal, Stephen Bates, Hingham, William B. Duggan, Ebenezer Gay, Thomas Curtis, South Hingham, Albert Thompson, Alfred Loring, Randolph, North Bridgewater, Royal W. Turner, Sumner A. Hayward, South Braintree, Barnstable, Apollon Randall, George Marston, Dedham, Jonathan A. Cobb.

References, by permission: HOS. GEORGE T. BIGELOW, of Boston, HOS. JOSIAH QUINCY, Jr., of Boston, HOS. AMASA WALKER, of North Brookfield, HOS. JAMES MAQUIRE, of Randolph, HOS. SOLOMON LINCOLN, of Hingham, HOS. CHARLES F. ADAMS, of Quincy, JOSIAH BRIGHAM, Esq., " OFFICE: Washington Square, Quincy, rear of Stone Temple April 1. 451f

National Police Gazette.

THIS Great Journal of Crime and Criminals is in its Twelfth Year, and is widely circulated throughout the country. It contains all the Great Trials, Criminal Cases, and appropriate Editorials on the same, together with information on Criminal Matters, not to be found in any other newspaper.

Subscriptions, $2 per annum; $1 for six months, to be remitted by subscribers, (who should write their names and the town, county and state where they reside plainly.) GEO. W. MATSELL & CO. Editors & Proprietors of the National Police Gazette. New York City, Apr. 25. 451f

GEO. R. FRENCH, Engraver and Plate Printer.

257 Washington, near Winter st. - Boston Particular attention given to the Engraving and Printing of — Invitation, Reception, Marriage, Address and Visiting Cards.

A LONG and practical experience in this particular branch, warrants me in saying that persons about ordering Cards of any description, will study their interests by calling, or sending their orders as above, as they will furnish the most fashionable card produced, at prices as low or lower than any other establishment.

WEDDING STATIONERY, constantly on hand. Portraits, Views, Maps, Diplomas Labels, Blank Heads, Blank Checks, Notes, Drafts, Bills of Exchange, &c., &c., engraved or printed at short notice.

Door-Plates, Seals, and anything in the line, furnished to order and at equally low prices.

Orders by mail, express, or otherwise, promptly attended to. Boston, Feb. 29. 6m

RICH'S PATENT IRON BEAM PLOW.

J. WADSWORTH JR. South Weymouth, Is Agent for the County of Norfolk, FOR THE SALE OF THIS PLOW, WHO will visit the various parts of the County during the first of April. Plows delivered in any part of the County free of charge Terms, cash on delivery.

Weights and Prices. Old Dominion, 3 horse, 135 lbs. price, $13 50 C. No. 1, 2 horse, 125 " " 12 00 Washington, No. 2, 2 horse, 110 " " 11 00 D. Improved, 60 " " 9 00 F. Corn Plow, 1 horse, 60 " " 5 00 F. Corn Plow, 1 horse, 40 " " 4 00 Double Mould Board, 40 " " 4 00 Single Hill and Level Land, 100 " " 10 75

Either of the Plows weighing 100 pound or upwards, with an extra point, 50 cents more; under 100 weight, 28 cents. Weymouth April 3. 451f

Paper Hangings.

JUST received new styles of Paper Hangings add for sale cheap for cash. DANIEL BAXTER & Co. Quincy, March 25. 451f

Burnett's Cocaine.

FOR preserving and beautifying the Hair, and rendering it dark and glossy. Thompson's Golden Lustrate. The German Toilet Balsam, and various other hair preparations, for sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, June 26. 451f

Fresh Tamarinds.

FOR sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, Oct. 16. 451f

FASHIONABLE Tailoring Establishment.

J. W. LOMBARD, HAS taken rooms over the store of E. Clapp, (formerly occupied by Mr. J. M. Beckford,) and wishes respectfully to inform his friends and the public generally that he intends to carry on

THE TAILORING BUSINESS. In all its branches; and hopes by punctuality and strict attention to business to merit a share of patronage. JOS. W. LOMBARD. Quincy, Apr. 18. 451f

BUSINESS COATS, (Custom Made,) from 6 to $10.

Quincy, Oct. 31. T. DODDS.

Great Chance to Save Money!!

BY HAVING YOUR CLOTHES MADE BY C. A. COLLINS, 203 Washington Street, Cor. Bromfield street, up stairs.

REASONS WHY. 1st. My rent is less than any Custom Tailor in Boston. 2. I buy my Goods for Cash, taking advantage of the market. 3. I sell my Goods for Cash only. 4. I make no bad debts for Customers to pay for. 5. I work for the interest of my Customers.

Customers can depend on having Garments which for style, fit, nice trimming, and faithful work, cannot be surpassed. I pay particular attention to making Pants, being the most difficult of all garments to fit nicely and at the same time for perfectly easy.

My Pants are cut by a system original with myself, and used by no other person. I warrant my Pants to retain their shape at the boot till worn out, and to fit handsome and be easy in every particular.

Some of the Prices. I sell a nice French or Dress Coat, from German Black or colored Broad Cloth, made to order, for from $15 to $22. Black German Doe Pants, 5 to 8. Side Band and other style Pants, 5 to 8. Best quality Silk Vests, 4 to 5. Cloth, Valencia and Flaid Vests, 2 to 3. Business Coats, 12 to 15. Spring and Fall Over-Coats, 19 to 25. Winter Over-Coats, 12 to 20.

Where gentlemen furnishing their own Cloth, I make and trim it for them into Garments in the best styles, at less prices than any other Tailor in Boston.

Always on hand the newest and best goods of all the manufacturers of this and foreign countries. CHESTER A. COLLINS, 203 Washington street, corner Bromfield street, (Up stairs,) - - - BOSTON. Well known as the place to SAVE MONEY. July 17. 451f

New Stock and New Styles! PAPER HANGINGS.

HAVING a desire to accommodate many of our customers, and to increase the trade of our place, we have added to our former variety of Goods, an entirely

New and beautiful Stock of Paper Hangings, Borderings, Curtains, &c., COMPRISING 100 PATTERNS! manufactured on the best paper and in the highest perfection of colors and styles.

Our assortment will always be kept good, and we shall spare no efforts to give the best satisfaction to the taste of all who wish to paper their rooms with attractive and pleasing patterns, on good paper and in good colors.

Our prices will range lower than is usual with the same qualities and styles in Boston, but we shall engage in no mean underselling any of our neighbors, but offering our present additional inducement, for the Quincy people, to bestow their patronage upon their own traders, and find themselves suited in every respect as well or better than in the City.

Borderings of new homes will be supplied on the most favorable terms. C. GILL & CO., HANCOCK STREET. Quincy March 27. 451f

To Boot and Shoe MANUFACTURERS.

WE wish to call your attention to the following Goods, which we are prepared to sell on the most favorable terms. Black and Colored Doeskins, finished especial Black, Brown and Drab Cases, for Congress Boots, and Drab Cases, for snow shoes. Lastings, all wool. Italian do. Silk and Cotton Warp do.

Serge de Paris. Rubber Gasket Webs, of beautiful quality for Congress Shoes. Boot and Congress Webs, from 4 in. to 13 in., new style. Gallons, black and colors, 4, 5 and 6 in. widths. Shoe Black; Congress and Lamin Canvas. Shoe Ribbons, Rosettes, and Sewing Webs. Eyelets, Corals, Shoe Lacets and Strings, all sizes and lots. Shoe Bottoms of all descriptions.

Linen Machine Threads. Of the well known XXX Golden Fly Stamp, of every description required in the manufacturing of Boots, Breeches, Shoes and Congress Work. No. 13 to 100, from 2 to 10 cord, in Black, Drab, Grey, Orange, Yellow and W. Brown, in Hanks, Balls and Spools, for sewing, closing, stitching, binding, straps and awnings, top stitching and under threads. Also Shoe Threads. Machine Silk, all colors and sizes. Sea Island Hack Cotton, Blacks, Colored, Unbleached and White. Spool Threads and Sewing Cotton, of all descriptions.

Manufacturers of Clothing. With first in our stock everything in Linen and Cotton Threads, required for their work, and the quality much superior to any other in use. BROWN, DIX & Co., No. 52 Milk street. Quincy, June 19. 451f

Balsam, Plaster, &c.

DR. Blackman's Genuine Healing Balsam and Plaster. Dr. Sam'l B. Smith's Magnetic Salve for Sore Throat, Ring Worm, and similar diseases.

Dr. Bennett's Canker Powder and Tooth Preservative—for sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, Aug. 22. 451f

DEVOTE

VOLUME XXIII.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION Over Mr. E. Clapp's Store, on Han

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

TWO DOLLARS per annum in advance, delayed until the end of the year, then DOLLARS will be required.

No subscription nor advertisement will continue previous to the payment of arrearages, unless at the option of the publisher. Advertisements correctly and completely stated at the customary prices, and will be until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is to their own immediate business. Letters and communications, (posting will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers: Village, JOSEPH BAKER; West District, GEORGE H. H. MILTON; Dorchester, CHARLES B. ORIN; Weymouth, P. A. KINGSBRI; Abington, JOSEPH CLEEN; South

FASHIONABLE Tailoring Establishment

J. W. LOMBARD,

Has taken rooms over the store of E. Clapp, (formerly occupied by Mr. J. M. Beckford,) on Windsor street, to inform his friends and the public generally that he intends to carry on THE TAILORING BUSINESS, and will give his personal attention to business to meet a share of patronage.

Quincy, Apr 18

BUSINESS COATS, (Custom Made,) from $6 to $10.

Quincy, Oct. 31.

T. DODDS.

Put this out and keep it for Reference.

Great Chance to Save Money!!

BY HAVING YOUR CLOTHES MADE BY

C. A. COLLINS,

203 Washington Street,

Quincy, Mass.

REASONS WHY. 1st. My rent is less than any Custom Tailor in Boston.

2. I give my Goods for Cash, taking advantage of the market.

3. I sell my Goods for Cash only.

4. I make no bad debts for Customers to pay.

5. I work for the interest of my Customers.

6. Gentlemen can depend on having Garments which for style, fit, nice trimming, and faithful work, cannot be surpassed.

7. I pay particular attention to making Pants, being the most difficult of all Garments to fit nicely and at the same time be perfectly easy.

8. My Pants are cut by a system original with myself, and used by no other person. I warrant my Pants to retain their shape at the foot till worn out, and to fit handsome and be easy in every particular.

Some of the Prices.

1. I sell a nice French or Dress Coat, from German Cloth or colored Broad Cloth, made to order, for from $15 to $22.

2. Black German Doe Pants, 5 to 8.

3. Side Band and other style Pants, 5 to 8.

4. Best quality Silk Vests, 4 to 5.

5. Cloth, Venera and Fined Vests, 2 to 3.

6. Business Coats, 9 to 12.

7. Spring and Fall Over-Coats, 10 to 15.

8. Winter Over-Coats, 12 to 20.

9. Where gentlemen furnishing their own Cloth, I make and trim it for them into Garments in the latest style, at less prices than any other Tailor in Boston.

10. Always on hand the newest and best goods of all the manufacturers of this and foreign countries.

CHESTER A. COLLINS,

203 Washington Street, corner Bromfield Street, (Up stairs.) - - - - - BOSTON.

Well known as the place to SAVE MONEY.

July 17.

New Stock and New Styles!

PAPER HANGINGS.

HAVING a desire to accommodate many of our customers, and to increase the trade of our place, we have added to our former variety of Goods, an entirely

New and beautiful Stock of Paper Hangings, Borders, and Curtains, &c., COMPRISING 100 PATTERNS!

unexcelled in the best paper and in the highest perfection of colors and styles.

Our assortment will always be kept good, and we shall spare no efforts to give the best satisfaction to the taste of all who wish to paper their rooms with attractive and pleasing patterns, on good paper and in good colors.

Our prices will charge lower than is usual with the same quality and style in Boston, but we shall encourage in no mean undervaluing any of our neighbors, our object being to present an additional inducement for the Quincy people to be shown their patronage upon their own terms, and find themselves suited in every respect as well or better than in the City.

Builders of new houses will be supplied with the most favorable terms.

C. GILL & CO.,

HANCOCK STREET.

Quincy, March 27.

To Boot and Shoe MANUFACTURERS.

WE wish to call your attention to the following Goods, which we are prepared to sell on the most favorable terms.

Black and Colored Dressing, finished especial-Black, Brown and Drab Cases, for Congress shoes.

Black Brown and Drab Felts, for snow shoes, lastings, all wool, Italian do. Silk and Cotton do.

Wool do. Serge de Perle's Rubber Gaiter Socks, of beautiful quality for Congress Shoes.

Boot and Congress Socks, from 2 in. to 12 in. new style.

Gallons, black and colors, 4, 5 and 6 in. widths. Shoe Buckles, Congress and Union Strap.

Shoe Ribbons, Rosettes, and Saddle Web.

Eyelids, Corals, Shoe Laces and Straps, all sizes and lots. Shoe Buttons of all descriptions.

Linon Machine Threads,

Of the well known XXX Golden Flag Stamp, of every description required in the manufacturing of Boots, Brogans, Shoes and Congress Work, from No. 18 to 100, from 2 to 10 cord, in Black, Drab, Grey, Orange, Yellow and W. Brown, in Blues, Reds, and Whites, for sewing, closing, stitching, binding, zippers and counters, put stitching and under threads. Also Shoe Threads.

Machine-Silk, all colors and sizes.

Sea Island Hank Cotton, Blacks, Colored, Unbleached and White.

Spool Threads and Sewing Cotton, of all descriptions.

Manufacturers of Clothing

Will find in our stock everything in Linon and Cotton Threads required in their work, and the quality much superior to any other in use.

BROWN, DIX & Co.,

No. 52 Milk street.

Quincy, June 19.

Balsam, Plaster, &c.

Dr. Blackman's Genuine Healing Balsam and Plaster.

Dr. Saml. E. Smith's Magnetic Salve for Sore Throat, Ring Worm, and similar diseases.

Dr. Bennett's Canker Powder and Tooth Preservative—for sale by

Quincy, Aug. 22.

Mrs. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Aug. 22.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XXIII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, JANUARY 29th, 1859.

NUMBER V.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION
Over Mr. E. Clapp's Store, on Hancock St.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

TWO DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.

No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.

Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business.

Letters and communications, (postage paid, will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers:
Railway Village, JOSHUA BARCOCK,
West District, GEORGE H. LOCKE,
Milton, CHARLES GRECK,
Dorchester, ORIN P. BACON,
Weymouth, F. A. KINGSBURY,
Abington, JOSEPH CLEVERLY,
South Scituate, SAMUEL A. TURNER,
Brooklyn, (N. Y.) GERSHOM DREW.

Miscellaneous.

Robert Lowe's Ruination.

Some said it was one thing, and some said another, but they all agreed in one point that Robert Lowe was ruined. And it must be owned if covering his farm with parchment—(worse a great sight, to get off the land than Canada thistles), is ruination, he was ruined.

If old hat and trousers, and other things too particular to mention, stuffed into the windows instead of glass, is ruination, he was ruined.

If looking about the stage tavern of a Sunday, to catch a stray flip for holding a horse, while the black hestler was going to church like a gentleman, is ruination—he was ruined.

And if looking like a fellow belonging to another family when his scanty but always well-dressed wife met him in the street, was ruination, he was ruined.

And finally, if to hear his children spoken of as "Bob Lowe's young ones—poor things," sounded any thing like ruination, then he was ruined and no mistake. I can tell you what it is—when a man's own children, his own flesh and blood, blush to hear of their father, there isn't much doubt but that same father is pretty far gone on that inclined plane down which a man may seem to sit, but up which no kind of steam power that ever was contrived, will drag him.

Perhaps some of our readers may like to know something about our friend Robert. It isn't a going to be a wonderful story; and it's a pity, considering all things, that what has happened to Robert Lowe is not a very long life, is neither very uncommon nor very remarkable. It is all about what has happened before and what will happen again.

Some folks are born with silver spoons in their mouths, they say, and some with wooden ladies. Now, Robert didn't come justly under the first sort; and if the second means that a man has any lack of necessities, he wasn't in that case neither. Perhaps his spoon was iron or pewter—and at any rate it was full of good substantial comforts, and he might have kept it to the day of his death. The truth is Robert Lowe was born a prince. His father owned the house in which he lived and the farm on which it stood. He was a substantial husbandman, out of debt, and out of danger, of good habits and good principles, and able and ready to do for as many children as God might give him, without asking Parliament for an allowance, or the Chambers for a "dotation," as the royal paupers do over the water.

Robert Lowe had good health, good understanding, and good instruction, practical and book learning. He could turn as smooth a furrow at eighteen, as any man or boy in Jonesville, and do the tightest snail in the Rule of Three. He could grub up stumps, or extract the Cube Root, and thrash wheat out of straw, or federal currency out of pounds, shillings, and pence, guineas, stivers, joes, maravedis, rials, roubles,rix-dollars, and all sorts of outlandish currency. He was at home in the field and in the school-house, could handle potatoes or decimal fractions; and in a few words was never at fault in Practice, on the farm or on the slate.

And not only was his worldly education well cared for, but he grew up in a proper reverence of holy things. He no more thought of missing church than of missing his breakfast, and the words or main doctrines of the Book were as familiar to him, as the words of windy disputes about it are to many a man who has half the true knowledge of the "thing that make for peace" that Robert Lowe had. So much for his education. There may be more showy ways of bringing up boys, but there never was a bringing up good for much, in this country, or any other, that hadn't the same foundation. I can't say that Robert "fell in love," as the novels and comedies call it. I believe he did, all of a sudden, one Sunday afternoon, find himself considerably stuck up when parson William said "Amen!" and he could not remember a word of the sermon—and he hadn't been asleep neither. And that same evening he caught himself saying, as he was "tittivating" his hair a little before the glass in the best room—Well—she does somehow, strike my fancy to-day. I wonder I never thought of it before! And it was a wonder—for he had been acquainted with Sally Perkins from a child up, and she was with him; and neither of them was the least disagreeable to the other. So they didn't fall in love at all, but kind of walked along together till they gradually stepped into the same path for life. He called that very evening at her father's—talked to the old lady about apple sauce, and pretended to talk about the sermon—but I've told you already he didn't hear much of that. He talked to Sally's father too, and to her brothers and to her—passed a very pleasant evening, and went home without having made a fool of himself, but more bewitched, as he called it than ever. That was the beginning, and to make a long story short, the end of it was, that at the proper time they were married, and everybody allowed it was a good match.

His father gave him a farm, and Sally's father stocked it, and Sally herself she bought the furniture. The sheets and such things had been made long before, and some of them, as well as the nice warm coverlets and towels in Sally's own loom. As to the stockings she had there was no end to them, and as to the nice warm ones that Robert found laid on the bed, for him the first Sunday morning after he was married, he knew that she hadn't had time to knit them since they were married at any rate. How do these women guess so cute at the size of a man's foot?

Every thing in that house went on like clock-work. There wasn't any thing like ecstasy or if Sally or her husband had been asked what ecstasy was, they might have reckoned it meant epilepsy or falling sickness. And they didn't know anything about transports, only that as Robert read out loud in the paper about materials for the new State House being transported, he concluded it was some new contrivance for hauling stone. But there was content in the homestead, and that's as much better than ecstasy as home-made bread is better than confectioner's fiddle-faddle. And there was tranquil happiness and that's as much before transports as a hickory fire is before the five minutes light of pine shavings.

Well—the first child is born. Robert had a new place in his heart opened then. He went along the road as happily as if he had found something that never had been before, and couldn't be again, hardly. It alters a man's nature wonderfully to have a child born to him. A week before Robert could not have hurt a child to be sure any more than he would a toad, for he considered them both a kind of a helpless creature that it wouldn't be proper for him to let his car wheel run over. But after his own first child was born, it seemed to him as if he could catch anybody's boy that he met, whether his nose was wiped or not. A man never knows half the good there is in his own human nature, till a child or two comes to draw it out for him. And as for Sally—perhaps she didn't feel grand! and perhaps, too, she didn't pretend that she did not care anything about it! Let her alone for playing careless before people, but when nobody was looking, it was well her lips were not bluster plasters. The child would have been one sure from the crown of his head, to the sole of his foot. Women do love their children, the worst of them—and well it is for the children that they do.

Some poet has written,—it used to be in Roberts reading book, at school;

"Domestic happiness! 'Tis only bliss
Of Paradise that has survived the Fall!"

Robert and Sally now had this to the full. They were in Eden, but the tempter came and in what shape do you guess? Now it's an even chance that you'll say Intemperance. Well, that guess may be half right, but it doesn't tell the whole. Intemperance never comes without good company to introduce him, and never under his own name neither. But I'll go straight on with my story.

On Saturday evening, Robert went down to the store, not to lounge, for he hadn't then fallen into that bad fashion. When he went in, he heard the Squire laying down the law, and saying, "Now, it stands to reason that Jonesville ought to have two delegates to that convention." So they all said, all but Robert, and he never meddled or made in what was going on, but just told old Guttridge, the shop-keeper, what he wanted, candles and soap, and molasses and things, and stood by to see fair measure, all the time wondering to himself whether the baby would wake up before he got back, and not thinking any thing more about what the village politicians were talking about, than if they belonged to another country. Old Guttridge was counting up the bill, "two and six" says he, "and one and eight, is four and two"—then kind of breaking off to another subject, Squire, here's Mr. Lowe will do for one, then coming back to the figures, and six and four is eleven shillings.

Ten and six, interrupted Robert, who was closely watching the figures.

So it is sure enough, said old Guttridge, the cunning toad, how could I make that mistake?

I don't know, says Robert. But he kind of grinned when he said so, for he knew Guttridge of old. Then the Squire struck in—

What do you say, Mr. Lowe?

Say to what, says Robert, who had now got his basket all ready for a start home.

Why, to going down to this convention? You see they will have me at any rate, and I want one of the owners of the soil, the bone and muscle along. The libert's our fathers fought for, are in danger, sir. The gurdion of equilateral privileges is in jeopardy. The parallelograms of superficial inductions are secured at Bunker Hill and Brandywine, at Yorktown and—

Look here, Squire, interrupted Robert, I'll take the rest of that on the Fourth of July next. Just now, I can't wait; and as to going down to my convention, why that I leave to those that understand it better. And so bidding them good evening, Robert hurried off, laughing all the way home, at the satellites of the village politicians, who, with their under jaws dropped on their breasts, were swallowing the Squire's whole unsifted grist, as if they thought him the greatest man in the whole township. Now I ain't a going to pretend to say that I have given his speech correct, but I will be bound that there's quite as much sense in what I have written, as in what he did say.

No matter what day of the week Robert's newspaper came, he always got it at the store on the same day, Saturday; and I've faith to believe he never troubled himself to look and see on what day it was published, so that he got the last one. It was a kind of a regular Saturday evening's performance, when every thing was done up square for one week, and got ready for the beginning of the next, for him to set down and read the paper to Sally.

The right kind of a newspaper is just the best visitor that any family, in town or country, can welcome into the house; because it neither eats or drinks anything, and is sure to tell you something that you'd be mighty foolish if you didn't know. But sometimes our very best friends may be made our worst enemies, if we trust their stories too far. I'm bound to say it was a little so with Robert.

Now Robert had been in the habit of jumping the political part of his paper, or at any rate of running over it a kind of lightly, just keeping his eye on it, as a man watches a bull's horns when he goes through a field, ready for a jump aside, if he sees the creature coming at him, head down.

Robert had his notions of what was what, and wasn't going, he thought, to be cheated out of them, by any newspaper, or any speculator in the land. But this evening, as I've told you, he had been bit a little at the store by a demagogue. Perhaps if there hadn't any thing come across him to aggravate the wound, he might have got over it—but somehow or other, he fell into reading the politics of the newspaper as earnestly as if he was studying the Gospel according to St. John.

Well, I never! said Sally, as Robert stopped to take a glass of cider, after he'd read out loud, how there was a set who wanted to sell this Republic to the British, and take pay in ready money. Who'd a thought it? she said, as Robert began to read again.

Then the paper went on to tell how the honest and independent and fearless citizens of the United States must come up to the rescue, and show all creation that they were not to be traded off in any such indiscriminate and ferocious manner. And then the paper said that there was to be a great convention to look after the matter, and that everybody who loved his country, was bound to come right out to the work—and a great deal more just like it.

Well, said Robert, dropping the paper on his knees, that's just what the Squire was saying down to the store!

I want to know! says Sally.

Yes, and more than that; they all said that I ought to go down to this convention.

Oh, the Squire go long! says Sally, and she spoke it a little loud, for just then the baby waked up and began to make a racket. The Squire may go along, for there's enough I'm sure, without you. Who's to take care of the farm, while you're running round to take care of the country?

Sure enough, said Robert, and he didn't say any more about it. He had hoped, when he started the subject, that Sally would up and tell him to go, by all means—but women have different notions on some things, from what men have. Sally wasn't so sure about how the business of all creation could get on without Robert's assistance; but she was quite sure that his own would go to wreck if he neglected it. Nothing more was said that night. Poor Robert Lowe! he didn't sleep half so well as usual. He dreamed that he saw gerrymanders and caucuses, and all sorts of things coming at him to eat him up. He thought that the country turned into a ball, like a great pumpkin, which kept a rolling, and a rolling, and a rolling, and that all sorts of venom, as they call 'em out West, bears, catamounts, and such like, were chasing it. Then he heard all sorts of a yelling and bellowing, and roaring and stamping, and waking up, all of a cold sweat, right in the middle of it. Lord, Sally, what a noise I've heard in my sleep!

Well, says she, and I should think you might! Here it is an hour after day, and I've tried, and tried, and tried to wake you, and the creatures are howling and kicking in the barn like all possessed!

It was a lovely Sabbath morning. The mist lay on the distant hill tops like a veil on a beautiful woman's face, making you conceit that what you cannot see, is a great deal handsomer than what you do get a full look at. The air was 'still, and calm, and bright,' and Robert Lowe's heart leaped with gratitude towards the great God, who has made sun and earth and sky clear and independent of all politicians, and caucuses, and conventions. I guess if Squire Smith had come along then, that an honest man like Robert Lowe would have looked him clean out of countenance.

Robert was walking to church with his mind in a right Sunday trim—at peace with all men, and full of love and thankfulness. If the truth must be told straight out, I do suppose the smile on his face was the reflection of the last snack his baby had given him; but he looked like a cheerful man, at any rate. As he walked along with a smile on his face, and a kind word for everybody, from the parson down to the poor idiot boy, who the only male tenant of the poor house, always came out in his Sunday best, to sit in the gallery at church, and look as wise as the oldest deacon—as Robert walked along, I say, so calm and happy, somebody touched him on the shoulder. He turned round.

It was the Tempter, Squire Smith.

You've thought better of that, says the Squire.

I have, said Robert. But Robert meant one way of thinking better, and the Squire another. The truth was, the Squire was dead beat on having Robert go down to the convention with him. It wasn't because he couldn't get any one else—for there were five or six who would jump at the chance—but then the Squire would have to lend them the money to bear their expenses, as he had done before, time and again; and he wanted a new hand, who would vote as he told him, and not want to borrow any money. He reckoned Robert would be just the man.

When the meeting was done, Sally hurried and put the things on the table, and then stood at the window and how'd e do'd to all the folks as they passed the door, and waited and wondered, and worried and fretted, what could have become of Robert. He came along a full half hour after his time. The Squire lit on him just as he came out of church, and stuck to him like a tick to a sheep.

And when Robert Lowe did come back home, it was plain to be seen that he wasn't at all like himself. There was that on his mind which marred its peace; and Sally could see that something had come across him which he wanted to mention to her, but still had a little rather not to do it. So Saturday noon, which used to be one of the pleasantest hours in the whole week, passed off dull and heavy, and when Sally went off to meeting after dinner, and left the baby asleep, and Robert a rocking the cradle—instead of reading his bible as he used to do, he took up the newspaper, and went to studying over the stuff about the ruin of the country, and the duty of patriots and the approaching convention, and such things. And it seemed as if every time he read it there was more in it than he had seen before; and by the time church was over, he had fully made up his mind to tell Sally what he had agreed to do, and that she was no patriot if she had a word to say against it.

But, as it happened, he had no news to tell her. It doesn't take news a great while to travel of a Sunday, in the country, I can tell you. There was more than one person or two, says to Sally—

So Mr. Lowe, he's a going to convention to-morrow.

Poor Sally—it struck her all of a heap—and the worst of it was that Robert hadn't said a word to her about it, but left her to find it out abroad. She felt as if she should tell her—but she never let on—nor give the least hint or sign that it was news her. And when he got home, and Robert stuttered out the whole to her, she only said quietly, Well, I suppose you know best. That very quiet went to Robert's heart like a cold frost. And when, very much to their surprise, he took his hat to go out—a new thing for him of a Sunday evening—she never said anything neither. He said 'he should be home in a little while'—but she doubted. It was eleven o'clock when she cried herself to sleep in her chair. It was twelve o'clock when he waked her up with a kiss—and oh! how she rubbed her eyes, and wished that what her senses told her of his eyes, his breath, his uncertain step, had been only a part of her bad, ugly dreams, too!

Well, Robert went to the convention—of course; and his poor wife, seeing there was no help for it, was up in the morning betimes to help him off. And she tried to look as cheerful as she could and not to seem to care. And he felt all that day as though he had nuth rather be at home; and a gladder man you never did see than he was, when he jumped out of his wagon at his own door, having left the Squire at his house, for Robert's horse did the traveling; and he had no more than half a guess that his horse and wagon were a main part of his qualifications as a delegate. I guess the same—don't you?

And a gladder man there never was neither than Sally, when her husband told her that he had got convention enough, and believed the whole about the country's run all nonsense. Monday evening more than paid for all the pain of Sunday, and Robert and Sally felt the same folks again.

Everything went smooth and happy till Saturday night brought the newspapers round again, and then we can't wonder that Sally wished the printer right where folks do say his help come from. He didn't turn right to the deaths and marriages as he used to—but the very first place he looked at was where the big capitals and spread eagle and things told about the great doings down to the Convention. And when he'd read it all through, he thought to himself—Well, I hadn't an idea that we did half them wonders; and I didn't begin to see the moral sublimity of the people, as the paper calls it, nor I didn't suspect that kings on their throne were shaking a bit. But he didn't say this out loud to Sally as you may guess. The paper though did his business. There was his name in the list of delegates present. Then again it was printed on the committee to look at credentials, and then again in about a dozen different places, where the paper said, 'moved by Hon. Saml. Smith, seconded by Robert Lowe, Esq.' And then last of all it was set all out in capital letters, at the end of an 'Address to the people,' which Robert Lowe had never read before. Now, I guess, you begin to see how Robert Lowe's ruination come about.

That was the beginning. I have no time to trace Robert's downfall, step by step, nor is it at all necessary. Once fairly bitten, and bewitched into a notion that the affairs of the nation are better worth a man's while than his own business—once beguiled into drinking in grog, and what they call politics, together—once taught idle habits, and persuaded to neglect and desert his wife, his children, his farm, and his duties, he rolled down hill just as surely as any other dead weight on society can find its level. He was made a representative, and then a senator, and then one thing and another, till at last those who had set him agoing had no more use for him, and he had no legs of his own to stand upon, he slumped right down to the miserable depths where his true history found him—bankrupt in pocket, in reputation, in affections, in morals, in everything—a thorough ruined individual.

Now if there is any need of it, I could go into a disquisition to show that a man may do his whole duty as a citizen of the republic, and not neglect a bit of his duty as the head of his own household. But I reckon I am writing for sensible people. So I leave them to draw their own moral from Robert Lowe's Ruination!

"Good Night" "Good Night Papa!"

These are the words whose music has not left our ears since the gloaming, and now it is midnight. "Good night, darling! God bless you; you will have pleasant dreams, though I toss in fever, haunted by the demons of care that harass me through the day. Good night!" The clock on the mantel struck twelve, and no sound was heard in the house save the regular breathing of those little lungs in the next room, heard through the door ajar.

We dropped our pen, folded our arms, and sat gazing on the lazy fire, while the whole panorama of life passed before us, with its many "good nights." It is a great thing to be rich, but it is a rich thing to have a good memory—provided that memory bear no unpleasant part, bitter to the taste; and our memory carries us back to many a pleasant scene—to the little arm-chair by the fire-side; to the trundle-bed at the foot of the bed; to the lawn in front of the house, and the orchard behind it; to the butter-cups and the new clover, and the chickens and the swallows, and the birds' nests, and the strawberries, and the many things that attract the wondering eyes of childhood, to say nothing of the stary skies, and the weird gloom of the moaning forest. But, then, there were the "good nights," and the selves of the notion that a horse's legs are better than a man's.

No motion calls more of the muscles into healthy play than walking—not gliding like a ghost, with arms motionless, but pushing along with a hearty, springy swing. Nothing more exhilarates the whole man than a current of air created by his own brisk movements. If this exercise, so conducive to health, and so readily taken, were more in fashion and in favor, we might meet the doctors, to walk to Roxbury on Saturday night at 12 o'clock. They all had been drinking, and as a consequence lost their way, and at 2 o'clock they called at a house in that part of Quincy known as Dublin, where they passed the rest of the night on the board floor, notwithstanding the weather changed to intense cold before morning. His two companions awoke somewhat sobered in the morning, but Root, being of a weakly constitution, was found to be insensible, and could not be aroused. He remained in this state for a few hours; all efforts to restore him were unavailing, when he sunk into the sleep of death.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Jan. 29th, 1859.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

DEATH FROM EXPOSURE AND INTERPERANCE. George Root, an Englishman, started from East Braintree, in company with two others, to walk to Roxbury on Saturday night at 12 o'clock. They all had been drinking, and as a consequence lost their way, and at 2 o'clock they called at a house in that part of Quincy known as Dublin, where they passed the rest of the night on the board floor, notwithstanding the weather changed to intense cold before morning. His two companions awoke somewhat sobered in the morning, but Root, being of a weakly constitution, was found to be insensible, and could not be aroused. He remained in this state for a few hours; all efforts to restore him were unavailing, when he sunk into the sleep of death.

He has respectable and wealthy connections in England, and until within a few weeks past has been a temperate man. Dr. Babbitt, of this town, attended the case.

It is a fact every one ought to know, that when a person is exposed to severe cold—if it be during the night, or if he have been exhausted by watching and fatigue—he feels almost an irresistible impulse to sleep, which, if yielded to, is soon succeeded by coma or death.

SKATING. The thaw, which took place the latter part of last week, caused the meadows bordering on Coddington street to be overflowed, and the sudden frigid change on Saturday night turned the surface of this watery plain into a beautiful field of glassy ice, which our good people—ladies and gentlemen, masters and misses, "babies" and "sissies"—have enjoyed, both day and evening, until yesterday, when the snow and rain stopped their sport.

VARIETY STORE. Quite a desirable place to select an assortment of articles in the variety line may be found at the pleasant store of F. P. Lord, Temple street, in this town. Buyers can here obtain goods of an excellent quality, and at a fair price. See advertisement.

PICKEREL FISHING. The enjoyment of fishing by our townsmen is fully proved by the number who frequently make piscatory excursions to the ponds in this neighborhood, and the success which attends them shows that they understand skilfully the management of the angle-rod. Our attention has been called to this particular recreation, as it is generally termed, by the receipt of some excellent Pickerel, caught at Hingham a few days ago by Messrs. Nathaniel White and Luke Rideout, the largest one weighing nearly two pounds. Our warmest thanks are hereby extended to the appreciating donors for this kind and acceptable gift of editorial luxury; and the delicacy and richness of the fish made us enjoy our dinner with a relish which would have pleased our generous friends to have witnessed.

THE NEW TERRITORIES. "Decotah" is what was the western half of Minnesota Territory. When the State was formed a line was drawn through the middle of the Territory from north to south. The eastern part became the State of Minnesota; the western is unorganized, and without a government.

"Arizona" is a combination of the south part of New Mexico, with the Mesilla Valley strip of land which we purchased from Mexico in 1854. The latter is without a local government.

"Nevada" is the western part of Nebraska, in which the fort of that name is situated.

"Superior," or "Ontonagon," is the peninsula between Lakes Superior and Michigan, part of which now belongs to Michigan and part to Wisconsin.

"Colona" embraces the recently discovered gold regions of Pike's Peak, Cherry Creek, &c., including parts of the Territories of Kansas, Nebraska, Utah, and New Mexico, nearly all, however, being taken from Kansas. It contains about 132,000 square miles, and nearly 2000 inhabitants.

Boston Correspondence.

Boston, Jan. 27, 1859.

Business reaction—Old Colony and Fall River Railroad—Horse Railroad—Massachusetts Legislature—Congress—Tariff Question—Purchase of Cuba.

The fine weather for some days past has imparted quite a cheerfulness to our community. Business has taken a start, and it is predicted from many good sources that we are to have active operations the present year in all branches of enterprise—bringing about a return of the prosperity of former days. It is seldom that we see Boston so full of animation in January as now.

The Old Colony and Fall River Railroad Corporation held their annual meeting this day. The proceedings were brief and harmonious, resulting in the unanimous re-election of the old Board of Directors—each receiving 6179 votes. This is a very high and deserving compliment to the President and his colleagues. Among the increased facilities of communication to your town, it is in contemplation to run a way-station train every hour in the day from Boston to South Quincy depot, to commence in April; and there is a rumor that the tariff of fares may be reduced, at a scale of fifteen cents per ticket to Neponset, and twenty five cents to Quincy Centre, but I cannot vouch for its correctness.

There are also rumors that it is in contemplation to extend the Dorchester Horse Railroad from Field's Corner over Neponset Turnpike to Quincy village. As no petition is before the Legislature for such powers, it wants corroboration.

The Legislature is busy at work forenoon and afternoon. All attempts to increase the salaries of Judges of the Supreme Court are unavailing as yet. The House, by a large vote, refused to consider the vote by which the Atheist Witness bill was defeated. Last evening the session was continued until six o'clock. There is evidently a desire to push business as rapidly as possible. Yesterday three reports were made, and twelve orders on various subjects were submitted. Some interesting discussions occur daily in the members, developing the debating tact of the members. The bill concerning the Metropolitan Horse Railroad from Boston to Roxbury was under consideration yesterday afternoon. Messrs. Russell of Boston, Rice of Newton, Page of Brimfield, Morton of Quincy, and others, spoke upon the question. The bill was finally passed to be engrossed.

The most important matters now before Congress are the Tariff question and the $30,000,000 appropriation to be placed in the hands of the President towards the purchase of Cuba.

No revision project of the tariff has as yet become acceptable—all parties are in a quandary about the matter. It seems plain that the Republicans and Pennsylvania Democrats are willing to support specific duties. But a majority of the Democrats, rather than do this, will not disturb the present tariff, even if they come to direct taxation to support the government, now nearly bankrupt for the want of money.

The thirty million bill to buy Cuba will evidently be acted upon as a party question, and may pass.

For the Patriot. Trim your Grape Vine.

Grape vines should be trimmed before the sap starts; and it is not safe to delay too long. There is time enough yet, if you have not made up your mind that you can do it any time; if so, nine chances in ten your vine will not be trimmed, or trimmed after the sap starts, when it will bleed profusely, to the injury of the vine, and to the discomfort of its owner.

They may be trimmed any time after they have had a severe freezing—till before the sap starts. I have trimmed in December with good success, but prefer February if I could be sure of a suitable time. By available, I mean when the weather is mild and the vine not frozen, so that the fibres of the wood are not broken by bending them.

So much for the time. Perhaps at some future time I may say something of the manner of trimming.

Paper Hangings and Borderings for the Spring Trade. C. Gill & Co. announce that they shall soon open and have ready for examination and sale a stock of Paper Hangings and Borderings far superior in style, beauty, and quality to any they ever sold in this place. Being satisfied that the trade of Quincy and vicinity will justify us in presenting a much larger and handsomer stock than has heretofore been kept, we have made arrangements for a supply of Papers of an entirely different manufacture, which we are assured will be exactly the kind of Papers and Borders wanted in this community, and to which we shall, as soon as the papering season opens, invite the attention of purchasers by a more definite description.

When a person is in pain, it is relief they want. When covered with wounds and putrid sores, a healing balm is needed. My Mother's Salve will relieve the pain. My Mother's Salve will heal the wounded. Try it. See advertisement.

THE TEETH AND THEIR TREATMENT.

Who is the fortunate possessor of a set of fine teeth, and would not take pains to preserve them? Who is under the necessity of having a tooth drawn in order that the remainder of the set may be made perfect for use and appearance, and would not employ a skilful operator to remove the offender? Who requires a full set of artificial teeth, and would not prefer that an educated dentist would replace the molars and incisors that are gone, with such as may be useful, handsome, and permanent? We are led to ask these questions before furnishing our recommendation of the complete establishment of Drs. Cummings & Flagg, because we have seen the systematic arrangement of the business of these gentlemen, and feel no ordinary surprise that persons who have to call to their aid the art and science of dentistry, should place themselves in the hands of unskilful or amateur operators, when for similar expense they might be treated by accomplished Surgeon Dentists.

The very beautiful rooms (seven in number) of Drs. Cummings & Flagg, No. 25 Tremont street, have recently been refitted and refurnished, and at all hours of the day the most experienced and faithful operators are in attendance, to answer the calls of their numerous patients. We believe that no improvement in the dental art is suggested, that is not carefully investigated by Drs. Cummings & Flagg, and if worthy to be adopted they are the first to aid in its general introduction. Their own inventions and preparations for the diseases, and the proper preservation of the teeth, are numerous and efficient. The Nerve Anodyne, a most useful and now well renowned antidote for toothache, is the invention of, and solely used by Drs. Cummings & Flagg. This foe to the toothache, although it effectually and instantly removes the pain, does not in any wise injure the teeth themselves. There are other preparations, as Dentifrice for cleaning, and Wash for hardening the gums, to which these gentlemen claim an exclusive right. On every side we hear great credit given to Drs. Cummings & Flagg, by those who have been their patients, and such testimony coming from the parties most interested in having work well performed, must be allowed to supersede all other.

We may add that our best wishes for a continuance of their success will ever attend them—Boston Daily Bee.

LYCEUM. There will be no lecture before the Quincy Lyceum next week; but we are happy to state that Parker Pillsbury, Esq., of Boston will deliver a lecture on "Foreign Travel," a week from next Thursday evening, which, we doubt not, will be very amusing and instructive.

CLAM CHOWDER. "Yankee Seth," at his Saloon near Newcomb's store, head of Franklin street, will prepare one of his much admired Clam Chowders to-day, in season for dinner. A rush is anticipated this evening, as "Yankee Seth" intends to exercise his best skill in the preparation of this compound, and to greet, with his peculiarly cheerful countenance, the host of friends who may visit him.

THE LATE EMPEROR OF JAPAN was troubled with dropsy in the bowels, twelve wives, and was aged thirty-eight. His name was Cinsaduo, and he leaves an heir who is between fifteen and sixteen years of age.

The Bostonians propose to close all the offices of the City Government, ring the bells and fire national salutes at morning, noon and night, on the 22d of February, in commemoration of the 127th birthday of Washington.

A burglar was shot in St. Louis, in the night time, by a pistol which had been affixed to the window shutter of a shop, in such a way as to be discharged in case any one attempted to break in.

It is said, that of the twenty-five members of the Illinois Senate, only one was born in that State.

Two men have been arrested in Philadelphia for attempting to cut a man's throat with a screw driver.

There are now thirty-five persons confined for life in the Charleston State Prison. Over one-third of these have committed the crime of murder.

The apple crop of Oregon, the past year, sold for five hundred thousand dollars.

The expenditures of the British Government for the financial year ending March 31, 1858, averaged one million dollars a day.

During the past year eighteen Revolutionary soldiers have died; there are two hundred yet living.

The New York Legislature has before it a bill prohibiting children from visiting theatres without their parents or guardians.

No single women are allowed in Japan. Every man is allowed one legal wife, and as many second wives as his means will permit him to support.

QUINCY LYCEUM. The next Lecture before this Association will be given on THURSDAY Evening, Feb. 10th at 7 1/2 o'clock, by Parker Pillsbury, Esq., of Boston Subject, "Foreign Travel."

JOHN O. HOLDEN, Sec'y. Quincy, Jan. 29.

SPIRITUALISTS MEETING. Services, usual hours, forenoon and afternoon. In Johnson's (Mariposa) Hall, Mrs. M. S. Townsend will speak to-morrow, forenoon and afternoon.

C. Gill & Co. have a fine lot of Rubber Boots and Shoes, of all sizes, and can fit everybody, and sell at the lowest prices. This stock is of that manufacture known to have the best reputation. Buy for yourselves and children, and prevent wet feet and the consequences thereof.

A BOOK FOR THE MILLION. Just published by FEDERHEN & Co., Booksellers and Stationers, No. 13 Court Street, Boston, a Brief Treatise of 48 pages, on Diseases of the Sexual System of both sexes—their symptoms and treatment—prepared by a physician of the "Boston Eclectic Hospital." This work also contains a scathing exposure of the deception and imposture practiced by advertising quacks, with some of their names and locations. Sold by periodical dealers generally. Sent by mail, on the receipt of three postage stamps. Address Box 1802, Boston Post Office. Feb. 27.

To WRITERS. The lines, which a friend received with his present of two pigs, will be published next week.

A correspondent from Boston will receive due notice.

DORCHESTER HORSE RAILROAD. An injunction has been issued by the Supreme Court, forbidding the Selectmen of Dorchester from taking up the rails of the Dorchester Horse Railroad, agreeably to a vote of the citizens of that town. A hearing on the injunction will be had in a few days.

DESECRATION. The lovers of skating in this town have enjoyed themselves during the present week; and even a few have trespassed upon the Sabbath. We hear of an instance that occurred last Sunday, by which two persons were injured by the upsetting of an ice-boat. The ways of Providence are mysterious, but punishment surely awaits transgressors.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

Hall's Journal of Health states the significant fact—one which should cause every lover of humanity to aid in rolling back the desolating flood of intemperance now sweeping over our land—that "out of six thousand persons tried last year before the New York Court of Sessions, not more than NINETEEN were sober when arrested."

The fallacy of some popular prejudices is illustrated by the circumstances that twenty six years ago, when it was proposed to light the City of Philadelphia with gas, several hundred of the citizens, including some of the most intelligent and wealthy, sent a remonstrance against the project to the City Council, declaring it "a most inexpedient, offensive and dangerous mode of lighting."

In France they have commenced making chimneys for boiler furnaces, houses and steamboats, saturated with bituminous matter; because, says a French journal, they are superior to iron for strength, hardness and difficulty of oxidation.

The introduction of "crinoline" has had a disastrous effect on the starch trade. A starch factory in Buffalo, recently put in operation with a capital of eighty thousand dollars, finds no demand for its manufactures, and factories at Oswego and other places have been compelled greatly to reduce their operations.

A man, whose limbs are entirely destitute of muscles, sinews, or flesh, who weighs but fifty-five pounds, but is robust in health, hearty, cheerful, intelligent, and plays the fiddle with great vivacity, has been on exhibition in New Orleans.

The Hoosac Tunnel has now been carried into the mountain to the extent of nearly half a mile, or nearly one-ninth of the whole distance through the mountain.

The late Emperor of Japan was troubled with dropsy in the bowels, twelve wives, and was aged thirty-eight. His name was Cinsaduo, and he leaves an heir who is between fifteen and sixteen years of age.

The Bostonians propose to close all the offices of the City Government, ring the bells and fire national salutes at morning, noon and night, on the 22d of February, in commemoration of the 127th birthday of Washington.

A burglar was shot in St. Louis, in the night time, by a pistol which had been affixed to the window shutter of a shop, in such a way as to be discharged in case any one attempted to break in.

It is said, that of the twenty-five members of the Illinois Senate, only one was born in that State.

Two men have been arrested in Philadelphia for attempting to cut a man's throat with a screw driver.

There are now thirty-five persons confined for life in the Charleston State Prison. Over one-third of these have committed the crime of murder.

The apple crop of Oregon, the past year, sold for five hundred thousand dollars.

The expenditures of the British Government for the financial year ending March 31, 1858, averaged one million dollars a day.

During the past year eighteen Revolutionary soldiers have died; there are two hundred yet living.

The New York Legislature has before it a bill prohibiting children from visiting theatres without their parents or guardians.

No single women are allowed in Japan. Every man is allowed one legal wife, and as many second wives as his means will permit him to support.

QUINCY LYCEUM. The next Lecture before this Association will be given on THURSDAY Evening, Feb. 10th at 7 1/2 o'clock, by Parker Pillsbury, Esq., of Boston Subject, "Foreign Travel."

JOHN O. HOLDEN, Sec'y. Quincy, Jan. 29.

SPIRITUALISTS MEETING. Services, usual hours, forenoon and afternoon. In Johnson's (Mariposa) Hall, Mrs. M. S. Townsend will speak to-morrow, forenoon and afternoon.

C. Gill & Co. have a fine lot of Rubber Boots and Shoes, of all sizes, and can fit everybody, and sell at the lowest prices. This stock is of that manufacture known to have the best reputation. Buy for yourselves and children, and prevent wet feet and the consequences thereof.

A BOOK FOR THE MILLION. Just published by FEDERHEN & Co., Booksellers and Stationers, No. 13 Court Street, Boston, a Brief Treatise of 48 pages, on Diseases of the Sexual System of both sexes—their symptoms and treatment—prepared by a physician of the "Boston Eclectic Hospital." This work also contains a scathing exposure of the deception and imposture practiced by advertising quacks, with some of their names and locations. Sold by periodical dealers generally. Sent by mail, on the receipt of three postage stamps. Address Box 1802, Boston Post Office. Feb. 27.

Farm Wanted for Money.

WITHIN 35 miles of Boston, and in the vicinity of a Railroad Station, worth from $2000 to $4000, with from 35 to 65 Acres of Land, with good Buildings.

Cash will be paid for the above. Apply to J. W. MAYNARD, Real Estate Agent, No. 3 State Street, BOSTON.

Jan. 29. 3w

Auction.

WILL be sold at Public Auction, on MONDAY, the 28th day of February next, at 3 o'clock P.M., on the premises, the following described lot of Land with the Buildings standing thereon, situated in Quincy—bounded and described as follows:

Commencing on Granite Place, on land of Daniel and George L. Baxter, running westerly two hundred and fifteen feet to land of William Smith; thence northerly on land of said Smith one hundred and fifty feet to land of Francis Jackson; thence easterly on a line parallel with said Granite Place one hundred and twenty feet to land of Roland Owen; thence southerly about sixty-five feet on land of said Roland Owen; thence easterly ninety-five feet on said Owen's land; thence southerly on land of said Baxter to Granite Place about eighty-five feet.

The above mentioned premises to be sold for breach of condition of mortgage on the same to the Quincy Loan Fund Association.

GEORGE WHITE, Auctioneer.

At Quincy Loan Fund Association, Quincy, Jan. 29th, 1859. 4w

Selectmen's Notice.

ALL Persons having accounts against the Town of Quincy are requested to present the same for payment on SATURDAY, the 29th of January inst., between eight o'clock A.M. and five P.M., at Selectmen's Room.

All Persons indebted to the Almshouse Establishment are requested to pay Mr. Lewis Wood.

GEORGE MARSH, } Selectmen
FRED ADAMS, } of Quincy.
DANIEL BAXTER, }

Quincy, Jan. 15. 3w

New Orleans Syrup.

JUST received, and for sale by the subscriber, a box of prime New Orleans Syrup, put up in 1-2 barrels expressly for family use.

ALSO—50 barrels of first quality Russet Apples for sale by

H. VINAL.

Quincy, Jan. 1. 6w

Painting Business.

THE subscribers having formed a copartnership in business, under the firm of

DAVENPORT & POPE,

and having opened a Shop, on the premises of George Curtis, in School Street, are now prepared to answer all orders with neatness and dispatch.

Painting, Graining, Varnishing and GLAZING.

done to satisfaction, and in a workmanlike manner.

Small as well as large jobs thankfully received; and a share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

WILLIAM DAVENPORT, }
CHARLES E. POPE, }

Quincy, Oct. 9. 3w

LIVERY STABLE.

THE subscriber having purchased the establishment of George J. Jones, on Hancock street, and made additions thereto, is prepared, at the old stand, to accommodate his friends and the public with

Horses and Carriages.

PLEASURE PARTIES furnished with teams and drivers, or single carriages, at the shortest notice.

Personal attention given to the business, and a liberal support from the public solicited.

Quincy, Nov. 13. DAVID E. ROBY.

Quincy Bakery.

THE subscribers would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that they have taken the Quincy Bake-House, and intend carrying on the baking business in all its branches—adhering strictly to the Cash system—and hope by manufacturing the Best Quality of Bread, to merit the patronage of the Citizens of this and the neighboring towns.

Trout & Glover.

Quincy, Oct. 16. 4w

Important to Housekeepers.

SOMERS & CO.'S POLISH,

IS conceded by all who have used it, to be the BEST ARTICLE yet discovered for Cleaning and Polishing Piano-fortes and Furniture of every description, in the shortest possible time.

Any lady or child can use it. It removes any kind of dirt, and will make any article of Furniture look as well as new. It is decidedly the best article in use for restoring Carriage Leathers, Harnesses, Patent Leather Boots, &c. &c. $3 per dozen, or 37 cents Single Bottle.

SOLD BY SOMERS & CO.

At his Upholstery Room,

265 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

Persons wishing Furniture Repaired or extra work executed, can have it done at their house, by addressing a line through the mail. Boston, Jan. 22.

Executors' Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed Executors of the will of

WILLIAM COOLIDGE,

late of Weymouth, in the County of Norfolk, Gentleman, deceased, and have accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

RACHEL COOLIDGE, } Executors.
EZEKIEL H. RICHARDS, }

Quincy, Jan. 22, 1859. 3w

Boston Almanac for 1859

For sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Jan. 1. 4w

Later From Europe.

A NEW and splendid assortment of Ladies' Collars, Sleeves, Flouncings, Bands, Edgings, and a general assortment of Lace and White Goods, just received and for sale by

ELBRIDGE CLAPP.

Quincy, Aug. 21. 4w

Administrator's Sale

OF REAL ESTATE.

PURSUANT to a license granted by the County of Norfolk, will be sold at Public Auction, on the FOURTEENTH DAY OF FEBRUARY next, beginning at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, on the premises first named, a lot of Land containing about Eleven Acres, with the buildings thereon, situated in Braintree, and known as the Nightingale Place. The first piece is bounded northerly by land of L. White; easterly by land of Jonathan French; southerly by Town street; westerly by land of Josiah French. The second piece is bounded northerly by Town street; easterly by Town street; southerly by land of Henry Abbott; westerly by Granite street.

ALSO—One undivided third part of about Fifty Acres of Woodland, situated in Braintree, and owned in common with Oliver Hayden and Seth Mann. It is bounded northerly by land of Henry Abbott and Abram & Wm. G. Prescott; easterly by land of Henry Abbott; westerly by land of David Flagg; southerly by land of Henry Wood and Wm. G. Prescott.

ALSO—A lot of about Twelve and three-fourths Acres of Cedar Swamp, situated in Braintree, and owned in common with Oliver Hayden and Seth Mann. It is bounded northerly by land of Henry Abbott and Abram & Wm. G. Prescott; easterly by land of Henry Abbott; westerly by land of David Flagg; southerly by land of Henry Wood and Wm. G. Prescott.

ALSO—One undivided half of a lot of Woodland in Randolph, owned in common with Nathan White.

The sales to be made in succession on the respective premises, and in the order named, beginning as above.

ALSO:

On the Twenty-first day of February, on the premises, at two o'clock in the afternoon, a lot of about Six Acres of Woodland, situated in Hingham, near Pine Hill, so called, and formerly owned by Amos Sisson.

All the above being the Estate of Calvin White, late of said Braintree, deceased.

AUSTIN WHITE, Adm'r.

Jan. 22, 1859. 3w

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

WILLIAM TORREY,

late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Gentleman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

</

Poetry.

The Family Meeting.

We are all here!
Father, mother,
Sister, brother—
All who hold each other dear.
Each chair is filled, we're all at home;
To night let no cold stranger come.
It is not often thus around
Our old familiar hearth we're found.
Bless them the meeting and the spot,
For once be every care forgot;
Let gentle Peace assert her power,
And kind affection rule the hour—
We're all—here!

We're not all here!
Some are away—the dead ones dear,
Who throughed with us this ancient hearth,
And gave the hour of griefless cheer.
Fate, with a sudden, ruthless hand,
Looked in and thinned our little band.
Some like a night flash passed away,
And some sank lingering day by day.
The quiet graveyard—some be there,
And cruel death has no share—
We're not all here!

We are all here!
Even they—the dead—though dead so dear,
Food memory, to her duty true,
Brings back their faded forms to view.
How life-like through the mist of years,
How well-remembered face appears,
We see them as in times long past,
From each to each kind looks are cast;
We hear their words, their smiles behold,
They're round as we were of old—
We're all—here!

We are all here!
Father, mother,
Sister, brother—
You that I love with love so dear—
This may not long of us be said:
Soon must we join the gathered dead,
And by the hearth we now sit round,
Some other circle will be found.
Oh, then, that wisdom may we know,
That yields a life of peace below;
So, in the world to follow this,
May each repeat in words of bliss,
We're all—here!

A Little While.

Beyond the smiling and the weeping,
I shall be soon;
Beyond the waking and the sleeping,
Beyond the sorrow and the weeping,
I shall be soon.
Love, rest and home!
Sweet home!
Lord, tarry not, but come.

Beyond the blooming and the fading,
I shall be soon;
Beyond the shining and the shading,
Beyond the hoping and the dreading,
I shall be soon.
Love, rest and home!
Sweet home!
Lord, tarry not, but come.

Beyond the rising and the setting,
I shall be soon;
Beyond the calm and the fretting,
Beyond the calm and the fretting,
I shall be soon.
Love, rest and home!
Sweet home!
Lord, tarry not, but come.

Beyond the parting and the meeting,
I shall be soon;
Beyond the farewell and the greeting,
Beyond the parting and the meeting,
I shall be soon.
Love, rest and home!
Sweet home!
Lord, tarry not, but come.

Beyond the first chain and the fever,
I shall be soon;
Beyond the rock waste and the river,
Beyond the ever and the never,
I shall be soon.
Love, rest and home!
Sweet home!
Lord, tarry not, but come.

Come to Me in Cherry time.

Come to me in cherry-time,
And as twilight closes,
We will have a merry time,
Here among the roses.
When the larks are dropping the tide,
And the larks are quivering,
In our bark we safely glide
Down the rocky river!
When the stars, with quiet ray,
All the hill-tops brighten,
Cherry ripe we'll sing and play
Where the cherries open!
Then come to me in cherry time,
And as twilight closes,
We will have a merry time
Here among the roses.

Anecdotes.

Diggs saw a note lying on the ground but knew it was a counterfeit, and walked on without picking it up. He told Smithers the story, when the latter said:
"Do you know Diggs that you've committed a very grave offence."
Why, what have I done?
You have passed a counterfeit bill, knowing it to be such, said Smithers without a smile, and fled.

Mr. Timothy, said a young lady, who had been showing off her wit at the expense of a dangle, you must not me of a barometer that is filled with nothing in the upper story.
Divine Alimra, meekly replied her admirer, in thanking you for that compliment, let me remain you that you occupy my upper story entirely.

A tutor lecturing a young man for his irregular conduct, added with great pathos:
The report of your views will bring your father's gray hairs in sorrow to the grave.
I beg your pardon, sir, replied the incorrigible, my father wears a wig.

See, nurse! see! exclaimed a delighted papa, as something like a smile irradiated the face of the infant child, an angel is whispering to it!
No, sir, replied the more matter-of-fact nurse, it is only wind in its stomach.

New Store! New Goods!

B. F. MESERVEY,
HAVING returned to Quincy and taken the Store, one door north of David B. Stearns's Variety Store, in
JOHNSON'S BUILDING.
Will keep constantly on hand, a large stock of
Gold and Silver Watches,
Fob, Curb and Vest Chains,
LOCKETS,
Cameo, Gold Stone, Jet, Florentine, Painted, Coral and Mosaic Jewelry.
GOLD BRACELETS, BELT PINS,
Gents' Pins and Studs,
FINGER RINGS.
Together with a large assortment of
Silver and Plated Ware,
Clocks and Fancy Goods.

Having his Goods direct from the manufacturer, he will be enabled to sell them much less than the usual retail prices. He will also keep a
LARGE STOCK
than ever offered before in Quincy.
All Goods warranted as represented.
Old Gold and Silver taken in exchange.
Gullin Plates Engraved.
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired in a faithful manner, and done when PROMISED.
Quincy Oct 24

QUINCY BOOKSTORE

BOOK BINDERY.

Established in the Year 1838.

BOOKS, STATIONERY

AND

FANCY GOODS.

C. GILL & CO. have always on hand a large assortment of the above—being fully prepared to meet all the wants of this market.

BLANK BOOKS

of any particular pattern, made to order.

STATIONERY, IN GREAT VARIETY,

at the lowest prices.

Miscellaneous and Juvenile Books,

will be sold low.

ALL SCHOOL BOOKS,

used in this and neighboring towns, at publishers' prices.

Book Binding.

ALL KINDS OF

MAGAZINES, PAMPHLETS,

SHEET MUSIC, &c.

bound in a neat and durable style.

"Small Profit" to ensure "Ready Sales."

Full equivalent for your money.

Twenty years' practice has proved these rules to be good ones, and we shall continue to be governed by them, in all branches of our business.

C. GILL & CO.

HANCOCK STREET.

Quincy, March 20.

Pickles.

50 GALLONS of Pickles just received and for sale cheap.

GEO. L. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Feb 28

GROCERIES, FLOUR,

AND

PROVISIONS!

THE Subscribers would respectfully invite the Patrons of Quincy and vicinity to call and examine his stock of Groceries, Flour and

Provisions, where they will find a

Good assortment of all kinds of Goods kept commonly in a Grocery Store,

which he will sell at the lowest wholesale prices.

A few more chests of Old Hyson Tea at 25 cents

per pound.

50 Tubs of prime dairy Butter.

200 Bushels of Cheanago and Long Red Potatoes.

All those in want of Goods will find it for them interested to call and examine, as they will find a good assortment at the lowest prices.

Goods delivered to any part of the Town

free of expense.

H. VINAL,

at the Old Stand of Faxon & Brothers,

Quincy, Oct. 27.

Salt Pork.

FIRST rate article of Salt Pork packed by

the subscribers for sale by the barrel or smaller quantities to suit purchasers, cheap for cash.

GEO. L. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Dec. 6.

SALT PORK.

FIRST quality of Salt Pork—raised in town and packed by the subscribers—which he will sell at the lowest market price.

H. VINAL,

Quincy, Jan. 10.

Salt Pork.

4000 POUNDS of Good Salt Pork for sale at Boston prices by

DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Sept. 27.

WHITE HANDS!

PERSIAN BATH

FOR THE TOILET, Bath, Nursery, Shaving,

and for Cleaning the Teeth.

THIS superior Soap will make the HANDS

WHITE AND SOFT, and is a certain remedy

for CHAPPED HANDS, TACKS, SCALDS,

CHAFING, and all medicinal purposes, where a

Healing and Emollient effect is desired.

W. M. SMITH HALL.

Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass.

C. DYER, Jr., General Travelling Agent

Price—25 cents per cake.

Sold by MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy Aug 22

WOOD'S GLYCERINE LOTION,

FOR improving the complexion, and for the cure prevention of Chapped Hands, Tan,

Freckles, Sunburn, Roughness of Skin, Eruptions,

&c. For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy Feb 6

Insurance against Fire.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE

COMPANY, of Massachusetts, insure Real and Personal Property against the loss of Fire, for five years or less, on favorable

terms.

Farmers, Mechanics, Household, Traders,

Mechanics, and all Owners of Property not extra hazardous, are solicited to patronize this Company;

every effort will be made to accommodate

customers.

Letters, by mail or otherwise, from persons residing at a distance, relating to Fire Insurance,

will be promptly attended to.

PRESIDENT,

WILLIAM S. MORTON,

TRUSTEES,

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,

SECRETARY,

STEPHEN BATES,

DIRECTORS,

Quincy, Milton,

William S. Morton, Charles Brock,

Israel W. Munroe, Dorchester,

Thomas C. Webb, H. W. Blanchard,

Whitcomb Porter, Cohasset,

Stephen Bates, Solomon J. Beal,

William B. Duggan, Hingham,

Thomas Curtis, Ebenezer Gay,

Boston, South Hingham,

Albert Thompson, North Bridgewater,

Randolph, Royal W. Turner,

South Braintree, Barnstable,

Apollon Kendall, George Marston,

Dedham,

Jonathan A. Cobb.

References, by permission:

Hos. GEORGE T. RIGLOW, of Boston,

Hos. JOSIAH QUINCY, Jr., of Boston,

Hos. AMASA WALKER, of North Brookfield,

Hos. JAMES MARBLE, of Randolph,

Hos. SOLOMON LINCOLN, of Hingham,

Hos. CHARLES F. ADAMS, of Quincy,

JOSIAH BRIGHAM, Esq., "

OFFICE:

Washington Square, Quincy, rear of Stone Temple

April 1.

National Police Gazette.

THIS Great Journal of Crime and Criminals

is in its Twelfth Year, and is widely circulated throughout the country. It contains all the Great Trials, Criminal Cases, and appropriate

Editorials on the same, together with information on Criminal Matters, not to be found in any other newspaper.

Subscriptions, $2 per annum; $1 for six months, to be remitted by subscribers, (who

should write their names and the town, county

and State where they reside plainly.)

GEO. W. MATHESON & CO.

Editors & Proprietors of the

National Police Gazette.

New York City, Apr 25

GEO. R. FRENCH,

Engraver and Plate Printer,

257 Washington, near Winter st., - Boston

Particular attention given to the Engraving

and Printing of

Invitation, Reception, Marriage, Address and Visiting Cards.

A LONG and practical experience in this particular branch, warrants me in saying

that persons about ordering Cards of any description, will study their interests by calling,

or sending their orders as above, as he will furnish the most fashionable card produced,

at prices as low or lower than any other establishment.

WEDDING STATIONERY, constantly on hand. Portraits, Views, Maps, Diplomas

Labels, Bill-Heads, Blank Checks, Notes,

Drafts, Bills of Exchange, &c., &c., engraved or printed at short notice.

Door-Plates, Seals, and anything in the line, furnished to order and at equally low

prices.

Orders by mail, express, or otherwise,

promptly attended to.

Boston, Feb 20

RICH'S PATENT

IRON BEAM PLOW.

J. WADSWORTH JR

South Weymouth,

Is Agent for the County of Norfolk,

FOR THE SALE OF THIS PLOW.

WHO will visit the various parts of the County during the first of April. Plows

delivered in any part of the County free of charge

Terms, cash on delivery.

Weights and Prices.

Old Dominion, 3 horse, 135 lbs. price, $13.50

C. No. 1, 2 horse, 125 " " 12.00

Washington, No. 2, 2 horse, 110 " " 11.00

D. Improved, 90 " " 9.00

E. Corn Plow, 1 horse, 60 " " 5.00

F. Corn Plow, 1 horse, 40 " " 4.00

Double Mould Board, 40 " " 4.75

Side Hill and Level Land, 100 " " 10.00

Either of the Plows weighing 100 pounds or upwards, with an extra point, 50 cents more; under

100 weight, 25 cents.

Weymouth April 3

Paper Hangings.

JUST received new styles of Paper Hangings

and for sale cheap for cash.

DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, March 25.

Burnett's Cocaine.

FOR preserving and beautifying the Hair,

and rendering it dark and glossy. Thom-

son's Golden Lustrine. The German Toilet and various other hair preservatives, for sale by

MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, June 26.

Fresh Tamarinds.

FOR sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Oct. 16.

Cut this out and keep it for Reference.

Great Chance to Save Money!!

BY HAVING YOUR CLOTHES MADE BY

C. A. COLLINS,

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XXIII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 5th, 1859.

NUMBER VI.

Apothecary Store.

DR. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to his friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barkley, Farina, Grouse, cracked Wheat, Sage, Tapioca, Oat-flour, Corn Starch, Broma, &c. Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Glycerine, &c.

Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and Inlets, patent Nursing Shields, Tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass and Metal Syringes, Bedpans, Horse-hair Mitts, Flesh Brushes, &c. &c.

Fresh European Leeches always on hand.

Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and despatch.

He is also receiving the new and popular medicine of the day, as they appear in this and other papers. Washington street, near Stone Temple, Quincy, Nov. 1.

YOU HAD BETTER TRY

My Mother's Salve.

THIS CELEBRATED PREPARATION has obtained an enviable and world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for curing so many sufferers, restoring them to health and usefulness, that the proprietors are daily doing duty to the public for their generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve, make it accessible to rich and poor, that all afflicted may avail themselves of its healing virtues.

"My Mother's Salve"

IS PERFECTLY CHEMICAL COMPOUND, prepared from Roots, Herbs and Gums, gathered from the forest, and possesses

HEALING, SOOTHING AND PAIN-RELIEVING VIRTUES.

Never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.

"My Mother's Salve"

IS SAFE AND EFFECTUAL, and all those troubled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM, GOUT, GRAVEL, COLIC, PILES, and such other diseases, will find in its use great relief, and an almost instantaneous cure.

"My Mother's Salve"

DR. BURN or SCALD, takes out the fire, soothes the irritating pain, and heals the wound more speedily and effectually than any other preparation.

"My Mother's Salve"

IS worthy of confidence, and thousands having used it and recommended it to their friends as a test of its worth.

"My Mother's Salve"

Is simple. Every mother and nurse know how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and who use the Salve will apply it in proportion, removed at times, as good judgment may direct. For Rheumatism and other pains, rub the plaster smartly with the Salve.

For Cough, Tightness of the Lungs, Sore Throat, and such like ailments, rub as much of the Salve in as will do good, and repeat follows the use of this Salve. Prepared by A. M. BECK.

PREPARED BY HUNTING, Sole Proprietor, No. 4 Tremont Street, Boston.

For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN, Oct. 23.

C. C. JOHNSON,

Druggist and Apothecary,

GOODMAN'S BUILDING.

FORMER of Hancock and Granite streets, keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, Fancy Articles, Perfumery, Havana Cigars, Foreign and Swedish Leeches.

Physicians' Prescriptions, carefully compounded, with accuracy, accuracy and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality. Quincy, Nov. 13.

It is also an effective cure for Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Constipation and Derangement of the Urinary Organs.

It is an infallible remedy for irregularities and other diseases peculiar to FEMALES, such as Whites and Pains in the Back, Strangury, Affections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart, &c.

It can be given with perfect safety and most desirable results in all cases, to any person from infancy to old age.

Made and sold by WM. SMITH HALL, Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass., to whom all orders should be addressed. Sold also by Redding & Co., 8 State street; Geo. C. Goodwin, No. 22 Union street, Boston, and all Druggists and Medicine Dealers throughout the United States.

Mrs. E. HAYDEN, AGENT, Quincy, Dec. 18.

It is also an effective cure for Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Constipation and Derangement of the Urinary Organs.

It is an infallible remedy for irregularities and other diseases peculiar to FEMALES, such as Whites and Pains in the Back, Strangury, Affections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart, &c.

It can be given with perfect safety and most desirable results in all cases, to any person from infancy to old age.

Made and sold by WM. SMITH HALL, Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass., to whom all orders should be addressed. Sold also by Redding & Co., 8 State street; Geo. C. Goodwin, No. 22 Union street, Boston, and all Druggists and Medicine Dealers throughout the United States.

Mrs. E. HAYDEN, AGENT, Quincy, Dec. 18.

It is also an effective cure for Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Constipation and Derangement of the Urinary Organs.

It is an infallible remedy for irregularities and other diseases peculiar to FEMALES, such as Whites and Pains in the Back, Strangury, Affections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart, &c.

It can be given with perfect safety and most desirable results in all cases, to any person from infancy to old age.

Made and sold by WM. SMITH HALL, Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass., to whom all orders should be addressed. Sold also by Redding & Co., 8 State street; Geo. C. Goodwin, No. 22 Union street, Boston, and all Druggists and Medicine Dealers throughout the United States.

Mrs. E. HAYDEN, AGENT, Quincy, Dec. 18.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION
Over Mr. E. Clapp's Store, on Hancock St.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

TWO DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.

No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.

Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary price, and will be charged until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business.

Letters and communications, (postage paid), will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers. Railway Village, JOSIAH BARCOCK. West District, GEORGE H. LOCKE. Milton, CHARLES BECK. Dorchester, ORIN P. BACON. Weymouth, F. A. KINGSBURY. Abington, JOSEPH CLEVERLY. South Scituate, SAMUEL A. TURNER. Brooklyn, (N. Y.), GERSHON DREW.

Miscellaneous.

School Books, Etc.

[The following remarks were made by Dr. WILLIAM S. PATTER, at this town, before the Legislative Committee, in aid of his petition concerning School Books and their publication.]

The subject of Education and Schooling being one of the most important connected with our Republican institutions, everything associated with its improvement or advancement seems worthy of investigation and legal assistance by all its friends.

I know of none more intimately connected with its prosperity than the proper selection and judicious distribution of School Books, from which all those who attend these public institutions are in a great measure to derive their Education.

It is well known by all who are or have been interested in our schools, that the present system and method of supplying them with books is a source of great dissatisfaction to parents and the community, by levying, as they say, an unnecessary and burdensome tax upon them.

I have given this matter considerable thought; and, after mature consideration, concluded that it was most advisable to petition the Legislature for a general law, as being the only thing that would overcome this great and growing evil.

My impression is, that a law might be enacted so that all the school books used in our public schools should be published by the State, under the control and direction of the Board of Education, as they visit the various schools of the Commonwealth, and know better what they collectively require—the State to be reimbursed, for the expense of publication, by the sale of text books at cost; by doing so, the books could be afforded at a much less price than under the present system, and be far superior as to material and mechanical execution. By examining our school books, it will be seen that they are the poorest manufactured of any we have among us, when they ought to be the best, if we consider the hard knocks and severe usage they have got to withstand: on further examination, we find them half bound, constructed of the most inferior paper, and the printing very indistinctly executed, small type, and blurred at that, with poor ink, which is ruinous to the children's eyes, and, in my opinion, this is the cause why affections of the eyes of children are more common now than formerly.

Then again, it would have a tendency to produce a uniform system throughout the State, which is most desirable, by having all the text-books properly classified, to meet the wants of the various grades of our schools in the Commonwealth; this would enable our mechanics and laborers, who so often change from one locality to another owing to business fluctuations, the privilege of using their old books in the schools of the town where they have commenced their residence.

I have, gentlemen, seen children of such families, who have changed from one town to another, idling about the streets, who were amply supplied with school books, but not being the kind used in the schools where they now live, were unable to attend school, not having the means to procure new books, and too ambitious to be relieved by the charities of the town. This is a point of great consideration, in reference to the intent and object of our system of schooling; instead of throwing obstacles of this kind in the way, we ought to hold out every inducement to this large class of our citizens to attend these nurseries of virtue and knowledge, if we wish to prevent pauperism and crime.

It would accomplish another object, which is equal, if not paramount to all others, by breaking up this system of monopoly, and the many influences brought to bear by book publishers and agents upon school committees and teachers, who visit the many towns of the State with wheel-barrow loads of books; the success of their visitations we all know too well, who have had anything to do with schools, by the change that is so soon made. These agents, on their introduction to the school committee, will pretend to have a great interest for the cause of education; and after learning the peculiar views and ideas of the committee, on what they think is the proper method of instruction, will inform them that his book is just what they want, and is better suited to teach this system than any other! By such art and persuasion many books are introduced into our schools. And so these agents go the rounds, from one place to another, until it will be found that their magic book or books is adapted to teach as many methods and systems as old Robert B. Thomas' Almanac is adapted to the various seasons and climates, or patent medicines to cure all the ills the human race is heir to.

The pupils who attend our public schools, have to pay from one hundred to one hundred and twenty-five per cent profit on an average for Text-books, and the profit on School Books in the State for one year, amounts to about four hundred thousand dollars. It seems too severe, that a great part of this enormous sum should be taken from the hard and scanty earnings of a large class of our citizens who can so illly spare it. These frequent changes also create an extra expense to all the towns in the State, by supplying some of their poor with books and stationery. The town of Quincy paid from her treasury in the year 1857, for this class of articles, one hundred and thirty-eight dollars; this extra tax upon towns in the State, amounts to over fifty thousand dollars.

The publication of these books by the State would not be disadvantageous to her interest, as printing is an item that enters largely into her business transactions, and competitors for the State printing would accept the work at a comparatively less sum than at present—contractors usually taking large contracts at a much less percentage than smaller ones. It will also be seen by the above statement, that there is a large margin for the Commonwealth, to be more than compensated for what extra expense she may be at in accomplishing this noble object, and at the same time be rendering a lasting benefit to education and the two hundred and sixty thousand children of this Commonwealth who attend school, by endeavoring to do what we can in carrying forward the great work of redeeming all from the bondage of ignorance and error, and enfranchising them into the light and freedom of knowledge and truth.

In establishing a law for this purpose, we should be perfecting our present admirable and commendable system of common school education, by inducing and giving many the privilege of attending schools, who are now deprived of its benefit, not having the means of purchasing such a multiplicity of books. I have been informed by good and reliable authority, that many pupils in many towns have been obliged to leave school on this account, who had sufficient means to have procured a reasonable and proper amount of books. They were asked by the teachers and committees to continue on in the school if they were disposed to take advantage of the State law, which provides that those who are not able to have books can receive them at the town's expense. But they justly scorned a charity, which, they say, is so unnecessarily forced upon them by this odious system of extortion.

In conclusion, we hope for the perpetuity and success of our common school system and for the honor of our old Commonwealth, which stands foremost in the noble cause of education, that your honorable Committee will report a bill for a general law upon this subject to the House, for their candid deliberation.

Feruling Anna Hawkes.

—Buzz—buzz—buzz—buzz!

Indeed, I cannot stand this. You'll drive me quite crazy with your buzz, buzz, buzzing. I must and will have silence. I find that plain, pleasant persuasion will not do; I shall be forced to resort to a harsher method. Now, listen, one and all, while I assure you that the first scholar, old or young, miss or master, young gentleman or lady, whom I shall see whispering without leave, I will ferule!

The teacher, Mr. Arthur Stone, closed his bearded lips firmly and glanced about the old fashioned school-room with a determined expression, as he ceased speaking. He evidently meant just what he said; meant it in the faces of the stout, stalwart young gentlemen, and the pretty, witching, bright-eyed girls about him. For a moment there was a dead silence upon all, while every eye was fixed upon the handsome, resolute face of the teacher. But in the little crowd of eager, upturned faces, there was but one which his eye sought, intuitively drawn, as it were, by some strange, mesmerizing power. One face, and one at that moment which was a pretty picture of piquant beauty, with its saucy, inquisitive blue eyes, which met his own fully and daringly; its strawberry red mouth pursed up by the most provoking and daring of smiles, that said as plainly as words could have said it; You won't ferule me, Arthur Stone, if I whisper ever so much!

A sudden flush of anger reddened up into the cheeks of the young man, and shot from the depths of his fine gray eyes, as he said, determinedly, in answer to the smile of the red mouth and blue eyes, and the toss of the dainty head; I repeat it; I will ferule the first scholar whom I see whispering without leave!

This time there was no mistaking it; there was a perceptible motion of Anna Hawkes' pretty head, an unmistakable light in her eyes, and a whole, unbroken sentence wreathed about the curve of her lips, as she turned carelessly to her books, you can ferule me if you choose, she said mutely, not believing that he would venture to do it.

And I certainly will, was the silent reply of the young man, confident the while that she would not allow him an opportunity of putting his threat in execution. But he was ill at ease as he turned moodily to the arithmetic class, from which his attention had been drawn by the unusual confusion. Affairs had taken a disagreeable turn, an unexpected course, and whatever he might do, he could not better them. There was but one way for him. He must put a stern face upon the matter. He must maintain his dignity as a teacher, even if he was obliged to thrust roughly aside his own wishes and inclinations. Anna Hawkes, pleasant, witching, graceful Anna, the one bright star that threw so much light upon his arduous, tiresome duties; the warm-hearted girl who had grown nearer and dearer to him as the dull wintry days went by, till he had dared hope, silently, yet earnestly, that some time he might be more to her than any one else in the world; even she, if she came between him and his duties, must be sacrificed. It was a miserable thought, and he greeted it with a long, deep-drawn sigh.

Not once during that forenoon did he venture to look towards Anna's seat, or allow himself to pause anywhere in her vicinity, for fear his ears might be greeted by a provoking whisper. Not once, I say, but I must except the long recess, during which he watched her eagerly, as she bent over her slate, working out her algebraic problems, apparently lost to every thing about her. Two or three times he half started from his seat to go to her assistance, as she knitted her white brows perplexedly, but a strange new feeling, like pride, kept him back. He thought he had never seen her look half so pretty or lovable as then, as she sat there bending thoughtfully over her book, with one white hand running rapidly and gracefully over her slate. Her dress of dark crimson cloth, with its full sleeves confined at the wrists by black velvet bands, fashioned high in the neck, but in such a manner as to display her full white throat was strangely becoming to her. He had never thought of it before, but there was certain refinement in her taste that was truly pleasing. It was visible in everything she wore—the dainty cantrill collar confined at the throat with a small breast-pin; the kinds of black velvet ribbon fastened about her luxuriant soft brown braids; the petite black silk apron, with its girde of silk cord, and full, large, drooping tassels, and even the slender, shining little kid boots that peeped daintily out from the folds of her ample skirt. In all his life Arthur Stone had never looked upon a face or figure so pleasant or captivating. But as he watched her, she raised her eyes to his face. In a moment the pretty seriousness which had rested so becomingly upon her features was gone. A provoking smile curled up her rosy mouth, and went with a sudden rush of triumph over her whole face, dilating her finely curved nostrils and sweeping like very sunshine over the blue of her eyes, making such rare dimples about her chin, as one might have supposed to have been fitted by the cunning forefinger of Cupid himself.

Arthur Stone was vexed, but he was too much a man of the world to allow the young girl to know how much she was capable of annoying him, and so after the first flame of petty anger had died out from his cheeks and forehead, he said in a voice, the coolness of which surprised even himself—

Can I be of assistance to you, Miss Hawkes?

None, sir, thank you. I have quite conquered my exercises alone to-day.

Foolish fellow! The very coolness of his manner betrayed the secret which he strove to hide. There was little need of covert if there was nothing to conceal. And so it was that the forenoon slipped unpleasantly by, and the afternoon came in its stead. The teacher's rule so far, was a good one. If Anna Hawkes had not been present, Mr. Stone would have counted it a success, but as it was, he was in a constant tremor of fear.

A raised hand in the neighborhood of her seat, and a timid application for assistance, was met with something like an unreasonable frown. In a hurried, nervous way, he proceeded to explain away the difficulty to the timid applicant, anxious to be free from such dangerous surroundings. Just as he was congratulating himself upon his success, and about turning away, a rapid, whispered volley of words rattled past his ears.—There was no avoiding it. He knew the source from whence they came as well as did every scholar that heard them. He could not pass thoughtlessly along.

The dread alarm had come with such a sudden distinctness as to surprise him into an involuntary start. Every pair of eyes in the school-room were turned inquiringly and curiously to his face. He was forced into doing his duty. The heavy beard about his mouth was friendly to him, then, covered a suspicious pallor that settled there as he turned about and rested his eyes sternly upon the blushing piquant face of Anna Hawkes. She was the picture of innocence just then, her brown lashes dropped low upon her cheeks, and the pearly white teeth crushed cruelly down upon the crimson of her lips.

Miss Hawkes, can you tell me who whispered a moment since?

Yes, sir. The white lids were thrown wide open, and the clear eye gazed frankly upon his own.

Who?

I, sir.

Will you oblige me by stepping this way a moment? He led the way out into the door.

Yes, sir, certainly. She followed him promptly, pausing beside the desk and resting one hand prettily upon its top.

I suppose you listened to my rule of this morning?

You understood it, too, doubtless?

Yes, sir, perfectly.

Understanding it perfectly, then, you have been pleased to break it. Can you name my duty?

It does not admit of a question. Ferule me, sir. She commenced drawing a slender gold ring from her left hand. This hand she asked, suddenly, looking up into his face.

We have plenty of time, Miss Hawkes; do not hurry, he said, evading her question; I have something to say to you.

She leaned her elbow upon the desk, and her burning face upon her hand. I shall be happy to listen to you, she said.

I will not trouble you but a moment, only to say that I regret, more than I am able to express, that a scholar whom I have ever endeavored to treat with uniform courtesy and respect, and in whose advancement I had felt a lively interest, should by so daring a misdemeanor—such an utter contempt of my wishes—avow a disregard for me as a teacher and a friend. Such a display is unpleasant enough, if a mere child willfully breaks the rule of the school; but when, instead, a young gentleman or lady so far forgets him or herself it is intensely painful. I assure you that I deeply regret this.

Anna bowed gracefully as Mr. Stone ceased speaking. Again her white teeth were bared into her lips, while the brown lashes trembled close upon the deep, burning red of her cheeks.

Your hand, if you please.

The little white hand was reached forth as though it were to receive a caress instead of a blow. As it lay so tenderly and trustingly on the broad palm of the teacher, he inwardly cursed his stars. He called himself a brute, a tyrant, a monster. He had a mind to get down upon his knees and pray for a big-mouthed earthquake to come and swallow him up; for a sudden flash of lightning (in the winter time) to melt him into nonentity; for a whirlwind to sweep him with its rapid, rushing wind from off the face of the earth. Strike that little dimpled hand with a cruel two inch rule? He had rather cover, aye, blister it with kisses, instead. It trembled in his grasp, and about the mouth of the owner a little white line was indicating the redness of her lips. For a moment he thought he'd kneel before her, and ask her to give the pale prisoner entirely to him. It would be his hand then, and no one could blame him for not wishing to injure his own property. A thought struck him. He might strike his own hand instead of Anna's—he could shield her and take the blow himself. The idea was a rare one. He was in a mood to crack every knuckle that he owned. He raised his ruler. Anna raised her eyes to his face. His fixed, determined expression startled her. She would bear his blows without shrinking, without starting, she thought; but, O, she would hate him, hate him, hate him, so long as she lived! As the thought passed through her mind, a gay, dashing-looking sleigh, drawn by a pair of fine horses, came rapidly up to the school-house door.

Lucky, lucky Mr. Stone, the rule fell harmlessly upon the fair, rosy palm of Anna, as he turned his eyes towards the window, and exclaimed hurriedly:

The committee, Miss Hawkes. You can take your seat now, but remain to-night after school. Even for this interruption I should feel justified in letting the affair pass.

The last committee-man upon earth that I would care to see! exclaimed Mr. Stone to himself, as he bowed low before the pompous young gentleman, known by the cognomen of Dr. Wesley Barker, who rapped with his whip upon the door—said young gentleman being one of wealth and education.

But the teacher did not care a fig for his wealth—he did not envy him—or any thing for his education—his own was quite equal to it. But what he did care for, was, that Dr. Barker was a great admirer of Anna Hawkes, and in the present state of affairs he did not care about having rivals around. Everything went along smoothly during school hours, as it always did during the visit of the several committees, but the moment school was dismissed, Dr. Barker stalked across the school-room floor and up to Anna Hawkes' seat. Mr. Stone bit his lips with vexation. His rival had made his appearance in the nick of time. He despised meanness heartily, denounced it, but now in spite of himself, he stood and listened eagerly to catch the few words that dropped from Dr. Barker's and Anna's lips.

I'll ask Mr. Stone to excuse me, he heard Anna say.

Which of course he will do, replied Dr. Barker.

I am not certain, was the smiling reply, as she started towards his desk.

I hope you'll pardon me for daring to ask such a thing, but Dr. Barker wishes me to drive with him in his new sleigh, which I am very anxious to do, and so I'd like to be excused from remaining to-night to take my feruling, promising to come early to-morrow morning.

Mr. Stone bowed and said, "very well," though the words quite choked him. He heartily wished Dr. Barker and his new sleigh in China, and himself free from the vocation of school teaching. He thought as he stood moodily by his desk watching Anna Hawkes pin her plaid shawl closely about her throat and tie under her chin the blue ribbons of her quilted hood, preparatory to her drive with Dr. Barker, that he was the most miserable man in existence, and that he would purchase him a farm, work shoveling on the railroad, would do anything rather than teach another school. He had engaged already to take charge of the village academy the following spring, but now he resolved that he would not do it—he would throw up the engagement at once.

No doubt she thinks me a very brute, he said to himself, as the gay equipage went dashing down the street. Perhaps, after all, she had not meditated that ruthless attack upon his dignity and patience. Indeed, now he thought of it again, the whisper was more like a sudden exclamation than anything else. Yet he had not given her the slightest chance for an explanation, but like the executioner who loved his occupation, hurried her forward to a punishment—the dot, that he called himself. He had a very poor opinion of Arthur Stone just at that moment. He was sure that he would like to horsewhip him.

A fair counterpart of the pupil's thoughts and feelings, were those of the teacher. It was a dull, dreary drive that Anna Hawkes took with Dr. Barker. She hadn't a heart to enjoy it after the folly of the afternoon. He thinks that I do not care for, nor respect him, was the thought uppermost in her mind, whichever way she turned. And this is the return I am making him for all his kindness to me—all the interest he has taken in my studies, both in and out of school. Oh, if he could but know the truth!

The truth! The young girl startled herself by the words. And what was the truth? She buried her burning face in her hands, as she asked the question. It was this. She loved Arthur Stone!—loved him better than life itself. A cry of pain went from her lips, as the knowledge slowly settled down upon her heart. But what proof had she given him of this? What proof that she was any other than a vain, selfish, unwomanly thing! None, alas, none! Like any woman who is conscious of her power, she gloried in her power over Arthur Stone. But how was he to know that it was any but the glory of a fickle, heartless coquette, rather than that of a strong, loving, true-hearted woman, who makes her power a golden chain about the heart of the man she loves, by which she draws him tenderly and gently towards her! How, oh, how was he to know it? The thought was agonizing to her.

She resolved at last to go to him in the morning and confess her fault, humbling as it was. He should know, at least, that she held his feelings too sacred to wound them wantonly. But in the morning, sick and feverish, she was scarcely able to lift her head from the pillow. She could not see Arthur that day, and so she must contentedly wait for the next. Against her wishes, Dr. Barker was summoned, who creaked dubiously of a fever which was hanging about her. She must be careful, he very quiet, and follow his directions, he said, and he would come again in the afternoon, but an unlucky hour, Anna sat leaned back in a rocking chair by the window, looking eagerly up the street. But while he prated learnedly at her side, he saw a rapid red stain through the whiteness of her cheeks, and an eager light break out from the clear blue of her eyes. Arthur Stone was passing by the house, and viewing with a scornful curl of the lip the handsome equipage of Dr. Barker. He did not look beyond it to the pale face bent so earnestly towards him, but turned his eyes coldly away and walked haughtily down the street, while Anna sank back with a sigh into the softly cushioned chair. The next morning she refused to remain away from school another day. Arthur Stone would say that she was cowardly, that she feared a feruling, that she absented herself purposely, because of the misunderstanding of Tuesday afternoon, which she was too guilty to face again. She would go to school, though she dropped fainting on her way. She could not rest until her weary mind was unburdened of this heavy load. So she went, pale and trembling, at an early hour, to the school-house.

How he scorns me—how he hates me! she thought, as Mr. Stone quietly raised his eyes to her face, and bowed a silent good morning as she entered the room. How could she ever face that stern, cold gaze, and make her excuses for not keeping her appointment of the previous evening.

I was too ill to come out yesterday morning, she said in a trembling voice, or I should not have broken my promise. Will this morning do as well?

Mr. Stone glanced keenly into her face. The blanched cheeks, and white, quivering lips, testified to the truth of what she said. Are you able to be here now? he asked in a tone of voice that had more of tenderness than might else running through it.

Hardly. You can ferule me, and I will go home, she said, while her cheeks crimsoned with shame.

Mr. Stone bit his lips to keep back a reply which rose involuntarily to them. Again was that tender white hand before him, waiting meekly for its punishment, now weak and trembling from illness. Did she think him a brute? Quite evidently, from her action.

I—regret that I wounded your feelings on Tuesday, she said, raising her eyes to his face. I am thoughtless, I hope not heartless. Will you pardon me? The question was asked in a low, quivering voice, half choked with tears.

Pardon you! Mr. Stone repeated the words slowly, in a clear, emphatic tone.

Is it too much to ask? You will not refuse me—you could not refuse me, if you knew—

What!

How utterly miserable I am. I cannot stay here—here's my hand—be quick—let me go home!

With a quick rapid movement, the teacher grasped the little, feverish hand that was outstretched to him, and covered it over and over with fervent, passionate kisses.

Forgive you! he said, while his fine eyes grew deep and tender in their expression—Forgive you! Yes! a thousand times, and then not able to show you a millionth part of the love which I bear for you. Forgive you! but I'll dare ask more than you—dare hope, perhaps, more than you care to hope—that you place yourself, and this sinned against, abused little hand, in my keeping. Tell me, Anna, have I asked too much!

The answer was faint and low, that came from Anna Hawkes' lips, but, nevertheless, it was a satisfactory one, for the sweet little mouth from whence it came took its immediate reward in kisses.

So it all ended; and a few weeks after, Anna Hawkes became Mrs. Arthur Stone, much to the satisfaction of the wondering school at Elton.

A Flea Under a Microscope.

When a flea is made to appear as large as an elephant, we can see all the wonderful parts of its formation, and are astonished to find that it has a coat of armor much more complete than ever warrior wore, and composed of strong polished plates fitted over each other, each plate covered like a tortoise-shell, and where they meet, hundreds of strong quills project, like those on the back of the porcupine or hedgehog. There are the arched neck, the bright eyes, the transparent cases, the piercers to puncture the skin, a sucker to draw away the blood, six long-jointed legs, four of which are folded on the breast, all ready, at any moment, to be thrown out with tremendous force for that jump which bothers one when they want to catch him, and at the end of each leg hooked claws, to enable him to cling to whatever he alights upon. A flea can jump a hundred times his own length, which is the same as if a man jumped seven hundred feet; and he can draw a load two hundred times his own weight.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Feb. 5th, 1859.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

FIRE AND SERIOUS ACCIDENT. Last Tuesday evening, about nine o'clock, a barn situated in the rear of Capt. Jonathan Spear's house was entirely consumed by fire, with nearly three tons of hay. The barn belonged to T. J. Nightingale, and the hay was owned by O. T. Newcomb. The fire was doubtless the work of an incendiary.

After the fire, and while the fire companies were returning home, a sad accident occurred which it was feared would result in the loss of two lives. As the Niagara and Tiger Engines were ascending Shaw's Hill, both companies nearly abreast, Independence Engine Company, of Dorchester, appeared in sight, coming down the hill, and in a moment the three machines came in collision. John Cahill was knocked down, run over, and had his skull fractured. Edward Flynn was also run over, and had his shoulder and arm broken. Several others were more or less injured.

UNIVERSALIST LEVEE. The proclamation has been given to the people, and they are on "up-toe" awaiting the approach of the day, which is to set before them a rich feast, if we can judge from what we see and hear. The entertainment announced to take place on Wednesday evening next, is entirely different from those of former years, and of that nature that cannot fail to please the audience. We have heard it whispered among some of the prominent members of this Society, that a grand waltz is to take place at ten, in which only the "sombre deacon"—in his long coat and brass buttons—and the fair daughter of Eden, who was disappointed at the late picnic at Abington, are to take part.

LYCEUM. The next lecture before the Lyceum, will be on Thursday evening next, by Parker Pillsbury, on Foreign Travels, Foreign Travellers, and Lessons of Travel. Mr. Pillsbury is a very fluent speaker; possesses great descriptive powers; originality of thought; and his lecture being from "views upon the spot," by "one who has been there," cannot fail of being an instructive and pleasing entertainment. It has been received elsewhere with great acceptance, and we bespeak for the Lyceum a full house.

NEW BATTALION. Gov. Banks has issued a special order for the formation of a new Infantry Battalion, to be composed of the Boston Light Infantry, New England Guard, and City Guard, now attached to the first Regiment of that city.

COAL. Joseph G. Brackett, of this town, has still a large supply of the best coal, which he is selling at the lowest market prices.

DORCHESTER HORSE RAILROAD. Further mutual delay has been given to this Corporation to extend their road, in compliance with their charter, before the authorities of Dorchester proceed to remove the track, as voted by the inhabitants of said town, at a legal meeting held for that purpose.

BAKING BUSINESS. It gives us pleasure to announce that good success has attended Messrs. Trout & Glover, who recently commenced the baking business in this town; and as every effort will be made on their part to furnish their fellow-townsmen with the best article of bread, cake, etc., we hope that additional patronage may attend their enterprising labors.

Never be without a box of "My Mother's Salve," which gives immediate relief to those afflicted with boils, sores, cuts, piles, etc. See advertisement.

A conductor on the New York Central Railroad, on the evening of Jan. 10th, rode twenty-one miles on the top of a car, acting the twofold part of brakeman and conductor; the thermometer was fifteen degrees below zero.

The Rock Creek Baptist Church of South Carolina have passed resolutions declaring their readiness to defend Slavery with all the means that God has given them," but expressing their unqualified disapprobation of importing more negroes from Africa.

A gentleman of Cincinnati offers to give a silver goblet of the value of one hundred dollars, or that sum of money if preferred, for grapes that will be superior to Catawba, for the purposes of wine.

Birthday of Robert Burns.

At the Burns festival held at the Revere House, Boston, on the 25th ult., it being the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, Scotland's most popular poet, the following ode, composed by Jeffrey R. Brackett, Esq., was delivered by him:

From the deep shadows of the past,
Each century, as it turns,
Brings up the echoes of the last,
So this day round the earth is cast
The loved name of Burns.

And well beloved! whose is the heart
That warms not at his name?
Ghosts that know no rank nor art
The humble ploughman set apart,
And bid him live to Fame.

Nature poured blessings on his head,
Her own, her gentle child,
For him her lap was always spread,
Birds sang above, and at his head
The little daisies smiled.

His love was gentle as the sun
That shines alike on all,
Overflowing, spring-like, in his fun,
As Summer in the solstice sun,
Or like the chastened Fall.

Among the humbles of the earth,
With open heart and hand,
He passed, esteeming little worth
The accidental claims, by birth,
Of titled name, or land.

He worshipped "Heaven's Eternal King,"
At no sectarian nod,
Trusting at death his harp to string,
And join the songs that seraphs sing
Around the throne of God.

While Scotland has a worthy child
At home, or in a foreign clime,
His country's music will wake a wild
Yet holy joy—as erst, when smiled
His mother on his cradle time.

The bonnie Doon, his winding ways
May keep, or cease forever,
But he, who lived among its braes,
And gave to us its touching lays,
Shall be forgotten never.

Boston Correspondence.

BOSTON, Feb. 3, 1859.

Cuba, its purchase—Serious objections—General Court—Proposed Amendments of the Constitution—Other matters.

The latest advices from Washington assure us that matters are in a very unsettled state there, both in politics and legislation. The tariff and the Pacific Railroad project have evidently found a quidus this session. With a portion of the Democratic party the acquisition of Cuba is one idea, and the re-opening of the slave trade another, as elements in the next presidential campaign. With some, the Island of Cuba must be acquired, peacefully if possible—by belligerent means if necessary. On this measure, Mr. Douglas seems to be with the friends of the President. But he repudiates any desire to acquire Cuba, unless by means that will stand the test of reason, international law, and the rules of political morals. This takes the edge off, in some measure, from impending injustice to a weak but proud nation, whose ancient flag waves as rightfully over this island as the American ensign does over the portals of the capital at Washington. Spain declines to sell Cuba, and looks upon any overtures for that purpose as an insult on the part of our government. All efforts at negotiation should, by the rules of international courtesy, cease on our part.

The minority report of Congress on the purchase of Cuba, recently submitted, is an able document, and shows that we should not make much of a bargain after all, even allowing a voluntary cession on the part of Spain. Its acquisition would add to the already discordant materials in the United States, that keeps the general government always in trouble. Besides, the committee regard the idea of pecuniary gain to Uncle Sam as all moonshine. Most of the lands in Cuba, of any value, are in the hands of private individuals, and the United States would acquire nothing by its purchase but the political control of the island, with large national outlays and comparative small income. The income of Cuba to Spain is derived mostly from enormous annual taxes. It annexed to us, no taxes could be levied, and this great income to the Spanish government would cease to us.

The union of Cuba with the United States, would bring to us many strange bedfellows. The population of this island in 1854, was composed of 501,888 whites, 176,647 free colored people, and 330,425 slaves—a large portion of the latter are in the savage state, and the inhabitants of the whole island (over half of whom are colored), in language, manners, habits and education, are as diverse from us as the Chinese are to the Highlanders of Scotland. So that we must permit Cuba to slide—at least, for the present.

The General Court may be regarded as a model legislature for diligence and the dispatch of public business. The House and Senate are to work as busy as bees. On Monday, Mr. Morton, of Quincy, submitted the following order, which was adopted:—That the Finance Committee be instructed to inquire and report the full amount of the salary, fees, and commissions received by the Treasurers of the several Counties in the State, and also in what manner and by whom said salaries, fees and commissions are paid.

A bill has been before the House relative to trespasses upon real estate, which makes the entering upon cultivated grounds, contrary to posted notices, punishable by imprisonment. The merits of the bill were discussed by Mr. Sumner of Great Barrington, Wentworth of Lowell, Morton of Quincy, and others. It was finally killed by indefinite postponement. Many other matters are on the tapis in the House, which I may allude to in my next.

An order is pending for a joint committee to consider the expediency of amending the Constitution so as to abolish the Executive Council. Should this, in the course of human events, occur, the Lieut. Governor would probably be President of the Senate, ex-officio, and nominations for State office would be sent by the Governor to the Senate for confirmation, even to the appointment of justices of the peace.

In the Senate, on Tuesday, a bill authorizing Samuel R. Edwards and others to widen Town River in Quincy, was ordered to be engrossed.

The resolve providing for an amendment of the Constitution, relative to the qualification of voters, requiring two years' residence after naturalization, will be acted upon in the Senate on Friday. This proposed change in our organic State government passed the order of the last Legislature, and if sustained by the present one, will go next spring to the people for their ratification or rejection. x.

An Acceptable Gift.

QUINCY, Jan. 21st, 1859.

MR. GREEN: Some days since the writer received by express a box containing two very fine pipes—a present from a friend in the country—and accompanying them the enclosed lines; and if you think them worthy to be inserted in the Patriot, I should be pleased to have you do so.

Yours truly,

A CONSTANT READER.

For what my little flock to leave I did consent,
Such a role as this I did not expect, but still am content—
But no living man must ever boast
Of my little carcass for a holiday roast;

For if some one, who no sympathy can feel,
Should roast me till I'm brown, on his table I'll squeal,
Give me a good bed in a snug little house,
And in the night, when you rest, I'll lay still as a mouse.

For my food your leavings I'll eat, and skins
From tatoes you peel,
For on that I can make a luscious meal;
Then after I add some bran, scalded with Indian meal,
And soon I'll be fat as a seal.

In water soak some corn,
For that I've had ever since I was born;
To me it is good indeed,
And it is cheap as anything you can feed.

Now if us two you have no need,
And cannot afford as well to feed,
For on poor feed we cannot prosper,
Just give my brother to Mr. Foster.

He I'm sure, so free from hate,
Will watch well his fate—
Keep us in this way till next December,
And I'll give you some Pork you'll always remember.

Whilst in the main,
You'll find now and then a streak of lean
Fit for roast and sausage meat,
Good enough for any king to eat.

My mistress, too, her pots I'll fill with lard,
Which she will say she never had so hard;
Instead of Western grease, always mean,
She will know she has got some nice and clean.

Thus in haste these modest hints I give,
Trusting that I in your hands my natural life to live.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

If a man fails to the amount of a million,
It is all right; but let him fail to the amount of his board bill, and he is a scoundrel.

The long row of market sheds which have so long disfigured Market street, in Philadelphia, is to be removed next April, and a new market erected.

A woman in Saginaw county (Mich.) recently gave birth to four children at one time, and to reward her a bill has been or will be introduced into the Legislature, donating her two hundred and twenty acres of land, situated in that county.

The bodies of the Philadelphians who, in 1855, fell victims to the yellow fever in Norfolk and Portsmouth (Va.) have been disinterred and removed to Philadelphia for final interment.

The Louisville Journal estimates the hog crop this year at 2,130,000 hogs, against 2,430,000 last year. The quality is vastly inferior, there being a falling off in weight of eight to twenty per cent, which will make the real supply equal to about 1,875,000, as compared with last year.

A girl of Monterey, Mass., aged ten years, died a short time since of consumption, induced by the shock of a paragon seed which she accidentally swallowed a few months previous, in lodging in her windpipe and finally getting into her lungs.

There are eighty four railroads in the State of New York, which cost one hundred and thirty-seven million dollars, and only fourteen pay dividends.

There are now on the Court of Appeals calendar of the State of New York, five and six hundred cases, and a cause entered to-day may not be reached in three years.

A farmer at Weathersfield, Connecticut, sold a lot of land, and the purchaser, on examination, found nineteen pounds of entrails and other refuse carefully concealed within.

At St. Helena, South Carolina, two weeks since, the orange trees were budding, and corn, sprung from wasted seed, was from five to six inches in height.

The citizens in the town of Bloomington, in Douglas county, Illinois, have recently passed an ordinance, entitling a woman to an equality with the men, as voters.

Special Notices.

LEVEE. Universalists of Quincy, will hold their Annual Social Levee in the Town Hall in Quincy, on WEDNESDAY evening, February the 9th, to which the citizens of Quincy and vicinity are respectfully invited. The entertainment in the first part of the evening will consist of a Shaker Dance, an Old Folks' Concert, a Quilting Bee, an Apple Paring, an Old Fashion "Fore-an'-after," &c. Admission Ticket, 25 cents; Dancing, 50. A Committee will be in attendance to take charge of Clothing.

Dance to commence at 6 1/2 o'clock. Shaker Dance to commence at 8 o'clock. Entrance through the Lyceum Room. Quincy Jan. 29th. 2w

QUINCY LYCEUM. The next Lecture before this Association will be given on THURSDAY Evening, Feb. 10th, at 7 1/2 o'clock, by Parker Pillsbury, Esq., of Boston. Subject, "Foreign Travel." JOHN O. HOLDEN, Sec'y. Quincy, Jan. 29. 2w

SPIRITUALISTS MEETING. Services, usual hours, forenoon and afternoon. In Johnson's (Marion's) Hall, Mr. Monroe, editor of Spiritual Age, will speak to-morrow, forenoon and afternoon. Quincy, Feb. 5. 1w

Paper Hangings and Borderings for the Spring Trade. C. Gill & Co. announce that they shall soon open and have ready for examination and sale a stock of Paper Hangings and Borderings far superior in style, beauty, and quality to any ever sold in this place. Being satisfied that the trade of Quincy and vicinity will justify us in presenting a much larger and handsomer stock than has heretofore been kept, we have made arrangements for a supply of Papers of an entirely different manufacture, which we are assured will be exactly the kind of Papers and Borders wanted in this community, and to which we shall, as soon as the papering season opens, invite the attention of purchasers by a more definite description.

A BOOK FOR THE MILLION. Just published by FEDERHEN & Co., Booksellers and Stationers, No. 13 Court Street, Boston, a Brief Treatise of 48 pages, on Diseases of the Sexual System of both sexes—their symptoms and treatment—prepared by a physician of the Boston Eclectic Hospital. This work also contains a scathing exposure of the deception and imposture practiced by advertising quacks, with some of their names and locations. Sold by periodical dealers generally. Sent by mail, on the receipt of three postage stamps. Address Box 1802, Boston Post Office. Feb. 27. 1y

Deaths.

In this town, on the 31st ult., Mr. Daniel Hobart, 2d, aged 58 years and 6 months. On the 2d inst., Mrs. Lydia Dunlap, aged 82 years.

In Sheffield, (Ill.) on the 20th ult., Mrs. Hannah F. wife of Coleman Dole, formerly of this town, aged 28 years. In Braintree, on the 1st inst., Mrs. Elizabeth D., wife of Dea. Elias Hayward, aged 51 years.

In Milton, on the 21st ult., Mrs. Mary widow of the late Asaph Churchill, aged 75 years and 4 months.

In Braintree, on the 14th ult., Mr. Samuel Hayden, aged 81 years.

VALENTINES!

A Great Variety CAN BE FOUND AT THE

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Feb. 5. 1f

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Boat-maker, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

ASA POPE,

All persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

OZIAS M. POPE, Adm'r Quincy, Feb. 5th, 1858. 3w

Executors' Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscribers have been duly appointed Executors of the will of

WILLIAM COOLIDGE,

late of Weymouth, in the County of Norfolk, Gentleman, deceased, and have accepted said trust.

All persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

RACHEL COOLIDGE, } Executors. EUGENE Z. RICHARDS, } Quincy, Jan. 22d, 1859. 3w

Auction.

WILL be sold at Public Auction, on MONDAY, the 28th day of February next, at 3 o'clock P. M., on the premises, the following described lot of land with the Buildings standing thereon, situated in Quincy—bounded and described as follows:

Commencing on Granite Place, on land of Daniel and George L. Baxter, running westerly two hundred and fifteen feet to land of William Smith, thence northerly to land of said Smith one hundred and fifty feet to land of Francis Jackson; thence easterly on a line parallel with said Granite Place one hundred and twenty feet to land of Roland Over; thence southerly about sixty-five feet on land of said Roland Over; thence easterly ninety-five feet on said Over's land; thence southerly on land of said Baxter to Granite Place about eighty-five feet.

The above mentioned premises to be sold for breach of condition of mortgage on the same to the Quincy Loan and Savings Association. GEORGE WHITE, Atty Quincy Loan and Savings Association. Quincy, Jan. 29th, 1856. 4w

Statement of Finances. OF THE County of Norfolk.

As Condensed and Classified From the Treasurer's Report, Dec. 31, 1858

1858, Dec. 31. By cash collection of County Tax for 1858, which has been promptly paid by every town and city, and no part in arrears, $40,000 00

Expenditure as Follows:

1858. Department—Jail and House of Correction. Supplies, provisions, clothing, &c. 1st Quarter. 2d Quarter. 3d Quarter. 4th Quarter. $1722 28 1357 40 2175 86 2190 46

Stock, materials, utensils, repairs, &c. 1st Quarter. 2d Quarter. 3d Quarter. 4th Quarter. $311 74 275 87 71 07 323 50

Superintendence, Sheriff, Master, Matron, Inspectors, Overseers, Watchmen, Assistants, Clerk, labor, &c. 1st Quarter. 2d Quarter. 3d Quarter. 4th Quarter. $1179 50 1082 25 1057 75 1085 25

Fuel, 182 39 287 98 274 63

Other expenditures 1st Quarter. 2d Quarter. 3d Quarter. 4th Quarter. $22 00 21 28 21 70 192 91

Total expenditures of this department, 1858. 1st Quarter. 2d Quarter. 3d Quarter. 4th Quarter. Total. $4281 1 3922 78 3326 38 4066 77 18344 04

Criminal costs, $25,110.00—see enclosed and certified by the District Attorney and Clerk of Courts, but exclusive of cost of support of prisoners in Jail and House of Correction—one-third part paid by the County. $380 20

Attendance and travel of Traverser Jones 3682 71

Expenses Commissioners' Office, attendance, travel, &c. $865 45; 2992 73

Sherrill's and Deputies' fees, $865 45; 2992 73

Service of road notices by Sheriff upon towns and corporations, $207 50; Attendance, and service tax warrants, &c. 91 00 1163 95

Messenger and expenses Court House and Office, and purchases, 659 13

Land damage, 1858, 1964 34

Surveying and Expenses, 191 93

Coal for Court House, Offices, Jail and House of Correction, 617 24

County Treasurer's Office, salary and Stationery, 712 30

Interest account paid, 1119 62

Chapman, 130 00

Clerk's Office—Printing, $29 60; Stationery, 64 15; Fees, &c. 404 23; S. J. C. and C. P. Dockets and Records, 22 50, 529 38

Register Deeds' Office—for Stationery, 269 50; making Indices, 300 00 569 50

Probate Court—Furniture for do., Roxbury and Dedham, 141 00; Rent of Rooms, Roxbury, &c. 76 00; Probate Blanks, 70 25, 287 25

Comer's Imprests, 244 92

Fire lamp and oil, 166 40

Highways, stone bounds and setting, 172 96

do Rents, postage, &c. 69 72

Alterations and repairs, public buildings and furniture, Court House, Jail and House of Correction, 1122 50

Grand Jurors, 265 20

Examiners and Clerks of Courts, 190 00

Accounts of 1855, 1856, and 1857, included in estimates of 1858, 2363 84

Justices' Juries, 180 20

Constables for Venues, 173 31

Advertising and Printing, 249 65

Lunatic cases, 22 00

Gas for Court House, Jail, House of Correction, and offices, 138 20

Special Commissioners for attendance and travel, 627 70

1858, JAN. 12th: By cash from collections of 1857, &c. $21,797 21

By cash received from loans, 18,000 00

From corporations, &c. 1,154 59

By County Treasurer from other sources, 1,507 86

$42,359 59

To had damage warrants, 1855 to 1858, including in estimates of 1858 $7,998 20

To balance brought down, 2,555 02

To payment of note and interest, 15,795 01

$26,648 23

Balance Cash in hands of Treasurer, $15,751 76

COUNTY DEBT, JAN. 1, 1859. The same being partly a residue of debt incurred in the erection of the new Jail and House of Correction.

Amount of County debt upon notes payable, over amount of Cash in Treasury, 15,243 21

As follows: Payable Jan. 16, 1859, $3,000 00

Payable Jan. 1, 1860, 10,000 00

Payable Jan. 1, 1861, 15,000 00

Payable Jan. 1, 1863, 3,000 00

Cash in Treasury, $15,752 76

$15,243 21

C. C. CHURCHILL, County Treasurer.

N. F. SAFFORD, County

SETH MANN, 2d Commissioners,

LUCAS FORD, 3w

Feb. 2

LIVERY STABLE.

THE subscriber having purchased the establishment of George J. Jones, on Hancock street, and made additions thereto, is prepared, at the old stand, to accommodate his friends and the public with

Horses and Carriages.

PLEASURE PARTIES furnished with teams and drivers, or single carriages, at the shortest notice.

Personal attention given to the business, and a liberal support from the public solicited.

Quincy, Nov. 13. DAVID E. ROBY. 1f

Important to Housekeepers.

SONERS & CO'S POLISH.

IS recommended by all who have used it, to be the BEST ARTICLE yet discovered for cleaning and polishing Parquettes and Furniture of every description, in the shortest possible time.

Any lady or child can use it. It removes

OIL, GREASE, OR STAINS

of any kind, and will make any article of Furniture look as well as new. It is decidedly the best article in use for restoring Cottage Leather, Harnesses, Patent Leather Boots, &c. &c.

$2 per dozen, or 37 cents Single Bottle.

SOLE BY SONERS & CO.

At his Upholstery Rooms,

265 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

Persons wishing Furniture Repaired or cleaned, or any other work, can have it done at their homes, by addressing a line through the mail, Boston, Jan. 22.

AUCTION.

WILL be sold at Public Auction, on TUESDAY, the 5th day of February next, at 2 o'clock P. M.,

Poetry.

The Perplexed Housekeeper.

I wish I had a dozen pairs
Of hands this very minute;
I'd soon put all these things to rights—
The very deuce is in it.

Here's a big washing to be done;
One pair of hands to do it,
Shirts, shirts and stockings, coats and pants!
How will I ever get through it?

Dinner to get for six or more,
No loaf left over for Sunday;
And baby cross as he can live—
He's always so on Monday.

And there's the cream, 'tis turning sour,
I must forthwith be churning,
And here a Bod wants a button—
Which way shall I be turning?

'Tis time the meat was in the pot,
The bread was worked for baking,
The clothes were taken from the boil—
Oh, dear! the baby's waking.

Hush, baby dear! there, hush-sh-sh!
I wish he'd sleep a little;
Till I could run and get some wood
To hush up that kettle.

Oh, dear! if Henry does come home,
And find things in this potter,
He'll just begin to tell me all
About his tidy mother!

How nice her kitchen used to be,
Her dinner always ready,
Exactly when the noon bell rang—
Hush, hush, dear little Freddie.

And then will come some hasty word
Right out, before I'm thinking—
They say that hasty words from wives
Set sober men to drinking.

Now isn't that a great idea
That men should take to sinning
Because a weary half-sick wife
Can't always smile so winning?

When I was young, I used to earn
My living without trouble,
Had clothes, and pocket money, too,
And hours of leisure double.

I never dreamed of such a fate,
When I, a Lass was courted—Wife, mother, nurse, seamstress, cook, housekeeper, chambermaid, landlady, dandy-woman, scrub-woman, doing the work of six,
For the sake of being supped.

Winter

Cold winds, white snow,
Now rain, now thaw,
And chill the landscape's Autumn glow;
The ice bolts freeze;
The naked trees;
And seal the old year's obsequies.

A leaden sky
Drop heavily,
As dull and glazed as dead man's eye;
The sweeping clouds,
In cold, cold crowds,
Enfold the day in ghastly shrouds.

The woods lie bare,
And here and there
The gray moss hangs its mournful hair;
The leaves that burned,
By fierce winds spurned,
Lie mouldering 'neath the soil matted.

The snowy vines
In leafless lines
Hang sadly round the sombre pines;
Through their festoons
Ring solemn tones,
As weird as any northern runes.

The day is cold,
The earth is odd,
And mourns its sunnier, squandered gold;
The birds are dumb,
The springs are dumb,
For winter in his might hath come.

Deeds and Words.

When'er a noble deed is wrought,
When'er is spoken a noble thought,
Our hearts in glad surprise
To higher levels rise.

Honor to those whose words or deeds
Thus help us in our daily needs,
And by their overflow
Raise us from what is low!

Anecdotes.

A countryman having lived himself to a farmer, had a cheese sent down to him that he might help himself. The master said to him:

Sandy, you take a long time to breakfast. In troth, master, answered he, a cheese of this size is nea sac soon eaten as ye may think.

The other day, Mrs. Snipkins, being unwell sent for a medical man, and declared that she was poisoned, and that Mr. Snipkins did it.

I didn't do it, shouted Snipkins. It's all gammon; she isn't poisoned. Prove it, doctor; open her on the spot; I'm willing.

A hard, close-fisted old lady, who had refused to give, after hearing a charity sermon, had her pocket picked after leaving the church. On making the discovery, she said:

If God could not find the way into my pocket, it seems that the Devil could!

A divine informed a sailor that the devil was chained up.

How long is the rope?

Oh, was the dignified reply, it extends over the world.

Does it? rejoined Jack; if so, the lubber might as well be loose.

My native city has treated me badly, said a drunken vagabond, but I love her still.

Probably, replied a gentleman, her still is all that you do love.

A father, winding his watch, said, playfully, to his little girl, let me wind up your nose!

No, said the child, I don't want my nose wound up, for I don't want it to run all day!

Cut this out and keep it for Reference.

Great Chance to Save Money!!

BY HAVING YOUR CLOTHES MADE BY
C. A. COLLINS,
203 Washington Street.

REASONS WHY. 1st. My rent is less than any Custom Tailor in Boston.
2. I buy my Goods for Cash, taking advantage of the market.
3. I sell my Goods for Cash only.
4. I make no bad debts for Customers to pay for.
5. I work for the interest of my Customers.

Gentlemen can depend on having Garments which for style, fit, nice trimming, and faithful work, cannot be surpassed.

I pay particular attention to making Pants, being the most difficult of all Garments to fit nicely and at the same time be perfectly easy.

My Pants are cut by a system original with myself, and used by no other person. I warrant my Pants to retain their shape at the boot till worn out, and to fit handsome and be easy in every particular.

Some of the Prices.

I sell a nice Frock or Dress Coat, from German black or colored Broad Cloths, made to order, for from $15 to $23.
Black German Doe Pants, 5 to 8
Sole Band and other style Pants, 5 to 8
Best quality Silk Vests, 4 to 5
Cloth, Valerita and Plaid Vests, 2 to 5
Business Coats, 9 to 13
Spring and Fall Over-Coats, 10 to 15
Winter Over-Coats, 12 to 20

Where gentlemen furnishing their own Cloth, I make and trim it for them into Garments in the best style, at less prices than any other Tailor in Boston.

Always on hand the newest and best goods of all the manufacturers of this and foreign countries.

CHESTER A. COLLINS,
203 Washington street, corner Bromfield street,
(Up stairs) — BOSTON.
Well known as the place to SAVE MONEY.
July 17. ly

FASHIONABLE
Tailoring EstablishmentJ. W. LOMBARD,

HAS taken rooms over the store of E. Clapp, (formerly occupied by Mr. J. M. Beckford), and wishes respectfully to inform his friends and the public generally that he intends to carry on

THE TAILORING BUSINESS,

In all its branches; and hopes by punctuality and strict attention to business to merit a share of patronage.

Quincy, Apr 18. ly

BUSINESS COATS, (Custom Made,) from

G to $10. T. DODDS.

Quincy, Oct. 31. ly

New Stock and New Styles!

PAPER HANGINGS.

HAVING a desire to accommodate many of our customers, and to increase the trade of our place, we have added to our former variety of Goods, an entirely

New and beautiful Stock of Paper Hangings,

Bordenings, Curtains, &c.,

COMPRISING 100 PATTERNS!

manufactured on the best paper and in the highest perfection of colors and styles.

Our assortment will always be kept good, and we shall spare no efforts to give the best satisfaction to the taste of all who wish to paper their rooms with attractive and pleasing patterns, on good paper and in good colors.

Our prices will range lower than is usual with the same qualities and styles in Boston, but we shall engage in no mean underselling any of our neighbors, our object being to present an additional inducement, for the Quincy people, to bestow their patronage upon their own traders, and find themselves suited in every respect as well or better than in the City.

Backers of new homes will be supplied on the most favorable terms.

C. GILL & CO.,

HANCOCK STREET.

Quincy March 27. ly

To Boot and Shoe

MANUFACTURERS.

WE wish to call your attention to the following Goods, which we are prepared to sell on the most favorable terms.

Black and Colored Dressing, finished especial-Black, Brown and Drab Cases, for Congress sinners.

Black Brown and Drab Feltings, of snow shoes.

Longings, all wool, Italian do. Silk and Cotton Warp do.

Serge de Berle's Rubber Gasket Webs, of beautiful quality for Congress Shoes.

Boots and Congress Webs, from 1/2 in. to 1 1/2 in., new style.

Gallies, black and colors, 1/2 and 1/2 in. widths.

Shoe Buckles; Congress and Linen Canvas.

Shoe Ribbons, Rosettes, and Sandal Web.

Eyeballs, Corals, Shoe Lacets and Strings, all sizes and lots. Shoe Buttons of all descriptions.

Linen Machine Threads,

Of the well known XXX Golden Flax Stamp, of every description required in the manufacturing of Boots, Brogues, Shoes and Congress Work, from No. 18 to 100, from 2 to 10 cord, in Black, Drab, Grey, Orange, Yellow and W. Brown, in Hanks, Balls and Spools, for sewing, closing, stitching, binding, straps and counters, top stitching and under threads. Also Shoe Threads.

Machos Silk, all colors and sizes.

Sea Island Hank Cotton, Blacks, Colored, Unbleached and White.

Spool Threads and Sewing Cotton, of all descriptions.

Manufacturers of Clothing

Will find in our stock everything in Linen and Cotton Threads required in their work, and the quality much superior to any other in use.

BROWN, DIX & CO.,

No. 52 Mill street.

Quincy, June 19. ly

Balsam, Plaster, &c.

D. R. Blackman's Genuine Healing Balsam

and Plaster.

Dr. Saml B. Smith's Magnetic Salve for

Salt Rheum, Ring Worm, and similar skin diseases.

Dr. Bennett's Canker Powder and Tooth

Preservative—For sale by

Mrs. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Aug. 22. ly

C. C. JOHNSON,
Druggist and Apothecary.GOODNOW'S BUILDING,*CORNER of Hancock and Granite streets.

Keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, Fancy Articles, Perfumery, Havana Cigars, Foreign Fruits and Swedish Liqueurs.

Physicians' Prescriptions,

Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy and despatch; and warranted of the purest quality.

Quincy, Nov. 13. ly

Apothecary Store.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, select ed with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared

Barley, Farina, Groat, cracked

Wheat, Sago, Tapioca, Oatmeal, Corn Starch, Broma, &c.

Jellies, Raspberry and Lem-

on Syrup, Guava Paste, &c.

Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum

Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass

Pipes and Jells, patent Nosing Shields, Tubers, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass

and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens, Flesh Brushes, &c. &c.

Fresh European Liqueurs always on hand.

Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicine of the day, as they appear in the States. Washington St., rear of Stone Temple.

Quincy, Nov. 1. ly

YOU HAD BETTER

TRY

My Mother's Salve.

THIS CELEBRATED

PREPARATION

has obtained an enviable and world-wide reputation for its great curative

properties, and has been the agent for

relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to

health and usefulness, that the proprietors

feel it a duty they owe to the public for their generous patronage bestow upon the Salve,

to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all

afflicted may avail themselves of its healing

qualities.

"My Mother's Salve"

is a ROOTS, HERBS AND GUMS, prepared from the finest and purest materials, and is the most effective remedy for all the

Healing, Soothing and Pain-Relieving

VIRTUES

never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.

"My Mother's Salve"

is SAFE AND EFFECTUAL, and all those troubled

with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,

ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such

like diseases, will find in its use great relief,

and in most cases a permanent cure.

"My Mother's Salve"

is a BURN OR SCALD, takes out the fire, smooths the irritating pain, and heals the

wound more speedily and effectually than any

other preparation.

"My Mother's Salve"

is worthy of confidence, and thousands having

used it and recommended it to their friends is a test of its worth. DIRECTORS FOR USING

"My Mother's Salve"

Are simple. Every mother and nurse know

how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and all who use the Salve will apply it in proportions, renewed at times, as good judgment

may direct. For Rheumatism, and other

pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.

In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,

Sore Throat, and such like ailments, rub as

in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-

pared by A. M. BECK.

BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors.

No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.

For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN

Oct 30. ly

Hall's Great

SCROFULAR REMEDY.

THIS Purely Vegetable Preparation is pleasant

and agreeable to the taste, and simple in its

action, causing neither vomiting or purging. It

acts directly upon the primary cause of disease—

regulates the Bowels, removes all vitiated se-

Insurance against Fire.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSUR-

ANCE COMPANY of Massachusetts, insure Real and Personal Property against the hazard of Fire, for five years or less, on favorable

terms.

Farmer, Mechanics, Household, Traders,

Merchants, and all Owners of Property not extra hazardous, are solicited to patronize this Company; every effort will be made to accommodate

customers.

Letters, by mail or otherwise, from persons residing at a distance, relating to Fire Insurance,

will be promptly attended to.

PRESIDENT,

WILLIAM S. MORTON,

TREASURER,

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,

SECRETARY,

STEPHEN BATES,

DIRECTORS,

Quincy, Milton,

William S. Morton, Charles Breck,

Isreal W. Munroe, Dorchester,

Thomas C. Webb, H. W. Blanchard,

Whitcomb Porter, Chatham,

Stephen Bates, Solomon J. Beal,

William B. Duggan, Hingham,

Thomas Curtis, Ebenezer Gay,

Albert Thompson, South Hingham,

Randolph, Alfred Loring,

Royal W. Turner, North Bridgewater,

South Braintree, Sumner A. Hayward,

Barnstable, George Marston,

Deidham,

Jonathan A. Cobb.

References, by permission:

Hos. GEORGE T. BIGELOW, of Boston,

Hos. JOSIAH QUINCY, Jr., of Boston,

Hos. AMASA WALKER, of North Brookfield,

Hos. JAMES MAQUIRE, of Randolph,

Hos. SOLOMON LINCOLN, of Hingham,

Hos. CHARLES F. ADAMS, of Quincy,

JOSIAH BRIGHAM, Esq., "

OFFICE:

Washington Square, Quincy, rear of Stone Temple

April 1. ly

National Police Gazette.

THIS Great Journal of Crime and Criminals

is in its Twelfth Year, and is widely circulated throughout the country. It contains all the most interesting and important

Editorials on the same, together with information on Criminal Matters, not to be found in any other newspaper.

Subscriptions, $2 per annum; $1 for six months, to be remitted by subscribers, (who write the name and address of the town, county

and state where they reside plainly.)

GEO. W. MATSILL & CO.,

Editors & Proprietors of the

National Police Gazette.

New York City, Apr 25. ly

GEO. R. FRENCH,

Engraver and Plate Printer,

257 Washington, near Winter St., - Boston

Particular attention given to the Engraving

and Printing of

Invitation, Reception, Marriage, Ad-

dress and Visiting Cards.

A LONG and practical experience in this particular branch, warrants me in saying

that persons about ordering Cards of any description, will study their interests by calling,

or sending their orders as above, as he will</

children read, and talk about what they have read in the papers. And then the reflection that they are growing up intelligent and useful members of society. O, don't mention the expense!—pay it in advance every year, and you will think no more of it.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Feb. 12th, 1859.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

UNIVERSALIST LEVEE. Notwithstanding the elements prevailed without, the multitude prevailed within. Never was the Town House more densely crowded from Lyceum Room to Gallery, on a social gathering, than it was on Wednesday evening last; and we say it with a feeling of local pride, that a more orderly and well conducted assembly could not be produced, than was present on this occasion.

When we consider that all classes of our people were represented—the straight Orthodox—the dignified Unitarian—the expectant Spiritualist—the "Mrs. McBride"—and "Flora McFinney" promading in the same seat with John Hardigg and the Village Blacksmith; all seemed to forget for the time their differences, and considered themselves on the broad platform of universal enjoyment.

The Old Folks' Concert was the prominent feature of the evening; the selections from Billings' Harmony were rendered in a manner that elicited the highest praise from all. The costumes and appointments were complete—the whole being effective and interesting.

The Quilting Bee, which ended with an old-fashioned Fore-and-after, in which some of our prominent citizens gave a specimen of the old style of "footing" in the most artistic manner, was admired by all.

The presence of the member from Cranberry Centre added greatly to the amusement of the audience, and many other incidents which we would be pleased to mention if our space would permit.

At the conclusion of the entertainment, the dancing commenced to the music of Fales' Band, which seems to inspire all to indulge in a mazy whirl, and continuing till an hour in the morning which would be pardonable only under the circumstances within and a pelting storm without.

MYSTERIOUS. A few mornings since, on the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad track, near Taylor's Swamp, so called, in this State, Brattleboro', Vt. The poet-editor of that name was announced as one of the lecturers before our Lyceum this season, and may be he has thus made his bow in advance.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY. The Hancock Light Guards of this town, will celebrate the day by a Levee at the Town Hall. A salute will be fired by them at sunrise, noon, and sunset.

The Braintree Light Infantry, Capt. Bumpus, will also give a Ball on that evening, in the new Town Hall, in that town. Preparations for a grand time have been made. Their kind remembrance is duly appreciated.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT. Our thanks are warmly due to Hon. Charles Francis Adams for a copy of his interesting Address, on the occasion of opening the New Town Hall in Braintree, July 29th, 1858. The Appendix contains a valuable amount of statistical information.

THE ECLIPSE. There will be an eclipse of the moon on Thursday, the 17th inst., to commence in this region at eighteen minutes past four in the forenoon. The eclipse will be total (the moon all dark) in fifty-seven minutes after it begins, and remain so for ninety-eight minutes, and afterwards be partially eclipsed for fifty-seven minutes longer, or, in all, three hours and thirty-two minutes. Those people who are too lazy to go to bed will probably be on hand to witness the exhibition.

LUCKY DISCOVERY. The Hingham Journal says that a person while upon the shore near Green Hill, Hull, at low ebb tide, saw something projecting above the sand that proved to be six plates and a large platter. He carried them home, supposing them to be pewter, but afterwards ascertained that they were solid silver, and worth between two and three hundred dollars.

VALUE OF A COW. The Abington (Mass.) Standard says Silas Hollis of Hanover, has made from one cow the past season, two hundred pounds of butter, and sold four hundred and five quarts of milk, besides using what was required in the family. The cow had nothing but a common pasture, with no extra feed.

WARNING. In Worcester, (Mass.) a few days ago, a boy was convicted of stealing copies of one of the papers published in that city from the doors of subscribers, and sentenced to the State Reform School during his minority. He was only thirteen years old.

Boston Correspondence.

Boston, Feb. 10, 1859.

A Chapter on State Legislative matters.—Neposet Bridge Corporation.

We are likely to have an extra session of the Legislature in September next. A resolve is going through the hopper of legislation, evidently without opposition, that a joint committee of eleven on the part of the Senate and twenty-eight on the part of the House, to whom shall be added the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House, be appointed to examine and consider, during the recess of the Legislature, the report of the Commissioners appointed to consolidate and arrange the General Statutes of the Commonwealth, with power to propose such amendments and alterations in the existing laws as they may deem expedient. The committee to hold their sessions in the State House. This, I think, settles the matter for a special session the first Wednesday of September next. And it is a harbinger that the stay of the Legislature now will be brief.

As I remarked in my last, a large amount of business is before them, in transitu, and a few bills have received the Governor's signature.

There is an unusual amount of talents in the House of Representatives—some of the ablest men of the State being members.—The most prominent of the opposition is General Cushing of Newburyport, to whom is universally conceded rare abilities as a statesman and jurist. It is hard to cope in debate with one so gifted and experienced in matters of state. But he has found opponents in the form of the State House this winter, who have proved themselves "every inch" men, fitted for the time and occasion. An interesting debate occurred in the House on Monday, concerning the rights of the "poor Indian" in Massachusetts. It led to a passage of arms between Mr. Cushing and Kimball of Boston, and at one time, looked ominous of serious results. But some explanations followed, and the gentlemen met and shook hands in front of the Speaker's chair.

Orders on important matters reach the Speaker's desk daily, increasing, by their reference, the work of committees. On Monday, Mr. Merton of Quincy, submitted an inquiry for the Committee on Banks and Banking, to consider the expediency of providing by law that any persons who have or shall become abody corporate for the purpose of carrying on the business of banking under and by virtue of the 267th chapter of the acts of 1851, and other substance of their bills.

The debate on the consideration of the proposed amendment of the Constitution relative to the qualification of voters, was spicy and eloquent. Mr. Cushing took a prominent part in the discussion, and evidently had strong points in his remarks. He was answered by Mr. Stearns of Chicopee, George of Groveland and Russell of Boston, all talented men. On Tuesday it was again debated, and finally adopted as it came from the last Legislature. Yeas, 178; nays, 32; absent, not voting, 29. Having passed the Senate it goes to the people for their verdict.

The question of consolidating Roxbury and Boston into one city, is in the hands of a Committee, before whom one public hearing has taken place. It is producing much excitement in Roxbury, and viewed with no small interest by a large portion of the people of your county. The opposition is so strong that I hardly believe the two cities will merge into one at present, if ever. The city of Roxbury has a valuation of $17,408,800 and 21,000 inhabitants, which would be lost to Norfolk county, and make it beautifully small by annexation. Among the advantages of the union would be the benefit of the Connecticut water to Roxbury. The intimate connection of the two cities is shown by the fact, that 640 men, residents of Roxbury, do business daily in Boston; that 5,470,000 passengers were carried between the two cities the past year, being some 15,000 per day. The Public Library of Boston would be open to the citizens of Roxbury. Great advantages would be derived in the attendance of Courts, the Registry of Deeds, and all work of that kind.

In regard to the conditions of the union, it is proposed to have the city of Roxbury divided into two wards, immediately after the next State election, and that in the succeeding city election, Roxbury was to vote for city officers for Boston, to serve for the year 1860. With all these specious arguments for annexation, it looks now as if the Committee will give the petitioners for it leave to withdraw, notwithstanding the first one hundred and fifty years of the settlement of Massachusetts, Roxbury was a part of Suffolk county.

It is understood here, that in conformity to the act of the Legislature of May 26, 1857, the franchise and rights of the Neposet Bridge Corporation have passed, by legal instruments, from the Corporation to the County Commissioners. The price paid the corporation is reported as $10,000. The net income accruing from tolls, to ultimately pay this sum back to the County Treasury, and the fund continue to accumulate until the bridge becomes free.

X.

Western Correspondence.

Winona (Minnesota), Jan. 30, 1859.

JOHN A. GREEN, Esq.:

My Dear Sir,—It is said "that absence conquers love." To whom and what nature that applies, I am not certain; I know not to me or mine.

Once a week the Patriot I unfold in this far-off land of the Dakotas. Be assured, it is received and perused with as much pleasure, by your humble servant, as any of its readers in your immediate vicinity. It awakens many pleasing reminiscences of the past, and carries one back to the home of his childhood and fond recollections of the past I can look back upon my life, on its many and varied changes—the bright visions that have vanished one by one—hopes, whose fruition are still far, far in the distance—still I have the same reverence, the same affectionate feelings for all things at home, as when a schoolboy. Yes,

"The orchard, the meadow, the deep-tangled woodland—
And every loved spot which my infancy knew,"

are as fresh to my memory, when I take up your village paper, that it cannot be said of me, "that absence conquers love."

I am constantly reminded, by the "obituary notices" in your paper, of the brevity of life. I notice one by one of the old citizens of the town, and what is more sad, many of the younger and middle-aged are being severed from life by the steady and unflinching hand of death. Thus one by one they pass away, travelling on with the innumerable train.

To you, among the rapidly coming and going of old and new faces, who seldom if ever have left the sight of your father's house, a great length of time, the change in this respect is not so perceptible as to one who has been absent nearly four years. And then, too, there is a keen sadness that you cannot realize, to one who was once familiar and exchanged sympathies with them, and knew them from early youth, to be deprived of mingling his sorrows with those of the bereaved friends of departed ones.

Among the long list "who have gone to that bourne whence no traveller returns," within the last four years, few, if any, have left such a void in the heart of the whole community as the lamented Mr. Lunt; and to think, too, that his mortal remains are far away in a foreign land, uncoffined, and no fitting monument to mark his resting place, while those of his early friends, and those who partook of his teachings in after life, are being gathered up like ripe fruit, to the "graveyard," is sad indeed to contemplate.

Mr. Lunt was a good and great man—and to one like myself, in this far-off land of the further west of human beings from the Atlantic's bounds, it is a source of great pride to point back to such a guiding star as Mr. Lunt. I have not the power of language to express a fitting tribute to his greatness and his influence. Suffice for me, in my humble capacity, to say, may his teachings and departed truths be as indelibly fixed in the hearts of all his people as in mine—one who could but poorly appreciate them.

Few reflect on the vast amount of good he showered down on his people upwards of a score of years, and of the influence that has gone from his lips, and will continue to go forth for generations to come. They were not sayings and reasonings to be forgotten in a short time; but there was so much of human nature that they will continue to gush out of his listeners, from time to time, like living springs of water for all time to come. I have been compelled, particularly at this time, to pay this humble tribute to Mr. Lunt's worth, from hearing and becoming acquainted with a Mr. Bart, formerly of the western part of your State, who now ministers over the Congregational society of this place. He so much resembles, in sound logic and general appearance, also his unostentatious manner, that I am fully convinced that I have fixed upon my mind the image of a good man, who, wheresoever I go and in what hour of trouble, his truths will be with me.

The standing advertisements and familiar names that appear in your paper, suggests to my mind the great difference between your society and that of Winona. The elements of society here are not homogeneous, consequently are much in disorder yet, and oftentimes one turns a longing look for his Eastern home. However, matters are working well. Society, being sorely afflicted with taxes and debt from bad legislation and railroad swindling for the last two years, begins to realize what are the true requisites for a permanent basis to society, and an honest and true development of this beautiful country. Minnesota will yet show that she is, in all, the first State of the Northwest. For wheat and grain-growing, it is shown by this year's harvest that it is only a matter of time to prove that she is pre-eminent in this line.

We have had a remarkable winter so far, one of the pleasantest that I ever witnessed. There has been just now enough on the ground to make it capital sleighing. Since about the first of December there has been no rain, hence no mud, as much complained of south and east of us.

There has been no deaths that I know of this winter in our city, except one murder and an infant from childbirth. Clear, cold and still—not below zero but four or five times since winter commenced.

Friend Green, I have already written much more than I intended when I commenced. I trust you will excuse me for not writing since last winter. I will, if it is your pleasure, at some future time, give you some account of the decaying or fast disappearing tribes of Indians in this State. Perhaps it will be interesting to your reader to know how the aborigines are wasting away.

With a wish for your good health, peace and prosperity, I close.

Very respectfully yours, J. W.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

Hon. Charles Sumner, a United States Senator, is still in the South of France, and his health not much improved.

The Spiritualists' Register for 1859, puts the total believers in the United States at 1,284,000. It also gives the names and addresses of three hundred and forty-nine public speakers and two hundred and thirty-eight professional mediums.

Work on the Minnesota roads has been suspended, in consequence of the difficulty of raising funds on the State Bonds issued to the various companies.

A Virginia farmer has produced good cider from the juice of the Chinese sugar cane.

The wealth of Gen. Cass is the result of the rise of real estate in Detroit. A portion of his original farm is now in the very heart of the city. Twenty years ago he offered to sell it for $7,500; now it is valued at $3,000,000.

Among other things presented to a minister, at a donation party, was a hog weighing two hundred and twenty pounds. It is said to be a specimen of a stout luscious pole, and borne through the house upon the shoulders of two stalwart men, much to the amusement of the assembled company.

The present session of Congress gives to members a thousand dollars a month, besides mileage and perquisites.

The fees of the Sheriff of New York city, for the year 1858, all of which went into his own private pocket, amounted $22,200.

Six school-boys, with their teacher, skated from Middletown to Hartford (Ct.), a distance of twenty miles, in two hours, including a stop of twenty minutes.

Every eighth man in Massachusetts, it is said, is a shoemaker. Boston has two hundred and eighteen shoe houses, doing a business of $62,000,000 annually. New York city has fifty-five houses in the same trade, doing a business of $10,000,000.

A subscription of six or seven hundred dollars has been promptly filled, at Washington, by the Republican Congressmen, for the purpose of presenting a service of plate to the Hon. J. R. Giddings, of Ohio, the member who has served the longest of any now in the House of Representatives.

The husband of Mrs. Cora L. V. Hatch, the celebrated medium, asserts that Spiritualism is "fifty per cent self delusion, twenty-five per cent psychology, fifteen per cent intentional imposition, and the remaining ten per cent yet a matter of uncertainty."

A scamp entered the vestibule of a church in Cincinnati, while the ladies and ladies of the congregation were engaged in choir practice, and carried off forty umbrellas belonging to the parties.

Fifty thousand gallons of native wine were made in Connecticut last year, and it is thought that the quantity will be increased to one hundred thousand gallons the present year.

A mother at Lockport, New York, lately placed her little infant in the wood box near the stove while she went out; the hot stove set the box on fire and burned the child to death before the mother returned.

A young lady in Napa City, California, lately married against her father's wishes. The aggrieved parent entered a complaint against the officiating clergyman for having performed the ceremony, knowing the bride to be under age. An examination revealed the fact that the girl, resorting to an old trick, had written the number eighteen, placed it in her shoe, and then swore that she was over eighteen.

A foolish swain, in St. Louis, hung himself lately, for love, leaving behind him a letter saying that his body might be forwarded as a Christmas present to the cruel girl who refused to favor his suit.

Deaths.

In Johnson (Vt.), on the 29th ult., Mr. James Newcomb, aged 63 years, formerly of this town.

Sheriff's Sale.

NORFOLK SS. Quincy, Jan. 31st, 1859

TAKEN on sundry Executions and will be sold at Public Auction, on TUESDAY, the eighth day of March next, at two o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises, all the right in equity which Samuel N. Perry had on the fourth day of December, 1858, at fifty minutes past eight o'clock, P. M., being the time when the same was attached on mesne process, of restraining the following described mortgaged Real Estate, to wit:

A certain lot of land, situated in Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, with the buildings thereon, bounded southerly on a private way, called Main street, laid out by S. R. & C. H. Edwards, westerly on land of Nathaniel Nightingale; northerly on land of Charles Newcomb; easterly on land now or formerly of S. R. & C. H. Edwards; or however otherwise bounded, containing about one-third of an Acre, be the same more or less, and being the same premises where the said Samuel N. Perry now resides.

SETH ADAMS, Deputy Sheriff.
Quincy, Feb. 12

NEW AND FATAL DISEASE. A disease has lately appeared in Providence (R. I.) called the malignant pustule, common in France, but heretofore rare in this country, which may usually be expected to result in death. It commences in a small red spot on the face or hand, with a stinging, pinching pain, and there soon appears a pustule or vesicle seated on a hard, inflamed base, in which is formed a black slough, where mortification commences. The only remedy is said to be in burning the pimple out in its early stages with a hot iron or caustic.

GREAT FIRE IN BOSTON. On Sunday morning last, fire was discovered in the great steam bakery, at the corner of Battery and Commercial streets, recently erected, and which commenced operations on Wednesday of last week. The building was six stories high, and that portion fronting on Commercial street was of granite. The fire was first discovered in one of the lower stories, and the general belief is that it was the work of an incendiary. A large amount of property (estimated at $300,000) was destroyed, partially covered by insurance at several offices.

THE PEACH CROP. The Worcester Spy says, that according to the indications in that region, the fruit buds of the peach tree were very generally, if not universally, destroyed by the severe cold of January 10th, to such extent that no crop of any amount can be looked for.

GRASSHOPPERS. Isaac Hersey, Esq., has exhibited to the editor of the Abington (Mass.) Standard several specimens of young grasshoppers which were recently found in a field, in that place.

WELL BESTOWED. The editor of the Provincetown, (Mass.) Banner, has had a donation visit from his fellow-citizens, with many tokens of regard. The inhabitants of Cape Cod fully appreciate the value of a country newspaper, and in their whole-souled generosity have made the heart of the printer glad with a portion of their plenty.

Why suffer with boils, chapped hands, cut fingers, sore lips, piles, and numerous other diseases, when a box of "My Mother's Salve" will give almost instantaneous relief? See advertisement.

CLAM CHOWDER. "Yankee Seth" will "serve up" early, this day and evening, at Shaw's Saloon, head of Franklin street, one of his excellent clam chowders, equal, if not superior, to any of his former efforts.

Special Notices.

NOTICE. The regular monthly meeting of Company H, Hancock Light Guards, will take place at their Armory on this SATURDAY EVENING, Feb. 12th, at 7 o'clock.

A full attendance is desired as business of importance will come before the company. Fine for non-attendance, 50 cents.

Per order.

T. H. NEWCOMB, Capt.
W. L. BURELL, Clerk.
Quincy, Feb. 12. 1w

SPIRITUALISTS MEETING.

Services, usual hours, forenoon and afternoon.

In Johnson's (Mass.) Hall,
Miss S. A. Magoun, will speak to-morrow, forenoon and afternoon.
Quincy, Feb. 12. 1w

QUINCY LYCEUM. The closing series of our Lyceum Lectures will take place on THURSDAY Evening next, February 17th, at 7 1/2 o'clock. On that occasion a Poem, "The Pilgrim's Dream," will be delivered by W. S. Morton, Esq., of this town.

By a vote of the Board of Officers, the Hall will be open free to all, and the public are respectfully invited to attend.

JOHN O. HOLDEN, Sec'y.
Quincy, Feb. 12. 1w

GRAND BALL. Niagara Engine Company, No. 1, of Quincy, will give a Grand Ball at the Town Hall on FRIDAY Evening, February 18th, to which the public are respectfully invited.

Quincy, Feb. 12. 1w

Paper Hangings and Borderings for the Spring Trade. C. Gill & Co. announce that they shall soon open and have ready for examination and sale a stock of Paper Hangings and Borderings far superior in style, beauty, and quality to any ever sold in this place. Being satisfied that the trade of Quincy and vicinity will justify us in presenting a much larger and handsomer stock than has heretofore been kept, we have made arrangements for a supply of Papers of an entirely different manufacture, which we are assured will be exactly the kind of Papers and Borderings wanted in this community, and to which we shall, as soon as the papering season opens, invite the attention of purchasers by a more definite description.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. Probate Office, Feb. 8th, A.D. 1859.
UPON the petition of Lucinda W. Hobart, praying that she may be appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Trader, deceased.

DANIEL HOBART,

Ordered: That said petitioner notify and cite all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they may appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden in said County, on the twenty-first day of February, in the year of our Lord, 1859, at two o'clock in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.
Feb. 12. 3w

Watches! Watches!!

25 per cent less than cash prices.

B. F. MESERVEY,

Has just purchased at an Assignee's Sale One Thousand Dollars Worth of GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES, which he will offer at prices that cannot fail to be a Great Inducement to those who wish to purchase, if they will CALL AND EXAMINE THE STOCK.
Quincy, Feb. 12. 1f

CALL AT

J. W. LOMBARD'S,

Over Elbridge Clapp's Store, and there

SAVE YOUR MONEY

BY BUYING

BUSINESS COATS, FROCKS & SACKS

At Prices varying from $2 to $6 50.

Pants, of All Descriptions, from

$1 62 to $5 00.

Boys' Jackets,

from 1 75 to $3 00.

Call early and Replenish your wardrobe.

Quincy, Feb. 12. 1f

Found.

PICKED up in Quincy, on FRIDAY, Feb. 11th, by the subscriber, a Roll of Bank Bills which the owner can have by proving property and paying charges, on applying to

N. B. FURNALD.

Quincy, Feb. 12th, 1859. 3w

VALENTINES!

A Great Variety

CAN BE FOUND AT THE

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Feb. 5. 1f

To the Honorable the County Commissioners for the County of Norfolk.

THE subscribers, inhabitants of the Town of Quincy, respectfully represent that a petition was presented to the Selectmen of said Quincy, in the month of September last, praying said Selectmen to lay out a town way from Union street in said Town to Washington street, passing over the land already marked out as a street or road between said two points; that said Selectmen have unreasonably neglected and refused to lay out said town way.

They therefore pray your Honorable body to proceed to view and lay out said town way according to law.

Dated at said Quincy, January 1859.

HUGH MUNDY, and 99 others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

At a meeting of the County Commissioners, begun and held at Dedham, within and far said County of Norfolk, on the thirteenth day of January, A. D. 1859, by adjournment of the December meeting next preceding.

ON the petition aforesaid, Ordered, that the County Commissioners will meet at the Town Hall, in Quincy, in said County, on the FRIDAY, the thirteenth day of May next, at one o'clock A. M., and there proceed to view the route described in said petition, and hear and determine thereon.

And that an attested copy of said petition, with this order thereon, be served upon the Clerk of the Town of Quincy, thirty days at least before the time appointed for said view, and also that a like copy be published three weeks successively in the Quincy Patriot, a newspaper printed in Quincy, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before said view, and that like copies be posted up in two or more public places in said Quincy, fourteen days at least before said view, that all persons and corporations interested for or against said petition may then and there appear and be heard if they see fit.

EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.

A true Copy of the original Petition on file and order thereon. Attest.

EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.

Feb. 12. 3w

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court assembled:

THE WEYMOUTH IRON COMPANY, a Corporation duly established by law, repleant that the Draw at the Bridge of the Hingham and Quincy Bridge and Turnpike Corporation across Weymouth Neck River, is of insufficient width for the proper accommodation of the business which is done on that River, and they pray that your Honorable Bodies would cause the said Draw to be so far widened as the public convenience and necessity require.

WEYMOUTH IRON CO.

By NABUN STEVENS, Agent.

Weymouth, February 12, 1858.

The Joint Standing Committee of the General Court on Roads and Bridges, will hear all parties interested in the foregoing petition at the State House, on TUESDAY, the fifteenth day of February instant, at ten o'clock A. M.

E. L. NORTON, for the Committee.

Boston, Feb. 12. 1w

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. Probate Office, Feb. 8, A.D. 1859.

UPON the petition of William S. Morton, praying that he may be appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Laborer, deceased.

WILLIAM NOLAN,

Ordered: That said petitioner notify and cite all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they may appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate, to be holden at Roxbury, in said County, on the twenty-first day of February, A. D. 1859, at two o'clock, in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

Quincy, Feb. 12. 3w

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

ASA POPE,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Boatman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

OZIAS M. POPE, Adm'r

Quincy, Feb. 5th, 1858. 2w

W. M. BABBITT, M. D.

Homoeopathic Physician

HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY

OFFICE HOURS:

7 to 8 A. M. 12 to 1 P. M.

Quincy, Sept. 11. 1f

KENISON & FOLLETT,

JOBBER AND COMMISSION DEALERS

Butter, Cheese, and Eggs

Poetry.

The Old Chimney-place.

A stack of stones, a dingy wall,
O'er which the brambles cling and creep,
A path on which no shadows fall,
A door-step where long dock leaves sleep,
A broken rafter in the grass,
A sunken hearth-stone, stained and cold,
Naught left but these, fair home, alas!
And the dear memories of old.

Around this hearth, this sacred place,
All humble household virtues grew—
The grandeur of the maiden's grace,
The mother's instincts deep and true,
Here first sweet words were whispered; here broke Life's morning dream, and yet more dear,
The love that life's best impulse woke,
Grew warmer, gentler, year by year.

How cheerful, while the storm without Muffled the earth and leech the night,
The ruddy glow shined laughing out
On merry groups and faces bright;
How chimed the crackling, fresh-flood flame
With rosy mirth or thoughtful ease
Or, may be, syllabled the name
Of one rocked o'er the shivering seas.

What fairy scenes, what golden lands,
What pageants of romantic pride,
In the weird deep of glowing brands,
Saw the fair boy, the dreamy-eyed,
Till musing here, his spirit drew Strong inspiration, and his years,
By Beauty's subtle nurture, knew
The paths of Nature's spheres.

Here, as the evening embers sent
A faint flush through the quiet gloom,
In the warm hush love's lovers bled
The fragrance of their heart's fresh bloom;
And, veiling in soft-drooping eyes
Her tremulous joy, here bled the bride;
Here, o'er pale forms in funeral gyres,
Farewells from broken hearts were sighed.

This spot the pilgrim, "neath strange skies,
Saw in his way-side dream, here stood
Old friends with gladness in their eyes,
Here grew the beautiful and the good—
Sweet friendships—faith serene and true—
Mendoc's strong purpose, warm and bold—
Courage to labor and endure,
And household feelings never cold.

Here, leaning in the twilight dim,
All around me seems a haunted air;
I hear the old familiar voice again,
My heart goes upward in the prayer
That made the night so full of peace;
Kind lips are on my brow—my ear
Hums with sweet sounds—they faint—they cease—
And night o'er all broods calm and clear.

What Man is Poor?

What man is poor? Not he whose brow
Is bathed in heaven's own dew,
Whose knees alone to God do bow
At morning and at night;
Whose arm is nerved by healthful toil,
Who sits beneath the tree,
Or treads upon the fruitful soil,
With spirit calm and free.

What man is poor? Not he who loves Sweet nature's draught alone,
Through toil and want who nobly proves
Her temperance is his own;
With cheerful look and happy heart,
He treads life's varied way,
While to his soul her truths impart
Full many a sunny ray.

What man is poor? Not he whose brow
Is wet with heaven's own dew,
Who breathes to God a heartfelt vow,
Whose pledge is strong and true;
The morning calls his active feet
To no enclaving dune,
But evening and the twilight sweet
Shall light his pathway home.

Is it You?

There is a child—a boy or girl,
I'm sorry it is true—
Who doesn't mind when spoken to;
Is it you?—it can't be you!

I know a child—a boy or girl,
I'm loth to say I do—
Who struck a little playful child;
I hope that wasn't you.

I know a child—a boy or girl,
I hope that such are few—
Who told a lie—yes, told a lie!
It cannot be 'twas you!

There is a boy—I know a boy,
I cannot love him though—
Who robs the little bird's nest;
That bad boy can't be you!

A girl there is—a girl I know—
And I could love her well—
But that she is so proud and vain;
That surely isn't you.

Anecdotes.

Put out your tongue a little further, said a physician to a female patient; a little further, ma'am, if you please—a little further still. Why, doctor, do you think there is no end to a woman's tongue? cried the fair invalid.

I live in Julia's eyes, said an affected dandy in Coleman's hearing. I don't wonder at it replied George, for I observed she had a sty in one of them when I saw her last.

A boy once complained of his brother for taking half of the bed. And why not? said his mother; he's entitled to half, isn't he? Yes ma'am, said the boy; but how should you like to have him take out the half of the middle, and I have to sleep on both sides of him.

Ah, Mr. Simpkins, we have not chairs enough for our company, said a gay young wife to her frugal husband. Plenty of chairs, ducky; but a little to much company, replied Mr. Simpkins.

A driver of a coach, stopping to get some water for the young ladies inside, being asked what he stopped for, replied: I am watering my flowers!

FASHIONABLE

Tailoring Establishment

J. W. LOMBARD,

HAS taken rooms over the store of E. Clapp, (Formerly occupied by Mr. J. M. Beckford,) and wishes respectfully to inform his friends and the public generally that he intends to carry on THE TAILORING BUSINESS.

In all its branches; and hopes by punctuality and strict attention to business to merit a share of patronage.

Quincy, Apr 18 JOS. W. LOMBARD.

BUSINESS COATS, (Custom Made,) from 6 to $10.

Quincy, Oct. 31. T. DODDS.

Cut this out and keep it for Reference.

Great Chance to Save Money!!

BY HAVING YOUR CLOTHES MADE BY

C. A. COLLINS,

203 Washington Street,

Cor. Bromfield street, up stairs.

REASONS WHY. 1st. My rent is less

2. I pay my Goods for Cash, taking advantage

3. I sell my Goods for Cash only.

4. I make no bad debts for Customers to pay

5. I work for the interest of my Customers.

Gentlemen can depend on having Garments

which for style, fit, nice trimming, and faithful

work, cannot be surpassed.

I pay particular attention to making Pants, being the most difficult of all Garments to fit nicely

My Pants are cut by a system original with myself, and used by no other person. I wear my Pants to retain their shape at the boot till worn out, and so it handsome and be easy in every particular.

Some of the Prices.

I sell a nice Frock or Dress Coat, from German

black or colored Broad Cloth, made to order,

for from $15 to $22

Black German Doe Pants, 5 to 8

Sile Band and other style Pants, 5 to 8

Best quality Silk Vests, 4 to 5

Cloth, Valencia and Plaid Vests, 2 to 3

Suits and Full Over-Coats, 9 to 13

Winter Over-Coats, 10 to 15

12 to 20

Where gentlemen furnishing their own Cloths,

I make and trim it for them into Garments

in the latest styles, at less prices than any other

Tailor in Boston.

Always on hand the newest and best goods of all the manufacturers of this and foreign countries.

CHESTER A. COLLINS,

203 Washington street, corner Bromfield street,

(Up stairs.) - - - - - BOSTON.

Well known as the place to SAVE MONEY.

ly 17.

New Stock and New Styles!

PAPER HANGINGS.

HAVING a desire to accommodate many of our customers, and to increase the trade of our place, we have added to our former variety

of Goods, an entirely

New and beautiful Stock of Paper Hangings,

Borderings, Curtains, &c.,

COMPRISING 100 PATTERNS!

manufactured on the best paper and in the highest est protection of colors and styles.

Our assortment will always be kept good, and we shall spare no efforts to give the highest satisfaction to the taste of all who wish to paper their rooms with attractive and pleasing patterns, on good paper and in good colors.

Our prices will range lower than is usual with the same qualities and styles in Boston, but we shall engage in no mean underselling any of our neighbors, our object being to present an additional inducement, for the Quincy people to bestow their patronage upon their own traders, and find themselves suited in every respect as well or better than in the City.

Builders of new houses will be supplied on the most favorable terms.

C. GILL & CO.,

HANCOCK STREET.

Quincy March 27

To Foot and Shoe

MANUFACTURERS.

WE wish to call your attention to the following Goods, which we are prepared to sell on the most favorable terms.

Black and Colored Dressings, finished especially Black, Brown and Drab Cases, for Congress suits,

Black Brown and Drab Felings, of snow shoes.

Lastings, all wool, Italian wo. Silk and Cotton

Warp do.

Serge de Berri's

Rubber Gasket Webs, of beautiful quality for Congress shoes.

Boat and Congress Webs, from 1/2 in. to 1 1/2 ins.,

new style.

Gallons, black and colors, 1/2 and 3/4 in. widths.

Shoe Ducks; Congress and Linon Canvas.

Shoe Ribbons, Rosettes, and Sandal Web.

Eyelets, Cord, Shoe Laccets and Straps, all kinds and lots. Shoe Buttons of all descriptions.

Linen Machine Threads,

Of the well known XXX Golden Flax Stamp, of every description required in the manufacturing of Boots, Brogans, Shoes and Congress Work, from No. 18 to 100, from 2 to 10 cord, in Black,

Drab, Grey, Orange, Yellow and W. Brown, in

Hanks, Balls and Spools, for sewing, closing,

cutting, binding, straps and counters, top stitching and under threads, also Shoe Threads.

Machine Silk, all colors and sizes.

Sea Island Hank Cotton, Black, Colored, Un-

bleached and White.

Spool Threads and Sewing Cotton, of all descriptions.

Manufacturers of Clothing

Will find in our stock everything in Linen and Cotton Threads required in their work, and the quality much superior to any other in use.

BROWN, DIX & Co.,

No. 52 Milk street.

Quincy, June 19

Balsam, Plaster, &c.

DR. Blackman's Genuine Healing Balsam

and Plaster.

Dr. Sam'l B. Smith's Magnetic Salve for

Sait Rheum, Ring Worm, and similar diseases.

Dr. Bennett's Canker Powder and Tooth

Preservative—for sale by

Mrs. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Aug. 22

ALL KINDS OF

Job Printing,

SUCH AS

POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,

BILL-HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS,

AND EVERY VARIETY OF

BOOK, PLAIN AND FANCY

PRINTING,

Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office

WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

ATTENTION.

The Largest and Most Complete

ASSORTMENT OF

HARDWARE

DOORS

SASHES, &c. &c.

Ever offered to the people of Quincy, may be found by calling upon

Bailey, Carver & Co

Having recently made large additions to our

stock of

BUILDING MATERIALS,

we are prepared to furnish them at prices to cor-

respond with the times.

CHEAPER THAN EVER!!

We will sell Nails by the Ton or single Pound.

DOORS,

SASHES,

BLINDS,

WINDOW GLASS,

SHEET LEAD,

FRAMING PINS,

WINDOW FRAMES,

DOOR BELLS,

SCREWS,

&c., &c.

MORTICE LOCKS,—in a great Variety.

ALSO—Pa d, Rim, Closet, Store and Sash

Locks;

MORTICE, THUMB AND PEOPLE'S

LATCHES;

Porcelain, Glass, Mineral and Mahogany Knobs;

BLAKE'S BUTTS,

AND AXLE PULLEYS,

A good assortment of Hinges of all kinds.

Wrought, Fancy, Plate,

STRAP, BLIND, AND T HINGES;

SHOVELS; DOOR SCRAPERS;

Bacon's Patent Lever Blind Fast—Crown's

improved Blind Fast. Also—A great variety of Sash Fastenings.

Foster's Patent Window Supporter,

The best thing ever used in the place of weights;

DOOR BELLS HUNG TO ORDER.

DON'T FORGET

AT THE OLD STAND OF

BAILEY, CARVER & CO.,

SCHOOL STREET.

Quincy, Jan. 25.

NATHANIEL WHITE,

HAS FOR SALE—

LUMBER,

Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand

Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,

QUINCY CANAL WHARF.

July 10, 1852.

FISHER A. KINGSBURY,

Commissioner for the States of

MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VER-

MONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE

ISLAND AND NEW YORK.

Weymouth, Mass.

Nov. 26.

WHITE & FRENCH,

Attorneys at Law,

Room No. 5, Webster Bank Building.

Exchange Street, --- BOSTON.

GEORGE WHITE. ASA FRENCH.

May 20.

SEASONED LUMBER,

Of all descriptions, at prices to suit the times.

Fresh cut at short notice.

ALSO—Good Pine Wood at $6 a Cord.

For sale at BRACKETT'S WHARF.

Quincy, May 8

Coal, Lime, Brick and Sand,

with a good assortment of

SEASONED LUMBER,

constantly on hand, and for sale by the subscriber at Quincy Canal Wharf.

NATHANIEL WHITE.

Quincy, April 10.

Pure Cider Vinegar.

800 GALLONS PURE CIDER VIN-

EGAR, made on the farm formerly owned by B. V. French, now in store and for sale by the barrel or smaller quantity, by

GEORGE L. BAXTER, & CO.

Quincy, Aug. 15.

Boot and Shoe Findings.

JUST received and for sale low, a lot of Boot and Shoe Kit, Findings, &c., by

Quincy, Apr 18

H. VINAL.

BURNS, &c.

A ME'S Lotion for burn, scalds, cuts, bruises, toughness, chilblains, &c., &c.

For sale by

MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Sept 18

Apothecary Store.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of supply Family Medicines, select ed with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared

Barley, Farina, Groats, cracked

Wheat, Sago, Tapioca, Outdoor Corn Starch, Broom, &c.

Jellies, Raspberry and Lem-

on Syrup, Guava Paste, &c.

Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum

Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass

Pipes and shells, patent Nurating Shields, Tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XXIII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 19th, 1859.

NUMBER VIII.

New Store! New Goods!

B. F. MESERVEY,

HAVING returned to Quincy and taken the Store, one door north of David B. Stetson's Variety Store, in

JOHNSON'S BUILDING,

Will keep constantly on hand, a large stock of Gold and Silver Watches,

Fob, Curb and Vest Chains,

LOCKETS,

Cameo, Gold Stone, Jet, Florentine, Painted, Coral and Mosaic Jewelry.

GOLD BRACELETS, BELT PINS,

Gents' Pins and Studs,

FINGER RINGS,

Together with a large assortment of

Silver and Plated Ware,

Clocks and Fancy Goods.

Having his Goods direct from the manufacturer, he will be enabled to sell them much less than the usual retail prices. He will also keep a

LARGER STOCK

than ever offered before in Quincy. All Goods warranted as represented. Old Gold and Silver taken in exchange. 63-Collin Plates Engraved, -63-

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired in a faithful manner, and done when PROMISED. Quincy Oct 24

QUINCY BOOKSTORE

BOOK BINDERY.

Established in the Year 1838.

BOOKS, STATIONERY

FANCY GOODS!

C. GILL & CO. have always on hand a large assortment of the above—being fully prepared to meet all the wants of this market.

BLANK BOOKS

of any particular pattern, made to order.

STATIONERY, IN GREAT VARIETY, at the lowest prices.

Miscellaneous and Juvenile Books,

will be sold low.

ALL SCHOOL BOOKS,

used in this and neighboring towns, at publishers' prices.

Book Binding.

ALL KINDS OF

MAGAZINES, PAMPHLETS,

SHEET MUSIC, &c.,

bound in a neat and durable style.

"Small Profit" to ensure "Ready Sales."

Full equivalent for your money.

Twenty years' practice has proved these rules to be good ones, and we shall continue to be governed by them, in all branches of our business.

C. GILL & CO.

HANCOCK STREET.

Quincy, March 20.

Pickles.

50 GALLONS of Pickles just received and for sale cheap for cash.

GEO. L. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Feb 28

GROCERIES, FLOUR,

AND

PROVISIONS!

THE Subscriber would respectfully invite the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity to call and examine his stock of Groceries, Flour and

Provisions, where they will find a

Good assortment of all kinds of Goods kept commonly in a Grocery Store, which he will sell at the lowest wholesale prices.

A few more choice of Old Hyson Tea at 25 cents per pound.

50 Tubs of prime dairy Butter.

200 Bushels of Wheat and Long Red Potatoes.

All those in want of Goods will find it for their interest to call and examine, as they will find a good assortment at the lowest prices.

Goods delivered to any part of the Town free of expense.

H. VINAL,

at the Old Stand of Faxon & Brown.

Quincy, Oct. 27.

Salt Pork.

FIRST article of Salt Pork packed by the subscribers for sale by the barrel or smaller quantities to suit purchasers, cheap for cash.

GEO. L. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Dec. 6.

SALT PORK.

FIRST qualities of Salt Pork—raised in town and packed by the subscriber—which he will sell at the lowest market price.

H. VINAL.

Quincy, Jan. 10.

Salt Pork.

1000 POUNDS of good Salt Pork for

sale at Boston prices by

DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Sept. 27.

WHITE HANDS!

PERSIAN BATH

SOAP.

For the Toilet, Bath, Nursery, Shaving,

and for Cleaning the Teeth.

THIS superior Soap will make the HANDS

WHITE AND SOFT, and is a certain remedy

for CHAPPED HANDS, TACKS, SUN-BURNS,

RASHES, and all medicinal purposes where a cooling and Emollient effect is desired.

WM. SMITH HALL,

Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass.

Price—25 cents per cake.

Sold by MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy Aug 22

FOOD'S GLYCERINE LOTION,

NOR improving the complexion, and for the care prevention of Chapped Hands, Tan, redness, Sunburn, Roughness of Skin, Eruptions, &c. For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy Feb 6

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION
Over Mr. E. Clapp's Store, on Hancock St.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

TWO DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.

No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.

Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business.

Letters and communications, (postage paid, will receive attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers.
Railway Village, JOSIAH BARCROCK.
West District, GEORGE H. LOCKE.
Milton, CHARLES H. GRECK.
Dorchester, ORIN P. HADON.
Weymouth, F. A. KINGSBURY.
Abington, JOSEPH CLEVELY.
South Scituate, SAMUEL A. TURNER.
Brooklyn, (N. Y.), GERSHOM DREW.

Miscellaneous.

THE HIDDEN HAND.

BY EMMA D. E. N. SOUTHWORTH.
AUTHOR OF "THE BRIDE OF AN EVENING,"
"THE DESERTED WIFE," ETC., ETC.

CHAPTER I.—THE NOCTURNAL VISIT.

How is it with me when every sound appals me?
I hear a knocking
In the south entry? Hark!—more knocking!
SHAKESPEARE.

Hurricane Hall is a large old family mansion, built of dark, red sandstone, in one of the loneliest and wildest of the mountain regions of Virginia.

The estate is surrounded on three sides by a range of steep, gray rocks, spiked with clumps of dark evergreens, and called, from its horseshoe form, the Devil's Hoof.

On the fourth side the ground gradually descends in broken rock and barren soil to the edge of the wild mountain stream known as the Devil's Run.

When storms and floods were high, the loud roaring of the wind through the wild mountain gorges, and the terrific raging of the torrent over its rocky course, gave to this savage locality its ill-omened names of Devil's Hoof, Devil's Run and Hurricane Hall.

Major Ira Warfield, the lonely proprietor of the Hall, was a veteran officer, who, in disgust at what he supposed to be ill-requited services, had retired from public life to spend the evening of his vigorous age on this his paternal estate. Here he lived in seclusion, with his old-fashioned housekeeper, Mrs. Condiment, and his old family servants and his favorite dogs and horses. Here his mornings were usually spent in the chase, in which he excelled, and his afternoons and evenings were occupied in small convivial suppers among his few chosen companions of the chase or the bottle.

In person Major Warfield was tall and strongly built, reminding one of some old iron-limbed Douglas of the olden time. His features were large and harsh; his complexion dark red, as that of one bronzed by long exposure and flushed with strong drink. His fierce, dark gray eyes were surmounted by thick, heavy black brows, that, when gathered into a frown, reminded one of a thunder cloud, as the flashing orbs beneath them did of lightning.

His hard, harsh face was surrounded by a thick growth of iron-gray hair and beard that met beneath his chin. His usual habit was a black cloth coat, crimson vest, black leather breeches, long black yarn stockings, fastened at the knees, and morocco slippers with silver buttons.

In character Major Warfield was arrogant, domineering and violent—equally loved and feared by his faithful old family servants at home—disliked and dreaded by his neighbors and acquaintances abroad, who, partly from his house and partly from his character, fixed upon him the appropriate nickname of OLD HURRICANE.

There was, however, other ground of dislike besides that of his arrogant mind, violent temper and domineering habits. Old Hurricane was said to be an old bachelor, yet rumor whispered that there was in some obscure part of the world, hidden away from human sight, a deserted wife and child, poor, forlorn and heartbroken. It was further whispered that the elder brother of Ira Warfield had mysteriously disappeared, and not without some suspicion of foul play on the part of the only person in the world who had a strong interest in his "taking off." However these things might be, it was known for a certainty that Old Hurricane had an only sister, widow, sick and poor, who with her son dragged on a wretched life of ill-requited toil, severe privation and painful infirmity, in a distant city, unaided, unsought and uncared for by her cruel brother.

It was the night of the last day of October, 1845. The evening had closed in very dark and gloomy. About dusk the wind arose in the northwest, driving up masses of leaden-bellied clouds, and in a few minutes the ground was covered deep with snow, and the air was filled with driving sleet.

As this was All Hallow Eve, the dreadful inclemency of the weather did not prevent the negroes of Hurricane Hall from availing themselves of their capricious old master's permission, and going off in a body to a banjo breakdown held in the negro quarters of their next neighbor.

Upon this evening, then, there was left at Hurricane Hall only Major Warfield, Mrs. Condiment, his little old housekeeper, and Wool, his body servant.

Early in the evening the old hall was shut up closely, to keep out as much as possible the sound of the storm that roared through the mountain chasms and cannonaded the walls of the house as if determined to force an entrance. As soon as she had seen that all was safe, Mrs. Condiment went to bed and went to sleep.

It was about ten o'clock that night that Old Hurricane, well wrapped up in his quilted flannel dressing gown, sat in his well padded easy chair before a warm and bright fire, taking his comfort in his own most comfortable bedroom. This was the hour of the cozy enjoyment to the self-indulgent old Sybarite, who dearly loved his own ease. Very comfortable was Old Hurricane; and as he toasted his feet and sipped his punch, while his black servant, Wool, applied the warning-pan to his cozy couch, he fairly hugged himself for enjoyment, and declared that nothing under heaven would or could tempt him to leave that room and that house and go out into that storm on that night. Just as he had come to this emphatic determination he was startled by a violent ringing of the door-bell.

Ordering Wool to go and see what was the matter, he hastily arrayed himself in his sleeping habiliments and jumped into bed, determined not to be intruded upon, or to be called out of his room on any account whatever.

At this moment Wool reappeared.

"Shut the door, you villain! Do you intend to stand there holding it open on me all night? vociferated the old man.

Wool hastily closed the offending portals, and hurried to his master's side.

Well, sir, who was it rang the bell?

Sar, de Reverend Mr. Parson Goodwin, and he say how he must see you yourself, personally, alone!

See me, you villain! Didn't you tell him that I had retired?

Yes, Marse, I tell him how you were gone to bed and asleep morn'n an hour ago, and he ordered me to come wake you up, and say how it were a matter of life and death!

Life and death? What have I to do with life and death? I won't stir! If the parson wants to see me he will have to come up here and see me in bed.

Mos! I fetch his reverence up, sar?

Yes, I wouldn't get up and go down to see—Washington—shut the door, you rascal! or I'll throw the bootjack at your wooden head!

Wool obeyed with alacrity and in time to escape the threatened missile.

After an absence of a few minutes he was heard retreating, attending upon the footsteps of another. And the next minute he entered, ushering in the Rev. Mr. Goodwin, the parish minister of Bethlehem, St. Mary's.

How do you do? How do you do? Glad to see you, sir; glad to see you, though obliged to receive you in bed! Fact is, I caught a cold with this severe change of weather, and took a warm negus and went to bed to sweat it off! You'll excuse me!

Wool, draw that easy chair up to my bedside for worthy Mr. Goodwin, and bring him a glass of warm negus. It will do him good after his cold ride.

I thank you, Major Warfield! I will take the seat, but not the negus, if you please, to-night.

Not the negus! Oh, come now, you are joking! Why, it will keep you from catching cold, and be a most comfortable nightcap, disposing you to sleep and sweat like a baby!

Of course you spend the night with us?

I thank you, no! I must take the road again in a few minutes.

Take the road again to-night! Why, man alive! it is midnight, and the snow driving like all Leland.

Sir, I am sorry to refuse your proffered hospitality and leave your comfortable roof to-night, and sorrier still to have to take you with me, said the pastor, gravely.

Take ME with you! No, no, my good sir! no, no, that is too good a joke—ha! ha! Sir, I hear that you will find it a very serious one! Your servant told you that my errand was one of imminent urgency?

Yes, something like life and death—

Exactly—down in the cabin, near the Punch Bowl, there is an old woman dying—

There, I knew it. I was just saying there might be an old woman dying. But, my dear sir, what's that to me? What can I do?

Humility, sir, would prompt you. But, my dear sir, how can I help her? I am not a physician to prescribe—

She is far past a physician's help. Nor am I a priest to hear her confession—Her confession God has already received. Well, and I'm not a lawyer to draw up her will.

No, sir; but you are recently appointed one of the Justices of the Peace for Alleghany.

Yes; well, what of that. That does not comprise the duty my getting out of my warm bed and going through a snow storm to see an old woman expire.

Excuse me for insisting, sir; but this is an official duty, said the parson, mildly but firmly.

I'll—I'll throw up my commission to-morrow, growled the old man.

To-morrow you may do that, but meanwhile, to-night, being still in the commission of the peace, you are bound to get up and go with me to this woman's bedside.

And what the demon is wanted of me there?

To receive her dying deposition! Good Heaven! was she murdered, then? exclaimed the old man, in alarm, as he started out of bed and began to draw on his nether garments.

Be composed—she was not murdered, said the pastor.

Well, then, what is it? Dying deposition! It must concern a crime, exclaimed the old man, hastily drawing on his coat.

It does concern a crime.

What crime, for the love of heaven? I am not at liberty to tell you. She will do that.

Wool, go down and rouse up Jehu, and tell him to put Parson Goodwin's mule in the stable for the night. And tell him to put the black draught-horses to the close carriage, and light both the front lanterns—for we shall have a dark, stormy road—Shut the door, you infernal—I beg your pardon, parson, out that villain always leaves the door ajar after him.

The good parson bowed gravely; and the major completed his toilet by the time the servant returned and reported the carriage ready.

To the Devil's Punch Bowl—was the order given by Old Hurricane as he followed the minister into the carriage. And now, sir, he continued, addressing his companion, I think you had better repeat that part of the church litany that prays to be delivered from "battle, murder and sudden death;" for if we should be so lucky as to escape Black Donald and his gang, we shall have at least an equal chance of being upset in the darkness of these dreadful mountains.

A pair of saddle mules would have been a safer conveyance, certainly, said the minister.

Old Hurricane knew that, but though a great sensualist, he was a brave man, and so he had rather risk his life in a close carriage than suffer clod upon a surefooted mule's back.

After many delays and perils, the pastor and Old Hurricane arrived at their destination, called the Witch's Hut or Old Hat's Cabin. In one corner of the hut, on a ragged couch, lay a gray-haired and emaciated woman, evidently near unto death. On being informed that a magistrate had arrived, she insisted on everybody else leaving the room, as she would speak with him alone. Her request having been complied with, Old Hurricane drew from his pocket a Bible, administered the oath, and then said:

Now then, my good soul, begin—"the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth," you know. But first, your name?

Is it possible you don't know me, master? Not I, in faith!

For the love of heaven, look at me and try to recollect me, sir! It is necessary some one authority should be able to know me, said the woman, raising her haggard eyes to the face of her visitor.

The old man adjusted his spectacles and gave her a scrutinizing look, exclaiming at intervals—

Lord bless my soul! it is! it is! it must! it can't be! Granny Grewell—the—the—midwife that disappeared from here some twelve or thirteen years ago?

Yes, master, I am Nancy Grewell, the lady's nurse, who vanished from sight so mysteriously some thirteen years ago! replied the woman.

Heaven help our hearts! And for what crime was it you ran away? Come—make a clean breast of it, woman! You have nothing to fear in doing so, for you are past the arm of earthly law now!

I know it, master.

And the best way to prepare to meet the Divine Judge is to make all the reparation that you can by a full confession.

I know it, sir—if I had committed a crime; but I have committed no crime, neither did I run away.

What? what? what?—What was it then? Remember, witness, you are on your oath!

I know that, sir, and I will tell the truth; but it must be in my own way.

At this moment a violent blast of wind and hail roared down the mountain side and rattled against the walls, shaking the witch's hut, as if it would have shaken it about their ears.

It was a proper overture to the tale that was about to be told. Conversation was impossible until the storm raved past and was heard dying in deep reverberating echoes from the depths of the Devil's Punch Bowl.

It is some thirteen years ago, began Granny Grewell, upon just such a night of storm as this, that I was mounted on my old mule, Molly, with my saddle-bags full of dried yams, and stilled waters and such, as I lull carried when I was out 'tendin' on the sick.

I was on my way, a-going to see a lady as I was sent for to tend.

Well, master! I'm not 'shamed to say, as I never was afraid of man, beast, nor spirit! and never stopped at going out all hours of the night, through the most loamsomest roads, if so be I was called upon so to do. Still I must say that just as me and Molly, my mule, got into the deep, thick, lonesome woods as stands round the old Hidden House in the hollow, I did feel queerish; 'case it was the dead hour of night, and it was said how strange things were seen and heard, yes, and done to o, in that dark, deep, lonesome place.

I seen how even my mule Molly felt queer too, by the way she stuck up her ears, stiff as quills. So, partly to courage her, says I, Molly, and partly to courage her, says I, Molly, says I, 'what are ye afraid on? Be a man, Molly!

But Molly stepped out cautious, and pricked up her long ears all the same.

Well, master, it was so dark I couldn't see a yard past Molly's ears, and the path was so narrow and the bushes so thick we could hardly get along; but just as we came to the little creek as they call the Spout, cause the water jumps and jets along till it empties into the Punch Bowl, and just as Molly was cautiously peering over her nose into the water, out starts two men from the bushes and seizes poor Molly's bridle.

Good heavens! exclaimed Major Warfield.

Well, master, before I could cry out, one of them willians seized me by the scruff of my neck, and with the other hand on my mouth he says:

Be silent, you old fool, or I'll blow your brains out!

And then master, I saw for the first time that their faces were covered over with black crape. I couldn't a-screamed if they'd let me, for my breath was gone and my senses were going along with it from the fear that was on me.

Don't struggle, come along quietly and you shall not be hurt, says the man as had spoke before.

Struggled! I couldn't a-struggled to a-saved my soul! I couldn't speak! I couldn't breathe! I liked to have a-dropped right off Molly's back. One on 'em says, says he:

Give her some brandy! And 'tother takes out a flask and puts it to my lips and says, says he:

Here, drink this.

Well, master, as he had me still by the scruff of the neck I couldn't do no other ways but open my mouth and drink it. And as soon as I took a swallow my breath come back and my speech.

And oh, gent-men, says I, if it's "your money or your life," you mean, I haint it about me! "Deed ' product of time and patience—the result of slow, solid development. Nothing ought to be done in a hurry. It is contrary to nature, right, justice, and common sense. Your man of hurry is no sort of character at all. Always in confusion, loose at every point, unhinged and unjoined, blowing and puffing here and there, but all ending in smoke.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Feb. 19th, 1859.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

MILITARY AND CIVIL LEVEE AND BALL. The Hancock Light Guards, under the escort of their popular commander, Capt. Newcomb, will hold their fourth annual Levee at the Town Hall, on Tuesday evening next, in commemoration of the birth day of the Father of his Country.

This day is a propitious one to awaken a broad national feeling; to sink in forgetfulness the petty differences of the hour, and to realize the fact, that we are united by the same interest; with one common country, and one destiny. Although Virginia by birthright may claim him as her own, still his fame is the inheritance of all; and the Sons of Massachusetts will ever do reverence to the memory of him, "Who was first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

Most extensive preparations, we learn, are being made by the Light Guards to render this assembly one of the most popular of the season. The first part of the evening will be devoted to appropriate Tableaux, Anthems, and amusing Pantomime. The best of music will be in attendance to enliven the occasion, and accompany those who may join in the "Tread of the mazy dance."

Our citizens should make a general rally on this occasion, and unite with the patriot corps in their laudable endeavors to render a just tribute to the memory of the illustrious dead, and at the same time contribute material aid to the Guards.

GRAND FESTIVAL. We learn that Protector Engine Company No. 3, Capt. Lucas, of North Bridgewater, will give a grand Concert and Ball, in that place, on the evening of the 11th of March ensuing. Dodworth's Band of New York city, consisting of thirty-five pieces, one of the most eminent in the country, has been engaged. The concert will take place at seven o'clock, and the dancing commences at nine o'clock in the evening. Every entertainment under the supervision of Capt. Lucas and his popular company, take the lead for their excellence and social enjoyment.

HOWARD HOUSE, RANDOLPH. This old established hotel has recently passed into the hands of Mr. Charles Estabrook, a gentleman of social qualities and who appreciates the wants of guests. This hotel will be found to possess every luxury, and ample comfort may here be enjoyed that the traveller can reasonably expect. The new landlord has a will to please patrons, and assiduous efforts are sure to be made to render the Howard House a home to all who may seek shelter under its hospitable roof.

BRAINTREE LIGHT INFANTRY. We are assured that the Ball to be given by this military corps, on the 22d inst., will be a grand and splendid festival. Extended arrangements have been made to render it the most brilliant affair which has taken place in that town for many years; and under the direction of its popular commander, Capt. C. C. Bampus, and the gentlemen associated with him on the Committee of Arrangements, we have no doubt of its superiority in every particular, and that the occasion will long be remembered by every participant.

FACTS ABOUT BREAD. The Boston Daily Advertiser in an article on bread, in connection with the late destruction by fire of the Mechanical or Steam Bakery in that city, thus remarks:

"We are informed that the bakers of Boston charge $6 72 for converting a barrel of flour into bread. The price charged at the Mechanical Bakery was $3 29 per barrel, a saving of $3 43 to the consumers on every barrel. Statistics show that 300,000 barrels of flour per annum are consumed here and in the immediate vicinity. This, converted into bread by the old process, would cost $2,016,000; and by the Mechanical Bakery, $987,000; a saving of $1,029,000 per annum to the public. This saving is accomplished by the concentration of a large amount of business in one establishment, and a consequent reduction of expense. There is no danger of the reduction in the price of bread being temporary, as even the lowest rate will still leave a large profit to the manufacturer."

THE UNION. The recent admission of Oregon as a member of the Sisterhood of States, makes the number thirty-three.

To cure chapped hands and sore lips, "My Mother's Salve" will be found a nice, clean, and effectual salve. Buy a box and open it; you will find it pure and balsamic. See advertisement.

CLAM CHOWDER. This much admired preparation will be ready for patrons, this day and evening, at Shaw's saloon, head of Franklin street, under the catership of Yankee Seth.

For the Patriot.

"Pro Aris" to Dr. Babbitt

MR. EDITOR:—We, the PEOPLE, demand it as a right, that they whose vocation is the study of disease shall enlighten us on this dark and mysterious subject; and I am much pleased to find that Dr. Babbitt manifests an inclination to comply with the "demands of the age." I regard it as a prestige of his success in the march of improvement, and would assist him by showing wherein he does not keep step with the true band of progress. He is exceedingly happy in his first illustration, where he says, "I might with equal propriety say the sun does not rise, and insist that every one should say, the earth turns round and brings the sun to view," as to say "medical agents do not act on the system, but the living system acts on the medicine." He says, "It would be of no practical importance if this proposition was shown to be correct." Is it, then, of no importance whether the sun rises or not? Where would be the noble science of Astronomy, without this fundamental truth (mathematically demonstrated) that the earth revolves, whereby the sun appears to rise? And where now is the obscure science of medicine? without the fundamental truth, that "disease is not an action in relation to things abnormal, and that food or medicine, nutriment or poison, is invariably acted upon by the living system.

Here is the very pith of the argument. "The erroneous yet firmly established doctrine of antiquity" is based on the apparent or supposed chemical action of medical agents, which are in reality acted upon by the vital forces of the system, in order to counteract the deadly influence of the poisons. If it were chemical action, why would not the medicine act after death the same as it is said to before? Simply because the medicine does not act at all. In the case of sulphuric acid, a deadly poison, applied to the living finger, the action is wholly confined to the living parts, and the inflammation which arises is caused by the rush of blood to the part to protect it by its vital presence and action from the assault of the poisonous enemy; and the pain which results from the inflammation is the warning of nature to let poisons alone. Let those who see the absurdity, laugh.

He thinks my "definition of disease rather funny, though plausible enough in case of overeating;" and as most diseases are caused by improprieties in regard to food, or by otherwise obstructing the system by too little exercise and want of cleanliness, he may find that he is admitting more than he can afford to, if he would maintain his position; but I am a little too fast, for he has not yet taken any position as to the nature of disease.

Medical men have taken the utmost pains to classify the various diseases with technical names obtained from dead languages, thus keeping their science above common comprehension, and maintaining a high position in the estimation of the ignorant and credulous; but they have given no more rational definition of disease than that it is "the absence of health"—philosophical indeed!—though "rather funny." Disease is always caused by neglect of the natural conditions or laws of health, and cured by observance of them. This seems plain enough to be understood by any one of common sense—even the most learned doctor; but ever since the fall of our ancient progenitor the world has been so fond of being humbugged, that it abhors the truth as nature is said to abhor a vacuum.

The people need to learn the simple yet sublime truth, that health is restored by the same natural conditions that are necessary to maintain it; but how shall they learn it? Surely not from the medical profession, for they are but poor blind leaders of the blind.

The absurd notion that medicines which are poisons in health can be adapted to a state of disease, can be anything but poisons under any circumstances, is unworthy of credence in these enlightened times. Yet it is the popular belief, which originated in ignorance and credulity, and is maintained by the selfishness and empiricism of those who know better, combined with the prejudices of those who do not know better.

Dr. B. does not believe that "Nature always indicates the proper course, if we are wise enough to understand and obey her dictates;" like the man who did not believe the earth turned round, because he always lived in the same place.

In croup and hooping cough nature indicates local inflammation, which is readily subdued by that universal and best of febrifuges, pure water, applied by means of wet wrappings or otherwise, as the symptoms may require. He says hooping cough, "with phlegm, under the old system, will last much longer" (than if left to nature), and this on the ground that phlegm complicates the disease, and produces a weakness of the general constitution. But the "infinitesimal dose" of the Homoeopath has power to arrest the disease, and thus conquer, but not cure it; for the morbid matter which would have been helped out of the system by skillful water treatment is left, with its corroding influence, to manifest itself by some other disease, thus insuring a profitable business to the drug dispenser.

Dr. B. has not yet shown the necessity of medicine in any case. PRO ARIS.

Boston Correspondence.

BOSTON, Feb. 18, 1859.

Oregon—Important Legal Reforms hinted at in State Legislation.

The most important political event of the week, is the admission of Oregon by Congress into the Union as the thirty-third State; thus adding another star to the galaxy of the American ensign. The thirteen red and white stripes of the American flag, remain forever unchanged in number, in commemoration of the thirteen original states. But the stars increase as each State is added to our glorious confederacy, until now, when thrown to the breeze, thirty-three stars are seen to spangle our banner. Oregon was not admitted without much opposition, principally from the fact, that one section of its State Constitution exempted persons of color from the rights of citizenship. Most of the Republican members of Congress opposed its admission on this ground. Messrs. Comins, Dawes, and Thayer of the Massachusetts delegation voted for its admission.

The discussion of the thirty million bill, for the purchase of Cuba, is in full blast at Washington. But, I verily believe, the good sense and patriotism of a majority of House of Representatives will send this bill to the tomb of the Capulets, where it belongs.

The wheels of State legislation are moving with much rapidity, and several statutes most special have been approved by the Governor. It is whispered here that the judiciary committee have some important legal reforms under advisement, which will carry the war into Africa with some portion of the judiciary. It is designed to create a Superior Court with ten judges, in place of the present Court of Common Pleas. Superior and Municipal Courts—which shall have the trial of all cases, including capital offences—the Supreme Court being constituted a court for the hearing and decision of questions of law, like the Supreme Court of the United States, at Washington, who never sit upon cases that go to justice; but merely a Court of Equity.

Western Correspondence.

KANSAS (Missouri), Feb. 8th, 1859.

FRIEND GREEN:—Having a few leisure moments, outside the noise and bustle of business, I embrace the opportunity to pen to you a few thoughts from the Far West, thinking you and the many readers of the Patriot would be pleased to hear from this part of our country.

This young and doubting city, which I have adopted for my present home, is, as you will see by reference to the map of our country, situated on the grand and noble Missouri, about three-fourths of a mile below the mouth of the Kaw or Kansas River, giving it a situation for commercial advantages surpassed by none; as the vast fields of western Missouri and southern Kansas, teeming with untold wealth, having within their borders vast and extensive mines of iron, coal, lead, and copper, and a soil unequalled by any under the broad canopy of heaven; settling up with a rapidity never known in the history of the West, with a hardy and industrious people, which any State or country might well be proud—such as will soon develop the hidden wealth and resources of this vast country. All the trade and commerce of this beautiful and extensive territory, which is so fast increasing, will build up a city here which will soon compare with those of the East.

Whilst speaking of the trade of the country south and west of us, I will give you some statistics of the amount of business done by this city for the two years past. The trade of 1857 was, according to the books of our respective merchants and manufacturers, six millions three hundred and forty thousand dollars; while that of 1858, from the same information, was eight millions six hundred and fifty thousand dollars—showing a large and heavy increase over the preceding year. The above includes our home manufactured articles, as bricks, wagons, etc., together with our trade in cattle, hides, peltries, robes and wool, an amount comparing favorably with any city of the Union, in proportion to the number of inhabitants.

The vast territory south of the Kansas river is indeed a beautiful country. I have had the pleasure of traveling over its broad and extensive prairies, and can truly say, that for soil and climate I have never seen its equal; and where but a few short years ago the red man ruled supreme, now is dotted everywhere with fine and richly cultivated farms and embryo towns and cities.

You and your readers will be pleased to hear something relating to the rich and newly discovered gold mines of Western Kansas, of which you have, probably, ere this, become quite familiar with. That gold does exist on the broad, eastern slope of the Sierra Madra, there is no longer a doubt; the people here on the border have the utmost confidence in the richness of these mines; and to steady and industrious men as good wages can be made as ever were in California. Everything here is Pike's Peak, and all are on tiptoe to hear and gain information respecting the mines. Our informants are mountain traders and men who have spent their lives in the mountains and on the plains, and are known throughout the country for truth and veracity. Our citizens are receiving letters every week from friends who went from here this fall, and all go to confirm previous reports. I send you a copy of the Daily Journal, containing a letter from Major Dripps to his son-in-law, the Marshal of this city. The Major is an old mountain trader of thirty years' standing, and is well known through this part of the West. I was favored with his acquaintance when on his last trip from the mountains, and from my short but pleasant interview would place the utmost confidence in his statement.

Our city will soon be filled with trains belonging to the traders of New Mexico and the mountains, who make this their outfitting point. And to give you an idea of the extent of this business, I will say that the number of wagons which left this place during the season of 1858, was ten thousand four hundred and thirty-eight, bound to New Mexico, the mountains, and government forts. Owing to the hostility of some of the tribes of Indians and the increased supplies needed by government, by the locating of new forts and stations, and with the overwhelming emigration to the new gold fields, the number will be much increased the coming season. Our fast young city will present quite a business aspect, such as is never seen in the East. I think we can safely look forward to an emigration on the plains, the coming spring and summer, exceeding the great California emigration of 1849 and '50. All reports from the East fully justify us in so doing.

The number of inhabitants now claimed by us is eight thousand, and with the prospects before us for the coming year, I think we can safely say that in twelve months we can fully come up to from twelve to fifteen thousand. Preparations are now making for very extensive improvements as soon as the weather becomes settled and will admit. More streets are to be opened and macadamized; massive brick business houses will be erected, and that which but a short time since was rugged bluffs will be transformed into a beautiful city. I know of no place where good, steady mechanics can find better employment than here. Work is plenty and at remunerative prices. Wages are now on the advance, and there will probably be a scarcity of laborers, owing to the large numbers who are going to the DIGGINGS.

As yet we are without railroads, of which the country stands greatly in need, although the Pacific road will probably be completed to this point in the course of twelve or sixteen months. The work will be vigorously prosecuted in the spring, and in that time you may expect to hear of a railroad to the line of Missouri and Kansas. We have a magnificent line of railroads in contemplation, which, if time and space would permit, I would like to describe to you.

The mammoth company of Russell, Major & Waddle have relinquished their contract with government for the transportation of supplies to Utah. They will hereafter turn their attention to the Americanizing of Sonora, and will make this city their outfitting point, which will be of great benefit to this place. This is the eastern end of the great Santa Fe road across the plains, and to all emigrants bound for the new El Dorado this is the route. This route is traveled by all our government trains going to the territories of New Mexico and Arizona. Grass grows nearly one month sooner than on the more northern roads. The abandonment of Leavenworth by Messrs. R., M. & W., shows the impracticability of the route by that city, and the precedence of this above all others.

You will be pleased to hear of the prosperity of the press in the Far West. We have at present two weeklies and one daily printed in English, and one weekly in the German language. There is to be another daily established, which will be issued about the first of March.

MISSOURI.

Special Notices.

SPIRITUALISTS MEETING. Services, usual hours, forenoon and afternoon. In Johnson's (Mariposa) Hall, Miss Sprague, of New Hampshire, will speak to-morrow forenoon and afternoon. Quincy, Feb. 19. 1w

Paper Hangings and Borderings for the Spring Trade. C. Gill & Co. announce that they shall soon open and have ready for examination and sale a stock of Paper Hangings and Borderings far superior in style, beauty, and quality to any ever sold in this place. Being satisfied that the trade of Quincy and vicinity will justify us in presenting a much larger and handsomer stock than has heretofore been kept, we have made arrangements for a supply of Papers of an entirely different manufacture, which we are assured will be exactly the kind of Papers and Borderings wanted in this community, and to which we shall as soon as the papering season opens, invite the attention of purchasers by a more definite description.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 14th inst. Mary Jane, infant daughter of Mr. Andrew and Mrs. Mary Crocker.
On the 16th inst. Miss Lucinda B. Gibbs, aged 25 years and 6 months.
On the 17th inst. Mr. Thomas Reed, aged 44 years.
In South Weymouth, on the 11th inst. John, son of Mr. John and Mrs. Eliza Long, aged 3 years and 1 month.

In Minnesota there are 25,000 more males than females.

There are at present no fewer than nineteen "ocean steamships" lying idle at New York City, not one of which has been employed during the winter.

Souloque has abdicated the imperial authority in Hayti and taken refuge with the British in Kingston. Gen. Goffard has been proclaimed President of Hayti.

A mechanic of Williamstown, Ohio, has just taken out a patent for a cast iron watch dog, for stores, &c. The affair seems to be got up on the watch principle, for you have only to wind up the tail of the animal to make him howl twice every second all night.

There is now in progress at the Crystal Palace, London, an extensive poultry exhibition, the coops containing the fowls being a mile in extent.

No franking privileges in England. Even the Queen is obliged to pay her penny postage.

During the last year one hundred and five whaling vessels were entered at New Bedford, with cargoes valued at $5,299,208.

Collector's Notice.

NORFOLK, SS.

THE proprietors of the following described Real Estate situated in the Town of Braintree, are hereby notified that the same are to be sold in the tax bill committed to the collector, collector of taxes for said Braintree, for the year 1858, as follows, to-wit:

NATHANIEL M. HOBART, of Braintree, Ten Acres of Land, more or less, with the Buildings thereon, bounded as follows—northerly by land of Lemuel Shaw; southerly by land of Abraham Hobart; easterly by Shaw street; westerly by land owner not known, or however otherwise bounded. Taxes, $19 27.

HENRY HOBART, of Braintree, House and about 1-4 Acre of Land, bounded as follows—Easterly by land of Thomas Griffin; northerly by land of Porter & Loud; westerly by a private way; southerly by Allen street. Taxes, $5 70.

GEO. A. CUSHING, of Weymouth, House Lot containing about 10,000 feet of Land, bounded as follows—northerly by the S. S. Railroad; easterly by a passage way, leading from Commercial street; southerly by land now or formerly owned by R. R. Walker and others; westerly by a brook dividing said land from land of A. Mason & J. B. Allen. Taxes, $9 73.

MRS. HOWES, of Dorchester, Three Acres of Fresh Meadow, bounded as follows—northerly by land of Daniel Penniman; easterly by the Monaquet River; southerly by land of Samuel French; westerly by land of Samuel D. Hayden. Taxes, $9 73.

LORING THAYER, of Randolph, Lot of Land containing 1-4 Acre, more or less, bounded as follows—northerly by land of Jonathan French; easterly by the O. & F. R. Railroad; southerly by a passage way; westerly by land of Alan W. Tower, and contains 1-4 Acre, more or less. Taxes, $4 17.

GEO. W. PALMER, of Boston, House and about 1-4 Acre of Land, bounded as follows—easterly by a town way; southerly by land of I. Snow & A. H. Hunt; westerly by a passage way; northerly by land of Perley Steadman. Taxes, $16 40.

Heirs of PHILIP DASCOMB, of Boston, About 1-2 Acre of Land, bounded as follows—easterly by land of Stephen S. Thayer; southerly by land of Porter & Loud; westerly and northerly by a passage way. Taxes, $1 46.

I and hereby give notice, that unless said taxes are paid on or before the twenty-first day of March next ensuing, I shall on that day at five o'clock in the afternoon, at the Lyceum Room, in said Braintree, proceed to sell at Public Auction, said parcels of Real Estate, or so much of the same as shall be necessary to discharge said Taxes and all intervening charges.

E. F. E. THAYER, Collector.
Braintree, Feb. 17th, 1859. 3w

Executrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the executrix of the will of JOHN HOLDEN, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Watchmaker, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to SURMIT D. HOLDEN, Executrix.

Quincy, Feb. 19, 1859. 3w

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the administrator of the Goods and Estate of ASA POPE, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Bootmaker, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

OZIAS M. POPE, Adm'r
Quincy, Feb. 5th, 1859. 3w

Youth and Manhood.

JUST Published, the 25th Thousand, and mailed in a sealed envelope, to any address, post paid, on receipt of three stamps.

A MEDICAL ESSAY ON THE PHYSICAL EXHAUSTION AND DECAY OF THE FRAME, CAUSED BY "SELF-ABUSE," INFECTION AND THE EXHAUSTIVE CONSEQUENCES OF MERCURY, BY R. J. CLEVELAND, M.D., MEMBER OF THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS, &c.

OF SPERMATORRHOEA OR SEMINAL EMISSIONS, Genital and Nervous Debility, Impotency, Loss of Energy, Depression of Spirits, Timidity, Diseases of the Sexual Organs, and Impediments to Marriage, are promptly and effectually removed by the author's novel and most successful mode of treatment, by means of which the invalid can regain pristine health without having recourse to dangerous and expensive medicines.

(From the London Lancet.)

The best treatise ever written on a subject of vital importance to all, well worthy the author's exalted reputation.

Address the Publishers, J. C. KLINE & CO., 1st Avenue, Cor. 19th street; Post Box 4566, New York City.

Birth Day of Washington.

Celebrated by every True American!

The Hancock Light Guards.

WILL HOLD THEIR

Fourth Annual Levee!!

AT THE

TOWN HALL, - - - - QUINCY,

TUESDAY EVE, FEB. 22d

THE Entertainment in the first part of the evening will consist of Tableaux, Pantomime, Exhibition of the Elephant, to conclude with a Grand National Anthem. The remainder of the evening will be devoted to Dancing.

Music. . . . PORTER'S BAND.

Admission Ticket 25 cents. Dancing, 50c. Refreshments provided for those who wish.

Doors open at 6 1-2 o'clock.

Amusements commence at 8 o'clock.

Entrance through the Lyceum Room.

Quincy, Feb. 19. 1w

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. Probate Office, Feb. 16, A.D. 1859.

UPON the petition of William R. Brown, praying that he may be appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Widow, deceased, Ordered—That said petitioner notify and cite all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden in Roxbury, in said County, on the twelfth day of March, A.D. 1859, at two o'clock in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

MARY BROWN,

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

Quincy, Feb. 19. 3w

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. Probate Office, Feb. 16, A.D. 1859.

UPON the petition of Lucinda B. Brown, praying that she may be appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Trader, deceased, Ordered—That said petitioner notify and cite all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden in Roxbury, in said County, on the twelfth day of February, in the year of our Lord, 1859, at two o'clock in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

DANIEL HOBART,

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

Quincy, Feb. 12. 3w

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. Probate Office, Feb. 8, A.D. 1859.

UPON the petition of William S. Morton, praying that he may be appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Laborer, deceased, Ordered—That said petitioner notify and cite all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden in Roxbury, in said County, on the twenty-sixth day of February, A.D. 1859, at two o'clock in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

WILLIAM NOLAN,

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

Quincy, Feb. 12. 3w

Watches! Watches!!

25 per cent less than cash prices.

B. F. MESERVEY,

Has just purchased at an Assignee's Sale

One Thousand Dollars Worth of

GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES,

WHICH he will offer at prices that cannot fail to be a Great Inducement to those who wish to purchase, if they will

CALL AND EXAMINE THE STOCK.

Quincy, Feb. 12. 1f

To the Honorable the County Commissioners for the County of Norfolk.

THE subscribers, inhabitants of the Town of Quincy, respectfully represent that a petition was presented to the Selectmen of said Quincy, in the month of September last, praying said Selectmen to lay out a town way from Union street in said Town to Washington street, passing over the land already marked out as a street or road between said two points; that said Selectmen have unreasonably neglected and refused to lay out said town way.

They therefore pray your Honorable body to proceed to view and lay out said town way according to law.

Dated at Quincy, January 1859.

HUGH MUNDY, and 89 others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

At a meeting of the County Commissioners, begun and held at Dedham, within and for said County of Norfolk, on the thirty-first day of January, A.D. 1859, by adjournment of the December meeting next preceding.

ON the Petition aforesaid, Ordered, that the County Commissioners meet at the Town Hall, in Quincy, in said County, on FRIDAY, the thirtieth day of May next, at one o'clock, A.M., and there proceed to view the route described in said petition, and hear and act thereon.

And that an attested copy of said petition, with this order thereon, be served upon the Clerk of the Town of Quincy, thirty days at least before the time appointed for said view, and also that a like copy be published three weeks successively in the Quincy Patriot, a newspaper printed in Quincy, at least publication to be fourteen days at least before said view, and that like copies be posted up in two or more public places in said Quincy, fourteen days at least before said view, that all persons and corporations interested for or against said petition may then and there appear, and be heard if they see fit.

EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.

A true copy of the original Petition on file and order thereon. Attest.

EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.

Feb. 12. 3w

CALL AT

J. W. LONBAR

Over Elbridge Clapp's Store.

SAVE YOUR MONEY

BY BUYING

BUSINESS COATS, PROCKS

At Prices varying from $2

Pants, of All Description

$1 62 to $5 00

Boys' Jackets,

from 1 75 to $3

Call early and Replenish your

Birth Day of Washington.

Celebrated by every True American!

The Hancock Light Guards
WILL HOLD THEIR Fourth Annual Levee!!
AT THE
TOWN HALL, - - - QUINCY,
TUESDAY EVE, FEB. 22d.

THE Entertainment in the first part of the evening will consist of Tableau, Pantomime, Exhibition of the Elephant, to conclude with a Grand National Anthem. The remainder of the evening will be devoted to Dancing.

Music, . . . PORTER'S BAND.
Admission Ticket 25 cents. Dancing, 50.
Refreshments provided for those who wish.
Doors open at 6 1/2 o'clock.
Announcements commence at 8 o'clock.
Entrance through the Lyceum Room.
Quincy, Feb. 19.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK SS. Probate Office, Feb. 16, A.D. 1859.
UPON the petition of William R. Brown, praying that he may be appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

MARY BROWN,
late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Widow, deceased,
Ordered—That said petitioner notify and cite all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden in Roxbury, in said County, on the twelfth day of March, A.D. 1859, at two o'clock in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.
Quincy, Feb. 19.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK SS. Probate Office, Feb. 16, A.D. 1859.
UPON the petition of Lucinda W. Hubert, praying that she may be appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

DANIEL HUBERT,
late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Trader, deceased,
Ordered—That said petitioner notify and cite all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden in Roxbury, in said County, on the twelfth day of March, A.D. 1859, at two o'clock in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.
Quincy, Feb. 12.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK SS. Probate Office, Feb. 8, A.D. 1859.
UPON the petition of William S. Morton, praying that he may be appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

WILLIAM NOLAN,
late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Laborer, deceased,
Ordered—That said petitioner notify and cite all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden in Roxbury, in said County, on the twenty-sixth day of February, A.D. 1859, at two o'clock in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.
Quincy, Feb. 12.

Watches!! Watches!!
25 per cent less than cash prices.

H. F. NESBURY,
Has just purchased at an Assignee's Sale
One Thousand Dollars Worth of GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES,
WHICH he will offer at prices that cannot fail to be a great inducement to those who wish to purchase, if they will
CALL AND EXAMINE THE STOCK.
Quincy, Feb. 12.

To the Honorable the County Commissioners for the County of Norfolk.

THE subscribers, inhabitants of the Town of Quincy, respectfully represent that a petition was presented to the Selectmen of said Quincy, in the month of September last, praying said Selectmen to lay out a town way from Union street in said Town to Washington street, passing over the land already marked out as a street or road between said two points; that said Selectmen have unanimously neglected and refused to lay out said town way.

They therefore pray your Honorable body to proceed to view and lay out said town way according to law.

Dated at said Quincy, January 1859.
HUGH MUNDY, and 99 others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
At a meeting of the County Commissioners, begun and held at Dedham, within and for said County of Norfolk, on the thirty-first day of January, A.D. 1859, by adjournment of the December meeting next preceding.

ON the Petition aforesaid, Ordered, that the County Commissioners meet at the Town Hall, in Quincy, in said County, on THURSDAY, the thirtieth day of May next, at one o'clock A.M., and there proceed to view the route described in said petition, and hear and determine thereon.

And that an attested copy of said petition, with this order thereon, be served upon the Clerk of the Town of Quincy, thirty days at least before the time appointed for said view, and also that a copy of the published three weeks successively in the Quincy Patriot, a newspaper printed in Quincy, at least before said view, and that the copies be posted up in two or more public places in said Quincy, fourteen days at least before said view, and that all persons and corporations interested for or against said petition may then and there appear and be heard if they see fit.

Attest,
EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.
A true Copy of the original Petition on file and order thereon.
EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.
Feb. 12.

CALL AT J. W. LOMBARD'S, Over Elbridge Clapp's Store, and there

SAVE YOUR MONEY
BY BUYING
BUSINESS COATS, FROCKS & SACKS
At Prices varying from $2 to $6 50.
Pants, of All Descriptions, from
$1 63 to $5 00.
Boys' Jackets,
from 1 75 to $3 00.

Call early and Replenish your wardrobe.
Quincy, Feb. 12.

Removal.

THE SUBSCRIBER HAS REMOVED TO
GOODNOW'S BUILDING!
Corner of Hancock and Granite Sts.,
Where he will continue to sell his usual large and well selected stock of

Plain and Fancy Silks,
Shawls, Dress Goods of every variety,
Domestic and Housekeeping Goods,
Cloves, Hosiery, Trimmings,
Embroideries and Fancy
Goods, &c.

GENTS' AND BOYS' CLOTHING
AND FURNISHING GOODS!!
Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, &c., &c.

A GOOD ASSORTMENT OF FURNITURE

Constantly on hand. Mattresses and Featherbeds of every quality. Carpets, Paper Hangings, Crockery, China, Glass and Britannia Ware, all of which will be offered at

Very Low Prices for Cash.
He takes this opportunity to thank the citizens of this and neighboring towns for the very liberal patronage which they have given him, and would be happy to see them at his new location, where he will offer such inducements as will secure their continued and increased favors.

CALEB PACKARD.
Quincy, Jan 23

FRANCIS P. LOUD

WOULD respectfully inform the Citizens of Quincy, that he has taken the Store formerly occupied by the late George B. Nightingale, in the rear of the Stone Temple, where he has on hand and intends keeping a

A FULL ASSORTMENT
OF
WORSTED FOR EMBROIDERY,
Patterns of all kinds, and a General Assortment of Fancy Articles.

Also—
Ladies' & Children's Ready Made CLOTHES,
Dress Trimmings, Corsets, Head
Dresses, the best of Spool Cotton,
Sewing Silk, Embroidery Silk,
Shirts and Shirt Bosoms, Overalls,
Cravats, Collars, &c., &c.

Also—A large assortment of
CONFECTIONARY, NUTS, &c.
N. B. Strutting done to Order.
Quincy, Sept. 11.

DAVID B. STETSON.
WOULD inform his friends and the public that he has returned to his Old Stand, a few rods East of the Stone Temple, where he will keep a good assortment of

WESTINDIA GOODS, FAMILY PROVISIONS, GROCERIES, BOOTS AND SHOES, FANCY GOODS, TOYS, CONFECTIONERY, RUSSIA SALVE, and all the popular Medicines, Essences, Flavoring Extracts, &c. A good assortment of CROCKERY, GLASS, &c.

Wooden Ware.
Just received a fresh lot of the improved Rosemary.
A share of public patronage is solicited.
Quincy, Dec. 11

FLOUR

WHOLESALE PRICES.
THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity that he is receiving EXTRA FAMILY FLOUR, Direct from the South and West,
through
Messrs. Faxon, Brothers & CO., OF BOSTON,

on the same terms which they receive it, thereby saving the commission usually paid Flour dealers, which enables me to sell at Boston wholesale prices. All in want of Flour of first quality are invited to call.

Also—An Extra Quality of Buckwheat.
Quincy, Nov. 10.

Boots and Shoes.

ELBRIDGE CLAPP has just received a full assortment of Boots and Shoes, suitable for the season, which he will sell at the

VERY LOWEST PRICES.
Give him a call soon.

A lot of Boots and Shoes slightly shop worn are offered Very Cheap.
Quincy, July 31.

Soft Hats.

C. GILL & Co. sell
A good Black Hat for $0 57
A good Black or Brown Hat for 1 00
A handsome, nice Black Hat for 1 25
A handsome, fine, Black or Brown Hat for 1 50
An excellent Black or Brown Hat for 1 75
An extra quality Black Hat for 2 00
A superior Black Hat for 2 25
A superior extra Black Hat for 2 50
A superior Black Hat for 4 00
Quincy, Dec. 25.

W. M. BABBITT, M. D., Homoeopathic Physician!

HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.
OFFICE HOURS:
7 to 8 A. M. 12 to 1 P. M.
Quincy, Sept. 11.

KENISON & FOLLETT,

JOBBER AND COMMISSION DEALERS IN Butter, Cheese, and Eggs,
Beans, Dried Apples,
AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.
Cellar, 19 Merchant Row, Boston.
GEORGE W. KENISON,
GEORGE D. FOLLETT.

New Arrangement.

FURNALD'S QUINCY EXPRESS
LEAVES BOSTON, DAILY.
AT 2 1/2 O'CLOCK, P. M.
38 South Market St. and 3 Washington St.
Quincy, June 5

BOWDITCH'S Quincy and Boston EXPRESS.

OFFICE—39 & 40 South Market Street, BOSTON.
SLATE AT DANIEL BAXTER & CO.'S,
D. B. STETSON'S, AND THE HANCOCK HOUSE.
All orders thankfully received and promptly attended to.
Quincy, Jan 22

PANTS, (Custom Made,) from 1 75 to $5.

T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31.

GEO. R. HIGBORN AUCTIONEER,

Office, No. 1 Scollay's Building, Entrance, Tremont Row, Boston.
G. R. H. will give his personal attention to Sales of Auction of Real Estate, Farms and Farm Stocks, Stocks of Goods in Stores, Furniture at Residences, &c., &c., in City or Country. Also, to Real Estate at Private Sale.

Refers by permission to
Hon. E. G. Loring, Dr. J. V. Smith,
Hon. Moses G. Cobb, Isaac Thacher, Esq.,
Dr. J. C. Hayden.

REAL ESTATE BROKER

Office, No. 1 Scollay's Building, Entrance, Tremont Row, Boston.
G. R. H. will give his personal attention to Sales of Auction of Real Estate, Farms and Farm Stocks, Stocks of Goods in Stores, Furniture at Residences, &c., &c., in City or Country. Also, to Real Estate at Private Sale.

Notice!

A NEW and SPLENDID ASSORTMENT OF VELVET VESTINGS,
for sale cheap, at
Joseph W. Lombard's.
Over E. Clapp's Store.
Quincy, Nov. 13

THE CITIZENS' CLOTHING HOUSE

STILL AHEAD.
Mark the Prices!
GOOD HEAVY, WARM, SERVICEABLE Double Breast
OVER COATS!
$3 00.
HEAVY, WARM,
Durable, Fall and Winter
PANTS,
ONLY $1 25 PER PAIR.

UNDER SHIRTS AND DRAWERS,

FROM 40 TO 50 CENTS,
In connection with other styles of Fashionable Clothing, as low in proportion.
We challenge the entire trade to produce a parallel instance.

Nos. 49 and 50 Dock square,

Is the ONLY place for these bargains IN BOSTON.

JACKMAN & MERRILL,
Nov. 20.

HEAVY Ribbed UNDER-SHIRTS AND

DRAWERS, from 70 to $1 37.
T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31.

Butter!

50 TUBS of Prime Dairy Butter in pack for sale at the lowest market price, by the tub for cash by DANIEL BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Dec. 20.

Painting Business.

THE subscribers having formed a partnership in business, under the firm of DAVENPORT & POPE,
and having opened a Shop, on the premises of George Curtis, in School Street, are now prepared to answer all orders with neatness and dispatch.

Painting, Graining, Varnishing and GLAZING,
done to satisfaction, and in a workmanlike manner.
Small as well as large jobs thankfully received; and a share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

WILLIAM DAVENPORT,
CHARLES E. POPE.
Quincy, Oct. 9.

NEW BOOK.

Will be ready, JANUARY 1, 1859,
TWELVE MESSAGES from the Spirit John Quincy Adams through Joseph D. Stiles, Medium, to Josiah Brigham. Price $1.50.
For sale by C. GILL & Co., at the Quincy Bookstore.

New Orleans Syrup.

JUST received, and for sale by the subscriber, a lot of prime New Orleans Syrup, put up in 1 1/2 barrels expressly for family use. ALSO—30 barrels of first quality Russet Apples for sale low by
H. VINAL.
Quincy, Jan 1.

Quincy Bakery.

THE subscribers would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that they have taken the Quincy Bake-House, and intend carrying on the baking business in all its branches—adhering strictly to the Cash system—and hope by manufacturing the

Best Quality of Bread,

to merit the patronage of the Citizens of this and the neighboring towns.

Trout & Glover.

Quincy, Oct. 16.

COAL COAL.

THE Undersigned has for sale at WEBSTER, SWAN, and EAGLE MOUNTAIN COAL!
Also, Nova Scotia Wood!
Orders left at D. Baxter & Co.'s Store, Mr. Averill's, near South Depot, Dea. Geo. Baxter's or at the Office, will be promptly attended to.

OFFICE, and entrance to Wharf, on
WASHINGTON STREET,
NEAR DEA. GEORGE BAXTER'S.
OWEN ADAMS,
Quincy, Sept. 4.

ADAMS & HENRY, GRANITE WHARF, (Quincy Point.)

WE have just received one cargo of FRANKLIN COAL, which they will sell at $7 00 per ton.

OTHER KINDS OF Coal at $5 50 per Ton.

Orders left at Geo. L. Baxter & Co.'s Store, George H. Lusk's, or with Geo. W. Kenison, will receive early attention.
Quincy, July 3.

GRANULAR FUEL.

Patented, June, 1852.
Manufactured from Brushwood and Twigs
For Kindling Coal Fires
AND all purposes for which a quick hot fire is needed. It is intended

By its Cheapness and Cleanliness
TO SUPERSEDE CHARCOAL.
It is especially adapted for Summer Use, where a quick fire is wanted but a short time. As it can be used in all kinds of Stoves, and being allowed to go out immediately after using, enables the consumer to practice Economy.

The extreme low price of this Fuel is also a great advantage, being but one-half the price of charcoal. It kindles quick, is clean and cheap, and will be sold and delivered at the following low prices for cash:—
Under 25 bushels, 10 cents per bushel.
Over 25 " " 9 " " " "

Orders left at the Store of E. Clapp, Henry A. Newcomb, Peter W. Newcomb, Quincy Point, or at Badger & Hanson's Machine Shop, will be promptly attended to.

MANUFACTURED AND SOLD BY
GEORGE SAVIL,
Rear of Badger & Hanson's—Cemetery St.
Quincy, Aug. 14.

India Rubber Boots, Shoes, &c.

NOTWITHSTANDING the great advance in the prices of India Rubber Boots and Shoes,
HENRY A. HALL & CO.
being headquarters for every variety of India Rubber and Gutta Percha goods, will sell these indispensable articles, all warranted first quality, and further notice at the following low rates:—
Men's Heavy Boots per pair $3 37
" " " " " " 3 25
" " " " " " 3 25
" " " " " " 3 25
Ladies' Long Boots 56
" " " " " " 56
Misses' " " " " 1 50
" " " " " " 1 25
Misses' Overboots and Sandals 45
Children's " " " " 35
Boys' Boots 2 25
Yankee's Boots, extra heavy and wide, 4 00
Men's Wood-lined Mittens 50
Also—India Rubber Soleing and Cement, of superior quality.

WAREHOUSE, 146 CONGRESS ST.
Boston, Nov. 20.

Boston Almanac for 1859

For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Jan 1.

Pimple Destroyer, &c.

GARDNER'S Pimple Destroyer, for the cure of pimples, ringworms, scalp-itch, and all other eruptions of the skin.
Fetridge's Woodland Creams, a beautiful article for the hair.
Wright's Frigipanna, an everlasting perfume, for sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Dec. 4.

LIVERY STABLE.

THE subscriber having purchased the establishment of George J. Jones, on Hancock street, and made additions thereto, is prepared, at the old stand, to accommodate his friends and the public with

Horses and Carriages.
PLEASURE PARTIES furnished with teams and drivers, or single carriages, at the shortest notice.

Personal attention given to the business, and a liberal support from the public solicited.
DAVID E. ROBY.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Important to Housekeepers.

SONERS & CO.'S POLISH.
IS conceded by all who have used it, to be the BEST ARTICLE yet discovered for Cleaning and Polishing Pianofortes and Furniture of every description, in the shortest possible time. Any lady or child can use it. It removes of any kind, and will make any article of Furniture, as well as new. It is decidedly the best article in use for restoring Carriage Leather, Harnesses, Patent Leather Boots, &c., &c.

$3 per dozen, or 37 cents Single Bottle.
SOLD BY SONERS & CO.
At the Upholstery Rooms,
265 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

Persons wishing Furniture Repaired or certain work executed, can have it done at their house, by addressing a line through the mail.
Boston, Jan 22.

Statement of Finances

OF THE County of Norfolk.

As Condensed and Classified
From the Treasurer's Report, Dec. 31, 1858

1858, Dec. 31. By cash collection of County Tax for 1858, which has been promptly paid by every town and city, and no part in arrears, $40,000 00

Expenditure as follows:

1858. Department—Jail and House of Correction.
Supplies, provisions, clothing, &c.
1st Quarter 21 Quar. 3d Quar. 4th Quar.
$1732 28 1357 40 2175 86 2190 46

Stock, materials, utensils, repairs, &c.
1st quarter. 2d quarter. 3d quarter. 4th quarter.
$241 74 275 87 71 07 323 29

Superintendence, Sheriff, Master, Matron, Inspectors, Overseers, Watchmen, Assistants, Clerk, labor, &c.
1st quarter. 2d quarter. 3d quarter. 4th quarter.
$1179 50 1082 25 1057 75 1085 25

Fuel, 182 59 287 98 274 65
Other expenditures
1st quarter. 2d quarter. 3d quarter. 4th quarter.
$22 00 21 25 21 70 192 91

Total expenditures of this department, $385.
1st quarter. 2d quarter. 3d quarter. 4th quarter.
$311 74 322 78 322 35 406 77 1384 04

Criminal costs, $25,400—taxes levied and certified by the District Attorney and Clerk of Courts, not exclusive of cost of support of prisoners in Jail and House of Correction—one-third part paid by the County, $830 20

Attendance and travel of Traverser Jervis 2682 71
Expenses Commissioners' Office, attendance, travel, &c. 2992 73

Sheep's and Deputies' fees, $865 45;
Scales of and notations by Sheriff upon towns and corporations, $297 50; Attendance and service tax warrants, &c., $1 00 1163 95

Messenger and expenses Court House and Officers, and purchase, 659 13
Land damage, 1858, 1964 34
Surveying and Expenses, 194 93

Coal for Court House, Offices, Jail and House of Correction, 717 34
County Treasurer's Office, salary and stationery, 612 20
Interest account paid, 1119 52
Clothing, 150 00

Clerk's Office—Printing, $29 00; Stationery, 64 15; Fees, &c., 404 23; S. J. C. and C. C. P. Dockets and Records, 22 50

Register, Deeds' Offices—for Stationery, 269 50; making Indices, 200 00
Probate Court—Furniture for do., Roxbury and Dedham, 141 00; Rent of Rooms, Roxbury, &c., 76 00; Probate Blanks, 70 25

Coroners' Inquests, 241 92
Fire Inquests, 166 40
Highways, stone bounds and setting, 172 96
do Rents, postage, &c., 69 72

Alterations and repairs, public buildings and furniture, Court House, Jail and House of Correction, 1122 80
Grand Jurors, 265 20
Examiners and Clerks of Courts, Accounts of 1855, 1856, and 1857, included in estimates of 1858, 2363 84

Justices' Offices—for Stationery, 159 30
Constables for Venues, 249 65
Advertising and Printing, 22 00
Gas for Court House, Jail, House of Correction, and offices, 138 30

Special Commissioners for attendance and travel, 627 70

By cash from collections of 1857, &c. $21,737 21
By cash received from loans, 15,000 00
" " from corporations, &c., 1,154 89
" " by County Treasurer from other sources, 1,507 86

$42,399 99

Dr.
To land damage warrants 1855 to 1858, including in estimates of 1858 $7,998 20
To balance brought down, 2,855 02
To payment of note and interest, 15,795 01

$26,648 23
Balance Cash in hands of Treasurer, $13,751 76
COUNTY DEBT, JAN. 1, 1859.
The same being partly a residue of debt incurred in the section of the new Jail and House of Correction.

Amount of County debt upon notes payable, over amount of cash in Treasury, 15,248 24
As follows:
Payable Jan. 16, 1859, $5,000 00
Payable Jan. 1, 1860, 10,000 00
Payable Jan. 1, 1861, 15,000 00
Payable Jan. 1, 1863, 5,000 00

Poetry.

Live for Something

Live for something, be not idle,
Look about thee for employ;
Sit not down to useless dreaming—
Labor is the sweetest joy.
Folded hands are ever weary,
Softish hearts are never gay,
Life for thee hath many duties—
Active be, then while you may.

Scatter blessings in thy pathway!
Gentle words and cheering smiles
Better are than gold and silver,
With their grief dispelling wiles.
As the dew descends on earth,
So let thy sympathy and kindness
Gladden well the darkened hearth.

Hearts there are oppressed and weary;
Drop the tear of sympathy.
Whisper words of hope and comfort,
Give, and thy reward shall be Joy unto the soul returning
From this perfectly fountain head:
Freely as thou freely givest,
Shall the grateful light be shed.

Besides the Winter Fire.

'Tis sweet when business hours are o'er,
And homeward I retire,
To meet the smiles of those I love
Beside the winter fire.

To sit and muse o'er bygone years,
When I was young and gay:
Before I joined the busy crowd
Upon the world's highway.

To think of friends that I have known—
Amid their artless play;
And think what I myself have been
In life's young morning day.

Oh! yes 'tis sweet thus left to muse,
And feel the fire's warm glow;
While round about the foot board eaves
The wint'ry blast doth blow.

For though the world hath charms without
For those who wish to roam;
To me there is no place so sweet,
So pleasant, as my home.

My favorite nook, the old arm chair,
The book I most adore;
And sweetly pass the evening hours
Beside this winter fire.

Sunbeams.

Merry little sunbeams,
Flitting here and there,
Joyous little sunbeams,
Dancing everywhere,
Come they with the morning light,
And chase away the gloomy night.

They kiss away the dew drops
That hang upon the flowers,
They lift the lazy mist that lies
Upon the sylvan bowers,
They bring each one, its little spark,
To drive away all shadows dark.

Kind words are little sunbeams
That sparkle as they fall,
And loving smiles are sunbeams
A light of joy to all.
In sorrow's eye they dry the tear,
And bring the fainting heart good cheer.

Scatter these little sunbeams
Free as the balmy air,
That all in sorrow's darkness
Their joyous light may share,
Their light reflected on your heart,
Will make its shadow all depart.

Crush not a Wounded Spirit.

Crush not a wounded spirit,
Nor trample in the dust
The heart that would look up to thee
With hopefulness and trust;
But be thou like the noble oak
To which the ivy clings,
And shelter the poor ivy soul
Beneath those ample wings.

O, there are hearts upon this earth,
By grudging nature given,
To show as here how pure and good
The angels are in Heaven;
Such hearts indeed as from above
Sweet consolation borrow,
Who shrink not in the hour of need,
But closer cling in sorrow.

The lofty oak beneath whose shade
We've played upon the lawn,
Though now the monarch of the woods
Was of an acorn born,
And little seeds of kindness which
May in the heart be sown, Shall raise up branches by which we May reach our Father's throne.

Anecdotes.

Are you worth two hundred and fifty dollars? was asked of a New York colored barber, as he walked to the ballot-box to deposit his vote on election day.

Yes, sir, replied the barber, and if I was in St. Louis I should be worth seven hundred dollars.

I curse the hour when we were married! exclaimed an enraged gentleman to his better half. To which she mildly replied: Don't, my dear, for that was the only happy one we have seen.

An Irishman and a negro were fighting, and while grappling with each other, the Irishman exclaimed: You devil of a black nigger, cry enough—I'll fight till I die!

Soll I, boss, sung out the darkey, I always does.

A man, very much intoxicated, was sent to jail, and a bystander inquired of a friend why he didn't bail him out.

Bail him out, exclaimed the other, why, you couldn't pump him out.

A Dutchman, being advised to rub his limbs well with brandy, for the rheumatism, said he had heard of the remedy, but added: I doh better as that—I drink the brandy, and den I rubs my lege mit the bottle.

Insurance against Fire.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, of Massachusetts, insure Real and Personal Property against the hazard of Fire, for five years or less, on favorable terms.

Farmers, Mechanics, Householders, Traders, Merchants, and all Owners of Property not extra insured, are solicited to purchase from this Company. Every effort will be made to accommodate customers.

Letters, by mail or otherwise, from persons residing at a distance, relating to Fire Insurance, will be promptly attended to.

PRESIDENT, WILLIAM S. MORTON,
TREASURER, ISRAEL W. MUNROE, SECRETARY, STEPHEN BATES,
DIRECTORS, Quincy, Milton, William S. Morton, Charles Brock, Israel W. Munroe, H. W. Blanchard, Thomas C. Webb, Whitcomb Porter, Stephen Bates, Solomon J. Beal, William B. Duggan, Ebenezer Gay, Thomas Curtis, South Higham, Albert Thompson, Alfred Loring, Randolph, North Bridgewater, Royal W. Turner, Sumner A. Hayward, South Braintree, Barnstable, Apollon Randall, George Marston, Dedham, Jonathan A. Cobb.

References, by permission:
Hos. GEORGE T. BIGELOW, of Boston,
Hos. JOSHUA QUINCY, Jr., of Boston,
Hos. AMASA WALKER, of North Brookfield,
Hos. JAMES MAQUIRE, of Randolph,
Hos. SOLOMON LINCOLN, of Hingham,
Hos. CHARLES F. ADAMS, of Quincy,
JOSHUA BRIGHAM, Esq., of Quincy.

OFFICE:
Washington Square, Quincy, near Stone Temple,
April 1. 1y

National Police Gazette.

THIS Great Journal of Crime and Criminals is in its Twelfth Year, and is widely circulated throughout the country. It contains all the Great Trials, Criminal Cases, and appropriate Editorials on the same, together with information on Criminal Matters, not to be found in any other newspaper.

Subscriptions, $2 per annum; $1 for six months, to be remitted by subscribers, (who should give their names and the town, county and state where they reside plainly.)
GEO. W. MATSELL, & CO.,
Editors & Proprietors of the
National Police Gazette.
New York City, Apr 25. 1y

GEO. R. FRENCH,
Engraver and Plate Printer,
257 Washington, near Winter St., - Boston

Particular attention given to the Engraving and Printing of Invitation, Reception, Marriage, Address and Visiting Cards.

A LONG and practical experience in this particular branch, warrants me in saying that persons about ordering Cards of any description, will study their interests by calling, or sending their orders as above, as we will furnish the most fashionable card produced, at prices as low or lower than any other establishment.

WEDDING STATIONERY, constantly on hand. Portraits, Views, Maps, Diplomas, Labels, Bill-Heads, Blank Checks, Notes, Drafts, Bills of Exchange, &c., &c., engraved or printed at short notice.

Door-Plates, Seals, and anything in the line, furnished to order and at equally low prices.

Orders by mail, express, or otherwise, promptly attended to.
Boston, Feb 29. 6m

RICH'S PATENT
IRON BEAM PLOW.

J. WADSWORTH JR
South Weymouth,
Is Agent for the County of Norfolk,
FOR THE SALE OF THIS PLOW.

Will visit the various parts of the County during the first of April. Plows delivered in any part of the County free of charge. Terms, cash on delivery.

Weights and Prices.
Old Dominion, 3 horse, 125 lbs. price, $13.50
C. No. 1, 2 horse, 125 " " 12.00
Washington, No. 2, 2 h. 110 " " 11.00
D. Improved, 90 " " 9.00
E. Corn Plow, 1 horse 60 " " 5.00
F. Corn Plow, 1 horse 40 " " 4.00
Double Mould Board, 40 " " 4.75
Sole Hill and Level Land 100 " " 10.00

Editor of the Levels weighing 100 pound or upwards, with an extra point, 50 cents more; under 100 weight, 35 cents.
Weymouth April 3. 1y

Paper Hangings.
JUST received new styles of Paper Hangings and for sale cheap for cash.
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, March 25. 1y

Burnett's Cocaine,
FOR preserving and beautifying the Hair, and rendering it dark and glossy. Thompson's Golden Lotion. The German Toilet Balsam, and various other hair preservatives, for sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, June 26. 1y

Fresh Tamarinds,
FOR sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Oct. 16. 1y

QUINCY BOOKSTORE
AND
BOOK BINDERY.

Established in the Year 1838.
BOOKS, STATIONERY
AND
FANCY GOODS.

C. GILL & CO. have always on hand a large assortment of the above—being fully prepared to meet all the wants of this market.

BLANK BOOKS of any particular pattern, made to order. STATIONERY, IN GREAT VARIETY, at the lowest prices.

Miscellaneous and Juvenile Books, will be sold low at publishers' prices.

ALL SCHOOL BOOKS, used in this and neighboring towns, at publishers' prices.

Book Binding. ALL KINDS OF MAGAZINES, PAMPHLETS, SHEET MUSIC, &c., bound in neat and durable style.

"Small Profit" to ensure "Ready Sales." Fall equivalent for your money.

Twenty years' practice has proved these rules to be good ones, and we shall continue to be governed by them, in all branches of our business.

C. GILL & CO.
HANCOCK STREET. 1y
Quincy, March 20.

New Store! New Goods!
B. F. MESERVEY,
HAVING returned to Quincy and taken the Store, one door north of David B. Stearns's Variety Store, in JOHNSON'S BUILDING.

Will keep constantly on hand, a large stock of Gold and Silver Watches, Feb, Curb and Vest Chains, LOCKETS, Cameo, Gold Stone, Jet, Florentine, Painted, Coral and Mosaic Jewelry.

GOLD BRACELETS, BELT PINS, Gents' Pins and Studs, FINGER RINGS,

Together with a large assortment of Silver and Plated Ware, Clocks and Fancy Goods.

Having his Goods direct from the manufacturer, he will be enabled to sell them much less than the usual retail prices. He will also keep a LARGER STOCK than ever offered before in Quincy.

All Goods warranted as represented. Gold and Silver taken in exchange. (See Gold Plates Engraved—23) Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired in a faithful manner, and done when PROMISED. Quincy Oct 24. 1y

Pickles.
50 GALLONS of Pickles just received and for sale cheap for cash.
GEO. L. BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Feb 28. 1y

GROCERIES, FLOUR,
AND PROVISIONS!

THE Subscriber would respectfully invite the Inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity to call and examine his stock of Groceries, Flour and Provisions, where they will find a Good assortment of all kinds of Goods kept commonly in a Grocery Store, which he will sell at the lowest wholesale prices. A few more chests of Old Hyson Tea at 25 cents per pound.

50 Tubs of prime dairy Butter.
200 Bushels of Chenango and Long Red Potatoes.

All those in want of Goods will find it to their interest to call and examine, as they will find a good assortment at the lowest prices.

Goods delivered to any part of the Town free of expense.
H. VINAL,
at the Old Stand of Faxon & Brothers.
Quincy, Oct. 27. 1y

Salt Pork.
FIRST rate article of Salt Pork packed by the subscribers for sale by the barrel or smaller quantities to suit purchasers, cheap for cash.
GEO. L. BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Dec. 6. 1y

SALT PORK.
FIRST qualities of Salt Pork—raised in town and packed by the subscriber—which he will sell at the lowest market price.
H. VINAL.
Quincy, Jan. 10. 1y

Salt Pork.
4000 POUNDS of good Salt Pork for sale at Boston prices by DANIEL BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Sept. 27. 1y

WHITE HANDS!
PERSIAN BATH SOAP.

For the Toilet, Bath, Nursery, Shaving, and for Cleaning the Teeth.

THIS superior Soap will make the HANDS WHITE AND SOFT, and is a certain remedy for CHAPPED HANDS, TANS, SUN-BURNS, CHAFING, and all medicinal purposes where a Healing and Emollient effect is desired.

WM. SMITH HALL,
Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass.
C. DYER, Jr., General Travelling Agent.
Price—25 cents per cake.
Sold by MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy Aug 22. 1y

WOOD'S GLYCERINE LOTION.
FOR improving the complexion, and for the cure prevention of Chapped Hands, Tan, Freckles, Sunburn. Roughness of Skin. Eruptions, &c. For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy Feb 6. 1y

ALL KINDS OF Job Printing,
SUCH AS

POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS, BILL-HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS, AND EVERY VARIETY OF BOOK, PLAIN AND FANCY PRINTING.

Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

ATTENTION.
The Largest and Most Complete ASSORTMENT OF

Hardware

DOORS, SASHES, &c. &c., BLINDS

BAILEY, CARVER & CO.
Having recently made large additions to our stock of

BUILDING MATERIALS, we are prepared to furnish them at prices to correspond with the times.

CHEAPER THAN EVER!! We will sell Nails by the Ton or single Pound.

DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS, WINDOW GLASS, NAILS, SHEET LEAD, FRAMING PINS, WINDOW FRAMES, DOOR BELLS, SCREWS, &c., &c.

MORTICE LOCKS,—in a great Variety. ALSO—Pa d, Rim, Closet, Store and Sash

LOCKS; MORTICE, THUMB AND PEOPLE'S LATCHES;

Porcelain, Glass, Mineral and Mahogany Knobs; A good assortment of Hinges of all kinds.

Wrought, Fancy Pails, STRAP, BLIND, AND T HINGES; SHOVELS; DOOR SCRAPERS;

Bacon's Patent Lever Blind Fast—Crown's improved Blind Fast. Also—a great variety of Sash Fastenings.

Foster's Patent Window Supporter, The best things ever used in the place of weights; DOOR BELLS, HINGE TO ORDER. DON'T FORGET

AT THE OLD STAND OF BAILEY, CARVER & CO., SCHOOL STREET.
Quincy, Jan. 22. 1y

NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand

—ALSO—
Coal, Hard and Soft Wood, QUINCY CANAL WHARF.

July 10, 1852. 1y

FISHER A. KINGSBURY,
Counsellor at Law,
Commissioner for the States of

MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VERMONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE ISLAND and NEW YORK.

Weymouth, Mass.
Nov. 26. 1y

WHITE & FRENCH,
Attorneys at Law,
Room No. 5, Webster Bank Building.

Exchange Street, --- BOSTON.
GEORGE WHITE. ASA FRENCH.
May 20. 1y

SEASONED LUMBER,
Of all descriptions, at prices to suit the times.

DIMENSION FRAMES, Furnished at short notice. Best quality of Lime constantly on hand.

ALSO—Good Pine Wood at $6 a Cord. For sale at BRACKETT'S WHARF.
Quincy, May 8. 1y

Coal, Lime, Brick and Sand,
—with a good assortment of—
SEASONED LUMBER,

constantly on hand, and for sale by the subscriber at Quincy Canal Wharf.
NATHANIEL WHITE.
Quincy, April 10. 1y

Pure Cider Vinegar.
800 GALLONS PURE CIDER VINEGAR, made on the farm formerly owned by B. V. French, now in store and for sale by the barrel or smaller quantity, by
GEORGE L. BAXTER, & CO.
Quincy, Aug. 15. 1y

Boot and Shoe Findings.
JUST received and for sale low, a lot of Boot and Shoe Kit, Findings, &c., by
H. VINAL.
Quincy, Apr 18. 1y

To Boot and Shoe MANUFACTURERS.

WE wish to call your attention to the following Goods, which we are prepared to sell on the most favorable terms.

Black and Colored Doeskins, 7 finished especial-Black, Brown and Drab Cases, 5 for Congress sinners.

Black Brown and Drab Feltings, for snow shoes. Lastings, all wool. Italian do. Silk and Cotton Warp do.

Rubber Gasket Webs, of beautiful quality for Congress Shoes.

Boot and Congress Webs, from 4 in. to 14 in. new style.

Gallons, black and colors, 4, 3 and 2 in. widths. Shoe Ducks; Congress and Linon Canvas.

Shoe Ribbons, Rosettes, and Sandal Webs, all Eylelets, Gords, Shoe Laccets and Straps, all sizes and lots. Shoe Buttons of all descriptions.

Linen Machine Threads, Of the well known XXX Golden Flax Stamp, of every description required in the manufacturing of Boots, Brogues, Shoes and Congress Works, from No. 15 to 100, from 2 to 10 card, in Black, Drab, Grey, Orange, Yellow and W. Brown, in Hanks, Balls and Spools, for sewing, closing, stitching, binding, straps and counters, top stitching and under threads. Also Shoe Threads.

Machine Silk, all colors and sizes. Sea Island Hawk Cotton, Blacks, Colored, Unbleached and White.

Spool Threads and Sewing Cotton, of all descriptions.

Manufacturers of Clothing Will find in our stock everything in Linen and Cotton Threads required in their work, and the quality much superior to any other in use.

BROWN, DIX & Co.
Quincy, June 19. 1y

FASHIONABLE
Tailoring Establishment
J. W. LOMBARD,

HAS taken rooms over the store of E. Clapp, (formerly occupied by Mr. J. M. Beckford,) and wishes respectfully to inform his friends and the public generally that he intends to carry on

THE TAILORING BUSINESS, In all its branches; and hopes by punctuality and strict attention to business to merit a share of patronage.

JOS. W. LOMBARD.
Quincy, Apr 18. 1y

BUSINESS COATS, (Custom Made,) from 6 to $10.
Quincy, Oct. 31. 1y

Cut this out and keep it for Reference.
Great Chance to Save Money!!

BY HAVING YOUR CLOTHES MADE BY C. A. COLLINS,
203 Washington Street,
Cor. Bromfield street, up stairs.

REASONS WHY. 1st. My rent is less than any Custom Tailor in Boston.

2. I buy my Goods for Cash, taking advantage of the markets.

3. I sell my Goods for Cash only.

4. I make no bad debts for Customers to pay for.

5. I work for the interest of my Customers.

6. Gentlemen can depend on having Garments which for style, fit, nice trimming, and faithful work, cannot be surpassed.

7. I pay particular attention to making Pants, being the most difficult of all garments to fit nicely and at the same time be perfectly easy.

8. My Pants are cut by a system original with myself, and need by no other person. I warrant my Pants to retain their shape at the boot till worn out, and to fit handsomely and be easy in every particular.

Some of the Prices.
I sell a nice Coat or Dress Coat, from German black or colored Broad Cloths, made to order, for from $15 to $23

Black German Doe Pants, 5 to 8
Sole Band and other style Pants, 5 to 8
Best quality Silk Vests, 45 to 5
Cloth, Valencia and Plaid Vests, 23 to 5
Business Coats, 9 to 13
Spring and Fall Over-Coats, 10 to 15
Winter Over-Coats, 12 to 20

Where gentlemen furnishing their own Cloths, I make and trim it for them into Garments in the best styles, at less prices than any other Tailor in Boston.

Always on hand the newest and best goods of all the manufacturers of this and foreign countries.

CHESTER A. COLLINS,
203 Washington street, corner Bromfield street, (Up stairs.) - - - BOSTON.
Well known as the place to SAVE MONEY.
July 17. 1y

New Stock and New Styles!
OF
PAPER HANGINGS.

HAVING a desire to accommodate many of our customers, and to increase the trade of our place, we have added to our former variety of Goods, an entirely manufactured on the best paper and in the highest perfection of colors and styles.

New and beautiful Stock of Paper Hangings, Coverings, Curtains, &c., COMPRISING 100 PATTERNS!

Our assortment will always be kept good, and we shall spare no efforts to give the best satisfaction to the taste of all who wish to paper their rooms with attractive and pleasing patterns, on good paper and in good colors.

Our prices will range lower than is usual with the same qualities and styles in Boston, but we shall engage in no mean underselling any of our neighbors, our object being to present an additional inducement for the Quincy people to bestow their patronage upon their own traders, and find themselves suited in every respect as well or better than in the City.

Builders of new houses will be supplied on the most favorable terms.

C. GILL & CO.,
HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy March 27. 1y

Balsam, Plaster, &c.
DR. Blackman's Genuine Healing Balsam and Plaster.

DR. Smith's Magnetic Salve for Sore Throats, Ring Worm, and similar diseases.

DR. Bennett's Canker Powder and Tooth Preservative—for sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Aug. 22. 1y

Apothecary Store.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, select ed with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Groat, cracked Wheat, Sago, Tapioca, Oat-flour, Corn Starch, Broma, &c.

Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Guava Paste, &c. Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and Chells, potent Nursing Shields, 4 tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens, Flesh Brushes, &c. &c.

Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicine of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington street, near Stone Temple.
Quincy, Nov. 1. 45tf

C.C. JOHNSON,
Druggist and Apothecary,
GOODNOW'S BUILDING,
CORNER of Hancock and Granite streets,

Keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, Fancy Articles, Perfumery, Havana Cigars, Foreign Fruits and Swedish Liqueurs.

Physicians' Prescriptions, Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy and despatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13. 1y

YOU HAD BETTER TRY
My Mother's Salve.

THIS CELEBRATED PREPARATION has obtained an enviable and world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to health and usefulness, that the proprietor feels it a duty they owe to the public for their generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve, to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all afflicted may avail themselves of its healing qualities.

"My Mother's Salve" Is a PERFECT CHEMICAL COMPOUND, prepared from ROOTS, HERBS and GUMS, gathered from the forest, and possesses

HEALING, SOOTHING and PAIN-RELIEVING VIRTUES never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.

"My Mother's Salve" Is SAFE and EFFECTUAL, and all those troubled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM, ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such like diseases, will find in its use great relief, and in most cases a permanent cure.

In a BURN or SCALD, takes out the fire, soothes the irritating pain, and heals the wound more speedily and effectually than any other preparation.

Is worthy of confidence, and thousands having used it and recommended it to their friends is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for USE on the side.

Are simple. Every mother and nurse know how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and all who use the Salve will apply it in proportions, renewed at times, as good judgment may direct. For Rheumatism and other pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.

In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs, Sore Throat, and such like ailments, rub as in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Prepared by A. M. BECK.

BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors.
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Oct 30. 1y

Hall's Great

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XXIII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 26th, 1859.

NUMBER IX.

Apothecary Store.

S. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, select ed with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Grains, cracked Wheat, Sage, Tapioca, Oat-flour, Corn Starch, Broom, &c. &c. Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Guava Paste, &c. Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and -bells, patent Nursing Shields, Tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mitts, Brushes, &c. &c.

Also European Leeches always on hand. Prescriptions put up with care and dispatch.

Is also receiving the new and popular medical day, as they appear in this and other papers. Washington at, rear of Stone Temple, Quincy, Nov. 1. 45c

C. JOHNSON,

Druggist and Apothecary,
GOODNOW'S BUILDING,
CORNER of Hancock and Granite streets,
keeps constantly on hand a large assortment
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, Surgical Apparatus, Perfumery, Havana Cigars,
Foreign Trans and Swedish Leeches.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
fully compounded, with accuracy, accuracy dispatch, and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13. 11

YOU HAD BETTER TRY

My Mother's Salve.

THIS CELEBRATED PREPARATION has obtained an extensive and wide-spread reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for curing so many sufferers, restoring them to health and usefulness, that the proprietors feel a duty they owe to the public for their generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve, to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all afflicted may avail themselves of its healing qualities.

"My Mother's Salve"

A PERFECT CHEMICAL COMPOUND, prepared from Roots, Herbs and Gems, gathered from the forest, and possesses

HEALING, SOOTHING AND PAIN-RELIEVING VIRTUES.

Never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.

"My Mother's Salve"

SAFE AND EFFECTUAL, and all those troubled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM, GYNECITIS, GOUT, PILLS, and such other diseases, will find in its use great relief, and in most cases a permanent cure.

"My Mother's Salve"

A BURN or SCALD, takes out the fire, soothes the irritating pain, and heals the wound more speedily and effectually than any other preparation.

"My Mother's Salve"

Is worthy of confidence, and thousands having used it and recommended it to their friends as a test of its worth. Directions for Using

"My Mother's Salve"

Are simple. Every mother and nurse know how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and all who use the Salve will apply it in proportion, renewed at times, as good judgment may direct. For Rheumatism and other pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.

In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs, Sore Throat, and such like ailments, rub a good deal of the Salve in the throat, and in any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Prepared by A. M. BECK.

BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors.

No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.

For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN.

Oct 30.

Hall's Great

SCROFULAR REMEDY.

THIS Purely Vegetable Preparation is pleasant and agreeable to the taste, and simple in its action, causing neither vomiting or purging. It acts directly upon the primary cause of disease, regulates the Bowels, removes all vitiated secretions, giving a healthy action to the Liver and correct tone to the Stomach. It overcomes that feeling of languor which is often experienced in the Spring and Summer, and promotes and restores the vital energy and Physical Strength.

In thousands of cases of Scrofula and Scrofulous Humors, such as Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Scald Head, Tumors, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Asthma, Conges, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Fever, Scurvy, White Swelling, Dropsy, Boils, Bacter's Itch, Piles, Old Sores, and all diseases which manifest themselves by Eruptions or Eruptions on the Skin, it has been used with the most gratifying success, after every other known remedy has been tried and failed to afford relief.

It is also an effectual cure for Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Constipation and Derangement of the Urinary Organs.

It is an infallible remedy for irregularities and other diseases peculiar to FEMALES, such as Weakness and Pain in the Back, Strangury, Affections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart, Bloating and Headache.

It can be given with perfect safety and most desirable results in all cases, to any person from infancy to old age.

Made and sold by WM. SMITH HALL, Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass., to whom all orders must be addressed. Sold also by Redding & Co., No. 8 State street; Geo. C. Goodwin, No. 99 Union street, Boston, and all Druggists and Medicine Dealers throughout the United States.

Mrs. E. HAYDEN, AGENT.

Quincy, Dec. 18. 11

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION
Over Mr. E. Clapp's Store, on Hancock St.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.
Two Dollars per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.

No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.

Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices and will be charged until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business.

Letters and communications, (postage paid) will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers:
Railway Village, JOSIAH BARBOCK.
West District, GEORGE H. LOCKE.
Milton, CHARLES BRICK.
Dorchester, ORIN P. BACON.
Weymouth, F. A. KINGSBURY.
Arlington, JOSEPH CLEVELAND.
South Scituate, SAMUEL A. TURNER.
Brooklyn, (N. Y.) GERSHON DREW.

Miscellaneous.

THE HIDDEN HAND.

BY EMMA D. E. N. SOUTHWORTH.
AUTHOR OF "THE BRIDE OF AN EVENING,"
"THE DESERTED WIFE," ETC., ETC.

[Continued.]

Have you got through? asked the man at the door, rapping impatiently.

No, no, said I, as directed.

He resumed his tramping up and down, and I went back to my patient. She beckoned me to come close, and whispered—

"Save my child! the living one I mean! hide her! oh, hide her from him! When he demands the babe, give him the poor little dead one—he cannot hurt that! And he will not know there was another. Oh! hide and save my child."

Master, I was used to queer doings, but this was a little of the queerest. But if I was to conceal that second child in order to save it, it was necessary to stop its mouth, for it was squalling like a wild cat. So I took a vial of paragonic from my pocket and gave it a drop, and it went off to sleep like an angel. I wrapped it up warm and lay it along with my shawl and bonnet, in a dark corner. Just then the man wrapped again.

Come in, master, said I.

No, bring me the babe, he said.

I took up the dead infant. Its mother kissed its brow and dropped tears upon its little cold face; and I carried it to the man outside.

Is it asleep? the willain asked me.

Yes, master, said I, as I put it, well wrapped up, in his arms, very sound asleep.

So much the better, said the knave, walking away.

I holled the door and went back to my patient. With her free hand she seized mine and pressed it to her lips, and then held up her left hand, pointed to the wedding ring upon her third finger.

Draw it off and keep it, she said; conceal the child under your shawl, and take her with you when you go; save her and your fortune shall be made.

I declare, master, I hadn't time to think, before I heard one of them wretches rap at the door.

Come, get ready to go he said.

She also beckoned me. I hastened to her. With eager whispers and imploring gestures she prayed me to take her ring and save her child.

But you, said I—who is to attend you? I do not know nor care! Save her!

The rapping continued. I ran to the corner where I had left my things. I put on my bonnet, made a sort of sling around my neck of the silk handkercher, opened the large part of it like a hammock and laid the little sleeping babe there. Then I folded my big shawl around my breast and nobody any the wiser. The rapping was very impatient.

I am coming, said I.

Remember! whispered the poor girl.

I will, said I, and went and opened the door. There stood 'tother willain with his head covered with black crape. I dreading of nothing but blackheaded demons for six months afterward.

Are you ready? says he.

Yes, your worship, says I.

Come along, then.

And binding another silk handkerchief round my eyes, he lead me along.

Instead of my mule a carriage stood near the horseblock.

Get in, says he, holding the pistol to my ears, by way of an argument.

I got in. He jumped up upon the driver's seat, and we drove like the wind. In another direction from which we came, in course, for there was no carriage road there.

The carriage whirled along at such a rate it made me quite giddy. At last it stopped again. The man in the mask got down and opened the door.

Where are you taking me? says I.

Be quiet, says he, or — and with that he put the pistol to my cheek, ordered me to get out, take the bandage from my eyes, and walk before him. I did so, and saw dimly that we were in a part of the country that I was never at before. We were in a dark road through a thick forest. On the left side of the road, in a clearing, stood an old house; a dim light was burning in a low window.

Go on in there, said the willain, putting the pistol to the back of my head. As the door stood ajar I went in to a narrow, dark passage, the man all the while at my back. He opened a door on the left side, and made me go into a dark room. Just then the unfortunate child, that had been moving restlessly, began to wail! Well it might, poor starved thing!

What's that? says the miscreant, under his breath and stopping short.

It isn't nothing, sir, says I, and hush h-h to the baby. But the poor little wretch raised a squall.

What is the meaning of this? says he. Where did that child come from? Why the demon don't you speak? and with that he seized me again by the scruff of the neck and shook me.

Oh, Master, for the love of heaven don't, says I, this is only a poor, unfortunate infant as my patient's wanted to get outen the way, and hired me to take care on. And I have laid it wrapped up under my shawl all the time 'cept when I was in your house, when I put it to sleep in the corner.

Humph! and you had that child concealed under your shawl when I first stopped you in the woods?

In course, Master, says I.

Whose is it?

Master, says I, it's—it's a dead secret! for I hadn't another he ready.

He broke out into a rude, scornful laugh, and seemed not half to believe me, and yet not to care about questioning me too closely.

He made me sit down then in the dark, and went out and turned the key on me. I wet my finger with the paragonic and put it to the baby's lips to quiet its pains of hunger.— Then I heard a whispering in the next room. Now my eyesight never was good, but to make up for it I believe I had the sharpest ears that ever was, and I don't think anybody could have heard that whispering but me. I saw a little glimmer of light through the chinks that showed me where the door was, and so I crept up to it and put my ear to the key hole. Still they whispered so low that no ears could hear them but my sharp ones. They was talking about a sailing one-way if they hadn't called the woman Kate. My willain offered 'em for fifty dollars, but 'tother willain wouldn't give a cent. He told my willain, as he called Captain, that he'd take 'em off his hands and no more. And then they threatened each other, and went out 'o my hearin'. And in the mornin' the new willain came and took me and the child off in a shay and drove down a long way to the beach, and hailed a vessel on the river and took us aboard and sold us to the captain right afore my eyes, and then went ashore, and we was carried off out to sea, though I cried, and 'plained, and spouted all the time.

Now, sir, come a strange providence, which the very thoughts of it might convert a heathen! We had been to sea about five days when a dreadful storm rize. I tell you, master, that looked like the wrath of God! I hugged the baby to my breast—and went to praying as hard as ever I could pray.

Presently I felt an awful shock, as if heaven and earth and come together, and then everybody screaming. She's struck! she's struck! I felt the vessel trembling like a live creature, and the water a pouring in every where. I hugged the babe and scrambled up the companion way to the deck. It was pitch dark, and I heard every man rushing towards one side of the vessel.

A flash of lightning, that made everything as bright as day again, showed me that they were all taking to the boat. I rushed after, calling to them to save me and the baby. But no one seemed to hear me; they were all too busy trying to save themselves and keep others out of the boat, and cursing and swearing and hollering that there was no more room—that the boat would be swamped, and so on. And the end was, that me and the baby and a poor sailor lad and the black cook were left behind to perish.

But, master, as it turned out, we as was left to die, were the only ones saved. We watched after that boat with longing eyes, though we could only see it when the lightning flashed. And every time we saw it, it was further off. At last, master, a flash of lightning showed us the boat as far off as ever we could see her, capsized and beaten hither and thither by the wild waves—its crew had perished.

Master, as soon as the sea had swallowed up that wicked captain and crew, the wind died away, the waves fell, and the storm lulled—just as if it had done what it was sent to do and was satisfied. The wreck—where we poor forlorn ones stood—the wreck that had shivered and trembled with every wave that struck it—until we had feared it would break up every minute, became still and firm on its sandbar, as a house on dry land.

Daylight came at last. And a little after sunrise we saw a sail bearing down upon us. We could not signal the sail, but by the mercy of Providence she saw us lay to, and sent off a boat, and picked us up and took us on board—me and the baby, and the cook and the sailor lad.

It was a foreign vessel, and we could not understand a word they said, nor they us. All we could do was by signs. But they were very good to us, dried our clothes, and gave us breakfast, and made us lie down and rest. And then put about and continued their course. The sailor lad—Herbert Greyson—soon found out and told me they were bound for New York. And, in fact, master, in about ten days we made that port.

Well, master, I aint a wine to bother you with telling you of how I toiled and struggled along in that great city—first living out as a servant, and afterwards renting a room and taking in washing and ironing—aye! how I toiled and struggled—for—ten—long—years, hoping for the time to come when I should be able to return to this neighborhood, where I was known, and expose the evil deeds of their willains, and for this cause I lived on toiling and struggling, and lying up money penny by penny.

No one ever helped me but the lad Herbert Greyson. Whenever he came from sea he sought me out, and made a little present to me or Cap.

Cap, master, was Capitola, the child. The reason I gave her that name was because on that ring I had drawn from the masked mother's hand were the two names—Eugene—Capitola.

Well, master, the last time Herbert Greyson came home, he gave me five dollars, and that, with what I had saved, was enough to pay my passage to Norfolk.

I left my little Cap in the care of the people of the house—she was big enough to pay for her keep in work—and I took passage for Norfolk. When I got there I felt ill, spent all my money, and was at last taken to the poor-house. Six months passed away before I was discharged, and then six more before I had earned and saved money enough to pay my way on here.

I reached here three days ago, and found a wheat field growing where my cottage fine used to burn, and all my old crimes dead, all except old Hat, who has received and given me shelter. Sir, my story is done—make what you can of it, said the invalid, sinking down in her bed as if utterly exhausted.

Old Hurricane, whose countenance had expressed emotions as powerful as they were various while listening to this tale, now arose, stepped cautiously to the door, drew the bolt, and coming back, bent his head and asked—

What more of the child?

Cap, sir, I have not heard a word of Cap since I left her to try and hunt out her friends. But any one interested in her might inquire for her at Mrs. Simmons', laundress, No 8 Rag Alley.

You say the names upon that ring were—Eugene—Capitola?

Yes, sir, they were.

Have you that ring about you?

No, master. I thought it was best, in case of accidents, to leave it with the child.

Have you told her any part of this strange history?

No, master, nor hinted it; she was too young for such a confidence.

You were right. Had she any mark about her person by which she could be identified?

Yes, master, a very strange one. In the middle of her left palm was the perfect image of a crimson hand, about half and inch in length. There was also another. Herbert Greyson, to please me, marked on her fore arm in India ink her name and birth day—Capitola, Oct. 31st, 1832.

Right. Now tell me, my good soul, do you know, from what you were enabled to observe, what house that was where Capitola was born?

I am on my oath. No, sir, I do not know; but—

You suspect?

The woman nodded.

It was —, said old Hurricane, stooping and whispering a name that was heard by no one but the sick woman.

She nodded again, with a look of intense meaning.

Does your old hostess here, Hat, know or suspect anything of this story? Enquired Major Warfield.

Not a word. No soul but yourself has heard it.

That is right. Still be discreet. If you would have the wicked punished and the innocent protected, be silent and wary. Have no anxiety about the girl. What man can do for her will I do and quickly. And now, good creature, day is actually dawning. You must seek repose. And I must call the parson in and return home. I will send Mrs. Condiment over with food, wine, medicine, clothing, and every comfort that your condition requires, said old Hurricane, rising, and calling in the clergyman, with whom he soon after left the hut for home.

They reached Hurricane Hall in time for an early breakfast, which the astonished housekeeper had prepared, and for which their night's adventure had certainly given them a good appetite.

Major Warfield kept his word, and as soon as breakfast was over he dispatched Mrs. Condiment with a carriage filled with provisions for the sick woman. But they were not needed. In a couple of hours the housekeeper returned with the intelligence that the old nurse was dead. The false strength of mental excitement that had enabled her to tell so long and dreadful a tale, had been the last firing up of the flame of life, that almost immediately went out.

I am not sorry, upon the whole, for now I shall have the game in my hands! muttered Old Hurricane to himself—Ah! Gabrielle Le Noir! better you had cast yourself down from the highest rock of this range and been dashed to pieces below, than have thus fallen into my power.

So far we have followed the lovely heroine and her friends; but the foregoing is all that we can publish in our columns. The remainder of the narrative can only be found in the New York Ledger, the great family paper, which can be obtained at all the periodical stores where papers are sold. Remember to ask for the Ledger, dated February 12, and in it you will get the continuation of the narrative from where it leaves off here. If there are no bookstores or news offices convenient to where you reside, the publisher of the Ledger will send you a copy by mail if you will send him five cents in a letter. Address Robert Bonner, Ledger office, 44 Ann street, New York. This story grows more and more interesting as it progresses.

Animal Curiosities.

The tongue of a cat is a singular instrument. It is her curycumb. For this purpose it is rough, as you will find it if you feel it. When she cleans herself so industriously, she gets off the dirt and smooths her coat just as the hostler cleans and smooths the horse's coat with the curycumb. Her head she cannot get at with her tongue, and so she has to make her fore paws answer the purpose instead.

There is one bird that lives chiefly on oysters. It has a bill, therefore, with which it opens an oyster as skillfully as an oysterman can with his oyster knife.

Some birds can sew very well with their bills and feet. There is one bird that sews so well that it is called the tailor bird. Its nest is hid in leaves, which it sews together. It does this with a thread which it makes itself. It gets cotton from the cotton plant, and with its long, delicate bill, and little feet, spins it into a fine thread. It then pierces the holes through the leaves with its bill, and passing the thread through the holes, sews them together. We believe that in getting the thread through the holes, it uses both its bill and feet.

Fortunes of the Ancients.

Croesus possessed, in landed property, a fortune equal to £1,700,000, besides a large amount of money, slaves and furniture, which amounted to an equal sum. He used to say that a citizen, who had not a sufficient sum to support an army or a legion, did not deserve the title of a rich man. The philosopher Seneca had a fortune of £3,500,000. Tibullus, at his death, left £29,654,000. Caligula spent in twelve months. Vespasian, on ascending the throne, estimated all the expenses of the State at £35,000,000. The debt of Milo amounted to £900,000. Cesar, before he entered upon any office, owed £2,995,000. He had purchased the friendship of Curio for £50,000, and that of Lucius Paulus for £300,000. At the time of the assassination of Julius Cesar, Antony was in debt to the amount of £3,000,000; he owed this sum on the Ides of March, and it was paid by the Kalends of April; he squandered £147,000,000. Appian squandered, in debauchery, £500,000; and finding on the examination of the state of his affairs, that he had only £20,000, poisoned himself, because he considered that sum insufficient for his maintenance. Cesar gave Statilla, the mother of Brutus, a pearl of the value of £10,000.—Cleopatra, at the entertainment she gave to Antony, dissolved in vinegar a pearl worth £80,000, and he swallowed it!

O. A. Bullard

The following brief history of the distinguished artist, Mr. O. A. BULLARD, is taken from the American Biographical Sketch Book, and from other authentic sources. The sketch book contains the lives of 125 distinguished living, so-called men, and in it Mr. Bullard is properly assigned a conspicuous place, as being one of the noble few, in our country, who have by their own exertions, been elevated from adversity to a high and honorable renown.

O. A. BULLARD.

Was born at Howard, Steuben Co., N. Y., on the 21 of February, 1816. His parents came from Massachusetts, and were among the earliest settlers of Steuben county. His father was a farmer of good repute. When the latter died, the subject of this sketch was fourteen years of age, and he was apprenticed to the business of wagon making and sign painting; those branches being frequently united, in many of our villages. His love for the fine arts was first awakened by the arrival of a portrait painter in that place. Eager to obtain some knowledge of the art, he exerted himself to the utmost to raise the ways and means, and applied for instruction; but the artist refused to disclose any of his professional secrets. At that period he was eighteen years of age, and the products of his industry were the first oil paintings he had ever seen. Ever afterwards, his mind was fixed upon painting, and although the way did not then appear, he determined to become an artist.

Upon one occasion, one of these sign painters called upon a widow woman who had one babe—that babe was asleep, wrapped in the widow's only blanket; but such was her interest in the cause of American Independence, that she took from her shoulders her only shawl, wrapped her child in it, and handed her only blanket to the tax gatherer, to carry to the soldiers of the Revolutionary Army. The scene was the subject of his first great picture; and it was sold to the American Art Union, and was drawn by Mr. I. H. Brown, of New York city.

His second and probably his greatest work was "The Daughter's Appeal." All have read Ethan Allen. He was a brave and generous man, but he was an infidel. He wrote a book of infidelity, called the Oracles of Reason. The wife of Ethan Allen was a devoted pious lady—a member of the Presbyterian Church. She had a number of daughters, all of whom believed the doctrines their mother had taught them, with the exception of the oldest. The girl's name was Abigail. She was inclined to believe the doctrine of infidelity. At the age of eighteen, she lay upon her bed of sickness, and her father, who was at her room, and addressed him in these words: "Father, I must die; I must meet my God; now dear Father, tell me, shall I believe the doctrines that you have taught me, or shall I believe the doctrines that my mother has taught me?" The brave old Soldier that could face a cannon's mouth and not flinch a hair, when this question was addressed to him, hesitated, dropped his head, the tears trickled down his cheeks, and he said with emphasis: "Daughter, believe the doctrine your mother has taught you!" This scene, "The Daughter's Appeal," was the subject of his second great painting—it was sold to the Art Union and drawn by Geo. J. J. Barber, of Homer, N. Y.

His third great painting was "Nathan Hale just before his Execution." This was sold to the American Art Union, and drawn by a western man. His fourth great painting was "Capt. John Smith and Pocahontas." All's I'll recollect the scene—this was sold to the Art Union.

Among other productions are "Truth in the tent of Holofernes," "Horse Trade," "Sun Suck," and the Panorama of New York city. But the crowning work of Art by Mr. B. is the one which alone all others is now winning for him a wide and enviable fame, is his "New York City," a painting of rare truthfulness and perfection. But, alas! he is no more—with the Autumn leaf, he too has fallen.

He died in New York city on the 13th of October, 1853.

Singular Echoes.

A good ear cannot distinguish one sound from another, unless there is an interval of one-tenth of a second between the arrival of the two sounds. Sounds must, therefore, succeed each other at an interval of one-tenth of a second, in order to be heard distinctly.

Now the velocity of sound being eleven hundred and twenty feet a second, in one-tenth of a second the sound would travel one hundred and twenty-four feet.

Repeated echoes happen when two obstacles are placed opposite to one another, as parallel walls, for example, which reflect the sound successively.

At Adenach, in Bohemia, there is an echo which repeats seven syllables three times; at Woodstock, in England, there is one which repeats a sound seventeen times during the day, and twenty times during the do well. Mr. Bullard, like all men who have distinguished themselves, has acted upon this principle. Early in life the idea was strongly impressed upon his mind that God made him for an Artist. Previous to his settling down in New York city, to distinguish himself, he had painted the portraits of eight hundred different individuals. It is the vast amount of labor that Mr. Bullard has performed, and that only, that has earned for him the reputation he now enjoys, of being one of the brightest jewels of the American School of Artists.

He went to New York with the determination to distinguish himself in his profession, and although he was not known to a single individual in that city, he formed a resolution to earn for himself, in time, a reputation that should be world-wide. The world-fail was not found in Mr. Bullard's dictionary.

After painting the portraits of over one hundred different individuals, residing in New York city and vicinity, he believed he could do more good by painting works that would carry a moral with them. The most of his works have been those that illustrated the manners and customs of American Life and History. His first great painting was "The Last Blanket." All who are familiar with American History, will recollect that, during the Revolution, when our army were suffering for clothing and food, at Valley Forge, tax gatherers were sent by General Washington, to collect of the people what ever they could give for the support of the army.

Upon one occasion, one of these tax gatherers called upon a widow woman who had one babe—that babe was asleep, wrapped in the widow's only blanket; but such was her interest in the cause of American Independence, that she took from her shoulders her only shawl, wrapped her child in it, and handed her only blanket to the tax gatherer, to carry to the soldiers of the Revolutionary Army. The scene was the subject of his first great picture; and it was sold to the American Art Union, and was drawn by Mr. I. H. Brown, of New York city.

GEORGE WHITE, { Judge of Probate
{ and Exchequer

Town Meeting.

NORFOLK, SS.—To either of the Constables of the Town of Quincy, in said County, to be held at the Town Hall, on Monday, the 27th day of February, 1859, at 10 o'clock, in the forenoon, to act on the following Articles, viz:—

- 1st.—To choose a Moderator.
- 2d.—To choose Town Officers.
- 3d.—To act on reports of Selectmen and Com. mittees.
- 4th.—To revise the Jury Box.
- 5th.—To determine the method of repairing the Highways the ensuing year.
- 6th.—To determine how the Town Land shall be improved the ensuing year.
- 7th.—To choose an Agent to act for the Town in all suits at law in which it is a party, and in all such suits heretofore commenced by or against the Town.
- 8th.—To determine what shall be done with the Lots in the New Cemetery now occupied and unoccupied.
- 9th.—To see if the Town will grant the use of the Town Hall and Lyceum Room to the Literary Association on the same terms as it is granted to the Quincy Lyceum.
- 10th.—To see if the Town will furnish suitable Maps for the Schools, or place at the disposal of the School Committee a certain sum of money to be equally divided among the Schools as they think proper, in Maps or Charts as they are needed.
- 11th.—To see if the Town will widen School street at the junction of Hancock street, by taking land belonging to Mr. Chas. Rodgers. Also, to widen and straighten and grade up that part of Hancock street commonly called the Hollow.
- 12th.—To see if the Town will furnish and caused to be placed a Copper Boiler in the Granite Engine House.
- 13th.—To know what compensation the Town will make their Clerk and Treasurer for their services the past year.
- 14th.—To know what compensation the Town will allow the Members and Stewards of the several Engine Companies, and Hook and Ladder Companies, and the Engineers of the Fire Department for their services.
- 15th.—To raise money to defray the necessary expenses of the Town the ensuing year.
- 16th.—To choose any Committee the Town may think proper who are qualified.
- 17th.—To see if the Town will grant a warrant with your duces tecum to the Town Clerk before the day named for said meeting.

GEORGE MARSH, Selectman.
DANIEL BAXTER, Jr., Quincy.

A true copy—Attest,

WASHINGTON M. FRENCH, Constable of Quincy.

Norfolk, ss., Quincy, February, 22d, 1859.

Pursuant to the foregoing Warrant, I hereby notify and warn the Inhabitants of the Town of Quincy, to appear at the meeting, to be held at the time, and place, and for the several purposes therein named.

WASHINGTON M. FRENCH, Constable of Quincy.

Quincy, Feb. 26.

NOW READY

A FULL AND COMPLETE ASSORTMENT

of

Paper Hangings, Borders,

Curtains, &c.,

—OF THE—

Latest and Most Desirable Patterns.

—Can be found at—

ELBRIDGE CLAPP'S STORE,

Hancock St.,

THE prices are so low that everybody can afford to have their dwellings adorned and decorated with these neat and beautiful papers. Please call and examine the Goods and prices.

Quincy, Feb. 26.

Messenger's Notice.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, SS. Randolph, Feb. 24th, 1859.

HON. GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency, in and for the County of Norfolk, has issued a Warrant against the Real and Personal Estate of

EDWIN H. HOWARD,

of Randolph, in said County of Norfolk, Treasurer, and Insolvency Debtor, and the payment of any Debt, on the delivery of any Property, belonging to said insolvent Debtor, to be his, his wife, or the transfer of any Property by him, are forbidden by law.

A meeting of the Creditors of said insolvent Debtor will be held at the Court of Insolvency Room, in Boston, in said County, on the First Monday of March next, at 10 o'clock, in the forenoon, for the purpose of settling, and the choice of an Assignee or Assignees.

J. T. JORDAN, Deputy Sheriff.

Feb. 26.

Executrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executrix of the

JOHN HOLDEN,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Watchmaker, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereon to the payment to SUBMIT D. HOLDEN, Executrix.

Quincy, Feb. 26, 1859.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, SS. Randolph, Feb. 24th, 1859.

HON. GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency, in and for the County of Norfolk, has issued a Warrant against the Real and Personal Estate of

EDWIN H. HOWARD,

of Randolph, in said County of Norfolk, Treasurer, and Insolvency Debtor, and the payment of any Debt, on the delivery of any Property, belonging to said insolvent Debtor, to be his, his wife, or the transfer of any Property by him, are forbidden by law.

A meeting of the Creditors of said insolvent Debtor will be held at the Court of Insolvency Room, in Boston, in said County, on the First Monday of March next, at 10 o'clock, in the forenoon, for the purpose of settling, and the choice of an Assignee or Assignees.

J. T. JORDAN, Deputy Sheriff.

Feb. 26.

Executrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executrix of the

JOHN HOLDEN,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Watchmaker, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereon to the payment to SUBMIT D. HOLDEN, Executrix.

Quincy, Feb. 26, 1859.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, SS. Randolph, Feb. 24th, 1859.

HON. GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency, in and for the County of Norfolk, has issued a Warrant against the Real and Personal Estate of

EDWIN H. HOWARD,

of Randolph, in said County of Norfolk, Treasurer, and Insolvency Debtor, and the payment of any Debt, on the delivery of any Property, belonging to said insolvent Debtor, to be his, his wife, or the transfer of any Property by him, are forbidden by law.

A meeting of the Creditors of said insolvent Debtor will be held at the Court of Insolvency Room, in Boston, in said County, on the First Monday of March next, at 10 o'clock, in the forenoon, for the purpose of settling, and the choice of an Assignee or Assignees.

J. T. JORDAN, Deputy Sheriff.

Feb. 26.

Executrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executrix of the

JOHN HOLDEN,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Watchmaker, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereon to the payment to SUBMIT D. HOLDEN, Executrix.

Quincy, Feb. 26, 1859.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, SS. Randolph, Feb. 24th, 1859.

HON. GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency, in and for the County of Norfolk, has issued a Warrant against the Real and Personal Estate of

EDWIN H. HOWARD,

of Randolph, in said County of Norfolk, Treasurer, and Insolvency Debtor, and the payment of any Debt, on the delivery of any Property, belonging to said insolvent Debtor, to be his, his wife, or the transfer of any Property by him, are forbidden by law.

A meeting of the Creditors of said insolvent Debtor will be held at the Court of Insolvency Room, in Boston, in said County, on the First Monday of March next, at 10 o'clock, in the forenoon, for the purpose of settling, and the choice of an Assignee or Assignees.

J. T. JORDAN, Deputy Sheriff.

Feb. 26.

Executrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executrix of the

JOHN HOLDEN,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Watchmaker, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereon to the payment to SUBMIT D. HOLDEN, Executrix.

Quincy, Feb. 26, 1859.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, SS. Randolph, Feb. 24th, 1859.

HON. GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency, in and for the County of Norfolk, has issued a Warrant against the Real and Personal Estate of

EDWIN H. HOWARD,

of Randolph, in said County of Norfolk, Treasurer, and Insolvency Debtor, and the payment of any Debt, on the delivery of any Property, belonging to said insolvent Debtor, to be his, his wife, or the transfer of any Property by him, are forbidden by law.

A meeting of the Creditors of said insolvent Debtor will be held at the Court of Insolvency Room, in Boston, in said County, on the First Monday of March next, at 10 o'clock, in the forenoon, for the purpose of settling, and the choice of an Assignee or Assignees.

J. T. JORDAN, Deputy Sheriff.

Collector's Notice.

NORFOLK, SS.

THE proprietors of the following described Real Estate situated in the Town of Braintrée, are hereby notified that the same are taxed in the tax bill committed to the subscriber, collector of taxes for said Braintrée, for the year 1858, as follows, to wit:—

NATHANIEL M. HOBART, of Braintrée, Ten Acres of Land, more or less, with the Buildings thereon, bounded as follows:—northerly by land of Lemuel Shaw; southerly by land of Abraham Hobart; easterly by Shaw land of Abraham Hobart; easterly by Shaw land; westerly by land owner not known, or street; westerly by a private way; southerly by Allen street. Taxes, $19.27.

Mrs. HENRY HOBART, House and about 1.4 Acre of Land, bounded as follows:—Easterly by land of Thomas Griffin; northerly by land of Porter & Lord; westerly by a private way; southerly by Allen street. Taxes, $5.70.

GEORGE A. CUSHING, of Weymouth, House Lot containing about 10,000 feet of Land, bounded as follows:—northerly by the Railroad; easterly by a private way, leading from Commercial street; southerly by land now or formerly owned by R. R. Walker and others; westerly by a brook dividing said land from land of A. Mason & J. B. Allen. Taxes, $1.00.

Mrs. HOWES, of Dorchester, Three Acres of Fresh Meadow, bounded as follows:—northerly by land of Daniel Pennington; easterly by the Monaquet River; southerly by land of Samuel French; westerly by land of Samuel D. Hayden. Taxes, $0.75.

LORING THAYER, of Randolph, Lot of Land containing 1.4 Acre, more or less, bounded as follows:—northerly by land of John French; easterly by the O. & F. R. Railroad; southerly by a private way; westerly by land of Ansel Thayer.

ALSO—One other lot of Land, bounded as follows:—northerly by land of Jonathan French; easterly by land of Louis Belcher; southerly by a private way; westerly by land of Alan W. Tower, and contains 1.4 Acre, more or less. Taxes, $1.17.

GEORGE W. PALMER, of Boston, House and about 1.4 Acre of Land, bounded as follows:—easterly by a town way; southerly by land of I. Snow & A. H. Hunt; westerly by a private way; northerly by land of Perley Steadman. Taxes, $16.49.

Heirs of PHILIP DASH OMB, of Boston, About 1.2 Acre of Land, bounded as follows:—easterly by land of Stephen S. Thayer; southerly by land of Porter & Lord; westerly and northerly by a private way. Taxes, $1.46.

And I hereby give notice, that unless said taxes are paid on or before the twenty-first day of March next ensuing, I shall on that day at five o'clock in the afternoon, at the Lyceum Store, in said Braintrée, proceed to sell at Public Auction, and parcels of Real Estate, or so much of the same as shall be necessary to discharge said taxes and all intervening charges.

E. F. E. THAYER, Collector.

Braintrée, Feb. 17th, 1859.

To the Honorable the County Commissioners for the County of Norfolk.

THE subscribers, inhabitants of the Town of Quincy, respectfully represent that a petition was presented to the Selectmen of said Quincy, in the month of September last, praying said Selectmen to lay out a town way from Union street in said Town to Washington street, passing over the land already marked out, and also that said petition was not acted upon, and that said Selectmen have unreasonably neglected and refused to lay out said town way.

They therefore pray your Honorable body to proceed to view and lay out said town way according to law.

Dated at said Quincy, January 1859.

HUGH MUNDY, and 59 others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

At a meeting of the County Commissioners, begun and held at Dedham, within and for said County of Norfolk, on the thirty-first day of January, A. D. 1859, by adjournment of the December meeting next preceding.

On the petition aforesaid, Ordered, that the County Commissioners will meet at the Town Hall, in Quincy, in said County, on Friday, the thirteenth day of May next, at nine o'clock A. M., and there proceed to view the route described in said petition, and hear and determine thereon.

And that an attested copy of said petition, with this order thereon, be served upon the Clerk of the Town of Quincy, thirty days at least before the day appointed for said view, and also that a like copy be published three weeks successively in the Quincy Patriot, a newspaper printed in Quincy, or a last publication to be fourteen days at least before said view, and also that a copy be mailed up to two or more public places in said Quincy, fourteen days at least before said view, that all persons and corporations interested for or against said petition may then and there appear and be heard if they see fit.

EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.

A true Copy of the original Petition on file and order thereon. Attest,

Feb. 12.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, SS. Probate Office, Feb. 16, A. D. 1859.

UPON the petition of William B. Brown, praying that he may be appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

MARY BROWN,

late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Widow, deceased,

ORDERED—That said petitioner notify and file all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they may appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden in said County, on the twenty-sixth day of March, A. D. 1859, at two o'clock, in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

Quincy, Feb. 19.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, SS. Probate Office, Feb. 18, A. D. 1859.

UPON the petition of Lucinda M. Hobart, praying that she may be appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of

DANIEL HOBART,

late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Trader, deceased,

ORDERED—That said petitioner notify and file all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they may appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden in said County, on the twenty-sixth day of March, A. D. 1859, at two o'clock, in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

Feb. 12.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, SS. Probate Office, Feb. 18, A. D. 1859.

UPON the petition of William B. Brown, praying that he may be appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

MARY BROWN,

late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Widow, deceased,

ORDERED—That said petitioner notify and file all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they may appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden in said County, on the twenty-sixth day of March, A. D. 1859, at two o'clock, in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

Feb. 12.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, SS. Probate Office, Feb. 18, A. D. 1859.

UPON the petition of Lucinda M. Hobart, praying that she may be appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of

DANIEL HOBART,

late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Trader, deceased,

ORDERED—That said petitioner notify and file all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they may appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden in said County, on the twenty-sixth day of March, A. D. 1859, at two o'clock, in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

Feb. 12.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, SS. Probate Office, Feb. 18, A. D. 1859.

UPON the petition of William B. Brown, praying that he may be appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

MARY BROWN,

late of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, Widow, deceased,

ORDERED—That said petitioner notify and file all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they may appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be holden in said County, on the twenty-sixth day of March, A. D. 1859, at two o'clock, in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

Feb. 12.

New Orleans Syrup.

JUST received, and for sale by the subscriber, a lot of prime New Orleans Syrup, put up in 1.2 barrels expressly for family use. ALSO—50 barrels of first quality Russet Apples for sale low by

H. VINAL.

Quincy, Jan. 1.

Quincy Bakery.

THE subscribers would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that they have taken on the Quincy Bake House, and intend carrying on the baking business in all its branches—adhering strictly to the Cash system—and hope by manufacturing the

Best Quality of Bread,

to merit the patronage of the Citizens of this and the neighboring towns.

Trout & Glover.

Quincy, Oct. 16.

Boston Almanac for 1859

For sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Jan. 1.

Pimple Destroyer, &c.

GARDNER'S Pimple Destroyer, for the cure of pimples, eruptions, skin diseases, and all other eruptions of the skin. Peppermint's Woodland Cream, a beautiful article for the hair. Wright's Eucalyptus, an everlasting perfume, for the handkerchief.

For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Dec. 4.

India Rubber Boots Shoes, &c.

NOTWITHSTANDING the great advance in the prices of India Rubber Boots and Shoes.

HENRY A. HALL & CO.

being headquarters for every variety of India Rubber and Gutta Percha goods, will sell these indispensable articles, all warranted first quality, and further notice at the following low rates:

Men's Heavy Boots per pair $3.37

Light " " " " 2.25

Light and Heavy Overshoes 75

Ladies' do, do, do, do 50

Ladies' Long Boots 1.50

Woolen do, do, do, do 1.25

Misses' Overshoes and Sandals 45

Children's do, do, do, do 25

Boys' Boots 1.50

Yankee's Boots, extra heavy and wide, 4.00

Men's Wood and Nippers 50

ALSO—India Rubber Soleing and Cement, of excellent quality.

WAREHOUSE, 146 CONGRESS ST.

Boston, Nov. 24.

Painting Business.

THE subscribers, having formed a partnership in business, under the firm of

DAVENPORT & POPE,

and having opened a Shop, on the premises of George A. Carter, in School Street, are now prepared to answer all orders with neatness and dispatch.

Painting, Graining, Varnishing and GLAZING.

done to satisfaction, and in a workmanlike manner.

Small as well as large jobs thankfully received, and a share of public patronage respectfully solicited.

WILLIAM DAVENPORT,

Poetry.

The Drunkard.

Who is wretched? who hath woe?
Who hath sorrow? don't you know?
Who hath quarrels with his wife?
Who hath contentions? who hath strife?
Who hath buildings, money, rum,
Offspring of dissipated brain?
Who hath wounds he don't know why?
Who wakes up with blood shot eye?
He who at the wine stays long,
And mixes it to make it strong.

Look not then, then, on ruby wine;
'Tis not, 'tis not, a drink divine;
Look not when, blushing in the cup,
It tempts thee like poisonous hope!
O, when it moves itself afloat,
Look out, look out, or you'll get tight,
And ere you are aware, will feel
The serpent biting at you heel!
The adder coiling round your heart,
And stinging in some vital part,
Where human skill can never save
The victim from a drunkard's grave,
While faith discerns beyond the tomb
The horror of the drunkard's doom.

Then touch not, taste not, O, beware!
Strong drink leads down to black despair!
Ten thousands, bound by fiery chains,
Are groaning now in torment pains,
Who, tasting the Circean cup,
Drank—then drank deep—then drank it up!

I knew in youth a blooming boy,
His father's pride, his mother's joy—
A lad affectionate and kind,
Who seemed to virtue much inclined;
But in an evil hour, alas!
His red lips pressed the tempting glass;
He deeper drank, and day by day
He wandered from peace away!
A drunkard he at length became—
His mother's grief his father's shame—
Blear-eyed and bloated like a sot:
I sought his home, but found him not;
He had no home, out east was he,
A vagabond—his misery
He sought to quell in maddening bowl,
But drowning grief he drowned his soul.

Bright talents to this youth were given,
He might have shone a star in heaven;
He might have made his mark on men,
He might, O yes! he might have been An heir of God, a child of grace,
And had in heaven a resting place.
He might—but wherefore need I tell
What might have been—he sunk to hell,
To suffer in that restless gloom
The horrors of the drunkard's doom.

Then taste not, touch not, handle not,
The tempting wine cup red,
Lest, sense and reason fled,
Thou come to be at length a bloated sot,
And fill a drunkard's bed,
And rot
Both soul and body dead.

The Life Clock.

There is a little life clock,
No human eye hath seen,
That beats on, and beats on,
From morning until 'e'en.

And when the soul is wrapped in sleep,
And heareth not a sound,
It ticks and ticks the living night,
And never runneth down.

How wondrous is that work of art
Which keeps the passing hours,
But art ne'er formed, nor mind conceived
The Life clock's wondrous power.

Nor set in gold, nor decked with gems,
By pride and wealth possessed;
But rich or poor, or high or low,
Each bears it in his breast.

When life's deep stream, 'mid beds of flow'ers,
All still and softly glides,
Like the wavy tide, with a gentle beat,
It warns of passing tides.

When passion nerves the warriors arm,
For deeds of hate and wrong,
Though hushed not the fearful sound,
The knell is deep and strong.

When eyes to eyes are gazing soft,
And tender words are spoken,
Then fast and wild it rattles on,
As if with love 'twere broken.

Such is the clock that measures life,
Of flesh and spirit blended;
And thus 'twixt run within the breast
Till that strange life is ended.

Anecdotes.

A miser caught a fly, put it into the sugar bowl, and shut down the lid.
What's that for? asked a bystander.
Hush! whispered the miser; I want to know if the servants steal my sugar.

A spendthrift, who had wasted his patri-mony, raising a frugal country gentleman, said among other things:
I warrant those buttons on your coat were your grandfather's.

Yes, said the other, and I have got my grandfather's lands, too.

Mr. Brown called in at a neighbors, and was urged to take supper, which he did, the old lady all the while saying—I am afraid, Mr. Brown, you will not make a supper; you have eaten nothing; do eat some more.

After he had stepped out he heard the old lady say to her husband:
Why, I do declare, I should think Mr.
Brown had not eaten anything for a month.

Do you believe in second love, Mister McQuade?
Do I believe in second love? Humph! if a man buys a pound of sugar, isn't it sweet?
and when it is gone, don't he want another pound, and isn't that sweet too? Truth Murphy, I believe in second love!

Mr. Trim, said a wag, how do you keep your books?
O, by double entry.
Doubly entry? how's that?
O, easy enough; I make one entry, and father makes the other.

QUINCY BOOKSTORE

BOOK BINDERY.

Established in the Year 1838.

BOOKS, STATIONERY

FANCY GOODS

GILL & CO. have always on hand a large assortment of the above—being fully prepared to meet all the wants of this market.

BLANK BOOKS

of any particular pattern, made to order,
STATIONERY, IN GREAT VARIETY,
at the lowest prices.

Miscellaneous and Juvenile Books,
will be sold low
ALL SCHOOL BOOKS,
used in this and neighboring towns,
at publishers' prices.

Book Binding.

ALL KINDS OF
MAGAZINES, PAMPHLETS,
SHEET MUSIC, &c.,
bound in a neat and durable style.
"Small Profit" to ensure "Ready Sales."
Full equivalent for your money.

Twenty years' practice has proved these rules to be good ones; and we shall continue to be governed by them, in all branches of our business.

C. GILL & CO.

HANCOCK STREET.

Quincy, March 20.

New Store! New Goods!

B. F. MESERVEY,

HAVING returned to Quincy and taken the Store, one door north of David B. Ste-ven's Variety Store, a large stock of

JOHNSON'S BUILDING.
Will keep constantly on hand, a large stock of
Gold and Silver Watches,
Rob. Curb and Vest Chains,
LOCKETS,

Camco, Gold Stone, Jet, Florentine, Painted,
Coral and Mosaic Jewelry.
GOLD BRACELETS, BUILT PINS,
Gem Pins and Studs,
FINGER RINGS.

Together with a large assortment of
Silver and Plated Ware,
Clocks and Fancy Goods.

Having his Goods direct from the manufacturer, he will be enabled to sell them much less than the usual retail prices. He will also keep a LARGER STOCK

than ever offered before in Quincy.
All Goods warranted as represented.
Old Gold and Silver taken in exchange,
@ 75 Cents Plates Engraved @ 25

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired in a faithful manner, and done when PROMPTED.
Quincy Oct 24

Pickles.

50 GALLONS of Pickles just received and
for sale cheap for cash.
GEO. L. BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Feb 28

GROCERIES, FLOUR,

AND

PROVISIONS!

THE Subscriber would respectfully invite the Favorable patronage of Quincy and vicinity to call and examine his stock of Groceries, Flour and Provisions, where they will find a

Good assortment of all kinds
of Goods kept commonly in a Grocery Store,
which he will sell at the lowest wholesale prices.
A few more chests of Old Hyson Tea at 25 cents
per pound

500 Bushels of Cleaned and Long Red Potatoes.
All those in want of Goods will find it for their interest to call and examine, as they will find a good assortment at the lowest prices.
@ 75 Cents delivered to any part of the Town
free of expense.

H. VINAL,

at the Old Stand of Faxon & Brothers.
Quincy, Oct. 27.

Salt Pork.

FIRST rate article of Salt Pork packed by
the subscribers for sale by the barrel or smaller quantities to suit purchasers, cheap for cash.
GEO. L. BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Dec. 6.

SALT PORK.

FIRST quality of Salt Pork—raised in town and packed by the subscriber—which he will sell at the lowest market price.

H. VINAL,
Quincy, Jan. 10.

Salt Pork.

4000 POUNDS of good Salt Pork for sale at Boston prices by
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Sept. 27.

WHITE HANDS!

PERSIAN BATH

SOAP.

For the Toilet, Bath, Nursery, Shaving,
and for Cleaning the Teeth.

THIS superior Soap will make the HANDS
WHITE and SOFT, and is a certain remedy
for CHAPPED HANDS, TANS, SUN-BURNS,
CHAFING, and all medicinal purposes where a
Healing and Emollient effect is desired.

W. M. SMITH HALL,
Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass.
C. DYER, Jr., General Travelling Agent.
Price—25 cents per cake.
Sold by MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy Aug 22

WOOD'S GLACERINE LOTION,
FOR improving the complexion, and for the cure prevention of Chapped Hands, Tan,
Freckles, Sunburn, Roughness of Skin, Eruptions,
&c. For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy Feb 6

ATTENTION.

The Largest and Most Complete

ASSORTMENT OF

HARDWARE

DOORS, SASHES, &c. &c.

BLINDS.

SASHES, &c. &c.

Ever offered to the people of Quincy, may be found by calling upon

Bailey, Carver & Co

Having recently made large additions to our stock of
BUILDING MATERIALS,
we are prepared to furnish them at prices to correspond with the times
CHEAPER THAN EVER!!
We will sell Nails by the Ton or single Pound.
DOORS,
SASHES,
BLINDS, WINDOW GLASS,
NAILS,
SHEET LEAD,
FRAMING PINS,
WINDOW FRAMES,
DOOR BELLS, SCREWS,
&c., &c.

MORTICE LOCKS—in a great variety
ALSO—Pail, Rim, Closet, Store and Sash
Locks;
MORTICE, THUMB and PEOPLE'S
LATCHES;
Porcelain, Glass, Mineral and Mahogany Knobs;
BLAKE'S BUTTS,
AND AXLE PULLEYS,
A good assortment of Hinges of all kinds,
Wrought, Fancy Plate,
STRAP, BLIND, and T HINGES;
SHOVELS; DOOR SCRAPERS;
Bacon's Patent Lever Blind Fast—Gowell's
Improved Blind Fast. Also—A great variety of Such Fastenings.

Foster's Patent Window Supporter,
The best thing ever used in the place of weights;
DOOR BELLS HUNG TO ORDER.
DON'T FORGET
AT THE OLD STAND OF
BAILEY, CARVER & CO.,
SCHOOL STREET.
Quincy, Jan. 23.

NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand

Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,
QUINCY CANAL WHARF.
July 10, 1852.

SEASONED LUMBER,
Of all descriptions, at prices to suit the times.
Furnish at short notice.
Best quality of Lime constantly on hand.
ALSO—Good Pine Wood at $6 a Cord.
For sale at BRACKETT'S WHARF.
Quincy, May 8

FISHER A. KINGSBURY,
Commissioner for the States of
MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VER-
MONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE ISLAND and NEW YORK.
Weymouth, Mass.
Nov. 26.

WHITE & FRENCH,
Attorneys at Law,
Room No. 5, Webster Bank Building.
Exchange Street, --- BOSTON.
GEORGE WHITE. ASA FRENCH.
May 20.

ALL KINDS OF Job Printing,
SUCH AS
POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,
BILL-HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS,
AND EVERY VARIETY OF BOOK, PLAIN AND FANCY
PRINTING,
Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office
WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

Coal, Lime, Brick and Sand,
—with a good assortment of—
SEASONED LUMBER,
constantly on hand, and for sale by the subscriber at Quincy Canal Wharf.
NATHANIEL WHITE.
Quincy, April 19.

Pure Cider Vinegar.
800 GALLONS PURE CIDER VIN-EGAR, made on the farm formerly owned by B. V. French, now in store and for sale by the barrel or smaller quantity, by
GEORGE L. BAXTER & CO.
Quincy, Aug. 13.

Boot and Shoe Findings.
JUST received and for sale low, a lot of Boot
and Shoe Kit, Findings, &c., by Quincy, April 18

BURNS, &c.
MES' Lotion for burns, scalds, cuts, bruises,
toothache, chilblains, &c., &c.
For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Sept 18

C. C. JOHNSON,

Druggist and Apothecary,

GOODNOWS BUILDING,

CORNER of Hancock and Granite streets.

Keeps constantly on hand a large assortment
of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs,
Fancy Articles, Perfumery, Havana Cigars,
Foreign Fruits and Swedish Liqueurs.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch; and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

YOU HAD BETTER
TRY
My Mother's Salve.

THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has
obtained an enviable and extensive sale, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel it a duty they owe to the public for their
generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve, and to make it possible to tell and prove that all
afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
qualities.

"My Mother's Salve"
Is a PERFECT CHEMICAL COMPOUND, prepared
from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses
HEALING, SOOTHING and PAIN-RELIEVING
VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.

"My Mother's Salve"
Is SAFE and EFFECTUAL, and all those troubled
with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM, ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, FILLS, and such
like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.

"My Mother's Salve"
Is a BURN or SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.

"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence, and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. Directions for Use

"My Mother's Salve"
Are simple. Every mother and nurse, know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it in proportions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other pains, rub the parts sorely with the Salve.
In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,
Sore Throat, and such like ailments, rub as
in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Prepared by A. M. RECK.

BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by MRS. E. HAYDEN
Oct 30.

Hall's Great
SCROFULAR REMEDY.

THIS Purely Vegetable Preparation is pleasant and agreeable to the taste, and its simple in its action, causing neither vomiting or purging. It
acts directly upon the primary cause of disease—
regulates the Bowels, removes all vitiated secretions, giving a healthy action to the Liver and correcting the Stomach. It cures scrofula, the feeling of languor which is often experienced in the Spring and Summer, and renovates and restores the vital energy and Physical Strength.

In thousands of cases of Scrofula and Scrofu-
lar Humors, such as Salt Rheum, Erysipelas,
Scald Head, Tumors, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Fever, Sore,
White Swelling, Dropsy, Boils, Barber's Itch, Piles, Old Sores, and all diseases which manifest themselves by Eczema or Eruptions on the Skin, it has been used with the most gratifying success, after every other known remedy has been tried and failed to afford relief.

It is also an effective cure for Liver Complaint,
Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Constiveness and Derangement of the Urinary Organs.

It is an infallible remedy for irregularities and
other diseases peculiar to FEMALES, such as White and Pain in the Breast, Stagnation, Affections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart,
Dizziness and Headache.

It can be given with perfect safety and most desirable results in all cases, to any person from infancy to old age.

Made and sold by WM. SMITH HALL, Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass., to whom all orders
must be addressed. Sold also by Redding & Co.
No. 8 State Street; Geo. C. Goodwin, No. 99
Union Street; Boston; and all Druggists and Medicine Dealers throughout the United States.

Mrs. E. HAYDEN, AGENT,
Quincy, Dec. 13.

Apothecary Store.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of European Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Groats, cracked
Wheat, Sago, Tapioca, Lard,
Butter, Corn Starch, Brown, &c.
Jellies, Raspberry and Lem-
on Syrup, Guava Paste, &c.

Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Glass
Electric Breast Pumps, Gum Pains and Inflammation, Nerve Shields, Tubes, and Bladders, spread Plasters, Glasses and Metal Springs, Red-pain, Horse-hair Mittens, Flesh Brushes, &c., &c.

Fresh European Liqueurs always on hand.
Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicine of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington at, rear of Stone Temple.
Quincy, Nov. 1.

Insurance against Fire.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSUR-ANCE COMPANY of Massachusetts, insures Real and Personal Property against the hazard of Fire, for five years or less, on favorable
terms.

Farmers, Mechanics, Household, Traders,
Merchants, and all Owners of Property not extra-
hazardous, are solicited to patronize this Company; every effort will be made to accommodate
customers.

Letters, by mail or otherwise, from persons residing at a distance, relating to Fire Insurance,
will be promptly attended to.

PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM S. MORTON,
TREASURER,
ISRAEL W. MUNROE,
DIRECTORS,
STEPHEN BATES,
Quincy, Milton,
William S. Morton, Charles Brock,
Israel W. Munroe, Dorchester,
Thomas C. Webb, H. W. Blanchard,
Whitecomb Porter, Cohasset,
Stephen Bates, Solomon J. Beal,
William B. Duggan, Hingham,
Boston, Ebenezer Gay,
Thomas Curtis, South Hingham,
Albert Thompson, Alfred Loring,
Randolph, North Bridgewater,
Royal W. Turner, Summer A. Hayward,
South Braintree, Barnstable,
Apollis Randall, George Marston,
Dedham,
Jonathan A. Cobb.

References, by permission:
Hon. GEORGE F. BIGELOW, of Boston,
Hon. JOSIAH QUINCY, Jr., of Boston,
Hon. AMASA WALKER, of North Brookfield,
Hon. JAMES MAQUIRE, of Randolph,
Hon. SOLOMON LINCOLN, of Hingham,
Hon. CHARLES E. ADAMS, of Quincy,
JOSIAH BRIGHAM, Esq.,

OFFICE:
Washington Square, Quincy, rear of Stone Temple
April 1.

National Police Gazette.
THIS Great Journal of Crime and Criminals
is in its Twenty-fifth Year, and is widely circulated throughout the country. It contains all the Great Trials, Criminal Cases, and appropriate Editorials on the same, together with information on Criminal Matters, not to be found in any other newspaper.

Subscriptions, $2 per annum; $1 for six months, to be sent by subscribers, (who should write their names and the town, county
and state where they reside plainly.)
GEO. W. MATSELL & CO.,
Editors & Proprietors of the
National Police Gazette,
New York City, Apr 25

Insurance against Fire.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSUR-

ANCE COMPANY of Massachusetts, in-

sures Real and Personal Property against the hazard of Fire, for five years or less, on favorable

terms.

Farmers, Mechanics, Household, Traders,
Merchants, and all Owners of Property not extra-
hazardous, are solicited to patronize this Company; every effort will be made to accommodate
customers.

Letters, by mail or otherwise, from persons residing at a distance, relating to Fire Insurance,
will be promptly attended to.

PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM S. MORTON,
TREASURER,
ISRAEL W. MUNROE,
DIRECTORS,
STEPHEN BATES,
Quincy, Milton,
William S. Morton, Charles Brock,
Israel W. Munroe, Dorchester,
Thomas C. Webb, H. W. Blanchard,
Whitecomb Porter, Cohasset,
Stephen Bates, Solomon J. Beal,
William B. Duggan, Hingham,
Boston, Ebenezer Gay,
Thomas Curtis, South Hingham,
Albert Thompson, Alfred Loring,
Randolph, North Bridgewater,
Royal W. Turner, Summer A. Hayward,
South Braintree, Barnstable,
Apollis Randall, George Marston,
Dedham,
Jonathan A. Cobb.

References, by permission:
Hon. GEORGE F. BIGELOW, of Boston,
Hon. JOSIAH QUINCY, Jr., of Boston,
Hon. AMASA WALKER, of North Brookfield,
Hon. JAMES MAQUIRE, of Randolph,
Hon. SOLOMON LINCOLN, of Hingham,
Hon. CHARLES E. ADAMS, of Quincy,
JOSIAH BRIGHAM, Esq.,

OFFICE:
Washington Square, Quincy, rear of Stone Temple
April 1.

National Police Gazette.
THIS Great Journal of Crime and Criminals
is in its Twenty-fifth Year, and is widely circulated throughout the country. It contains all the Great Trials, Criminal Cases, and appropriate Editorials on the same, together with information on Criminal Matters, not to be found in any other newspaper.

Subscriptions, $2 per annum; $1 for six months, to be sent by subscribers, (who should write their names and the town, county
and state where they reside plainly.)
GEO. W. MATSELL & CO.,
Editors & Proprietors of the
National Police Gazette,
New York City, Apr 25

NEW GEO. R. FRENCH,
Engraver and Plate Printer,
257 Washington, near Winter st. - Boston
Particular attention given to the Engraving
and Printing of Invitation, Reception, Marriage, Address and Visiting Cards.

A LONG and practical experience in this particular branch, warrants me in saying
that persons about ordering Cards of any description, will study their interests by calling,
or sending their orders as above, as he will furnish the most fashionable card produced,
at prices as low or lower than any other establishment.

WEDDING STATIONERY, constantly on hand. Portraits, Views, Maps, Diplomas,
Labels, Bill-Heads, Blank Checks, Notes,
Drafts, Bills of Exchange, &c., &c., engraved or printed at short notice.

Door-Plates, Signs, and anything in the line, furnished to order and at equally low prices.

Orders by mail, express, or otherwise,
promptly attended to.
Boston, Feb 20

RICH'S PATENT
IRON BEAM PLOW.

J. WADSWORTH JR
South Weymouth,
Is Agent for the County of Norfolk,
FOR THE SALE OF THIS PLOW.

WHO will visit the various parts of the County during the first of April. Plows delivered in any part of the County free of charge
Terms, cash on delivery.

Weights and Prices.
Old Dominion, 3 Horse, 125 lbs. price, $13 50
C. No. 1, 2 Horse, 125 " " 12 00
Washington, No. 2, 2 H. 110 " " 11 00
D. Improved, 90 " " 9 00
E. Corn Plow, 1 Horse 60 " " 5 00
F. Corn Plow, 1 Horse 40 " " 4 00
Double Mould Board, 40 " " 4 75
Size Hill and Level Land 100 " " 10 00
Either of the Plows weighing 100 pound or approximately, with an extra point, 50 cents more; under 100 weight, 35 cents.
Weymouth April 3

Received new styles of Paper Hangings
and for sale cheap for cash.
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, March 25.

Burnett's Cocaine,
FOR preserving and beautifying the Hair,
and rendering it dark and glossy. Thom-
son's Golden Lustrine. The German Toilet Balm, and various other hair pres

FASHIONABLE Dressing Establishment

J. W. LOMBARD,

AS taken rooms over the store of E. Clapp, (formerly occupied by Mr. J. M. Rockford,) who respectfully to inform his friends and the public generally that he intends to carry on THE TAILORING BUSINESS, and hopes by punctuality and attention to business to merit a share of patronage.

JOS. W. LOMBARD.

Quincy, Apr 18

BUSINESS COATS, (Custom Made,) from $6 to $10.

T. DODDS.

Quincy, Oct. 31.

this out and keep it for Reference.

Great Chance to Save Money!!

BY HAVING YOUR CLOTHES MADE BY

A. COLLINS,

103 Washington Street,

Cor. Broadfield street, up stairs.

REASONS WHY. My rent is less than any Custom Tailor in Boston.

I pay my Goods for Cash, taking advantage of the market.

I sell my Goods for Cash only.

I make no bad debts for Customers to pay.

I work for the interest of my Customers.

My Customers can depend on having Garments made for style, fit, and economy, and faithful to the latest fashions.

I pay particular attention to making Pants, being the most difficult of all Garments to fit nicely.

My Pants are cut by a system original with myself, and used by no other person. I warrant my Pants to retain their shape at the knee till worn out, and to fit handsome and be easy in every particular.

Some of the Prices.

Well made Dress Coat, from German

black or colored Broad Cloth, made to order,

from $15 to $25

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

Black German Double Pants, 5 to 8

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XXIII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, MARCH 5th, 1859.

NUMBER X.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION
Over Mr. E. Clapp's Store, on Hancock St.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

Two DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.

No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.

Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business.

Letters and communications, (postage paid), will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers: Railway Village, JOSIAH BARKOCK; West District, GEORGE H. LOCKE; Milton, CHARLES BRICK; Dorchester, ORIN P. BACON; Weymouth, F. A. KINGSBURY; Abington, JOSEPH CLEVELAND; South Scituate, SAMUEL A. TURNER; Brooklyn, (N. Y.) GERHARD DREW.

Miscellaneous.

An American Heroine.

A tall, slender figure, with brown hair falling over the shoulders and a pale, resolute face, clad in a long, flowing dressing gown, and holding a light high above his head, and looking steadily down at me as I ascended the stairs—this was what I saw as I went up into my room in the Spread Eagle in Grace Church street, on the 18th day of September, 1848, as I am a Christian!

I stopped short and looked at the figure, as it was looking at me. I had not been drinking; I was not walking in my sleep, and, more than all, I knew the face and form; but what in the name of common sense, was a young lady doing in the passage of an old inn at that hour, alone, and in such a dress? She blushed scarlet as I drew near, and wrapped her dressing gown more closely around her; but the next moment she was as pale as before, and spoke to me eagerly and hurriedly, but in a very low voice.

Sir, are you the landlord of this Inn? I am not, madam. Do you know where he is? Down stairs in the coffee-room, I think. But what is the matter? Are you ill? Has anything gone wrong?

She stamped her foot slightly with impatience, and looked me full in the face. Blue eyes she had—blue and soft in general—but now they were blazing.

Don't stop to ask questions, sir! Bring him here at once; and come back with him yourself. Bring pistols if you have them; do you hear? And run for your life—for your life! she added, leaning over the banisters, and speaking in the very same low, hurried tones.

I was away in an instant, though I knew no more of my errand than the man in the moon. But I should like to see a man who would not have done the same. Apart from the fact that she was claiming my aid and protection, there was something in the ring of that voice, low as it was, and the flash of the eye, that warned me she was not to be trifled with.

She would have made a good general, had she been a man; and I wager my head not a soldier would have dared to retreat, had she spoken as she did to me that night. But before I finish my story I must begin it. I am but a blundering fellow. My wife always says, if a mistake can be made, I am sure to make it; and I believe I was going to tell you about the landlord's coming, before I said what he was coming for. Now, then, I will commence the thing right.

I asked the landlord about the party in the evening. He looked at the book, and read the names: Rev Edward Williams and lady. Mrs. Arnold, New York city. They are Americans, then? I exclaimed.

So it seems. They came here three weeks ago by the packet, and are going to Paris next month. Very nice people they seem, but they have queer ways. All Americans have I am told.

Yes—they seem odd to us, no doubt, I said musingly, scarcely knowing what I answered. And then I started for my room, which was No. 40.

I must now proceed to state that Mrs. Arnold's room was on the second floor, just above No. 40, and looking out upon Grace Church street itself. To it she went quietly on that eventful evening, at the hour of ten. Something made her wakeful. She sat down at her toilet table and talked awhile to the housekeeper, who had come up with clean pillow cases, and asked many questions about the house and family. How they broached the topic I do not know; but after a time they began to think and to speak about that strange phenomenon, called "spiritual rappings."

The Cock Lane ghost was brought upon the carpet, and various other stories told, till Mrs. Arnold grew nervous, and laughingly declared she would hear no more. Then the housekeeper bade her good night, and she locked her door and began to prepare for bed.

The room was large, rather dark, and full of corners and recesses. The light of the two wax candles on the toilet table only served to make these corners visible in their shadowy gloom. The bed was high, and hung about with dark crimson curtains; and the furniture of the room was dark too; and the cushions of the chairs and the covers of the tables red also. It is a color which needs much light to set it off to advantage; it looked unusual enough to her just then. At one end of the room a door led into a kind of a closet, which was unfurnished, and looked out into the courtyard; but this door opened into Mrs. Arnold's room, and looked on that side. Sometimes linen was kept there; and the housekeeper had evidently been there that night, for the key was in the lock and the door a little ajar. Mrs. Arnold would have preferred it shut, but she was too timid to cross the room just then.

She undressed slowly, singing in a low voice. As she bent down to unlace her boot, she happened to cast her eyes towards the closet (she had a vision like an angel), and to her surprise and terror she saw the door move distinctly—only the lower part of it, for she had presence of mind enough not to start, and the bed concealed the upper part as it was stooping. The legend of that woman who saw the great boot of a man under the bed, yet had the courage to stay in the room all the evening, going on with her ordinary household duties within reach of the assassin's knife, till her husband came and she was safe, flashed across her mind and taught her how to act. She yawned luxuriously, interrupted her singing for a moment, and then went on with a steady voice. After she had prepared for bed, she folded her dressing gown around her, and brushed her hair before the glass. In that mirror she could see the door move now and then, as if her visitor was getting impatient; and once it creaked. She started, naturally, and threw her slipper against the wall, as if to frighten away the mice, and resumed her occupation. When that was over, she went to her jewel case, which stood upon the toilet table, and turned its bright contents out in a heap before her. She held a spray of diamonds against her hair, as if to try its effects, she clasped and unclasped her bracelets, and toyed with her rings. Meanwhile the door creaked again, and setting an unset diamond fall to the ground, and stooping to pick it up, she saw, with a rapid glance, that a burly, ill-looking man was peering at her from behind the curtains of the bed. He started back, thinking himself discovered; and in that moment of horrible anxiety—that moment which, for aught she knew, might be her last, what did she do? She could hear his breathing distinctly, sharpened as all her senses were, and almost felt the cold steel in her heart; and so she made herself a mocking courtesy in the glass, and held the diamond spray above her forehead.

Duchess of Nemours! she said softly.—And why not? I should look well with a coronet. I wish my husband was dead! She leaned her head upon her hand and seemed to think. A subdued rustling told her that the robber was retreating. The door swung softly together—she saw it in the glass, and her resolution was taken.

Two diamond sprays, she said, counting the gems aloud, as she put them back in their case. A ruby and an amethyst bracelet, a ruby ring and a garnet. But where is the garnet necklace, by the way? How stupid of me to mislay it! And my husband's gift, too! I wonder if I have put it in my trunk? The trunk stood very near the door of the closet. She went and unlocked it and tumbled its contents out upon the floor, bending over it with her light, while that man was within two feet of her! I wonder how she had the nerve to do it. Indeed, she said afterwards that she knew he was bending down to look, and looking over her shoulders at the trinkets as she turned them over with a steady hand, and that her greatest difficulty was to keep from breaking out into hysterical laughter, and so betraying that she knew of his presence.

The bracelet was not there. She pushed the things aside impatiently, shut down the trunk, and placed the candle on the bed. Then she stood up, with her finger on her lip and bent down.

Where can the necklace be? She turned as if to go by the closet, towards a chest of drawers that stood in the corner of the room; made one step past it; whirled suddenly, and, pushing both hands upon the door with all her might, locked and double locked it in a second. She heard a terrific clink inside as the robber threw himself against it too late; and, snatching up her candle, sped out for help. She found me as I have described, while I was coming up the staircase, and she stood at the head of it.

In three moments after she had spoken to me, I came back with the landlord, the waiter Charles, the head hostler, and "boots." They were all strong men, and the landlord had his pistols. Boots, I remember, carried the poker, and I snatched up a great carving-knife from the side-board. What did that woman do, when she saw our procession, but burst out laughing!

You come as if you were going to join the army in Flanders, she said, after she had related her dangerous adventure. I have locked the man up safely, and you will frighten him to death with your savage looks.

I colored up to the roots of my hair, and gave my carving-knife to Charles, and sneaked behind the rest. I believe, at that moment, I hated her.

It was a great sight to see her marching before us, with a light in her hand. An English woman would have fainted at being seen in the kitchen by five men; but she with the frank, free bravery of an American lassie, let the circumstances explain the dress, and marshaled us quietly to the room. There was her book upon the toilet table, and there were the jewels glittering in their case—the contents of her trunk she had left them on the floor, and the closet locked and silent. She put the key into the landlord's hand.

Help the gentleman out! she said lazily.

I think she was the bravest woman I have ever seen, and I could not help looking at her with admiration and respect. She took a great shawl from a chair and wrapped it around her form, slightly, and then stood a little aside.

We heard the man breathing heavily as the key turned in the lock, and the moment the door was opened, he made a savage rush out, knocking the landlord and Charles down as if they had been two boys. But "boots" and I caught him; and the hostler snatched a strap from Mrs. Arnold's trunk, and we had him bound in a moment. She sat in her easy chair, looking on quietly, as if she had been at play, and when his eyes met hers she smiled.

You see I was too much for you, she said quietly.

He growled out— You are a clever woman, by jingo! I didn't think there was a woman as could bring Bill Nevins to this.

Thank you my friend, I never had a greater compliment paid me.

We led him from the room, and the landlord turned to her—

Of course you will wish to go to Mrs. Williams's room, he said; or I can give you one near the housekeeper's.

No; I think I'll stay here, she said, in her short, quiet, decided way.

I suppose you have not left any of your friends behind you, my man, she added, turning to the prisoner.

The fellow grinned and pulled at his forelock, saying—

No, my lady; I was all alone.

That will do, then. Good night, gentleman! Accept my thanks, now, and I will offer them more suitably when I am not quite so sleepy.

She bowed us out of the room and locked the door behind us. Every one was loud in her praise but me; and as for the prisoner, he swore with a more emphatic oath than I should like to record, that six months or a year was nothing after that; and if he thought the American women were like her, he would cross the ocean to find one in his own station, the moment he was set free. But I was silent. And when the housebreaker had been consigned to the tender mercies of the police, and the hotel was silent, and I alone in my room, I scarcely knew what to think. Such courage almost frightened me; and yet I remember how pale she looked, and that she leaned against the mantelpiece at first as if to support herself; so I forgave her bravery, and thought only of the beauty of her eyes and the sweetness of her voice, and sank away to sleep at last, with the firm resolution that another day should not pass over my head before I had told her how I had learned to love her.

But the next day brought its own events, and what is worse, its own persons, with it. A cartage stopped before the door as I entered for my morning walk; a tall, bearded man, with an honest, handsome face, darted into the house, and up the stairs, three steps at a time. There was a cry of surprise on the second landing—a murmur, and a sudden mingling of voices, that roused my curiosity to the highest pitch. I ran up to my own room, and passing the half open door of No. 42, there was my divinity in the arms of the stranger (confound him!) calling him George, and kissing him in a way that made me long to poison him. Down stairs I went three at a time, and collared the landlord in the hall.

Who is that man? Just come? In 42? he gasped, half choked and quite surprised.

Yes!

Captain Arnold—Mrs. Arnold's husband. Just come from a voyage to India. I say, sir, no more midnight adventures now, I suppose. You will never have a chance to play the part of a guardian angel again—eh, sir?—think so, sir?

My hand dropped from his collar, and consigning him and Captain Arnold to perdition, I walked out to the rooms of a friend, and deliberately swallowed a strong glass of lemonade. And when I came to my senses once more, Mrs. Arnold and her party had gone.

I hear she is in America now—in New York—and I have no doubt she will read this story and laugh till her lovely blue eyes fill with tears, over my folly. She will show it to her husband, too, and he will laugh. Never mind! I must take care that Mrs. Cathcart shall never see it; she, at least, must never know what a tremendous falsehood I told when I swore on my bended knees that I had never loved any woman before (she wouldn't marry me on any other conditions) and thereby alone can my peace of mind be ensured. So I make my bow to Mrs. Arnold's blue eyes—to the public, and the Spread Eagle in Grace Church street.

The Newspaper.

"In no other way can so much, so varied, so useful information be imparted, and under circumstances favorable for educating the child's mind, as through a judicious, well conducted newspaper.

To live in a village, was once to be shut up and contracted. But now a man may be a hermit and yet a cosmopolite. He may live in a forest, walking miles to a post office, having a mail but once a week, and yet he shall be found as familiar with the living world as the busiest actor in it. For the newspaper is a spy glass by which he brings near the most distant things—a microscope by which he leisurely examines the most minute objects—an ear trumpet by which he collects and brings within his hearing all that is said and done all over the earth—a museum full of living pictures of real life, drawn not on canvas, but with printer's ink on paper.

The effect in liberalizing and enlarging the mind of the young, of this weekly commerce with the world, will be apparent to any one who will ponder it. Once, a liberal education could only be completed by foreign travel. The sons only of the wealthy could indulge in its costly benefit. But now the poor man's son can learn as much at home, as a hundred years ago a gentleman could learn by journeying the world over. For while there are some advantages in going into the world, it is the poor man's privilege to have the world come to see him. The newspaper is a great collector, a great traveler, a great lecturer. It is the common people's Encyclopedia—the lyceum, the college—Rev. Henry W. Beecher.

Spectacles.

As people get old, the eye flattens, and it becomes necessary in order to see clearly, and without an effort, to put the thing looked at farther from the eye, or to employ means to make up for the flattening of the eye; hence, the use of spectacles. To look at them, they appear to be nothing more than a flat piece of glass; but on examination, they are convex, that is, bulge out a little, and the skill in adapting glasses to the eye, consists in selecting those that have a convexity which will just make up for the flattening of the eye, and thus place things very nearly in their natural condition, so that the wearer may see easily without a strain. To do this systematically, glasses are numbered rationally by the French, arbitrarily and bunglingly by the English and Americans. The first glasses used are called No. 96, that is, ninety-six inches, or eight feet, the rays of light coming through such a glass, meet in a focus—and thus cause distinct vision. The next number is eighty-four, or seven feet, and this increase is so light that some opticians never make that number, but fall down to eighty, then to seventy-two, after which the numbers decrease slowly, as sixty-six, fifty-four, and so on. But, not to perplex the learner of spectacles with any numbers, it is sufficient, for practical purposes, to be governed by this rule—whenever you begin to feel yourself reading with an effort of the eye, do not buy at once a pair of spectacles, but cease reading or sewing a moment or two, and look at some distant object; this rests the eye, and enables it to return to the page with great ease; and the instant there is consciousness of effort, repeat the process. Doing this judiciously, the use of spectacles may be deferred for a year or more. Then, when weariness comes at once, or when you find yourself instinctively going towards a better light to read your favorite prayer, or increasing its distance from the eye, or turning it slightly, so as to get more light on the page, it is high time for glasses—when you should begin with the highest number possible so that it enables you to read with ease. Never tell the optician your age. It is none of his business. There is as much difference in the eyes as in the faces of men—some are ten years younger in age than in reality. A man of fifty may require number twenty-four, while his neighbor of the same age, can see just as well with thirty six. When you have taken your first number, use it as long as you can, without getting a lower one. But as soon as you perceive an evident strain, a decided effort to see clearly, then get a lower number at once, such a number as will enable you to see easily, without the consciousness of straining.

When beginning to use glasses, use them as short a time as possible, only in deficient light, or on minute objects. By a judicious attention to these two points, the age of the sight will be retarded for many years. And, as reading is one of the luxuries of age, one of its most delightful pastimes and amusements, we cannot be too careful of the eyesight, and should study how we may best husband its powers.—Hall's Jour of Health.

Never Yield to Ridicule.

Never let your honest conviction be laughed down. You can no more exercise your reason if you live in the constant dread of ridicule, than you can enjoy your life if you are in the constant terror of death. If you think it right to differ from the times, and to make a point of morals, do it; however rustic, however antiquated, however pedantic it may appear, do it—not for insolence, but seriously and grandly—as a man who wore a soul of his own in his bosom, and did not wait till it was breathed into him by the breath of fashion. Be true to your manhood's convictions, and in the end you will not only be respected by the world, but have the approval of your own conscience.

Horoscope for Ladies.

JANUARY. He who was born this month will be laborious and a lover of good wine, but very subject in infidelity, but he will be complaisant, and with a very fine singer. The ladies born in this month will be pretty, prudent housewives, rather melancholy, but yet good tempered.

FEBRUARY. The man born in this month will love money much but the ladies more—he will be stingy at home but prodigal abroad. The lady will be a humane and affectionate wife and tender mother.

MARCH. The man born this month will be rather handsome—will be honest and prudent; he will die poor. The lady will be a jealous, passionate chatter box.

APRIL. The man that has the misfortune to be born in this month will be subject to maladies, he will travel to his advantage and have ladies to his disadvantage, for he will marry a rich, handsome heiress, who will make what no doubt you will all understand. The lady of this month will be tall and stout, with agreeable wit and great talk.

MAY. The man born in this month will be handsome and amiable; he will make his wife happy. The lady will be equally blessed in every respect.

JUNE. Born now will be of small stature, passionately fond of women, and children, but will not be loved in return. The lady will be a giddy personage, fond of coffee; she will marry at the age of twenty-one and will be a fool at forty-five.

JULY. The man will be fair, he will suffer death for the wicked woman he loves. The female of this month will be passively handsome with a sharp nose, but fine bust. She will be of rather sulky temper.

AUGUST. The man will be ambitious and courageous; he will have several maladies and two wives. The lady will be ambitious and twice married, but her second husband will cause her to regret her first.

SEPTEMBER. Born in this month he will be strong, wise and prudent, but too easy with his wife, who will give him great uneasiness. The lady round-faced, fair haired, witty, discreet, amiable, and loved by her friends.

OCTOBER. The man of this month will have a handsome and florid complexion; he will be quick in youth, and always inconsistent. He will promise one thing and do another, and remain poor. The lady will be pretty, a little too fond of talk. She will have two husbands, who will very likely die of grief; she will best know why.

NOVEMBER. The man born now will have a fine face and be a gay dancer. The lady of this month will be large, liberal and full of novelty.

DECEMBER. The man born in this month will be a good sort of person, though passionate. He will devote himself to the army and be betrayed by his wife. The lady will be amiable and handsome, with a good voice, and a well proportioned body, she will be twice married and remain poor, but still continue honest.

For the Patriot.
Letter from Paris.

readily suggest the fact, that this latter company always carried their dinners, and staid at noon. Many a good bathe in Quincy canal in summer; and many a good skating on Greenleaf's pond in winter, was enjoyed during the intermission at noon. And many a tardy scholar, returning from such skating excursions, has been obliged to warm himself at the master's apple tree, instead of the fire.

One Frank H. was of this company, and grown to man's estate. Indeed, he was quite as heavy as Master Seaver, and that means nearly or quite two hundred pounds avoirdupois. A task not to be desired, certainly, to administer the rod or ferule to such a scholar. Yet Master S. made no distinction. All were boys, in his estimation, who came to school. And as all came for instruction, it must be impartially given, a priori, to who would so receive it, and a posteriori when necessary.

Now Frank took special pains to solicit the letter mode of treatment, determining on having a laugh among some of his large companions, at the master's expense. And to protect his back from the rod, provided himself with a closely-fitting leather apron, which he wore underneath all his other garments, and close to his "hide." The outer garments, of course, prevented the master from detecting the presence of the leather. Many will remember the imperturbable gravity with which flogging after flogging was received upon this delinquent's back, and cannot fail to recall the "golden tooth," the flushed face, and the evident mortification of the master. But an unusually powerful arm, wielding a tolerably-sized apple tree, failed in all its efforts to reduce this youth to anything like submission.

But the secret of the leather apron finally reached the master's ears. The joke was too good to circulate in a small circle, and one by one became confidential depositaries thereof. Now was the time of triumph for Master Seaver. And most heartily and lustily did he apply himself, on the first opportunity, to the work of correcting the record of the past. A spot below the leather apron was selected as the place of attack. Now fell the blows, thick and heavy, with here and there a rest; always interlarded with the inquiry, "Well, Frank, how does the apron stand it?" The muscles of the face declared too plainly the effect of the master's discovery, though it was not possible much to move so stalwart a frame.

F. H. never after appeared in that school. Whether expelled by the master, or voluntarily withdrawing himself, is not known. Another occasion of punishment, somewhat novel, is remembered. It was the large "boys," from eighteen to twenty-five years of age, that gave Master S. most trouble.

S. R. and Jack R. were two such boys. Master S. assigned to them one day the care of the stove; which in those days was a massive cast iron box stove, with very great capacity for wood, and a very large oven, in which to warm sausages and mince pies brought for dinner. Two scholars had the care of bringing wood from the cellar and filling the stove, as occasion might require. This task was readily accepted by any scholars, as it generally gave an opportunity for a run to Briesler's store, or Fisk's. On this occasion, just at the assembling of school for the afternoon session, these two youths proceeded to the task of replenishing the fire. And resolving on having a little sport, filled the stove to its utmost extent, with nice, dry maple wood.

It was not long before the mischief was made apparent to the master; and recognizing the two names as of frequent aggressors, decided on summary punishment. The two "boys" were called up and made to join hands over the funnel—and of course one on each side of the stove. Here they were obliged to stand, and contemplate the various hues assumed by the reddening stove and funnel, while the wood burned within. Once the question was put, "Are you warm enough, boys?" which eliciting only the reply, "No, pile in your wood," the unequal contest was continued, until their clothes were nearly burned off, and their hands and wrists long carried the marks of that fire.

Wearily himself of so much flogging, the master would sometimes allow two delinquents to punish each other. Giving each a branch of the apple tree, they would be required to go to the open space in the school-room, and apply the rods each to the other as lustily as they chose. If either grew weary too soon, or for any reason was not sufficiently active in using the rod, he would "catch it" from the master. The subscriber was several times the recipient of such punishment; and once the number was increased to three—somewhat in the form of Midshipman Easy's triangular duel.

Mr. Editor, why not refresh your readers with an occasional article upon these events? You doubtless will remember a great many. And every smile awakened by such reminiscence will add one day of life to each of your subscribers. The short time occupied in penning this article, away in a distant land, far from home and friends, has been one of refreshment; and whether you open your columns or not, is not of any moment to the writer.

Should this article be acceptable, it may be followed by a letter descriptive of passing events here. Many items may be gathered, that will be new and readable to most of your readers. Yours, truly, G. C. R.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, March 5th, 1859.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

DARING ROBBERY. The store of T. Dadds, merchant tailor of this town, was entered on Tuesday noon last, while he was at dinner—the door having been unlocked by his little girl to go out to school. Coins and other articles to the value of sixty dollars were taken. Three men were seen to leave there at time, and they were pursued by Deputy Sheriff Adams and Constable Kimball as far as South Boston bridge, but they could not be traced any further.

EXHIBITION. The Exhibition at Mariposa Hall, by the Adams Literary Association, was well attended by an appreciating audience. Some of the declamations gave evidence of talent that needs but to be developed to sustain the reputation of this town for sterling eloquence, so well established by the namesake of this society. The singing by the young ladies was an agreeable and indispensable part of the exercises. Such exhibitions should be given frequently, both for the benefit of the community and those who take part in them, who will soon be called upon the stage of action.

LARGE FIRE. The house and barn of Warren Marsh, situated on Mount Harrison, Dorchester, were set on fire about 9 o'clock on Thursday evening of last week, and entirely destroyed. A portion of the furniture in the house was saved, but the loss will amount to several thousand dollars.

CADET SELECTION. Andrew N. Darnell of Dedham, son of the Hon. Wm. S. Darnell, M. C. from this district, has been appointed one of the Massachusetts Cadets at West Point.

REUNION. We are pleased to learn that the difficulties which have existed for the past two years in the Orthodox church have been amicably settled, to the mutual satisfaction of the parties; and we doubt not, that under the pastorate of the amiable and talented Rev. Mr. Thayer, that the society will prosper in its ecclesiastical and secular concerns, and that all further contention will cease.

APPOINTMENT. The Governor of this State has appointed Charles M. S. Churchill of Milton, a Justice of the Peace to try criminal cases within the County of Norfolk.

DREADFUL STEAMBOAT AFFAIR. Another of those dreadful occurrences which too often occur on the waters of the Mississippi, took place on Sunday morning last, near Baton Rouge, La. The steamboat Princess, from Vicksburg for New Orleans, burst her boiler, and subsequently burnt to the water's edge. She had on board four hundred passengers, of whom two hundred are lost and missing—mostly residents of Louisiana and Mississippi—a large number of whom were ladies.

STEP-PARENTS AND DAUGHTERS. A case came before the Supreme Judicial Court at Dedham, a few days since, in which one Harriet G. Lathrop of Stoughton sought for a divorce from her husband, Mark Lathrop. It appeared that the domestic troubles of the pair were caused by their living with step-parents, and Judge Metcalf, before whom the case was brought, remarked, that during his whole experience he never knew of a case where newly married parties went to live with step-parents, that trouble, or at least some unhappiness, did not arise therefrom; and so universal had been this result, that a noted author had well remarked, that "the very name of step-mother is a terror in itself;" and it seemed to his Honor that the name of step-daughter was often equally so. The libellant, failing to prove any just grounds for a separate maintenance, was left by the decision of the Court to go as she came, and the libel was dismissed.

CHEERING INTELLIGENCE. The New York Herald says, "we are hardly past mid-winter, and yet the spring business is recommencing with an activity and momentum greater than we have known it to do for many years."

HOMICIDE. On Sunday last, at Washington City, Daniel E. Sickles, a member of Congress from New York City, met in the streets Philip Barton Key, U. S. Attorney for the District of Columbia, and fired three times, killing him in a few seconds. Unmistakable evidence of criminal intercourse between said Key and Sickles' wife, for almost a year, was the cause of this sad affair.

HOOK AND LADDER COMPANY. A monthly meeting of Fireman's Aid, of this town, will be held next Monday evening; and after the transaction of business, they will partake, with their invited friends, of cawdow, etc., to conclude with dancing, etc.

For the Patriot.
Pro Aris to Dr. Babbitt.

MR. EDITOR:—I do mean to say, most emphatically, that disease is always caused by violation of the laws of health by errors in diet, want of cleanliness, exercise, &c., so that the whole system, or some organ, becomes obstructed by morbid matter, when the vital forces act in a way perfectly natural to remove the obstruction and restore the normal condition of the system. It matters not whether the matter accumulates in the organs from want of cleanliness and exercise, or gets into the system in the form of food, or the virus of contagious disease, or the bite of a rattlesnake or mad dog.

Dr. Babbitt says, "The essential or true cause of disease is contagion or poison, each distinct in itself, as small-pox, scarlet fever, &c., &c.;" hence the cause of small-pox is the contagion of small-pox; ergo, the cause of small-pox is small-pox. This scientific effulgence most mysteriously enlightens us.

He says again, that "Homoeopathic remedies strike at the essential causes of disease." How; by their affinity for them? I have endeavored to show that medicines do not act at all, and that the vital forces act upon them in order to expel them from the system, the same as any other poisonous or useless matters; and I affirm that no disease is ever cured by medicine. It is the vis medicatrix nature, or efforts of nature that effect the cure, not medicine nor water either. If Homoeopathic remedies subdue inflammation or change the direction of the disease, it is not because they act, but because the system expels them in a different way from that in which the morbid matter was originally tending. In croup, and other diseases of the air-passages, the morbid matter tends towards the lungs and throat, causing inflammation, and, perhaps, ending in mortification; but if the inflammation be kept down by the use of water, the corrupt matter is expelled without injury to the organs; whereas, if medicine is used the system must be injured according to the amount of poison contained in the medicine, and of course Homoeopathic little pills are far more preferable than Allopathic big doses.

"The discovery that diseased parts of the body are more susceptible to the action of medicines than in health;" or rather, that being weaker the diseased parts are less capable of reaction, does not appear to be a very remarkable discovery, though it might be for a physician. As "Homoeopaths are free from the charge of poisoning their patients," because they do not administer poisons enough to be perceptible, it is highly probable that their success is owing, as I said in my first article, more to their observance of the natural conditions of health than to their infinitesimal doses—and also to mental impressions, for those who have faith enough to think little pills will cure disease, would get well if the pills were made of brown bread, for faith works wonders, even in these days of sham miracles.

If a man should take a dose of arsenic he would experience extreme thirst; and it is well known that rats or other animals, when poisoned by arsenic, will save themselves if they have access to water. There is not a shadow of doubt that nature indicates the proper course in such cases. The poison causes inflammation of the stomach, with a strong desire to vomit; and there is nothing so good as water to reduce the inflammation or to cleanse the stomach and induce vomiting. Any quantity of rain water, warm enough to be lukewarm, if convenient, would be all I should desire for myself or nearest relatives. It would be impossible to do injury with water, whatever poison might be swallowed; but if, after time enough had elapsed for a physician to arrive, it should be uncertain what kind of poison had been taken, he might be perplexed to decide what particular antidote should be given, and I rather think "mathematical certainty" would be far preferable to "guess-work" in such a case.

Dr. Babbitt must administer something more powerful than arsenic, if he would exterminate believers in Hygeo-Therapeutics or Water Cure.

PRO ARIS.

MR. EDITOR:—In the Auditors' Report of Quincy, circulated this week, on page 13, relative to appraisement at the Almshouse, the item blankets is carried out $25.0 it should read $25.0. On page 14, the item, 15 lbs sugar, is carried out $15.0; it should read $15.0. In some of the printed Reports, at the top of page 22, in the sentence, "Paid Edmund Pope 8 1-2 days as School Committee, $8.50; the figure 8 is omitted in the number of days, so that it reads "1-2 days." These are typographical errors, inadvertently made in the hurry of printing, which Messrs. Rand & Avery, the printers, very much regret. The written Report on these items was correct. Other slight errors may occur in my copying the report, which should not be attributed to the printers; if so, the fault is in me and not my colleagues on the Committee. Yours, truly,
March 3, 1859. W. B. DEGGAN.

For the Patriot.
The Auditor's Report.

MR. EDITOR:—In the Auditors' Report of Quincy, circulated this week, on page 13, relative to appraisement at the Almshouse, the item blankets is carried out $25.0 it should read $25.0. On page 14, the item, 15 lbs sugar, is carried out $15.0; it should read $15.0. In some of the printed Reports, at the top of page 22, in the sentence, "Paid Edmund Pope 8 1-2 days as School Committee, $8.50; the figure 8 is omitted in the number of days, so that it reads "1-2 days." These are typographical errors, inadvertently made in the hurry of printing, which Messrs. Rand & Avery, the printers, very much regret. The written Report on these items was correct. Other slight errors may occur in my copying the report, which should not be attributed to the printers; if so, the fault is in me and not my colleagues on the Committee. Yours, truly,
March 3, 1859. W. B. DEGGAN.

For the Patriot.
The Auditor's Report.

MR. EDITOR:—In the Auditors' Report of Quincy, circulated this week, on page 13, relative to appraisement at the Almshouse, the item blankets is carried out $25.0 it should read $25.0. On page 14, the item, 15 lbs sugar, is carried out $15.0; it should read $15.0. In some of the printed Reports, at the top of page 22, in the sentence, "Paid Edmund Pope 8 1-2 days as School Committee, $8.50; the figure 8 is omitted in the number of days, so that it reads "1-2 days." These are typographical errors, inadvertently made in the hurry of printing, which Messrs. Rand & Avery, the printers, very much regret. The written Report on these items was correct. Other slight errors may occur in my copying the report, which should not be attributed to the printers; if so, the fault is in me and not my colleagues on the Committee. Yours, truly,
March 3, 1859. W. B. DEGGAN.

For the Patriot.
The Auditor's Report.

MR. EDITOR:—In the Auditors' Report of Quincy, circulated this week, on page 13, relative to appraisement at the Almshouse, the item blankets is carried out $25.0 it should read $25.0. On page 14, the item, 15 lbs sugar, is carried out $15.0; it should read $15.0. In some of the printed Reports, at the top of page 22, in the sentence, "Paid Edmund Pope 8 1-2 days as School Committee, $8.50; the figure 8 is omitted in the number of days, so that it reads "1-2 days." These are typographical errors, inadvertently made in the hurry of printing, which Messrs. Rand & Avery, the printers, very much regret. The written Report on these items was correct. Other slight errors may occur in my copying the report, which should not be attributed to the printers; if so, the fault is in me and not my colleagues on the Committee. Yours, truly,
March 3, 1859. W. B. DEGGAN.

For the Patriot.
The North District Roads.

MR. EDITOR:—I have just been looking over the newly issued Report of the worthy managers of this miserably governed town. Some of the items contained in that report, are not only inexplicable, but to those who take an honest taxpaying view of matters, positively startling; and exhibits the parties concerned as being either utterly incompetent for their duties, or influenced by a very reprehensible partiality. Let me instance, the Reports on Highways is a striking specimen of their municipal management. Here we have an outlay in the various Districts, as follows: Centre, $751; Quincy Point, $509.05; West and South, $816.14; and for the North—yes, sir, the North—the outlet and the inlet—the entrance and the exit—the grand highway and thoroughfare between Boston and all the others, on this important part of the town highways, we have the large and liberal sum of NINETY THREE DOLLARS AND FOUR CENTS—and where, when, and how, the aforesaid sum of $93.04 was expended on highways, or by-ways, it is around this district, some of us, who pay a trifling tax, are very anxious to discover. The narrow-minded and sectional policy, which has hitherto actuated the Selectmen of Quincy in reference to this district, and the turnpike running through it, is now without the shadow of excuse; and were they not so intensely stuffed with selfishness and sectional prejudice, they would have long ere this seen their miserable policy working out its own results. The town will be much more indebted to good luck than good management, if it has not one of these days to pay roundly for the policy it is practising in reference to its greatest and most important highway; and the men who undertook to administer the affairs of the town during the past year, ought to be ashamed of the incredible and astounding fact disclosed by their Report, that out of a total expenditure of two thousand two hundred and twenty-nine dollars on streets, only ninety three dollars and four cents is ever pretended to be expended in the North District—and on the great highway running through it.—Nothing at all.

There are other absurdities in the Report no less worthy of notice, of which more anon.

Our correspondent should be aware of the fact, that the repairs on the Neponset Turnpike have been a matter of dispute for several years, who should make them, and not that question is legally settled, the town will not move in the matter.—E. J.

LECTURE. A Spiritual lecture, by Miss Sprague of Vermont, was attended by a large audience, consisting of several hundred of our most intelligent citizens, at the Town Hall on Sunday evening last.

A WRIGHTY MAN GONE. A jolly oysterman, named Asier A. Skilling, died recently in New York City, of disease of the liver. At the time of his death he weighed 673 pounds, and the fat on his abdomen was 16 inches in depth, and on the chest 7 inches. His liver weighed 16 1-2 pounds, and the heart 2 pounds 7 ounces. The deceased was unmarried, only 39 years of age, and a native of Portland, Maine.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE. We hope our valued friend will continue his letters from Paris. The one in the present number will be read with much interest.

The New England Carpet Company, of Boston, are supplying the people with Carpets at low prices. See their advertisement in our paper of to day.

For the Patriot.

MR. EDITOR:—I have just been looking over the newly issued Report of the worthy managers of this miserably governed town. Some of the items contained in that report, are not only inexplicable, but to those who take an honest taxpaying view of matters, positively startling; and exhibits the parties concerned as being either utterly incompetent for their duties, or influenced by a very reprehensible partiality. Let me instance, the Reports on Highways is a striking specimen of their municipal management. Here we have an outlay in the various Districts, as follows: Centre, $751; Quincy Point, $509.05; West and South, $816.14; and for the North—yes, sir, the North—the outlet and the inlet—the entrance and the exit—the grand highway and thoroughfare between Boston and all the others, on this important part of the town highways, we have the large and liberal sum of NINETY THREE DOLLARS AND FOUR CENTS—and where, when, and how, the aforesaid sum of $93.04 was expended on highways, or by-ways, it is around this district, some of us, who pay a trifling tax, are very anxious to discover. The narrow-minded and sectional policy, which has hitherto actuated the Selectmen of Quincy in reference to this district, and the turnpike running through it, is now without the shadow of excuse; and were they not so intensely stuffed with selfishness and sectional prejudice, they would have long ere this seen their miserable policy working out its own results. The town will be much more indebted to good luck than good management, if it has not one of these days to pay roundly for the policy it is practising in reference to its greatest and most important highway; and the men who undertook to administer the affairs of the town during the past year, ought to be ashamed of the incredible and astounding fact disclosed by their Report, that out of a total expenditure of two thousand two hundred and twenty-nine dollars on streets, only ninety three dollars and four cents is ever pretended to be expended in the North District—and on the great highway running through it.—Nothing at all.

There are other absurdities in the Report no less worthy of notice, of which more anon.

Our correspondent should be aware of the fact, that the repairs on the Neponset Turnpike have been a matter of dispute for several years, who should make them, and not that question is legally settled, the town will not move in the matter.—E. J.

LECTURE. A Spiritual lecture, by Miss Sprague of Vermont, was attended by a large audience, consisting of several hundred of our most intelligent citizens, at the Town Hall on Sunday evening last.

A WRIGHTY MAN GONE. A jolly oysterman, named Asier A. Skilling, died recently in New York City, of disease of the liver. At the time of his death he weighed 673 pounds, and the fat on his abdomen was 16 inches in depth, and on the chest 7 inches. His liver weighed 16 1-2 pounds, and the heart 2 pounds 7 ounces. The deceased was unmarried, only 39 years of age, and a native of Portland, Maine.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE. We hope our valued friend will continue his letters from Paris. The one in the present number will be read with much interest.

The New England Carpet Company, of Boston, are supplying the people with Carpets at low prices. See their advertisement in our paper of to day.

For the Patriot.

MR. EDITOR:—I have just been looking over the newly issued Report of the worthy managers of this miserably governed town. Some of the items contained in that report, are not only inexplicable, but to those who take an honest taxpaying view of matters, positively startling; and exhibits the parties concerned as being either utterly incompetent for their duties, or influenced by a very reprehensible partiality. Let me instance, the Reports on Highways is a striking specimen of their municipal management. Here we have an outlay in the various Districts, as follows: Centre, $751; Quincy Point, $509.05; West and South, $816.14; and for the North—yes, sir, the North—the outlet and the inlet—the entrance and the exit—the grand highway and thoroughfare between Boston and all the others, on this important part of the town highways, we have the large and liberal sum of NINETY THREE DOLLARS AND FOUR CENTS—and where, when, and how, the aforesaid sum of $93.04 was expended on highways, or by-ways, it is around this district, some of us, who pay a trifling tax, are very anxious to discover. The narrow-minded and sectional policy, which has hitherto actuated the Selectmen of Quincy in reference to this district, and the turnpike running through it, is now without the shadow of excuse; and were they not so intensely stuffed with selfishness and sectional prejudice, they would have long ere this seen their miserable policy working out its own results. The town will be much more indebted to good luck than good management, if it has not one of these days to pay roundly for the policy it is practising in reference to its greatest and most important highway; and the men who undertook to administer the affairs of the town during the past year, ought to be ashamed of the incredible and astounding fact disclosed by their Report, that out of a total expenditure of two thousand two hundred and twenty-nine dollars on streets, only ninety three dollars and four cents is ever pretended to be expended in the North District—and on the great highway running through it.—Nothing at all.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

The Erie Canal contains more water and floats more vessels than any canal in Europe, and has 5560 vessels on its register, of which 1449 are larger than the one in which Columbus discovered America.

Gen. William Walker, of filibuster memory, has been admitted as a member of the Catholic church. The ceremony took place in the cathedral at Mobile.

Some carrier pigeons, with which they experimented lately in Europe, flew over a hundred and twenty-three miles in three hours.

A young woman stabbed her sister with a butcher knife, at Sheboygan, Wisconsin, recently, causing her instant death. This ended the sad career of eight out of nine sisters, all of whom led abandoned lives.

The lumbermen and capitalists of Richmond, Maine, have lately opened a new branch of business. They have set mechanics to work building houses for exportation. They entirely complete the houses, even to the finish of the finish, and box them up and send them to Boston.

The sum of fifteen thousand dollars damages has been awarded by a jury in Chicago, Ill., to a gentleman, whose fractured leg had been subjected to the malpractice of a surgeon worth property for the amount of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

There is a gentleman in New Orleans, a merchant, a planter, and a bachelor, whose income this year will reach the handsome sum of five hundred thousand dollars, who, twenty-five years ago was a clerk with a salary of fifty dollars a month.

It is said that a fur dealer in Taunton has purchased this winter no less than six hundred and forty-three skunk skins, on which he intends to realize a hundred per cent.

The National Theatre and Howard Athenaeum in Boston, have both closed for want of patronage.

The wages of farm laborers in England, are now stated to be only nine shillings sterling, per week—about $2.25—not including board.

A woman in Brooklyn (N. Y.) stole four door mats because, as she stated, "she was about to become a mother, and having no house, or money to obtain one, had taken this means to convey to the country to provide her with the necessary accommodations."

It is stated that a firm in New York City have made a profit of one hundred thousand dollars by manufacturing steel hoops for ladies skirts.

The Asylum for Inebriates at Binghamton (N. Y.), intended for only three hundred patients, will not be ready before next fall, but already there are two thousand eight hundred applicants! and, saddest fact of all, four hundred of these are women!

An Italian woman has been arrested in New York City, for passing gold pieces which had been "milled," worth one dollar and thirty cents in value having been taken from each piece, and something else substituted.

A white man, in New York, professes to have discovered an article that will take the kinks out of the hair of persons of negro blood. He exhibited his skill at a lecture to colored people with perfect success.

The pedlars about Syracuse (N. Y.) are said to be practicing a new dodge to increase their profits. They travel round the adjacent country, telling extravagant stories of the prevalence of small-pox in the city. Thus they keep the country folks from going to town, and secure their custom.

There are in Massachusetts two hundred and ninety-four factories, with a capital of thirty-two millions of dollars, and one and a half million of spindles, which put into the market manufactures worth thirty-four millions of dollars annually.

A writer in the Boston Courier insists that the Atlantic cable was a sheer humbug, and argues that there is no evidence that a single intelligible sentence was ever conveyed by it either way.

Marriages.

In this town, on the 22d ult., by Rev. L. Rice, Mr. Gilbert True to Mrs. Harriet M. Sheldon.

GEO. GE WHITE,
Counsellor and Attorney at Law,
No. 5 Tremont Street,
BOSTON.

Ambrotypes, Melanotypes and Photographs.

MR. I. H. HOUSTON,
WOULD inform the Citizens of Quincy and vicinity that he has fitted up a room in

GOODNOW'S BUILDING,
and invites the attention of all who wish anything pertaining to the art. All Pictures warranted to give satisfaction.
Quincy, March 5

Kidderminster Carpets!
NEW PATTERNS—never before exhibited in this market—now opening by the
New England Carpet Co
75 ANOVER STREET, BOSTON.
March 5

Lost,
ON the evening of the 22d inst., a Buffalo Robe, between the Unitarian Meetinghouse and the residence of the subscriber. The finder will be suitably rewarded by returning it to
JOHN PARKER
Quincy, Feb 26

Floor Oil Cloths

OF the most celebrated productions, for sale by the New England Carpet Company,
75 HANOVER ST., BOSTON.
March 5

New Stock and New Styles:

PAPER HANGINGS.
JUST received a lot of New Paper Hangings, which I shall offer at

VERY LOW PRICES.
hoping that those in want of the above articles will call and examine my stock, as I have a large assortment and some very desirable patterns.

CALEB PACKARD,
Cor. of Hancock and Granite Streets,
Quincy, March 5

Elegant Carpets

AT LOW PRICES.

Now Opening from Auction!

100 PIECES of Super Tapestry Brussels, subject to manufacturer's slight imperfections, and will be sold for 87 1/2 cents per yard—rich and gorgeous colors, and of finest quality. The imperfections are scarcely perceptible, not affecting the appearance or durability of the goods.

NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO.,
75 Hanover St., Opp. American House,
Boston, March 5

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. Probate Office, Feb. 26, A. D. 1859.
UPON the petition of Francis M. Lincoln, 2d, praying that he may be appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of late of Cohasset, in said County of Norfolk, Yeoman, deceased, That said petitioner notify and cite all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, that they may appear and be heard concerning the same at a Court of Probate to be held at Roxbury, in said County, on the Twenty-sixth day of March, in the year of our Lord, 1859, at two o'clock in the afternoon, by causing this Order to be published once a week for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed in Quincy.

ZIBA WOOD,

GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency.

March 5.

Town Meeting.

NORFOLK, ss.—To either of the Constables of the Town of Quincy, in said County:

GREETING:

In the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, you are required to warn the Inhabitants of said Quincy, to assemble at the Town Hall, on MONDAY, the Seventh day of March next, at Nine o'clock in the forenoon, to act on the following Articles, to-wit:

Article First.—To choose a Moderator.

2d.—To choose Town Officers.

3d.—To act on reports of Selectmen and Committees.

4th.—To revise the Jury Box.

5th.—To determine the method of repairing the Highways the ensuing year.

6th.—To determine how the Town Land shall be improved the ensuing year.

7th.—To choose an Agent to act for the Town in all suits at law in which it is a party, and in all suits hereafter commenced by or against the Town.

8th.—To determine what shall be done with the Lots in the New Cemetery now occupied and occupied for.

9th.—To see if the Town will grant the use of the Town Hall and Lyceum Room to the Adams Literary Association on the same terms as it is granted to the Quincy Lyceum.

10th.—To see if the Town will furnish suitable Maps for the Schools, or place at the disposal of the School Committee a certain sum of money to be equally divided among the Schools as they see proper, in Maps or Charts as they are needed.

11th.—To see if the Town will widen School street at the intersection of Hancock street, by taking land belonging to Mr. Clark Rogers. Also, to widen and straighten and grade up that part of Hancock street commonly called the Hollow.

12th.—To see if the Town will furnish and caused to be placed a Copper Boiler in the Granite Engine House.

13th.—To know what compensation the Town will make their Clerk and Treasurer for their services the past year.

Poetry.

Rich Though Poor.

No roof of land in all the earth,
No ships upon the sea,
Nor treasures rare, nor gems, nor gold,
Do any keep for me; for bread,
As yesterday I wrought for bread,
So must I toil to-day;
Yet some are not so rich as I,
Nor I so poor as they.

On yonder tree the sunlight falls,
The robin's on the bough;
Still, I can hear a merrier note
Than he is warbling now;
He's but an Arab of the sky,
And never lingers long—
But that o'erturns the living year,
With music and with song.

Come, gather round me, little ones!
And as I sit me down,
With shouts of laughter on me place
A mimic regal crown:
Say, childless king, would I accept
Your arm and domain,
Or e'en your crown, and never feel
These tiny hands again?

There's more of honor in their touch
And blessing unto a kingdom joined,
Than kingdom unto a kingdom joined,
Or naves on the sea;
So greater gifts to me are brought Than Sheba's queen did bring
To him who at Jerusalem
Was born to be a king.

Look at my crown and then at yours!
Look in my heart and thine;
How do our jewels now compare—
The early and the late?
Hold up your diamonds to the light,
Emerald and amethyst,
They're nothing to those love-lit eyes,
These lips so often kissed!

O, noblest Roman of them all!
That mother, good and wise,
Who pointed to her little ones,
The jewels of her eyes.
Four sparkling in my own to-day;
Two deck a sunrise front,
How glow my riches at the thought
Of those in glory now!

And yet no roof of all the earth,
No ships upon the sea,
Nor treasures rare, nor gold, nor gems,
Are safely kept for me:
Yet I am rich—myself a king!
And here is my domain,
Which only God shall take away
To give me back again!

Footsteps on the Other Side.

Sitting in the humble door-way,
Gazing out into the night,
Listening to the stormy tumult
With a kind of sad delight—
Wait I for the loved who comes not,
One whose step I long to hear;
One who, though he lingers from me,
Still is dearest of the dear.

Soft he comes—no heart, he quiet—
Leaping in triumphant stride;
O, it is a stranger footstep
Gone by on the other side.

All the night seems filled with weeping,
Winds are wailing mournfully,
And the rain-rain together
Journey to the rest-less sea.
I can fancy, Sea, your murmur,
As they with your waters flow,
Like the grief of single beings,
Making up a nation's woe!

Branches, bid your guests be silent;
Hush a moment, fretful rain;
Breeze, stop sighing—let me listen,
God grant not again in vain;
In my cheek the blood is rosy,
Like the blushes of a bride,
Joy I feel! a stranger footstep
Goes by on the other side.

Ah! how many wait forever
For the steps that do not come;
Wait until the pining angels
Bear them to a peaceful home.
Many in the stuff of midnight
In the streets have lain and died,
While the sound of human footsteps
Went by on the other side.

Snippets.

A tipsy Irishman, who was leaning against a lamp-post as a funeral procession was passing by, was asked who was dead?
"I can't exactly say, said he, but I believe it is the gentlemen in the coffin."

Two persons of a satiric turn met a neighbor and said:
"Friend, we have been disputing whether you are most knave or fool."
"The man took each of the querists by the arm, so that he was in the middle, and then replied:
"Troth, said he, I believe I am between both."

A boy at a crossing having begged something of a gentleman, the latter told him that he would give him something as he came back. The boy replied:
"Your honor would be surprised if you know how much money I lose by given credit that way."

A plain-spoken woman lately visited a married woman, and said to her:
"How do you contrive to amuse yourself?"
"Amuse! said the other, starting; do you know I have my housework to do?"
"Yes, was the answer, I see you have it to do; but as it is never done, I conclude you must have some other way of passing your time."

Johnny, said a mother to a son nine years of age, go and wash your face; I am ashamed to see you going to dinner with such a dirty mouth.
"I did wash it mamma, and feeling his lips, he added gravely, I think it must be a moustache coming."

Pray, friend, are you master of this house? asked a traveler at an inn.
"Yes, sir, answered boniface, my wife has been dead three weeks."

GRANULAR FUEL.

Patented, June, 1852.

Manufactured from Brushwood and Twigs

For kindling Coal Fires

AND all purposes for which a quick hot fire is needed. It is intended

By its Cheapness and Cleanliness

TO SUPERSEDE CHARCOAL.

It is especially adapted for Summer Use, when a quick fire is wanted but a short time. As it can be used in all kinds of Stoves, and being allowed to go out immediately after using, enables the consumer to practice Economy.

The extreme low price of this Fuel is also a great advantage, being but one-half the price of charcoal. It kindles quick, is clean and cheap, and will be sold and delivered at the following low prices for cash:—

Under 25 bushels, 10 cents per bushel.

Over 25 " " 9 " "

Orders left at the Store of E. Clapp, Henry A. Newcomb, Peter W. Newcomb, Quincy Point, or at Badger & Hanson's Machine Shop, will be promptly attended to.

MANUFACTURED AND SOLD BY

GEORGE SAVIL,

Rear of Badger & Hanson's—Cemetery st.

Quincy, Aug. 14. if

ATTENTION.

The Largest and Most Complete

ASSORTMENT OF

HARDWARE?

DOORS

BLINDS

SASHES, 30c. & 30c.

Ever offered to the people of Quincy, may be found by calling upon

Bailey, Carver & Co

Having recently made large additions to our stock of

BUILDING MATERIALS,

we are prepared to furnish them at prices to correspond with the market.

CHEAPER THAN EVER!!

We will sell Nails by the Ton or single Pound.

DOORS,

SASHES,

BLINDS,

WINDOW GLASS,

SHEET LEAD,

FRAMING PINS,

WINDOW FRAMES,

DOOR BELLS,

SCREWS,

Etc., &c.

MORTICE LOCKS,—in a great variety.

ALSO—Pins, Rims, Closet, Store and Sash

Locks;

MORTICE, THUMB and PEOPLE'S

LATCHES;

Porcelain, Glass, Mineral and Mahogany Knobs;

BLAKE'S BUTTS,

AND AXLE PULLEYS,

A good assortment of Hinges of all kinds.

Wrought, Fancy Plate,

STRAP, BLIND, AND T HINGES;

SHOVELS; DOOR SCRAPERS;

Bacon's Patent Lever Blind Fast—Crawell's

improved Blind Fast. Also—A great variety of Such Fastenings.

Foster's Patent Window Supporters,

The best things ever used in the place of weights;

DOOR BELLS HUNG TO ORDER.

DON'T FORGET

AT THE OLD STAND OF

BAILEY, CARVER & CO.,

SCHOOL STREET. if

Quincy, Jan. 23.

NATHANIEL WHITE,

HAS FOR SALE—

LUMBER,

Nails, Lime, Brick & Sand

—ALSO—

Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,

QUINCY CANAL WHARF.

July 10, 1852. if

SEASONED LUMBER,

Of all descriptions, at prices to suit the times.

DIMENSION FRAMES,

Furnished at short notice.

Best quality Lumber costed at 10c. on hand.

ALSO—Good Pine Wood at 5c. a cord.

For sale at BRACKETT'S WHARF,

Quincy, May 8. if

FISHER A. KINGSBURY,

Commissioner for the States of

MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VER-

MONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE

ISLAND and NEW YORK.

Weymouth, Mass.

Nov. 26. if

Pickles.

50 GALLONS of Pickles just received and

for sale cheap for cash.

GEO. L. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Feb 28. if

Pure Cider Vinegar.

800 GALLONS PURE CIDER VIN-

EGAR, made on the farm formerly owned by B. V. French, now in store and for sale by the barrel or smaller quantity, by

GEORGE L. BAXTER & CO.

Quincy, Aug. 13. if

Boot and Shoe Findings.

JUST received and for sale low, a lot of Boot

and Shoe Kit, Findings, &c., by

Quincy, Apr 18. if

H. VINAL.

Fresh Tamarinds,

FOR sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Oct. 16. if

Important to Housekeepers.

SOWERS & CO.'S

POLISH,

IS conceded by all who have used it, to be the BEST ARTICLE yet discovered for Cleaning and Polishing Furniture and Furniture of every description, in the shortest possible time.

Any lady or child can use it. It removes

OIL, GREASE, OR STAINS

of any kind, and will make any article of Furniture look as well as new. It is decidedly the best article in use for restoring Cane Leather,

Harnesses, Patent Leather Boots, &c. &c.

$3 per dozen, or 37 cents Single Bottle.

SOLD BY SOWERS & CO.

At his Upholstery Rooms,

265 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

Persons wishing Furniture Repaired or inlaid work executed, can have it done at their rooms, and addressing a line through the mail.

Boston, Jan. 22. if

C. C. JOHNSON,

Druggist and Apothecary,

GOODNOW'S BUILDING,

CORNER of Hancock and Granite streets,

keeps constantly on hand a large assortment

of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs,

Fancy Articles, Perfumery, Havana Cigars,

Foreign Fruits and Swedish Leeches.

Physicians' Prescriptions,

Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy

and dispatch, and warranted of the purest quality.

Quincy, Nov. 13. if

YOU HAD BETTER

TRY

My Mother's Salve.

THIS CELEBRATED

PREPARATION has

obtained an enviable

world-wide reputation for its great curative

properties, and has been the agent for relieving many suffering persons from

health and usefulness, that the proprietors

feel it a duty they owe to the public for their

generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,

to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all

afflicted may avail themselves of its healing

qualities.

"My Mother's Salve"

IS A PERFECT CHEMICAL COMPOUND, prepared

from ROOTS, HERBS and GEMS, gathered from

the forest, and possesses

HEALING, SOOTHING and PAIN-RELIEVING

VIRTUES

never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.

"My Mother's Salve"

IS SAFE and EFFECTUAL, and all those troubled with RHEUMATISM, GOUT, GRAVEL, ERY-

SIPPEL, GOUT, PILES, and such

like diseases, will find in its use great relief,

and in most cases a permanent cure.

"My Mother's Salve"

IS A BURN or SCALD, takes out the fire,

soothes the irritating pain, and heals the

wound more speedily and effectually than any

other preparation.

"My Mother's Salve"

IS WORTHY of confidence, and thousands having

used it and recommended it to their friends

is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS for Using

"My Mother's Salve"

Are simple. Every mother and nurse know

how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and all who use the Salve will apply it in propo-

riety, renewed at times, as good judgment

may direct. For Rheumatism and other

pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.

In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,

Sore Throat, and such like ailments, rub as

in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-

pared by A. M. BECK.

BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors.

No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.

For Sale in Quincy by Mrs. E. HAYDEN

Oct 30. if

Hall's Great

SCROFULAR REMEDY.

THIS Purely Vegetable Preparation, is pleasant

and agreeable to the taste, and simple in its

action, causing neither vomiting or purging. It

acts directly upon the primary cause of disease,

regulates the bowels, removes all vitiated secretions, gives a healthy action to the Liver, and corrects the tone to the Stomach. It overcomes that feeling of Lassitude which is often experienced in the Spring and Summer, and removes and restores the vital energy and Physical Strength.

In thousands of cases of Scrofula and Scrofulous Humors, such as Salt Rheum, Erysipelas,

Scald Head, Tumors, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Asthma,

Coughs, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Fever,

Sore, White Swelling, Dropsy, Etc., it has been tried and found to be the most gratifying and successful remedy for all diseases which manifest themselves by Eczema or Eruptions on the Skin, it has been used with the most gratifying results, after every other known remedy has been tried and failed to afford relief.

It is also an effective cure for Liver Complaint,

Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Costiveness and Derange-

ment of the Urinary Organs.

It is an infallible remedy for all irregularities and

other diseases peculiar to FEMALES, such as

Weakness and Pain in the Back, Strangury, Af-

fections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart,

Dizziness and Headache.

It can be given with perfect safety and most desirable results in all cases, to any person from

infancy to old age.

Made and sold by WM. SMITH HALL, Sole

Proprietor, Quincy, Mass., to whom all orders

must be addressed. Sold also by Redding & Co.,

No. 8 State Street; Geo. C. Goodnow, No. 99

Union Street, Boston, and all Druggists and Medicine Dealers throughout the United States.

Mrs. E. HAYDEN, AGENT.

Quincy, Dec. 13. if

BURN'S & Co.

MES' Lotion for Itch, scabs, cuts, bruises,

toothache, chilblains, &c. &c.

For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Sept 18. if

Insurance against Fire.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSUR-

ANCE COMPANY of Massachusetts, in-

sures Real and Personal Property against the hazard of Fire, for five years or less, on favorable

terms.

Farmers, Mechanics, Householders, Traders,

Merchants, and all Owners of Property not extra

hazardous, are solicited to patronize this Company; every effort will be made to accommodate

customers.

Letters, by mail or otherwise, from persons residing at a distance, relating to Fire Insurance,

will be promptly attended to.

PRESIDENT,

WILLIAM S. MORTON,

TREASURER,

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,

SECRETARY,

STEPHEN BATES,

DIRECTORS,

Quincy, Milton,

William S. Morton, Charles Brock,

Israel W. Munroe, Dorchester,

deep. Many houses of one story were buried, and in numerous cases paths were dug from house to house under the snow-drifts! The visits were made by means of snow shoes, the wearers having first stepped out of their chamber windows. One gentleman wishing to visit his "lady love," walked three miles with snow shoes, and entered her residence as he left his own, namely, by the chamber window. He was cordially received, as he was the first person the family had seen from abroad for a week! Cotton Mother has left a manuscript account of "this great snow," and the many marvels and prodigies attending it.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, March 12th, 1859.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

Annual March Meeting.

The following vote for town officers was cast at the annual March meeting in this town last Monday, George Marsh, Esq. being Moderator:

Town Clerk.
Franklin Curtis (elected).	302
John Chamberlain.	153
John O. Holden.	117
Scattering.	3
Town Treasurer.
Wyman Abercrombie (elected).	324
Benjamin Curtis.	153
Stephen Morse, Jr.	48
Charles A. Cummings.	1
Selectmen and Assessors.
Daniel Baxter (elected).	538
Ebenezer Adams.	378
Edmund Pope.	231
John J. Glover.	163
Thompson Baxter.	151
Henry P. Doble.	191
Scattering.	9
School Committee, for Three Years.
Daniel H. Bils (elected).	2-4
Edmund Pope.	348
William S. Patten.	208
James M. Glover.	162
Scattering.	20
Two Years.
John Q. Adams (elected).	189
William B. Duggan.	166
Thompson Baxter.	142
Scattering.	20
One Year.
John Q. Adams (elected).	326
George Marsh.	217
Scattering.	5
Constables.
W. M. French (elected).	547
Edward A. Spear.	386
Charles N. Hunt.	381
Claus H. Kimball.	287
A. S. Sawtell.	345
Reuben Ricker.	220
Albert Hayden.	246
Alonzo G. Davis.	150
Gershon Clements.	149
Isaac H. Wiley.	144
George Savil.	135
Luke Rideout.	139
Richard Newcomb.	155
Frederick A. Trask.	145
Daniel Lane.	137
Joseph T. French.	83
Frederick A. Lapham.	39
Warren J. Vinal.	45
Leonard L. Perry.	12
Joseph W. Lombard.	12
Scattering.	36

Owing to the unusual number of advertisements and communications this week, we are compelled to defer the insertion of the remainder of the proceedings of the March meeting until next week.

TOWN OFFICERS OF BRAintree. At the annual March meeting, last Monday, the following gentlemen were elected municipal officers:

Town Clerk.—Noah Torrey.
Town Treasurer.—Jonathan French.
Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor.—David H. Bates, N. H. Hunt, and Phillips Curtis.
School Committee.—Noah Torrey.
Constables.—Benjamin Ryan, William V. Wallace and J. R. Fraiser.

GRAND BALL. "The Daughters of Malta" will give a grand Charity Ball at Union Hall, Boston, on Monday evening, March 21st.—Music by Baldwin & Richardson's Full Band. Tickets, admitting a gentleman and ladies, one dollar. This ball will be conducted in part according to the rules of this mystic order, and much interest is felt by the public to partake in the festivities. Tickets should be forthwith secured, as there will be a great rush of the "Sons of Malta."

ELEGANT CARPETS AT LOW PRICES. Purchasers should notice the advertisement of the New England Carpet Company, of Boston, in to-day's paper.

There is said to be a woman in Pittsburgh, Penn., who takes children in to wash.

For salt rheum, piles, boils, sores, cuts, sore lips, hopped chands, use "My Mother's Salve." This well known remedy scarce ever fails. See advertisement.

Boston Correspondence.

Boston, March 10, 1859.

European War signs—Washington matters: Extra Session—Hon. C. F. Adams—Legislature—Hubbub about Boston Post-office—Revival of business.

Since my last, two weeks ago, what events have arrested the public ear. If we turn our eyes to Europe, we shall see warlike preparations, in which France is destined to act a conspicuous part. The Emperor Louis Napoleon is losing caste, and may ere long lose his imperial crown, and perhaps his head. The political affairs of Europe are in such confusion, that the next news may be war. While the United States pursues a neutral position with all European powers, hostilities among them will give incalculable advantage to us in a commercial view.

The details of the Sickles tragedy at Washington continue to be read with a greedy avidity by most classes. It was a startling affair, showing some of fashionable life at Washington. A judicial examination will lead to more developments, and have a tendency to set public opinion right on this drama. The grand jury, on ex parte evidence, may find a bill against Sickles, but no twelve jurors in the District of Columbia will ever be found to convict him. His trial is soon to take place, and will be read with great interest.

There is a probability that the President will convene the new Congress during the coming summer; as the Appropriation bill failed between the two Houses, evidently in two distinct parts—the three million eight hundred thousand dollars, to supply the deficiencies of the current fiscal year—that is, the debts now due over the current expenses; and secondly, the appropriation for the next fiscal year, commencing June 30. This leaves the General Government in a bad fix, and may, notwithstanding the issue of twenty million treasury notes and receipts from the revenue, inevitably lead to an extra session.

Your distinguished townsman Hon. Charles P. Adams, will take his seat in the new Congress. Elected to that office from your district, by over one thousand majority, the mantle of his illustrious father is worthy of him. I predict for Mr. Adams a high reputation in our National Legislature. He stands well as a scholar, and is thoroughly read in the civil and political history of our country—few men more so. He possesses largely by education and experience, the qualities of a statesman; and in all his public acts, the American people will find him on the side of the Constitution, which is the side of the Union.

Our State Legislature will probably adjourn about the first of April. We shall be better able to allude to their labors, when we see the statutes. Many bills of importance get nearly through their stages, and then become tabled, or are lost by indefinite postponement. The Constitutional amendments are settled, and will go to the people. Strong opposition will be made to that requiring two years residence by naturalized citizens before they can vote, and its ratification is doubtful. In the large cities it will find more opposition than the rural districts, and will form quite an element for action at the polls. The reform Judiciary bill will be likely to pass, as a favorite measure of the Executive.

Mr. Morton, of Quincy, is a very active and influential member of the House. He is on the committees one of the working order, and on many questions has taken a part in the debates—if not with long speeches, he has always spoken to the point, and produced a favorable impression with his co-speakers. He has established for himself a good reputation in liberal measures, and fidelity to his constituents.

The most exciting local matters of the past week in Boston, has been the removal of the Post-office, by Mr. Copen, from State street to Summer street, as his opponents say, contrary to law or the orders of the powers at Washington. It is the absorbing topic in all circles, which has been kept up by a great indignation meeting of the merchants. Nothing else is talked of. So far, the evidence in the case is unfavorable to the postmaster, and the storm against him is not confined to political party. The charges against him for speculations out of Uncle Sam, and for a total disregard of public sentiment in the removal of the post-office from the centre of commercial business to the south end of the city, are of a serious character. At the present moment he is extremely unpopular, and unless he makes his case good, there always being two sides to a question, he bids fair to meet with political decapitation.

It can be said with great confidence, that business is reviving daily here, with good prospects of activity through the season. x

FRESH GOODS. Caleb Packard has just received a new and fresh supply of Dress Goods. Give him a call.

CLAM CHOWDER. At the usual time, to-day and evening, Yankee Seth, at Shaw's Saloon, will have this luxury ready for patrons.

The Inspectors of the Rhode Island State Prison report that not less than five hundred and seventy-nine persons had been imprisoned for debt in that State during the past year.

For the Patriot.

The North District Roads.

"Our correspondent should be aware of the fact, that the repairs on the Neponset Turnpike have been a matter of dispute for several years, who should make them, and until that question is legally settled, the town will not move in the matter."

There, Mr. Editor, is the note appended to my remarks last week on the above subject, and I mean to make it my text for this continuation of them.

In the first place, then, let me state that I have taken some pains to inform myself in reference to the relations which have existed between the Turnpike Corporation and the Town in regard to the repairs of said Turnpike. But I am not aware that any dispute has arisen between them; and it is utterly beyond my comprehension to understand why the town should not move in the matter."

The story, "that a dispute exists," has been repeatedly palmed upon the public, as a reason for the Selectmen's neglect of this important highway; but let me inform you, sir, that such a statement is totally without foundation. The only wisdom the Selectmen have shown in the matter, is in avoiding a dispute with the corporation, knowing, as they evidently did, that they, "the town," had no case against the corporation. "Tis true! The Selectmen once or twice called upon one of the principal owners in the corporation—who happens to be a considerable proprietor also in this town—and represented the necessity of repairs on the turnpike. They were told, however, that the corporation had nothing to do with it, and were not responsible for its repair. What then did the Selectmen do? Why, went home, like whipped spaniels, and did—nothing at all! Yes they did, though; they told you, sir, and doubtless many others, that a dispute had arisen between the town and the corporation—and it seems that many have believed it.

The truth of the matter is just this. Those who have controlled the affairs of the town have, hitherto, ignored the North District, foolishly thinking that the reb-y they benefited the other districts. They have made the corporation a bugbear and a pretext for not only neglecting the turnpike, but every other interest in the district. The corporation is managed with too much wisdom to run such risks as the town has done, by rendering themselves liable for such a dangerous highway.

Why, sir, should the town do nothing? This is a startling statement. If they don't, who ought to move? The County? The citizens of Dorchester, Dedham, Roxbury, and so forth? Pray, who is to take the initiative? Does any one need to be told that the authority and duty of the town overshadows the control of the corporation, even if the latter were liable by their charter for its repairs. What, let me ask, are the Selectmen's duties, to assess and collect taxes only? Verily, that is all their duty in the North District, as they think—but are think a little differently; and a question will probably be brought before the courts the present year, that will show that they have other duties to perform in this district than the assessment of taxes merely, and that the Selectmen for several years past have neglected to perform them.

The town of Quincy has, for years past, been the victim of two voracious and greedy corporations, and it has yielded itself up to a willing sacrifice to their unsatisfied avarice. They control the principal highways to and through it. They hold the key of the main arteries, and they have said, "Now let sectional prejudice puncture the veins, and we will suck all the blood. No matter about the prosperity of the good old town as long as our purses are being filled; and these grasping monopolies have fed and fattened on the sectionalism which alone enables them to do it. Do you think the Old Colony Corporation for their promises to reduce their fares? I don't. Depend upon it, they will do no such thing until they are compelled by a fear which troubles their conscience terribly, and that fear will become a fact before they will be either generous or just to the citizens of Quincy. Do you think the Turnpike Corporation for selling out their Bridge for double its value? But they only sold it in hopes it would be made free—and why?—aye! there's the rub. The chief proprietors of the bridge were all a proprietors of large tracts of land lying on this side of it, and they found the time had come when they could profit more by making it free, but they did not do that! They sold the bridge for ten thousand dollars, and doubtless expect the public to praise such unbounded generosity. Parbleu! But they deserve it. Let me entreat the citizens of Quincy to look these matters square in the face—arouse themselves for action. They have slept long enough under these incumbrances; for, with advantages superior to most towns round Boston, it is immeasurably behind them in wealth, prosperity, and active progress. In fact, it might have as well been snowed for, for the last fifty years, with Rip Van Winkle in Sleepy Hollow.

* The Corporation had, doubtless, other reasons for selling the Bridge, which I shall endeavor to show next week.

Postmaster-General A. V. Brown died in Washington City this week.

For the Patriot.

Reply to "Pro Aris"—No. 3

MR. EDITOR:—I have no desire to exterminate the believers in Hygeo Therapeutics, as your correspondent supposes; but on the contrary, I hope that true Hygienic knowledge will be disseminated among the people, and I believe the time is not far distant when this kind of practical knowledge will engage due attention. Of late, some very able minds are awakening to a true sense of its importance; and it is proved, beyond a doubt, that the average of human life can be lengthened by the diffusion of such knowledge.

In looking around upon the world, how few do we behold who can boast of unexceptional physical conformation—how few who have not some imperfection which might have been avoided by an early and proper attention to physical culture!

But how shall bodily perfection be attained? By the universal employment of those exercises which shall systematically develop and strengthen every part of the body. Let us abolish "infant schools" for the education of infant intellects, and establish in their place infant gymnasia for the culture of their infant bodies. Let us see no more intellectual "infant prodigies," with their pale, sickly faces, and their feeble and half-developed forms, but show us in their stead physical prodigies, with their rosy cheeks, their plump, firm, and well-grown muscles, and with elasticity and buoyancy, reminding us constantly of perfect health.

In all discussions, facts are of more importance than mere assertions; and the statistics of Homoeopathic practice certainly entitle this system to the attention of mankind. More than half a century has passed away since its first promulgation, and each succeeding year more fully demonstrates that it is a true reform. It has passed through the first stage of opposition from the profession—that of ridicule. It is now far advanced in the second stage—that of abuse. And ere long it will enter the third and last stage—that of general adoption. The greatest discoveries in medicine have always been subjected to this ordeal.

The well known fact, that much less medicine is now given than was formerly deemed essential to effect a cure, is, in a great measure, owing to the success of the Homoeopathic; and even at the present time, on all sides do we see the wretched victims of over-dosing with quinine, mercury, morphia, colicium, nitrate of silver, &c.; but no such disastrous effects are ever observed to follow the administration of Homoeopathic doses.

The reports of the great Homoeopathic Hospital of Vienna, show that from 1835 to 1856, there were 17,313 cases treated, with 1067 deaths, which is six per cent. These compare most favorably with any hospital reports ever published, and their accuracy cannot be questioned. As the hospital is under strict governmental supervision, and is constantly visited by Allopathic physicians. Of the 1067 deaths, 466 were of altogether incurable diseases; among the remainder there were—Inflammation of lungs, 108 cases with 48 deaths; Typhus fever, 3165 cases with 368 deaths; showing that many of the cases were of the most severe and dangerous diseases.

The number of cases treated at the Massachusetts General Hospital, from 1835 to 1855, was 11,610, with 1122 deaths, which is nearly 10 per cent.

In many of our States Homoeopathy has been sanctioned and encouraged by special legislative enactments, and the Homoeopathic societies are granted all the powers and privileges enjoyed by the Allopathic societies.

Homoeopathy invites the severest tests of criticism and investigation, which will only hasten its success, as it is founded on the indestructible basis of truth. DR. BARNETT.

For the Patriot.

"Reunion"

MR. EDITOR:—We notice an article in your paper of last week in relation to the Orthodox Church. We are not aware that any "reunion" or "reconciliation" has been effected between the parties. We learn that Mr. Clark's claim on the Society for salary has been settled, by the payment of nine hundred dollars, a much larger sum, than would have been necessary to settle the same one year ago. This does not, to our knowledge, affect church matters in the least; and we believe the division was never greater, and never appeared more likely to be permanent than at present.

TOWN HALL.

Special Notices.

SP. RITUALISTS MEETING.
 Services usual hours, forenoon and afternoon
 In Johnson's (Majiposa) Hall.
 Miss Magnus will speak to-morrow forenoon and afternoon.
 Quincy, March 12. 1w

Gent's fine calf boots; ladies' cloth and leather boots, in all varieties; men's and boys' heavy brogans; in fact, a complete assortment of boots and shoes can be found at C. Gill & Co's. Their endeavors to suit their customers are unwearied. Let our community sustain them in this department of trade, and their stock and endeavors to give satisfaction in every respect, will be found fully equal to the demands made upon them.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 26th ult., Mr. John Gomon, aged 25 years.
 On the 28th ult., Mr. Owen Shavlin, aged 52 years.
 On the 6th inst., Louisa Frances, eldest daughter of Mr. Abel and Mrs. Mary Jane Baxter, at the Furniture of said house, consisting of the following articles, viz:
 Sola, Tables, Chairs, Bureaus, Carpets, Stoves, Book Cases, Desk, Bedsteads, Mattress, Crockery and Glass Ware, Apples, Buffalo Robe, Silver-plated Harness, Riding Saddle, Farming Tools, Fowls, &c. &c.
 If very stormy the sale will be the first fair day.

Auction.

WILL be sold at Public Auction, on THURSDAY, March 17th, at 1 o'clock P. M., at the house of the Rev. Mr. Rice, on Adams street near the residence of Mr. James Baxter, at the Furniture of said house, consisting of the following articles, viz:
 Sola, Tables, Chairs, Bureaus, Carpets, Stoves, Book Cases, Desk, Bedsteads, Mattress, Crockery and Glass Ware, Apples, Buffalo Robe, Silver-plated Harness, Riding Saddle, Farming Tools, Fowls, &c. &c.
 If very stormy the sale will be the first fair day.

THOMPSON BAXTER, Auct.
 Quincy, March 12. 1w

20 COWS, &c.

WILL be sold at Public Auction, on MONDAY, March 21st, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, at the barn formerly owned by George W. Heals, and improved by John J. Carr, the following articles, viz:
 2 Cows, 1 Horse, 1 Yoke of Oxen, 2 Hogs, 1 Light Wagon, 1 Hay Wagon, 1 Grain Wagon, an Ox-cart, Lot of Manure, and many articles too numerous to mention.
 J. T. FRENCH, Auct.
 Quincy, March 12. 2w

SHOOP

WILL be sold at Public Auction, on MONDAY, March 21st, at 2 o'clock P. M., at the Ship Yard of Peleg F. Jones, Quincy Point, THE SLOOP CANON, In Perfect Order with New Sails.
 EBEN ADAMS, Auct.
 Quincy, March 12. 2w

To Let.

THE Room recently occupied by C. E. Hall, No. 10, Hancock street, is for rent under the same.
 For particulars apply to JOHN W. HALL.
 Quincy, March 12. 1w

For Sale at a Bargain!

A GOOD Dwelling House, covered with Welsh Slates, having Twelve Rooms well finished, including a Bath Room, Stable containing 4 stalls and other conveniences, with about 3 Acres of Land, having some trees and grape vines situated at Quincy Point. A portion of the money can remain on Mortgage.
 Apply to GERSHON CLEMENTS
 Quincy, March 12. 3w

To Let.

A LARGE ROOM on the lower floor of the Town House, occupied by the Rev. Luther Rice, Apply at the Post Office.
 GEORGE BAXTER.
 Quincy, March 12. 1w

To Let.

HOUSE on Adams Street, now occupied by Rev. Luther Rice, Possession given the first of April.
 Apply to JOSEPH W. ROBERTSON.
 Quincy, March 12. 1w

For Sale or to Let.

THE Bramhall Place at Quincy Point, consisting of a large Two story House, Stable, Carriage House, 7 Acres of Land, and a Wharf made for coal or lumber.
 Apply to JOSEPH W. ROBERTSON, or HORACE J. FOSTER.
 Quincy, March 12. 1w

Administratrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of

BENJAMIN CUSHING,

late of Braintree, in the County of Norfolk, Massachusetts, deceased, and has accepted said estate, and all persons indebted thereto are required to make payment to LOUISA ANN CUSHING, Adm'x.

 Braintree, March 12th, 1859. 3w

Administratrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of

DANIEL HOBART,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Trader, deceased, and has accepted said estate, and all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to LUNDA W. HOBART, Adm'x.

 Quincy, March 12th, 1859. 3w

Guardian's Sale

REAL ESTATE.

THE subscriber, Guardian of Chester D. Pratt, Hannah L. Pratt, Elizabeth W. Pratt, and Charles H. Pratt, minors, by virtue of a decree of the Probate Court, for the County of Norfolk, will sell at Public Auction, at the house of Gilman Burrell, in Weymouth, in said County on FRIDAY, April 1st, 1859, at one o'clock P. M., all the interest of said minors in and to the following Real Estate, situated in the south part of said Weymouth, their interest being Four-sevenths of One-ninth part, viz:

The Homestead of the late Samuel Burrell, deceased, containing about Fifty Acres with a Dwelling House and other buildings thereon. Also—Three Wood Lots, containing in all about Twenty Acres.
 Terms made known at the time and place of sale.
 GEORGE W. PRATT, Guardian
 Weymouth, March 12th, 1859. 3w

To Let.

ONE-HALF of a HOUSE within one minute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
 ELI HAYDEN.
 South Quincy, March 12. 1w

Boot and Shoe Findings!

KNIVES, NAILS, PEGS, BRISTLES, THREAD, AWLS, KITFILES, RASPS, BUFFERS, TACKS, &c.
 A good Assortment—low for Cash.
 J. FRANKLIN BURRELL.
 Quincy, March 12. 1w

Wanted.

A SMART Active Man and Wife to take charge of the Almshouse and do the customary work of the Roads in Quincy. One who has been used to Farming and Teaming, would be preferred. Please to apply to either of the subscribers on or before the 22d inst.

DANIEL BAXTER, } Selectmen
 EBEN ADAMS, } of Quincy.
 Quincy, March 12. 2w

NORFOLK

Agricultural Society.
 THE annual meeting of the members of the Norfolk Agricultural Society, for the choice of officers and the transaction of any other business that may legally come before said meeting, will be held at the Phoenix House, in Dedham, on WEDNESDAY, March 30th, at 10 o'clock, in the forenoon.
 HENRY O. HILER, TH. Recording Secretary.
 Dedham, March 12th, 1859. 3w

FRANCIS P. LOUD

WOULD inform the public that he has removed from his old stand on Temple street to JOHNSON'S BUILDING, Next door to B. F. Meservey's, and entered into copartnership with Warren Veszie, under the firm of

LOUD & VEAZIE.

It gives the New Firm pleasure to announce to the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that they have made a large addition to the stock of the senior member, and will keep constantly on hand

A FULL ASSORTMENT

WORSTED FOR EMBROIDERY.

Patterns of all kinds, and a General Assortment of Fancy Articles.

Children's Clothing, Shirts, Straw Bosoms, Faney Cravats, Collars, Head Dresses, Pocket Handkerchiefs, Tape Trimmings, Buttons, Sewing Silk, Embroidery Silk, Spool Cotton, Needles, Nails, Dress Trimmings, Corsets, Edgings, Perfumery, &c. &c.

Also a large assortment of CONFECTIONARY, NUTS, &c.
 N. B. Stitching done to Order.
 Quincy, March 12. 1w

Cheap! A Good Chance.

J. B. BURRELL has a few pairs of those boots, which he will sell for $4.00. A new one, small size of another lot, the former price $1.50, which he will sell for $1.50. Men's Congress Boots—Old Price $2.00—$1.50. Ladies' Misses' and Children's Boots and Shoes for sale and warranted.
 Next Door to Quincy Market House.
 Quincy, March 12. 1w

Parish Meeting

NORFOLK, SS. To William F. Whitney, Clerk of the First Congregational Society of Quincy, GREETING.
 IN the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, you are hereby required to notify and warn the Members of the above-named Society, qualified by vote in Parish Affairs, to meet at the Lyceum Room, in said Quincy, on FRIDAY, the 14th day of March inst., at Three o'clock P. M., to act on the following articles, viz:

ART. 1.—To hear and act on the Report of the Parish Committee in regard to Membership, and also to Pews exempt from Taxation, and mode of Taxing Pews.
 ART. 2.—To choose a Moderator.
 ART. 3.—To choose all such Parish Officers as the law requires.
 ART. 4.—To hear and act on the Report of the Parish Committee on the Treasurer's Account.
 ART. 5.—To determine how much money to raise for the fiscal year, and how it shall be apportioned.
 ART. 6.—To determine in what mode to raise money for Parishal purposes.
 ART. 7.—To choose a Committee to ask the pew-owners their consent to taxing the pews (except such as are exempt from taxation) for the support of the worship.
 ART. 8.—To determine what amount shall be raised by tax on pews.
 ART. 9.—To choose a Committee to appraise and assess taxes on pews.
 ART. 10.—To see to it that the Parish Treasurer to borrow money, in amount not exceeding fifteen hundred dollars.
 ART. 11.—To consider and adopt some measure for paying the Parish Debt.
 ART. 12.—To determine what compensation to allow the Clerk and Treasurer for the services the last year.
 ART. 13.—To choose a Committee to examine the By Laws, and report at some future meeting such changes and amendments in the same as they may deem necessary and proper.
 ART. 14.—To choose any Committee, or hear and act on the Report of any Committee.

Hereof full and true return of this Warrent with our doing thereon, to the undersigned on or before the time prescribed for said Meeting.
 Given under our hands this fourth day of March, in the year eighteen hundred and fifty-nine.

ADAM CURTIS, } Parish
 GEORGE WHITE, } Committee.
 ELISHA TURNER, }
 A True Copy—Attest,
 WILLIAM F. WHITNEY, } Parish Clerk.

Quincy, March 12th, 1859.

NORFOLK, SS. Quincy, March 4th, 1

Poetry.

To-Day and To-Morrow.

High hopes that burned like stars sublime,
Go down the heavens of Freedom;
And true hearts perish in the time
We better heed need them.
But never sit we down, and say
There's nothing left but sorrow;
We walk the wilderness to-day,
The promised land to-morrow.

Our birds of song are silent now,
There are no flowers blooming;
Yet life beats in the frozen bough,
And Freedom's spring is coming!
And Freedom's tide comes up always,
Though we may stand in sorrow;
And our good brave, aground to-day,
Shall float again to-morrow.

Through all the long, dark night of years,
The people's cry ascendeth,
And earth is wet with blood and tears;
But our meek suffering endeth!
The few shall not forever away—
The many toil in sorrow—
The powers of earth are strong to-day,
But heaven shall rule to-morrow.

Though hearts brood o'er the past, our eyes
With smiling features glisten;
For lo! our day bursts up the skies;
Lean out your souls and listen!
The world rolls Freedom's glorious way,
And ripens with her sorrow,
Keep heart—who bears the cross to-day,
Shall wear the crown to-morrow.

O, Youth! flame earnest, still aspire,
With energies immortal;
To many a heaven of desire
Our yearning opens a portal!
And though age wears by the way,
And hearts break in the furrow,
We'll sow the golden grain to-day,
And harvest comes to-morrow.

Build up heroic lives, and all
Be like a sheathed sword,
Ready to flash out at God's call,
O, chivalry of labor!
Triumph and toil are twins; and aye
Joy runs the cloud of sorrow;
And 'tis the martyrdom to-day Brings victory to-morrow.

Be Careful of Your Money.

When life is full of health and glee,
Work, work, as busy as a bee!
And take this gentle hint from me—
Be careful of your money!

You'll find it true, that friends are few
When you are short of money!
The single grain cost in the mould,
May spring and give a hundred fold;
More precious than the weight in gold!
Be careful of your money!

The grain you sow to stocks may grow;
Be careful of your money!
But do not shut sweet Mercy's doors
When sorrow pleads or want implores;
To help the poor who seek your door,
Be careful of your money!

Would you escape the beggar's lot,
The death-bed of the tripping sot,
And live in sweet contentment's cot?
Be careful of your money!
And if you need a friend indeed,
Be careful of your money!

In the Night.

All day I list for voices
That do not come to me,
And vainly think I hear them
Along the evening sea;
They come not in the daytime,
But every night it seems
That I can hear them speaking low Around me, in my dreams.

All day I think of faces,
And through the open door
I look to see them enter,
As in the days of yore;
They come not in the daytime,
But every night it seems
As if I saw them smiling down Upon me, in my dreams.

All day my soul remembers,
While quick before my eyes
The forms that I have loved so
In other days are;
'Tis sorrow in the daytime,
But every night it seems
As if their souls were with me still,
And loved me, in my dreams.

Anecdotes.

A Frenchman, soliciting relief, said, very gravely, to his fair hearer:
"Mam'selle, I never beg, but I have a poor wife and several small family, that is growing very large, and noosing to make their bread out of, but de persionation on my prowl."

A country girl, coming from the field, was told by her cousin that she looked as fresh as a daisy kissed with dew.
Well it was not any fellow by that name, but it was Frank Guy that kissed me; I told him that every one in the town would find it out.

Father, said a wistful looking lass about the age of sixteen, I know something about grammar, but I can't decline matrimony, nor see the reason why myself and Johnny cannot be conjugated.

Well, how do you do to-day?
Indeed, I am very ill.
What is the matter?
I have a very painful sty.
O, that's all in your eye.

Some fellows, teasing a large and fat companion, remarked, that if all the flesh was grass, he must be a load of hay.
I suspect I am, he said, from the way the asses are nibbling at me.

Dad, did you always act so strange?
Why, Billy?
Because when Mann gets sick, you always have to fetch a baby here to squall round and make such a noise.

FASHIONABLE
Tailoring Establishment

J. W. LOMBARD,

HAS taken rooms over the store of E. Clapp, (formerly occupied by Mr. J. M. Beckford,) and wishes respectfully to inform his friends, and the public generally that he intends to carry on
THE TAILORING BUSINESS.
In all its branches, and hopes by punctuality and strict attention to business to merit a share of patronage.

Quincy, Apr 18
JOS. W. LOMBARD.

BUSINESS COATS, (Custom Made,) from 6 to $10.
Quincy, Oct. 31. T. DODDS.

Cut this out and keep it for Reference.

Great Chance to Save Money!!
BY HAVING YOUR CLOTHES MADE BY

C. A. COLLINS,

203 Washington Street,
Cor. Bromfield street, up stairs.

REASONS WHY. 1st. My rent is less than any Custom Tailor in Boston.
2. I buy my Goods for Cash, taking advantage of the market.
3. I sell my Goods for Cash only.
4. I make no bad debts for Customers to pay for.

5. I work for the interest of my Customers. Gentlemen can depend on having Garments which for style, fit, nice trimming, and faithful work, cannot be surpassed.
6. I pay particular attention to making Pants, being the most difficult of garments to fit nicely and at the same time be perfectly easy.

My Pants are cut by a system original with myself, and used by no other person. I warrant my Pants to retain their shape at the foot till worn out, and to fit handsome, and be easy in every particular.

Some of the Prices.
I sell a nice Frock or Dress Coat, from German Black or colored Broad Cloths, made to order, for from $15 to $25.
Black German Doe Pants, 5 to 8.
Side Band and other style Pants, 5 to 8.
Best quality Silk Vests, 4 to 5.
Cloth, Valencia and Plaid Vests, 2 to 5.
Business Coats, 9 to 13.
Spring and Fall Over-Coats, 10 to 15.
Winter Over-Coats, 12 to 20.

Where gentlemen furnishing their own Cloth, I make and trim it for them into Garments in the best styles, at less prices than any other Tailor in Boston.

Always on hand the newest and best goods of all the manufacturers of this and foreign countries.

CHESTER A. COLLINS,
203 Washington street, corner Bromfield street, (Up stairs.) - - - - - BOSTON.
Well known as the place to SAVE MONEY.
July 17.

To Boot and Shoe MANUFACTURERS.

WE wish to call your attention to the following Goods, which we are prepared to sell on the most favorable terms:
Black and Colored Dressing, finished especially. Black, Brown and Buff Cases, for Congress and other styles.
Black Brown and Buff Felings, of a snow shoe. Lastings, all wool. Italian do. Silk and Cotton Warp do.

Serge de Berry's Rubber Gasket Webs, of beautiful quality for Congress Shoes.
Boots and Congress Webs, from 4 in. to 14 in., new styles.
Gallons, black and colored, 2 and 3 in. widths. Shoe Ducks; Congress and Linon Canvas. Shoe Ribbons, Rosettes, and Sandal Web. Eyelets, Corded Shoe Laces, and Straps, all sizes and lins. Shoe Buttons of all descriptions.

Linen Machine Threads.
Of the well known XXX Golden Flag Stamp, of every description required in the manufacturing of Boots, Brogues, Shoes and Congress Work, from No. 15 to 100, from 2 to 10 cord, in Black, Drab, Grey, Orange, Yellow and W. Brown, in Hanks, Balls and Spools, for stitching, closing, stitching, binding, straps and counters, top stitching and under threads. Also Shoe Threads.
Machine Silk, all colors and sizes.

Sea Island Hank Cotton, Blacks, Colored, Unbleached and White.
Spool Threads and Sewing Cotton, of all descriptions.
Manufacturers of Clothing

Will find in our stock everything in Linen and Cotton Threads required in their work, and the quality much superior to any other in use.

BROWN, HIX & Co.,
No. 52 Milk street.
Quincy, June 19.

Youth and Manhood.

JUST Published, the 25th Thousand, and mailed in a sealed envelope, to any address, post paid, on receipt of three stamps.

A MEDICAL ESSAY ON THE PHYSICAL EXHAUSTION AND DECAY OF THE FRAME, CAUSED BY "SELF-ABUSE," INFECTION AND THE INJURIOUS CONSEQUENCES OF MERCURY. BY R. J. CULVERWELL, M.D., MEMBER OF THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS, &c.

Spermatorrhoea or Seminal Emissions; Genital and Nervous Debility; Impotency; Loss of Energy; Depression of Spirits; Faintness; Diseases of the Sexual Organs, and Impediments to Marriage, are promptly and effectually removed by the author's novel and most successful mode of treatment, by means of which the invalid can regain pristine health without having recourse to dangerous and expensive medicines.

(From the London Lancet.)
The best treatise ever written on a subject of vital importance to all, well worthy the author's exalted reputation.
Address the Publishers, J. C. KLINE & CO., 1st Avenue, Cor. 19th street: Post Box 4586, New York City.
Feb. 19.

Butter!
50 TUBS of Prime Dairy Butter in pack for sale at the lowest market price, by the tub, pound, for cash by DANIEL BAXTER & Co. Quincy, Dec. 20.

WOOD'S GLYCERINE LOTION.
FOR improving the complexion, and for the cure prevention of Chapped Hands, Tan, Freckles, Sunburn, Roughness of Skin, Eruptions, &c. For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN. Quincy Feb 6.

Insurance against Fire.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY of Massachusetts, insures Real and Personal Property against the hazard of Fire, for five years or less, on favorable terms.

Farmers, Mechanics, Household, Traders, Merchants, and all Owners of Property not extra hazardous, are solicited to patronize this Company; every effort will be made to accommodate customers.

Letters, by mail or otherwise, from persons residing at a distance, relating to Fire Insurance, will be promptly attended to.

PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM S. MORTON,
TREASURER,
ISRAEL W. MUNROE,
SECRETARY,
STEPHEN BATES,

DIRECTORS,
Quincy, Milton,
Israel W. Morton, Charles Breck,
Thomas C. Webb, Dorchester,
H. W. Blanchard, Cohasset, Whitcomb Porter, Solomon J. Beal,
Stephen Bates, William B. Duggan,
Thomas Curtis, Ebenezer Gay,
Boston, North Bridgewater,
Albert Thompson, Sumner A. Hayward,
Randolph, Barnstable,
Royal W. Turner, George Marston,
South Braintree,
Apollis Randall, Dedham,
Jonathan A. Cobb.

References, by permission:
HON. GEORGE T. BIGELOW, of Boston,
HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, Jr., of Boston,
HON. AMASA WALKER, of North Brookfield,
HON. JAMES MAQUIER, of Randolph,
HON. SOLOMON LINCOLN, of Hingham,
HON. CHARLES F. ADAMS, of Quincy, JOSIAH BRIGHAM, Esq.,

OFFICE:
Washington Square, Quincy, near Stone Temple
April 1.

GEO. R. FRENCH,
Engraver and Plate Printer,
257 Washington, near Winter st. - Boston
Particular attention given to the Engraving and Printing of -

Invitation, Reception, Marriage, Ad-dress, and Visiting Cards.

A LONG and practical experience in this particular branch, warrants me in saying that persons about ordering Cards of any description, will study their interests by calling, or sending their orders as above, as he will furnish the most fashionable card produced, at prices as low or lower than any other establishment.

WEDDING STATIONERY, constantly on hand. Portraits, Views, Maps, Diplomas, Labels, Bill-Heads, Blank Checks, Notes, Drafts, Bills of Exchange, &c., &c., engraved or printed at short notice.

Door-Plates, Seals, and anything in the line, furnished to order and at equally low prices.

Orders by mail, express, or otherwise, promptly attended to.
Boston, Feb 20.

RICH'S PATENT IRON BEAM PLOW.

J. WADSWORTH JR
South Weymouth,

Is Agent for the County of Norfolk,
FOR THE SALE OF THIS PLOW,
WHO will visit the various parts of the County during the first of April. Plows delivered in any part of the County free of charge. Terms, cash on delivery.

Weights and Prices.
Old Dominion, 3 horse, 135 lbs. price, $13 50
C. No. 1, 2 horse, 125 " " 12 00
Washington, No. 2, 2 h 110 " " 11 00
D. Improved, 90 " " 9 00
E. Corn Plow, 1 horse 60 " " 5 00
F. Corn Plow, 1 horse 40 " " 4 00
Double Mould Board, 40 " " 4 75
Side Hill and Level Land 100 " " 10 00

Either of the Plows weighing 100 pound or upwards, with an extra point, 50 cents more; under 100 weight, 38 cents.
Weymouth April 3.

Burnett's Cocaine.

FOR preserving and beautifying the Hair, and rendering it dark and glossy. Thompson's Golden Lustrate. The German Toilet Balsam, and various other hair preparations, for sale by Quincy, June 26. MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Salt Pork.
FIRST rate article of Salt Pork packed by the subscribers for sale by the barrel or smaller quantities to suit purchasers, cheap for cash.
Quincy, Dec. 6. GEO. L. BAXTER & Co.

SALT PORK.
FIRST qualities of Salt Pork—raised in town and packed by the subscriber—which he will sell at the lowest market price.
Quincy, Jan. 10. H. VINAL.

Salt Pork.
POUNDS of good Salt Pork for sale at Boston prices by DANIEL BAXTER & Co. Quincy, Sept. 27.

Paper Hangings.
JUST received new styles of Paper Hangings and for sale cheap for cash.
Quincy, March 25. DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

New Store! New Goods!

B. F. MESERVEY,
HAVING returned to Quincy and taken the Store, one door north of David B. Steetson's Variety Store, in

JOHNSON'S BUILDING,
Will keep constantly on hand, a large stock of

Gold and Silver Watches,
Fob, Curb and Vest Chains,
LOCKETS,

Cameo, Gold Stone, Jet, Florentine, Painted, Coral and Mosaic Jewelry.
GOLD BRACELETS, BELT PINS,
Gents' Pins and Studs,
FINGER RINGS.

Together with a large assortment of
Silver and Plated Ware,
Clocks and Fancy Goods.

Having his Goods direct from the manufacturer, he will be enabled to sell them much less than the usual retail prices. He will also keep a

LARGER STOCK
than ever offered before in Quincy.
All Goods warranted as represented.
Old Gold and Silver taken in exchange.
Gilt Collar Plates Engraved, &c.
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired in a faithful manner, and done when PROMISED.
Quincy Oct 24.

QUINCY BOOKSTORE
- AND -
BOOK BINDERY.

Established in the Year 1838.

BOOKS, STATIONERY
- AND -
FANCY GOODS!

C. GILL & CO. have always on hand a large assortment of the above—being fully prepared to meet all the wants of this market.

BLANK BOOKS
of any particular pattern, made to order.
STATIONERY, IN GREAT VARIETY,
at the lowest prices.

Miscellaneous and Juvenile Books,
will be sold low.
ALL SCHOOL BOOKS,
used in this and neighboring towns,
at publishers' prices.

Book Binding.
ALL KINDS OF
MAGAZINES, PAMPHLETS,
SHEET MUSIC, &c.
bound in a neat and durable style.
"Small Profit" to ensure "Ready Sales."
Full equivalent for your money.

Twenty years' practice has proved these rules to be good ones, and we shall continue to be governed by them, in all branches of our business.

C. GILL & CO.
HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy, March 20.

GROCERIES, FLOUR,
- AND -
PROVISIONS!

THE Subscriber would respectfully invite the Inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity to call and examine his stock of Groceries, Flour and Provisions, where they will find a

Good assortment of all kinds of Goods kept commonly in a Grocery Store, which he will sell at the lowest wholesale prices.
A few more chests of Old Hyson Tea at 25 cents per pound.

50 Tubs of prime dairy Butter.
200 Bushels of Cleaned and Long Red Potatoes.
All those in want of Goods will find it for their interest to call and examine, as they will find a good assortment at the lowest prices.

A few more chests of Old Hyson Tea at 25 cents per pound.
H. VINAL,
at the Old Stand of Faxon & Brothers.
Quincy, Oct. 27.

National Police Gazette.

THIS Great Journal of Crime and Criminals is in its Twelfth Year, and is widely circulated throughout the country. It contains all the Great Trials, Criminal Cases, and appropriate Editorials on the same, together with information on Criminal Matters, not to be found in any other newspaper.

Subscriptions, $2 per annum; $1 for six months, to be remitted by subscribers, (who should write the name and the town, county and state where they reside plainly.)
GEO. W. MATSELL & Co.,
Editors & Proprietors of the
National Police Gazette.
New York City, Apr 25.

The Atlantic Cable.

HAS been successfully laid, and Foreign Goods of the latest styles are received every week, and sold on the most reasonable terms by ELBRIDGE CLAPP, Hancock st.
Quincy, Aug. 21.

Boots and Shoes.
ELBRIDGE CLAPP has just received a full assortment of Boots and Shoes, suitable for the season, which he will sell at the VERY LOWEST PRICES.
Give him a call soon.

A lot of Boots and Shoes slightly shop worn are offered very cheap.
Quincy, July 31.

WHITE HANDS!
PERSIAN BATH
MEDICATED
SOAP.

For the Toilet, Bath, Nursery, Shaving, and for Cleaning the Teeth.

THIS superior Soap will make the HANDS white and soft, and is a certain remedy for CHAPPED HANDS, SORE EYES, CHAFING, and all medicinal purposes where a Healing and Emollient effect is desired.

WM. SMITH HALL,
Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass.
C. DYER, Jr., General Travelling Agent
Price—25 cents per cake.
Sold by
Quincy Aug 22 MRS. E. HAYDEN.

C. C. JOHNSON,
Druggist and Apothecary,

GOODNOW'S BUILDING,
CORNER of Hancock and Granite streets, keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, Fancy Articles, Perfumery, Havana Cigars, Foreign Fruits and Swedish Liqueurs.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy and despatch; and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Important to Housekeepers.

SOMERS & CO.'S POLISH,

IS conceded by all who have used it, to be the BEST ARTICLE yet discovered for Cleaning and Polishing Pianos and Furniture of every description, in the shortest possible time. Any lady or child can use it. It removes

OIL, GREASE, OR STAINS
of any kind, and will make any article of Furniture look as well as new. It is decidedly the best article in use for restoring Carriage Leather, Harnesses, Patent Leather Boots, &c., &c.
$3 per dozen, or 37 cents Single Bottle.
SOLD BY SOMERS & CO.
At his Upholstery Rooms,

265 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.
Persons wishing Furniture Repaired or custom work executed, can have it done at their house, by addressing a line through the mail.
Boston, Jan. 22.

YOU HAD BETTER TRY
My Mother's Salve.

THIS CELEBRATED PREPARATION has obtained an enviable and world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to health and usefulness, that the proprietors feel it a duty they owe to the public for their generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve, to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all afflicted may avail themselves of its healing qualities.

"My Mother's Salve"
IS A PERFECT CHEMICAL COMPOUND, prepared from ROOTS, HERBS and GUMS, gathered from the forest, and possesses

HEALING, SOOTHING and PAIN-RELIEVING VIRTUES
never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.

"My Mother's Salve"
IS SAFE and EFFECTUAL, and all those troubled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM, ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such like diseases, will find in its use great relief, and in most cases a permanent cure.

"My Mother's Salve"
In a BURN or SCALD, takes out the fire, soothes the irritating pain, and heals the wound more speedily and effectually than any other preparation.

"My Mother's Salve"
Is worthy of confidence, and thousands having used it and recommended it to their friends is a test of its worth. DIRECTORS for USING

"My Mother's Salve"
Are simple. Every mother and nurse know how to spread it on a plaster and a sore, and all who use the Salve will apply it in proportion, renewed at times, as good judgment may direct. For Rheumatism and other pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve. In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs, Sore Throat, and such like ailments, rub as in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Prepared by A. M. BECK.

BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors.
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.
For Sale in Quincy by MRS. E. HAYDEN
Oct 30.

Hall's Great
SCROFULAR REMEDY.

THIS Purely Vegetable Preparation is pleasant to the taste, and simple in its action, causing neither vomiting or purging. It acts directly upon the primary cause of disease—regulates the Bowels, removes all vitiated secretions, giving a healthy action to the Liver and exerting a tonic upon the Stomach. It overcomes that feeling of Languor which is often experienced in the Spring and Summer, and renews and restores the vital energy and Physical Strength.

In thousands of cases of Scrofula and Scrofulous Humors, such as Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Strid Head, Tumors, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Fever, Sore, White Swelling, Dropsy, Boils, Barber's Itch, Piles, Old Sores, and all diseases which manifest themselves by Eruptions or Eruptions on the Skin, it has been used with the most gratifying success, after every other known remedy has been tried and failed to afford relief.

It is also an effectual cure for Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Costiveness and Derangement of the Urinary Organs.

It is an infallible remedy for irregularities and other diseases peculiar to FEMALES, such as Weakness and Pain in the Back, Strangury, Affections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart, Dizziness and Headache.

It can be given with perfect safety and most desirable results in all cases, to any person from infancy to old age.

Made and sold by WM. SMITH HALL, Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass., to whom all orders must be addressed. Sold also by Redding & Co., No. 8 State street; Geo. C. Goodwin, No. 99 Union street, Boston, and all Druggists and Medicine Dealers throughout the United States.

MRS. E. HAYDEN, AGENT.
Quincy, Dec. 13.

BURNS, &c.
A ME'S Lotion for burn, scalds, cuts, bruises, toothache, chilblains, &c., &c.
For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Sept 19.

ATTENTION.
The Largest and Most Complete

ASSORTMENT OF HARDWARE!

DOORS
BLINDS
SASHES, &c., &c.,

Ever offered to the people of Quincy, may be found by calling upon

Bailey, Carver & Co.

Having recently made large additions to our stock of BUILDING MATERIALS, we are prepared to furnish them at prices to correspond with the times.

CHEAPER THAN EVER!!
We will sell Nails by the Ton or single Pound, DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS, WINDOW GLASS, NAILS.

SHEET LEAD, FRAMING PINS, WINDOW FRAMES, DOOR BELLS, SCREWS, &c., &c.

MORTICE LOCKS,—in a great Variety. ALSO—Pail, Rim, Closet, Store and Sash Locks;

BLAKE'S BUTTS,
AND AXLE PULLEYS.
A good assortment of Hinges of all kinds. Wrought, Fancy Plate, STRAP, BLIND, AND T HINGES; SQUELS; DOOR SCRAPERS; Bacon's Patent Lever Blind Fast—Crown's improved Blind Fast. Also—A great variety of Sash Fastenings.

Foster's Patent Window Supporter,
The best thing ever used in the place of weights; DOOR BELLS HUNG TO ORDER.
DON'T FORGET

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

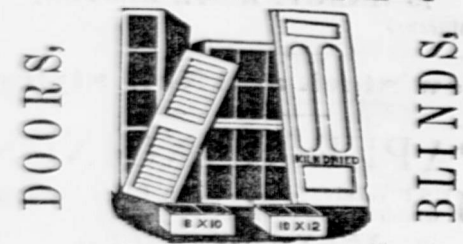

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XXIII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, MARCH 19th, 1859.

NUMBER XII.

ATTENTION.
The Largest and Most Complete ASSORTMENT OF
HARDWARE

SASHERS, & CO.
Ever offered to the people of Quincy, may be found by calling upon
Bailey, Carver & Co.

Having recently made large additions to our stock of
BUILDING MATERIALS,
we are prepared to furnish them at prices to correspond with the times
CHEAPER THAN EVER!!
We will sell Nails by the Ton or single Pound.
DOORS,
SASHES,
BLINDS, WINDOW GLASS,
NAILS,
SHEET LEAD,
FRAMING PINS,
WINDOW FRAMES,
DOOR BELLS, SCREWS,
&c., &c.

MORTICE LOCKS,—in a great Variety.
ALSO—Pad, Rim, Closet, Store and Sash

Locks;
MORTICE, THUMB AND PEOPLE'S
LATCHES;
Porcelain, Glass, Mineral and Mahogany Knobs;
BLAKE'S BUTTS,
AND AXLE PULLEYS,
A good assortment of Hinges of all kinds.
Wrought, Fancy Plate,
STRAP, BLIND, AND T HINGES;
SHUVELS; DOOR SCRAPERS;
Bacon's Patent Lever Blind Fast—Growth's
improved Blind Fast. Also—A great variety of Such Footings.

Foster's Patent Window Supporter,
The best things ever used in the place of weights;
DOOR BELLS HUNG TO ORDER.
DON'T FORGET
AT THE OLD STAND OF
BAILEY, CARVER & CO.,
SCHOOL STREET,
Quincy, Jan. 23.

GRANULAR FUEL.
Patented, June, 1852.

Manufactured from Brushwood and Twigs
For kindling Coal Fires
AND all purposes for which a quick hot fire is needed. It is intended

By its Cheapness and Cleanliness
TO SUPERSEDE CHARCOAL.

It is especially adapted for Summer Use, when a quick fire is wanted but a short time. As it can be used in all kinds of Stoves and being allowed to go out immediately after using, enables the consumer to practice Economy.
The extreme low price of this Fuel is also a great advantage, being but one-half the price of charcoal. It kindles quick, is clean and cheap,
and will be sold and delivered at the following low prices for each—
Under 25 bushels, 10 cents per bushel.
Over 25 " " 9 " "

Quincy, left at the Store of E. Clapp, Henry A.
Newcomb, Peter W. Newcomb, Quincy Point, on at Badger & Hanson's Machine Shop, will be promptly attended to.

MANUFACTURED AND SOLD BY
GEORGE SAVIL,
Rear of Badger & Hanson's—Cemetery st.
Quincy, Aug. 14.

NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand

—ALSO—
Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,
QUINCY CANAL WHARF.

July 10, 1852.

SEASONED LUMBER,
Of all descriptions, at prices to suit the times.
DIMENSION FRAMES,
Furnished at short notice.
Best quality of Lumber constantly on hand.
ALSO—Good Pine Wood at $6 a Cord.
For sale at BRACKETT'S WHARF.
Quincy, May 8

FISHER A. KINGSBURY,
Counsellor at Law,
Commissioner for the States of
MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VER-
MONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE ISLAND AND NEW YORK.

Weymouth, Mass.
Nov. 26.

Pickles.
50 GALLONS of Pickles just received and
for sale cheap for cash.
GEO. L. BAXTER & CO.
Quincy, Feb. 28

Pure Cider Vinegar.
800 GALLONS PURE CIDER VIN-EGAR, made on the farm formerly owned by B. V. Frough, now in store and for sale by the barrel or smaller quantity, by
GEORGE L. BAXTER & CO.
Quincy, Aug. 15.

Boot and Shoe Findings.
JUST received and for sale low, a lot of Bo and Shoe Kts, Findings, &c., by Quincy, Apr. 18

Fresh Tamarinds,
FOR sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Oct. 16.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION
Over Mr. E. Clapp's Store, on Hancock St.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.
Two DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if
delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.
No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrearages, unless at the option of the publisher.
Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged
until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited
to their own immediate business.
Letters and communications, (postage paid,
will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers:
Railway Village, JOSIAH BARROCK,
West District, GEORGE H. LOCKE
Milton, CHARLES BRICK,
Dorchester, ORIN P. BACON,
Weymouth, F. A. KINGSBURY,
Arlington, JOSEPH CLEVELAND,
South Scituate, SAMUEL A. TURNER,
Brooklyn, (N. Y.) GERSHOM DREW.

Miscellaneous.

Annual March Meeting

We give below the full vote and proceedings had at the annual March meeting in this town on Monday, the 7th inst, George Marsh, Esq., being Moderator:

Town Clerk.
Franklin Curtis (elected), had 302
John Chamberlain, 153
John O. Holden, 117
George L. Gill, 2; Beverly Underwood, 1
Town Treasurer.
Wyman Abercrombie (elected), 324
Benjamin Curtis, 152
Stephen Morse, Jr., 98
Charles A. Cummings, 1.

Selectmen and Assessors.
Daniel Baxter, 378
Edmund Pope, 231
John J. Glover, 163
Thompson Baxter, 151
Henry P. Doble, 194
Albert Thayer, 2; Lewis Bass, Daniel Monk, Josiah Brigham, George Marsh, William B. Duggan, Noah A. Glover, Charles A.
Spear, and Henry Wood, had one vote each.

School Committee, for Three Years.
Daniel H. Bills (elected), 24
Edmund Pope, 348
William S. Patee, 208
James M. Glover, 162
Elijah Baxter, 8; Thompson Baxter, 9; George Marsh, 6; C. A. Cummings, Wm. B.
Duggan, Luther Rice, Stephen Morse, Jr.,
Peter B. Mead and John Q. Adams, one vote each.

Two Years.
John Q. Adams (elected), 189
William B. Duggan, 166
Thompson Baxter, 142
George Marsh, 12; William S. Patee, 5; Ebenezer Thayer, Hannah Baxter and C. A.
Cummings, one vote each.

One Year.
John Q. Adams (elected), 326
George Marsh, 217
William B. Duggan, 1; William S. Patee,
2; Henry P. Doble, 2.

Constables.
W. M. French (elected), 547
Edward A. Spear, 386
Charles N. Hunt, 381
Chas. H. Kimball, 287
A. S. Sawtelle, 345
Reuben Ricker, 220
Albert Hayden, 246
Alonzo G. Davis, 150
Gershom Clements, 149
Isaac H. Wiley, 144
George Savil, 135
Luke R. deout, 139
Richard Newcomb, 155
Frederick A. Trask, 145
Daniel Lane, 137
Joseph T. French, 83

Frederick A. Lapham, 39; Joseph Field, 9;
Thaddeus Churchill, 9; Warren J. Vinal, 45;
Leonard L. Perry, 12; Joseph W. Lombard, 12; Isiah White, 2; Levi Stearns, Henry
Curtis, Isaac S. Willey, T. H. Hunt, H. A.
Newcomb, Josiah Adams, Eben S. French,
Franklin Curtis, E. C. Sargent, John A.
Simpson, Ebenezer Thayer, Amos Litchfield,
Emerson Shaw, S. A. Fletcher and James Shackley, one vote each.

Chose, Daniel Baxter, Ebenezer Adams and Edmund Pope, Overseers of the Poor, Surveyors of Highways and Fence Viewers.
Chose, Urbane Codworth, Richard New-comb, Leonard L. Perry, Horace J. Foster and John L. Souther, Surveyors of Lumber.
Chose, Ebenezer Adams, Pound-keeper.
Chose, Richard Newcomb, George Nightingle, Seth Adams, Henry A. Newcomb,

For the Patriot.

Neponset Bridge Corporation.

MR. EDITOR:—Much has been said about the magnanimity of the Bridge Corporation, and the sacrifices they have made for the welfare of the town. On the contrary, I have ever regarded these two Corporations, the Old Colony Railroad and the Bridge Corporations, as being the very bane of Quincy, and the principal cause of its backwardness.

They have played into each other's hands, and the game has resulted to the injury of the town. The citizens have quietly submitted to the infliction, and fully believed what they were told at the meeting last March, that the Corporation were the benefactors of the town, and were then making great sacrifices for its interests. Now it may not be amiss to examine a little, and see wherein these much vaunted benefits and sacrifices.

And let me foretell any bad feelings on the matter, by stating that of the members of this Corporation with whom I am acquainted, I have the highest esteem, as individuals. As citizens and neighbors I find no fault with them. But I deal with them here in their corporate capacity, and as an unbeliever in the statements which they have made, and the reports which they have circulated. I wish to state to my fellow-citizens the reasons for my unbelief.

The first act, incorporating this bridge, is a very singular instrument, though perhaps not more singular than other acts passed under similar circumstances in those days. It is an act in which all the privileges and profits are clearly on one side. And if it be true, as I have heard, that it was difficult to get the stock taken up, there must have been a great want of money indeed. Let us look for a moment at this instrument. It is passed the 11th March, 1802. It authorizes the parties to build a bridge and road. It gives the power of taxing the bridge for seventy years, but at the expiration of forty years the Legislature can step in and regulate the rates of toll.

Now let us see whether this regulation was needed, and whether this corporation has had any view the prosperity and welfare of the town.

The cost of the bridge, turnpikes and turnpike roads, was, in the beginning, according to the return in the Secretary of State's office, $27,822 (twenty-seven thousand eight hundred and twenty-two dollars). The legal interest on this sum would be, say $1700—allowing $1200 annually, which is a liberal allowance for collecting tolls and for repairs, we have the sum of $2900, being all that the proprietors could reasonably demand as a total income from the bridge. Now, how are the facts? According to the same returns the bridge paid well, even from the first—for we may suppose no repairs were necessary for some years. Taking an average of nine years, from 1809 to 1818, the annual income of the bridge was $4500, giving them nearly 14 per centum, after allowing $1200 for repairs and collector's salary. The income goes on, variously increasing from year to year: in 1835-36 and 37, we find the income thus—in 1835 it is $7244, in 1836 it is $6686, in 1837 it is $6016—giving an average of 20 per cent per annum, after deducting $1200 for repairs. The increase continues until in 1843. The General Court interferes, and passes an act reducing the tolls, the forty years having expired allowed in their charter.
Now, to show how much the town is indebted to the generosity of this corporation, I will just mention one curious fact. By the new act, the General Court may at any time interfere to regulate the tolls; but not satisfied with reasonable interest on their stock, they manage to get a clause inserted, by which they can divide 6 per cent on the sum of $35,000.
Now, assuredly, is their corporate generosity.
Here, of course, I do not mean to state that a correct return is not rendered annually; but even from that return it is clear that since the reduction of tolls in 1843, their clear income, after allowing $1200 for repairs, have for many years been from 10 to 15 per cent; and before that, more than double that amount.

From the foregoing statements, it would at first sight appear that, in selling the bridge for $10,000, they make a great sacrifice for the benefit of the town. I will now endeavor to show that this sacrifice is more apparent than real:

1st. Then let it be borne in mind that the charter expires in twelve years from next March, when they must surrender their property in good condition—for nothing that they own no property thus disposable, except the bridge and its necessary appurtenances, which cost them, by their own showing, about $1200. They have used this structure for more than half a century, and received a large income from it. It is now much de-cayed, and in its present condition totally unfit for the immense traffic that passes over it; and yet, notwithstanding all these considerations, they sell it for nearly as much as it cost them fifty-six years ago. This is a great sacrifice!

2d. They may answer, We might have retained it for these twelve years, and thus our legal income would amount to $25,000; supposing therefore that the $10,000 we now receive would, with legal interest, make $20,000 at the end of that time, we would be gainers by keeping it to the amount of $5000.
Now that they could retain the bridge under their present conditions for the next twelve years, is very doubtful. Nay, there is almost a certainty that they could not do it. I could give many instances where such monopolies, however beneficial they may at one time have been, when they have become burdensome to the community have been broken up, and there is no reason to suppose that instead of granting an act to enable them to purchase an old, rotten bridge, the power would not have been granted to apply the same money to build a new one, what then would the old bridge be worth to the corporation? Not much. It cannot be forgotten that the corporators were the ones most anxious to effect the transfer, and I am satisfied that without considerable misrepresentation it could not have been done.

3d. It has been frequently brought to my notice, that the parties who own the largest portion of the bridge property, and who started the enterprise, are also large owners of real estate in the district through which it runs; in fact, nine-tenths of the land on the turnpike is, or was, owned by them. The value of this land was increased at least four times by this operation. The value of this land was increased more than the whole worth of the investment; and had they surrendered the bridge twenty years ago for nothing, it would have been a patriotic, but a profitable sacrifice, both to themselves and to the town.

A NEW SAW;

Or, Curing a Bad Habit.

The lamp burned rather dimly. Sundry muffling incrustations had gathered upon the wick, which Susan superstitiously declared were "letters" for her; at any rate, they made their light darkness, and if they were letters at all, they were "dead letters," so I wish you would bring me the lamp scissors, Thomas. I can't see worth a cent.

All right again.
Now, let us know what Lady Dedlock had to say, said Tom, stretching himself once more.

Susan continued the reading for five minutes, and then stopped again.
My throat is all dried up. I wish you would get me some water. There is some in the pail in the back room.

Tom got the water, and Susan went on again.
Rap, tap, tap.
Somebody at the door, Thomas.

Take the light Susan, and see who it is.
You go, Thomas.
Tom did go. It was only a man who wanted to know where Peter Pendleton lived.

Once more Tom was settled, but the fire got down and Susan wanted him to fix it, though the wood lay by the fire place.

I guess I won't hear any more to-night,
Susie; I will go to bed now, said he yawning.

There is only two pages more to the end of the chapter.

I am too fatigued; and Tom retired in disgust.
Three years after.

Tom sat in the store smoking a long nine.
For nearly a year he had spent his evenings there, smoking and telling stories till long after bed time.

What for? Tom used to have such cozy times at home evenings—why didn't he stay there now, instead of loafing about the stores, and associating with all the rowdies and vagabonds of Spindleville!

We are sorry to say it, but Tom's house is no longer a pleasant place to him. He could never sit down there half an hour, without his wife asking him to do something which more properly belonged to her, and which she could do just as well as he.

That very evening he had sat down by the fire in his comfortable sitting-room, to make out some bills against some of his customers.
He had got the items of Mr. Pendleton's account on the paper, and was running up the column of figures.

Tom, I wish you would get a pitcher of water, I am almost choked, interrupted Susan, who sat at the other side of the table, making a little apron for the next baby.

Forty-one, forty-seven, fifty-two, said Tom, continuing to add the figures.

The pitcher is on the table in the kitchen.
Sixty-three, seventy-eight, eighty.
Rinse it out before you put it in the pail.
Zero, carries eight.

Come Tom, will you?
Eight, eleven, sixteen.

I am almost choked, said Susan, reaching over and catching his arm. Get me some water, will you?

Get it yourself—eight, eleven, sixteen—
That is polite, I must say.

Twenty-one, twenty-eight—
Will you get the water or not?
No, I won't.

It did not used to be so, envailed Susan,
When I asked you to do anything for me—
I, like a darn'd fool, did it—eight, eleven, sixteen—

I never thought you would treat me so.
Twenty-one, twenty-eight—
You are an altered man; you are off all-most every evening, whined the poor wife.

We pity her while we point out the fault.
There! exclaimed Tom, closing his account book in a pet, and putting it back into the secretary. I should as soon think of doing anything in Tophet as here.

Seizing his hat he rushed out of the house and made his way to the store, where he found him at the opening of this chapter.

He had not been gone more than half an hour, before Uncle Tim, her mother's brother, a solid, substantial old farmer, who took a great interest in Susan's welfare, made her a call.

The poor wife's tears were scarcely dry, and her eyes were swollen with weeping.
She believed herself to be the most cruelly abused woman in Spindleville—a martyr to the cruelty and harshness of her husband.

Where is Tom? asked Uncle Tim.
He is not at home. You know he never stays in the house evenings now, replied Susan, struggling to repress a flood of tears.

What's the matter, Susie? You look as though you had been crying, continued the old man kindly. I'm afraid Tom ain't so good a fellow as we used to think he was.

Susan only shook her head, and Uncle Tim sat in silence for a few minutes. Suddenly the poor wife, no longer able to hide her grief burst into tears, and sobbed like a child.

What's the matter, Susie?
Tom was so very cross to me to-night.
How did it happen? asked the old man, who had been a close observer of his niece's domestic relations, and who already understood matters very well.

Why, you see he was making out bills, and I asked him to bring me a pitcher of water, and he wouldn't.

I have been afraid of this since the first week you were married, added Uncle Tim.
I am sure I do everything I can to please him, but he grows worse and worse.

I suppose you won't thank me, Susie, for telling you it is mostly your fault.
My fault, uncle?

In my opinion.
Why, uncle?

I remember nigh three years ago, passing some time here in the house one night; Tom had come in from work dreadfully tired on that day, throwing himself on the sofa to rest-tired bones. I remember, too, you made him get up three or four times within an hour to get things for you, that you might have got yourself.

Was there any harm in that?
Sartin, when he was all tired out you ought not to have bothered him. Things have been going on in this way. You ask him to do things that makes him fret. Men folks ought to bring in the wood and water, and do the heavy work about the house; but when you make a nigger sarvent of 'em they won't stand it.

Susan reviewed the past and she could trace a great many of their little quarrels to the source which Uncle Tim had pointed out as the fountain of their discord.

I suppose you have read Poor Richard's Almanac, and the "old saw" it contains; but I am going to give you a new "saw." Never ask another to do for you what you can just as well do yourself.

Uncle Tim took his leave, and Susan set herself to thinking very vigorously. The result of her reflections was a resolution to make the new "saw" a principle of everyday life.

It was faithfully applied, and was oil upon the troubled waters of the sea of matrimony.
Tom soon discovered the difference, and after a while they talked over the matter between themselves. Again was home pleasant to him, even more pleasant than it had ever been before. Peace was entirely restored, and Tom is seldom disturbed—never for unnecessary demands. So much for the new saw.

Increase of Old Maids.
The Philadelphia Ledger has discovered that there is a heavy increase in the number of old maids, and that the number is augmenting sadly every year. With an increase of old maids of course comes an increase of bachelors, and this last class of persons are much less deserving of sympathy or interat-tion from the first. The causes of this extended life of single blessedness, or of single misery, as fancy or fact may choose to consider it, are mainly attributed to erroneous ideas of living. Many young men have not the courage to meet the expenses of supporting a family, and are often deterred from marriage by a positive apprehension of want.

The cure for this unmitigated evil is a radical change of society. When men and women become rational beings, industrious, frugal, ready to give up bad and expensive habits, willing to live within their means, more contented in each other's society than with aspirations they cannot reach, and which if they could would contribute but little to their comfort, and nothing to their happiness, they may marry, and the world will be benefited by such union.

The happiest marriages, and the most prosperous in the end, in a worldly way, have been found among those who have started with no other stock in trade than true affections, and a character, will and mind, equal to the reasonable demands of life. The greatest error of the day, especially of fashionable society, and of that class not fashionable, but a quality above it, is that labor at home, or labor elsewhere, is not quite respectable. In cases of necessity, and in cases where no positive necessity exists, but where it may come, there are those too proud to work. Even when labor not only would save expense, but put natural roses upon the cheeks, vigor in the limbs, and vitality in the whole frame, thousands choose to be idle, and to kill whole years of precious time in doing neither good to themselves nor to their fellow-beings.
—New York Express.

Crucifixion as a Mode of Punishment.
Crucifixion, as a punishment, was generally practiced by ancient nations. It was in use among the Assyrians, Egyptians, Persians, Carthaginians, Greeks, Romans, and partially among the Jews. It was considered the most dreadful and shameful of punishments, and was inflicted on malefactors.

The manner in which it was inflicted varied in some of its details. The instrument was generally a cross consisting of an upright beam with a transverse beam attached to it at right angles. In some instances the two beams crossed each other in the form of a letter X, called crux andrea, because St.
Andrew suffered upon it. Another form was that of grave charges against the letter.

The feet of the criminal were fastened to the upright beam, about two or three feet from the ground, by nailing them to the beam, or by cords, and sometimes by both means—
The hands were extended on each side of the upright beam or shaft and fastened to the horizontal beam or cross piece by driving spikes through the hands into the beam, and by means of cords. Near the middle of the upright beam there was sometimes a projection for a seat in front to support the weight of the body, as the hands nailed to the beam were not always strong enough for that purpose. Sometimes, instead of a projection on the upright beam, the feet rested on a small piece of wood in the form of a step.
Persons were occasionally crucified head downward, as was the case with some of the early christian martyrs.

Crucifixion was not allowed to be inflicted within the walls of a city; and it was part of the punishment of criminals to carry their own cross to the place of their execution.
Plutarch alludes to this practice when he says, "that every kind of wickedness produces its own particular torment, just as every malefactor, when he is brought forth to execution, carries his own cross." It was also a practice to scourge criminals when they were delivered over for crucifixion, and to break their bones at their execution. These were cruelties inflicted to increase the sufferings of the victims, and to add to the terrors of the punishment.

The victims were followed to the place of execution with the sneers and insults of the accompanying persons, and were then stripped of their clothes. A hole was dug in the earth, and after the victim was fastened to the cross, it was elevated and thrust violently into the hole, to fix it more firmly in the earth, and, by the rack, to rack and agonize the sufferer. He was sometimes pierced with spears when on the cross; and was forced to hang there till death ended his sufferings.

The following particulars are given by writers on the subject to show that crucifixion, of all punishments, was the most painful:
—1st. The position of the arms and the body was unnatural, the arms being extended back and almost immovable. The least motion gave violent pain in the hands and feet, and in the back, which was lacerated with stripes. 2d. The nails being driven through the parts of the hands and feet which abound with nerves and tendons, created the most exquisite anguish. 3d. The exposure of so many wounds to the air brought on a violent inflammation, which greatly increased the poignancy of the sufferer. 4th. The free circulation of the blood was prevented.
More blood was carried out in the arteries than could be returned by the veins. The consequence was, that there was a great increase in the veins of the head, producing an intense pressure and violent pain. The same was true of the other parts of the body. This intense pressure in the blood vessels was the source of inexpressible misery. 5th. The pain gradually increased. There was no relaxation and no rest. There was no prospect of termination but in death. Added to these were the pains from thirst and hunger.

Persons devoted to this kind of death were commonly able to endure it till the third, and sometimes even to the seventh day. Christ suffered on the cross only from three to five hours. In some cases they were suffered to remain on the cross till their bodies were destroyed by birds of prey; nor were their relatives allowed to take them down, except by special permission.

The Emperor Constantine was the first among the Romans to abolish crucifixion for the punishment of criminals. He did not object to it by means of its severity and cruelty; but after he had professed the christian religion, and made it the state religion, he thought it indecent and calculated to make the cross an object of aversion for it to be used longer in the punishment of the vilest criminals.

The history of crucifixion teaches the same important lesson as that of all cruel punishments, that severity is less efficient than certainty of punishment in the repression of crime. But this truth was not understood by ancient law-givers, and is but partially understood and acted upon in our day.—Tribune Democrat.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, March 19th, 1859.

"BORN TO MASTER, OR TO SERVE WE."

NEW HAMPSHIRE. Returns from all but twenty-three towns out as follows: For Governor, Goodwin, Republican, 34,578; Cato, Democrat, 31,124. The Democrats gain one Congressman, one Senator, twenty Representatives, and about 17500 in the popular vote. Goodwin's majority will be 3000. The Congressional majorities are reduced in every district.

SUCCESSFUL FAIR. The Homoeopathic Fair, held last week at Music Hall, Boston, in aid of the Homoeopathic Dispensary, was one of the most successful Fairs ever held in Boston, the proceeds amounting to fifteen thousand three hundred and sixty-seven dollars. One of the flower tables was in charge of the lady of his Excellency Gov. Banks, and the lady of ex-Mayor Rice. Chickering, the celebrated pianoforte maker, donated a piano worth five hundred dollars. The net profits are over twelve thousand dollars, which will establish the institution on a permanent basis.

FAST DAY IN MASSACHUSETTS. The Governor and Council have appointed Thursday, April 7, to be observed as a day of fasting, humiliation, and prayer.

O. C. & F. R. RAILROAD. North Bridge-water is said to be the fourth best paying station on the line of this road. The three which stand ahead on the list, are Quincy, Fall River, and Plymouth.

THOMAS JEFFERSON. Arrangements have been made by the Democrats of Salem to celebrate the birthday of Thomas Jefferson. The anniversary will occur on the 24 of April; but as this day of the month comes on Saturday, the celebration will take place on Friday, April 1st.

ECONOMY IN FUEL. One of the many engines on the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad having been changed from a wood to a coal burner, works so admirably that the cost of the coal to drive the train now costs only as much as the saving of its wood usually did.

IMPORTANT TO SCHOOL COMMITTEES. The following law has been passed by the Legislature and approved by the Governor: "The school committee of each town shall print the annual report, now required by law, in octavo, pamphlet form, of the size of the annual reports of the Board of Education, and transmit two copies thereof to the Secretary of the Commonwealth."

CHANCE TO LEND MONEY. All the governments of Europe are wanting to borrow money. Austria wants to borrow $30,000,000; England, $35,000,000; Sardinia, $10,000,000. France wants a large sum, and Russia, it is expected, will also be trying its credit to a large extent. About $100,000,000 is the aggregate wanted by these different governments to put themselves in a position to prevent one being eaten up by the other.

BODY OF THE LOST BALLOONIST FOUND. The remains of Ira S. Thurston, the aeronaut, who made the unfortunate ascension from Adrian, Michigan, last September, has been found near Toledo, and ten miles from the place of his ascent.

CLAN CHOWDER. This bivalvous dish will be served by "Yankee Seth," at Shaw's saloon, this day and evening.

Boston Correspondence.

Boston, March 17, 1859.

Legislative matters.—General Wilson's visit to the State House; Hoosac Tunnel; Retrenchment items; State House repairs.

It was my intention to keep you advised of the proceedings of the Legislature the present session; but so large amount of matter comes before the "Great and General Court" during each week, much of which is of a special character, that I should occupy in alluding to the same more space in your hebdomadal than you could spare to any correspondent. At the close of the session, I will endeavor to give you, as well as I know how, a digest of such acts of importance as will pass this winter session.

On Monday, the bill establishing the Superior Court was taken from the table, and after being amended was ordered to be printed. This is the most important law measure that has been before the Legislature for many years, and indications lead to its adoption the present session.

A bill to incorporate the Pawnee Bank has been submitted. It is not to be a bank of issue, but shall loan on pledge of goods and chattels only. The bill, it is said (for I have not seen it), proposes to limit the capital of the bank to $300,000, and the rate of loans to 18 per cent. It is very doubtful whether a bank established on this principle would impart any good to the destitute and suffering customers that would come to its doors. Eighteen per cent interest annually, to the benevolent stockholders, would draw hard somewhere. If a Pawnee Bank is to be created in our midst, let it be on the principle of benevolence, and not speculation.

A bill is before the House, providing for a Surveyor-General of Land for the District composed of Suffolk county, Charles-town, Roxbury, Dorchester and Cambridge; fees 10 per cent, to appoint deputies, &c. It has too much an odor of monopoly, and will not pass in a hurry.

On Monday the Hon. Henry Wilson, fresh from Washington, visited the legislative halls, and received the congratulations of the members, without distinction of party. As U. S. Senator he occupies one of the highest positions of honor in the gift of the people of Massachusetts. Aside from political partisanship, which never rightly estimates talents, General Wilson stands before the freedom of our Commonwealth as a bright example, what self-education and force of abilities will do to develop native talent, and reach among men exalted honors. His education and talents may be either by lineage or industrial occupation. He comes forth from the ranks of the working classes, "a nature's nobility," to honor and distinction, an example for thousands who possess inherent abilities of a high grade, and who need but courage and application to develop them.

The Hoosac Tunnel bill was debated on Tuesday, and able speeches were made by various members, all of whom profess to be in favor of the project, but differed as to the precise way in which the act should be formed to keep the security to the State good.

Bills have been reported to abolish in great measure the fees of certain county officers, sheriffs, jailors, and their assistants; also to do away with the office of clerks of courts.

A Senate resolve was read once, allowing $3300 to be expended in repairs upon the cupola and dome of the State House. X

CHAPMAN'S COMING. We are reliably informed that Mr. Daniel Chapman, Ambrotypist and Daguerrotypist, who sojourned with us several months last year, will revisit this place in April ensuing, when our citizens will have the opportunity to procure beautiful and life-like pictures.

THE HOUSEHOLD MONTHLY. We have before us the first five numbers of this beautiful magazine, the publication of which was commenced in October last, in Boston, by N. F. Bryant, a veteran of the press. We have often wondered that the Athens of America has suffered New York and Philadelphia to almost monopolize the issue of this class of periodical literature. This magazine, if continued in the spirit with which it has begun, cannot fail to re-establish the credit of Boston in this respect. It mixes the useful and agreeable in due proportions. Its fictions are of an elevating tendency, and it contains many articles imparting useful information, without being dull and heavy. It is illustrated with engravings on steel, lithograph, wood, and the children's department, with an attractive colored picture in oil colors, which is an entire new feature. Take it altogether it is one of the best magazines for the family within our knowledge.

Mr. Park, a former resident of this town, is now here for a few days, and will give our citizens a favorable opportunity to subscribe for this new work. We understand it has an extensive circulation, and is very much liked. We hope he will meet with as good success here as elsewhere. The terms are three dollars per year. The new Monthly promises well, and must become a favorite.

Purchasers of Carpeting are referred to the advertisement in our paper of the New England Carpet Company, in Boston.

For the Patriot.

"Think of Living."

MR. EDITOR:—I most heartily endorse all that Dr. Babbitt says in the first part of his article in regard to the importance of hygienic knowledge and physical training; and were I not animated by the desire to attract popular attention to this all-important subject, I should not ask the use of your columns, for I have no pecuniary interest in the matter, and if I had any ambition it would have been satisfied by this time, as any one who will take pains to review the arguments, may see that Dr. B. has not successfully controverted any position that I have taken, nor maintained his own, but with tact that would do honor to a general when on untenable ground, he has gracefully retreated. He has done as well as any disciple of drugopathy can do, for it puzzles them terribly to explain how it is that medicines act, or to give a sensible definition of disease. Their systems are false in philosophy, absurd in science and contrary to nature, and of course productive of vast evils in their practical results. We are all, more or less, victims of their false theories and murderous practice, and for my part I make no compromises with them. Homoeopathy is less objectionable than Allopathy, in proportion as it is less removed from Nature; both are diametrically opposed to truth.

Truth is radical. More than eighteen centuries ago a youth disputed with the doctors in the Temple. The doctrines of the Nazarene consisted of a few strangely simple and self-evident propositions, such as—Cease to do evil; Do unto others as you would that others should do unto you, etc.; but Christians do not seem to comprehend these simple precepts, which inculcate obedience to moral laws as the source of all moral good and cure of all moral evil, even with the practical example of the Great Teacher before them; and it is no wonder that people and physicians should so misapprehend the physical laws in the preservation of health and cure of disease.

The importance of Health Reform cannot be over-estimated. Statistics in our Town Auditor's Report show the average length of life to be about thirty-four years, and that twenty-six in eighty die of which a cause is assigned, were from Consumption. Reader! you have one chance in three to die of consumption before you have lived half your days, simply because you do not obey the physical laws of God. Take it home to your own conscience—it is a question of Life and Death.

We who believe in the so-called Water-Cure System, "hold these truths to be self-evident," that all diseases are caused by disobedience of physical laws, and cured by observance of them, when cured at all; that medicines (being poisons and unfit for food) are productive of vastly more evil than good; that disease is remedial effort, or vital action in relation to things abnormal, and should be assisted by supplying natural conditions of health; and these assertions can be proved by facts. Water-Cure physicians have cured thousands of the worst cases of diseases, with a very small per centage of deaths, and without using any medicine at all; and cures are far more certain under their treatment than any other.

It is only within a few years that Water-Cure has been extensively practiced in this country, and comparatively few know what it is, yet it is rapidly gaining favor with the people in spite of prejudice and all manner of opposition. Other medical systems have but to ask for legislative grants to receive them; but Water-Cure doctrines are far in advance of legislators. After three years of importunity the New York Hygieo-Therapeutic College obtained a charter, with the privilege of obtaining funds if they could. A fund of twenty-five thousand dollars will probably be raised this season for the endowment of the college; then Water-Cure, which has been "looking up," will begin to look down upon its rivals in the glorious mission of restoring health and happiness to mankind.

Pro Anis.

For the Patriot.

Note to "X"

MR. EDITOR:—Your Boston correspondent, in last week's Patriot, made this profound remark, "The mantle of his illustrious father is worthy of him," (i. e., Hon. C. F. Adams). While I have seen no one bold enough to question this oracular truism, for one I am willing to admit the truth of the converse of the proposition. Ego.

For the Patriot.

Note to "X"

MR. EDITOR:—Your Boston correspondent, in last week's Patriot, made this profound remark, "The mantle of his illustrious father is worthy of him," (i. e., Hon. C. F. Adams). While I have seen no one bold enough to question this oracular truism, for one I am willing to admit the truth of the converse of the proposition. Ego.

A LARGE PARTY. A sleighing party from Holyoke, Mass., numbering from fifty to sixty double teams, and embracing one hundred and twenty horses and seven hundred and fifty persons, visited Springfield a few weeks ago, creating great excitement among the natives of that quiet country town. The party consisted of the employees of the Lyman Mills, at Holyoke.

"My Mother's Salve" is a carefully prepared ointment, free from all poisonous or irritating mixtures; possessing medicinal virtues (it relieves pain and heals wounds) that makes it worthy the confidence of invalids. See advertisement.

GLEASON'S LINE-OF-BATTLE SHIP. This splendid new weekly is increasing very rapidly in its circulation, every body is delighted with it. The paper is furnished to clubs at the following remarkable low rates:

2 Subscribers, one year,	$3.00
4 " " " "	5.00
10 " " " "	10.00
20 " " " "	20.00

and one gratis in getting up a club of 20. Single Subscription being $2.00 per annum. Those wishing to subscribe, or form clubs, will have sample copies sent free, by addressing F. Gleason, Boston, Mass.

Gleason's new enterprise is highly spoken of by the press. We here give a few of the many favorable notices we have seen. Mr. Gleason has the experience, the enterprise, the tact, and the capital, requisite to sustain a good and successful paper.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

Gleason's Weekly.—This is the best pictorial and literary paper published in the United States, and no family should be without it.—Local News, Wapaca, Wis.

Gleason's Weekly is full of everything to please the eye and the mind. The new illustrated weekly causes a great excitement in newspaperdom.—Register, Wapaca, Wis.

Gleason's Weekly Line of Battle Ship is before us. We do not hesitate to pronounce it the best literary and pictorial journal published in the Union.—Republican Watchman, Monticello, N. Y.

Gleason's Line of Battle Ship. This new weekly is, without question, the largest and handsomest literary sheet in the Union. It is freighted with a precious cargo of stories, tales, poetry, biography, editorials, wit and fun.—Herald.

Gleason's New Weekly Line of Battle Ship. F. Gleason, Esq., that prince of editors and publishers, is again in the field. His well-earned popularity is a sufficient guarantee for the success of his new enterprise.—Bellefonte, Pa. Democrat.

Gleason's New Paper is what might have been expected from the experience and skill of the gallant commodore and editor, elegant in its typography, illustrations and reading matter. Everything that good taste and experience could devise, appears to have been brought into requisition.—Ledger.

Gleason's Line of Battle Ship, by the illustrious Gleason, is illustrated with excellent engravings, and contains the choicest reading matter. Gleason is a Napoleon in the field now again occupied by him.—Boston Bee & Atlas.

Gleason's Line of Battle Ship. The largest edition ever printed of the first number of a paper, either in America or Europe, was that of the "Line of Battle Ship," by Commodore Gleason. One hundred thousand copies were issued and sold.

This is truly wonderful, and shows what tact, talent and a union of beauty and art can accomplish.

A NEW ADJUTANT GENERAL. It is currently reported that Hon. Albert J. Wright has been tendered the office of Adjutant General, and it is expected that he will accept the same.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

Rev. Jay H. Fairchild died at South Boston, lately aged seventy years. He was once one of the most popular Orthodox preachers in the State.

James Cushing, of South Hingham, has a hog which will weigh about nine hundred pounds. It is half Berkshire, and two and a half years old.

The Grand Jury of Jefferson County, Pa., have refused to find a bill against a number of physicians, for the crime of skinning a dead negro.

The officers of the railroad companies between New York and Boston, viz., Hartford and Springfield, have decided to provide comfortable smoking cars, reading tables and gas light to the through express trains.

Robert Walsh, formerly editor of the Philadelphia National Gazette, and of late known as the correspondent in Paris of the National Intelligence and the New York Journal of Commerce, died recently in Paris.

Mrs. Mary Hartung, a young and handsome woman, tried at Albany (N. Y.) for killing her husband with poison, has been convicted of murder, and sentenced to be hung. Her case excited great interest in the community. She had a paramour concerned with her.

The Hampshire County East Association, Mass., of Congregational ministers, have voted, that in the opinion of this Association the raising of tobacco is an immorality.

The amount of tax annually collected in Cuba is $28,000,000, which is equal to about $46 to every inhabitant.

An individual of Ross township, Hamilton county, Ohio, supposed to be insane, and a dangerous man, has not spoken to any one for seven years; he lived in a log hut alone, and allowed no one to enter except a sister, who brought his meals to him.

In the south of France, the farmers use straw for conductors of electricity. Experiments show that an electrical shock, sufficiently powerful to kill an ox, may be discharged by a single straw.

A negro man lately married an Irish woman in Brooklyn, N. Y. There were present seven negroes with white wives!

Marriages.

In this town, on the 17th inst., by Rev. Mr. Morris of Milton, Mr. Paul J. Revere of Boston, to Miss Lucetta W. Lunt, of Quincy.

Deaths.

In Milton, on the 16th inst., of Scarlet Fever, James H., son of J. B. Whitcher, aged 4 years.

In Bedford, (N. H.), on the 21st ult., of Consumption, Abbie Maria, only child of Mr. Frederick and Mrs. Maria Hodgman, aged 14 years and 7 months.

Like the morning breath of flowers, Wafted on the summer air, Was the life of darling Abbie, Now at rest in Angels' care.

Mourning parents, cease to murmur At your Father's wise decree; "Thou I love, I also cherish," Thus to bring them nearer me.

Trust him, whom your Abbie trusted; Whom by faith she saw afar: Be your eyes like hers directed, To the bright and morning star.

When life's trials all are ended, And his pilgrimage is o'er, You shall meet your darling children, To be parted never more.

M. F. C.

Special Notices.

SPIRITUALISTS MEETING. Services usual hours, forenoon and afternoon in Johnson's (Maciposa) Hall, Mr. J. H. Currier will speak to-morrow forenoon and afternoon. Quincy, March 19. 1w

NOTICE. The members of the Hancock Light Guard are hereby notified to meet at their Armory, THIS EVENING, at 7 1/2 o'clock, on business of interest and welfare to the Company. Per order of the Commander. E. A. SPEAR, Clerk. Quincy, March 19. 1w

Gent's fine calf boots; ladies' cloth and leather boots, in all varieties; men's and boys' heavy brogans; in fact, a complete assortment of boots and shoes can be found at C. Gill & Co's. Their endeavors to suit the customers are unwearied. Let our community sustain them in this department of trade, and their stock and endeavors to give satisfaction in every respect, will be found fully equal to the demands made upon them.

WEYMOUTH AND BRAINTREE Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

THE Annual Meeting of the Weymouth and BRAINTREE Mutual Fire Insurance Company will be held at the Office of said Company, in Weymouth, on MONDAY, the 11th day of April next, at 2 o'clock, P. M., for the choice of Officers for the ensuing year, and transaction of any other business that may legally come before said meeting.

ELLIS. 1w

Auction at South Weymouth.

ON MONDAY, the fourth day of April next, at one o'clock P. M., on the premises, will be sold at Public Auction, all and singular the premises occupied by Dr. Joseph E. Corlen, consisting of about One-fourth of an Acre of Land, a Dwelling-house, Barn and Out-buildings standing thereon, including all benefits and equity of redemption, for a breach of the conditions of a mortgage I hold thereon. DAVID N. WADE. Quincy, March 19, 1859. 3w

Fruit Trees, &c.

THE SUBSCRIBER has in his ground, near the Wallcut Depot, North Quincy, a large quantity of Fruit and Ornamental Trees, Evergreens, &c.,

For sale low by R. B. LEACHMAN. Quincy, March 19. 1w

"Buy me and I'll do you Good."

Health and Strength secured, by the use of the GREAT SPRING & SUMMER MEDICINE, DR. LANGLEY'S

Root and Herb Bitters.

COMPOSED of Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Yellow Dock, Freckly Ash, Thoroughwort, Rhubarb, Mandrake, Dandelion, &c., all of which are so compounded as to act in concert, and assist Nature in eradicating disease. The effect of this medicine is most wonderful—it acts directly upon the bowels and blood, by removing all obstructions from the internal organs, stimulating them into activity, renovating the fountains of life, purifying the blood, cleansing it from all humors, and causing it to course anew through every part of the body; restoring the invalid to health and usefulness. They cure and eradicate from the system, Liver Complaint, that main wheel of so many diseases; Jaundice in its worst forms, all Bilious diseases and Foul Stomach, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, all kinds of Humors, Indigestion, Headache, Dizziness, Piles, Heartburn, Weakness, Pains in the side and Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, and a torpid or diseased Liver, a disordered Stomach, or bad Blood, to which all are more or less subject in Spring and Summer.

More than 1,000,000 persons have been cured by this medicine. It is highly recommended by Physicians everywhere. Try it, and you will never regret it. Only 25 cents for a pint, and 38 cents for a large Bottle. Sold by Dealers in Medicine everywhere.

Orders addressed to J. O. LANGLEY, or GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., BOSTON. March 19. 2w

GEO. H. FOOTE, (FORMERLY FOOTE & CURRIER) MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN SOAP STONE, No. 5 PROVIDENCE STREET, And No. 2 Province House Court, Boston

Soap Stone in Blocks and Slabs; Sinks, Wash and Bathing Tubs of Soap Stone; Registers and Fanned Stoves, Griddles, Soap Stone Stoves and Fire Places, (new Patterns)—also, all descriptions of Soap Stone Work executed on hand, or furnished to order at short notice. Boston, March 19. 3w

For Sale,

ABOUT 40 Cords of good old Cow Manure, suitable for Gardens. Apply to CHARLES A. SPEAR, or JOHN Q. A. FIELD. Quincy, March 19. 1w

To Let,

A HOUSE and 70 Acres Land—A New Cottage House containing 7 rooms—A well House—7 Acres of Land, all situated at Quincy Point. ALSO—Half a House at Quincy Neck. ALSO—Part of a House on Liberty street. ALSO—20 Acres of Land and Barn on South street. Enquire of DANIEL BAXTER. Quincy, March 19. 3w

NEW GOODS!

Elbridge Clapp is now prepared to supply the LADIES of Quincy and vicinity with every variety of New Fancy and Dress Goods, suitable to the season and the wants of all people, at prices worthy the attention of all buyers.

DOMESTIC GOODS, of every description—very low. Embroideries and Lace Goods, neat, new and desirable. HOSIERY AND GLOVES, a large assortment, at low prices. Cloths, Cassimeres, Velvets, Coatings, &c. An unusually large and desirable stock, which will be made into Garments if desired. WOOLLEN AND COTTON GOODS, For Boys' Clothing—adapted to the season.

Hats and Caps Of all kinds, sizes, and prices. Boots, Shoes, and Rubbers, Of superior quality—very cheap.

Gent's Furnishing Goods, Always on hand at the lowest prices. GROCERIES, Of the best quality the market affords.

Crockery, Glass and Wooden Ware; Table and Pocket Cutlery, Hardware, &c., &c. Just give him a call before going to Boston or elsewhere, as you may be assured that no BETTER PLACE to buy GOODS CHEAP, can be found. Quincy, March 19. 1w

Administrator's Notice. NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

MARY BROWN, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Widow, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to the subscriber, on or before the 19th inst. of March, 1859. J. N. BROWN, Adm'r. Quincy, March 19, 1859. 3w

Administrator's Notice. NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

THOMAS REED, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Root and Shoe Dealer, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to the subscriber, on or before the 19th inst. of March, 1859. ADORAM CLAPP, CHARLES HARDWICK, Adm'rs. Quincy, March 19, 1859. 3w

Administrator's Notice. NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

BENJAMIN CUSHING, late of Braintree, in the County of Norfolk, Blacksmith, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to the subscriber, on or before the 19th inst. of March, 1859. LOUISA ANN CUSHING, Adm'x. Braintree, March 12th, 1859. 3w

Administrator's Notice. NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

DANIEL HOBART, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Trader, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to the subscriber, on or before the 19th inst. of March, 1859. LUCY A. W. HOBART, Adm'x. Quincy, March 12th 1859. 3w

20 COWS, &c. —AT—

AUCTION.

WILL be sold at Public Auction, on MONDAY, March 21st, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, at the farm formerly owned by George W. Beals, and improved by John J. Carr, the following articles, viz: 20 Cows, 1 Horse, 1 Yoke of Oxen, 2 Hogs, 1 Light Wagon, 1 Hay Wagon, 1 Grain Wagon, an Ox-cart, Lot of Manure, and many articles too numerous to mention. JOS. T. FRENCH, Auct. Quincy, March 12. 2w

SHOOP AUCTION. WILL be sold at Public Auction, on MONDAY, March 21st, at 2 o'clock P. M., at the Ship Yard of Peleg F. Jones, Quincy Point, THE SLOOP CANTON, In Perfect Order with New Sails. EBEN. ADAMS, Auct. Quincy, March 12. 2w

Boot and Shoe Findings! KNIVES, NAILS, PEGS, BRISTLES, THREAD, AWLS, KITFILES, RASPS, BUFFERS, TACKS, &c. A good Assortment—low for Cash. J. FRANKLIN BURRELL Quincy, March 12. 1w

KENISON & FOLLETT

JOBBER AND COMMISSION DEALERS Butter, Cheese, and Eggs. Beans, Dried Apples.

AND COUNTRY PRODUCE. Cellar, 19 Merchant Row, Boston. GEORGE W. KENISON. GEORGE D. FOLLETT.

Jan 15

PANTS, (Custom Made,) from 1 1/2 to T. DOD Quincy, Oct. 31. 1w

New Arrangement.

FURNALD'S QUINCY EXPRESS LEAVES BOSTON, DAILY, AT 2 1/2 O'CLOCK, P. M. 38 South Market St. and 3 Washington Quincy, June 5. 1w

For Sale,
ABOUT 40 Cords of good old Cow Manure, suitable for Gardens.
Apply to
CHARLES A. SPEAR,
JOHN Q. A. FIELD.
Quincy, March 19

To Let,
A HOUSE and 70 Acres Land—
A New Cottage House containing 7 rooms—A half House—7 Acres of Land, all situated at Quincy Point.
ALSO—Half a House at Quincy Neck.
ALSO—Part of a House on Liberty street.
ALSO—29 Acres of Land and Barn on South street.
Enquire of
DANIEL BAXTER.
Quincy, March 19

NEW GOODS!

Elbridge Clapp
IS now prepared to supply the LADIES of Quincy and vicinity with every variety of New Fancy and Dress Goods, suitable to the season and the wants of the people,
at prices worthy the attention of all buyers.

DOMESTIC GOODS,
of every description—very low.
Embroideries and Lace Goods, most, new and desirable.
HOSIERY AND GLOVES,
a large assortment, at low prices.

Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings, Coatings, &c., as unusually large and desirable stock, which will be made into garments if desired.

WOOLLEN AND COTTON GOODS,
For Boys' Clothing—adapted to the season.

Hats and Caps
Of all kinds, sizes, and prices.
Boots, Shoes, and Rubbers, of superior quality—very cheap.

Gents' Furnishing Goods,
Always on hand at the lowest prices.

GROCERIES,
Of the best quality the market affords.
Crockery, Glass and Wooden Ware;
Table and Pocket Cutlery, Hardware,
&c., &c.

Just give him a call before going to Boston or elsewhere, as you may be assured that no BET-TER PLACE to buy GOODS CHEAP, can be found.
Quincy, March 19

Administrators' Notice.
NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscribers have been duly appointed Administrators of the Goods and Estate of

MARY BROWN,
deceased, in the County of Norfolk, Wilderness, and has accepted said trust.
And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit and prove the same, and all persons indebted thereto are required to pay the same, on or before the first day of April next.
JOSEPH N. BROWN, Adm'r.
Quincy, March 19, 1859.

Administrators' Notice.
NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscribers
have been duly appointed Administrators of
the Goods and Estate of

THOMAS REED,
deceased, in the County of Norfolk, Wilderness, and has accepted said trust.
And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit
and prove the same, and all persons indebted there-
to are required to pay the same, on or before the first day of April next.
ADAM CLAPP, Adm'r.
CHARLES HARDWICK, Adm'r.
Quincy, March 19, 1859.

Administrators' Notice.
NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscribers
have been duly appointed Administrators of
the Goods and Estate of

BENJAMIN CUSHING,
deceased, in the County of Norfolk, Wilderness, and has accepted said trust.
And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit
and prove the same, and all persons indebted there-
to are required to pay the same, on or before the first day of April next.
LOUISA ANN CUSHING, Adm'r.
Quincy, March 12, 1859.

Administrators' Notice.
NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscribers
have been duly appointed Administrators of
the Goods and Estate of

DANIEL HUBERT,
deceased, in the County of Norfolk, Wilderness, and has accepted said trust.
And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit
and prove the same, and all persons indebted there-
to are required to pay the same, on or before the first day of April next.
LUISNA W. HUBERT, Adm'r.
Quincy, March 12, 1859.

20 COWS, &c.
—AT—
AUCTION.
WILL be sold at Public Auction, on MONDAY, March 21st, at 9 o'clock the forenoon, at the farm formerly owned George W. Beals, and improved by John Litt, the following articles, viz:
1 Cow, 1 Horse, 1 Yoke of Oxen, 2 Hogs,
1 Hay Wagon, 1 Hay Wagon, 1 Grain Wagon, 1 Ox-cart, Lot of Manure, and many other articles too numerous to mention.
JOS. T. FRENCH, Auct.
Quincy, March 12

COAL COAL.
THE Undersigned has for sale at
EDWARD'S WHARF,
WEBSTER, SWATARA, and
EAGLE MOUNTAIN COAL!
Also, Nova Scotia Wood!
Orders left at D. Baxter & Co.'s Store, Mr.
Averill's, near South Depot, Dea. Geo. Baxter's or at the Office, will be promptly attended to.

OFFICE, and entrance to Wharf, on
WASHINGTON STREET.
NEAR DEA. GEORGE BAXTER'S.
OWEN ADAMS,
Quincy, Sept. 4.

ADAMS & HERSEY,
GRANITE WHARF, (Quincy Point).
HAVE just received one cargo of FRANK-
LIN COAL, which they will sell at $7.00 per ton.

OTHER KINDS OF
Coal at $5.50 per Ton.
—Orders left at Geo. L. Baxter & Co.'s Store, George H. Locke's, or with Geo. W. Kennison, will receive early attention.
Quincy, July 3.

Paper Hangings.
A NEW and splendid assortment of Paper
Hangings, Curtains, &c., just received and
for sale by
ELBRIDGE CLAPP.
Quincy, March 28

Boot and Shoe Findings!
KIVES, NAILS, PEGS, BRISTLES,
THREAD, AWLS, KNUFFLES,
RAPS, BUFFERS,
TACKS, &c.
A good Assortment—low for Cash.
FRANKLIN BURRELL
Quincy, March 12

KENISON & FOLLETT,
JOBBER AND COMMISSION DEALERS IN Butter, Cheese, and Eggs,
Beans, Dried Apples,
AND COUNTRY PRODUCE.
Cellar, 19 Merchant Row, Boston
GEORGE W. KENISON,
GEORGE D. FOLLETT.
Jan 15

PANTS, (Custom Made), from 1 75 to $5.
T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31.

New Arrangement.
FURNALD'S
QUINCY EXPRESS
LEAVES BOSTON, DAILY,
AT 2 12 O'CLOCK, P. M. — 23
38 South Market St. and 3 Washington St.
Quincy, June 5

BOWDITCH'S
Quincy and Boston
EXPRESS.
OFFICE—39 & 40 South Market Street,
BOSTON.
SLATE AT DANIEL BAXTER & CO.'S,
D. B. STETSON'S, AND THE HANCOCK HOUSE.
All orders thankfully received and
promptly attended to.
Quincy, Jan 22

GEORGE WHITE,
Counsellor and Attorney at Law,
No. 5 Tremont Street,
BOSTON.
Quincy, March 5.

W. M. BABBITT, M. D.,
Homeopathic Physician!
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.
OFFICE HOURS:
7 to 8 A. M. 12 to 1 P. M.
Quincy, Sept. 11.

Notice!
A NEW and SPLENDID ASSORTMENT of VELVET VESTINGS,
for sale cheap, at
Joseph W. Lombard's.
Over E. Clapp's Store.
Quincy, Nov 13

GEO. R. HICHBORN
AUCTIONEER,
AND
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Office, No. 1 Scott's Building,
Entrance, Tremont Row, Boston.

G. R. H. will give his personal attention to Sales of Real Estate, Farms and Farm
Stocks, Stocks of Goods in Stores, Furniture at Residence, &c. &c. in City or Country.
Also, to Real Estate at Private Sale.

Refers by permission to
Hon. E. G. Loring, Dr. J. V. Smith,
Hon. Moses G. Cobb, Isaac Thacher, Esq.
Jan 15 Dr. J. C. Hayden.

Just Received,
A GOOD assortment of Candles, different kinds and sizes. Spermaceti, Wax and French Sperm.
For Sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Dec 18.

COAL COAL.
THE Undersigned has for sale at
EDWARD'S WHARF,
WEBSTER, SWATARA, and
EAGLE MOUNTAIN COAL!
Also, Nova Scotia Wood!
Orders left at D. Baxter & Co.'s Store, Mr.
Averill's, near South Depot, Dea. Geo. Baxter's or at the Office, will be promptly attended to.

OFFICE, and entrance to Wharf, on
WASHINGTON STREET.
NEAR DEA. GEORGE BAXTER'S.
OWEN ADAMS,
Quincy, Sept. 4.

ADAMS & HERSEY,
GRANITE WHARF, (Quincy Point).
HAVE just received one cargo of FRANK-
LIN COAL, which they will sell at $7.00 per ton.

OTHER KINDS OF
Coal at $5.50 per Ton.
—Orders left at Geo. L. Baxter & Co.'s Store, George H. Locke's, or with Geo. W. Kennison, will receive early attention.
Quincy, July 3.

Paper Hangings.
A NEW and splendid assortment of Paper
Hangings, Curtains, &c., just received and
for sale by
ELBRIDGE CLAPP.
Quincy, March 28

Boot and Shoe Findings!
KIVES, NAILS, PEGS, BRISTLES,
THREAD, AWLS, KNUFFLES,
RAPS, BUFFERS,
TACKS, &c.
A good Assortment—low for Cash.
FRANKLIN BURRELL
Quincy, March 12

NORFOLK
Agricultural Society.
THE annual meeting of the members of the Norfolk Agricultural Society, for the choice of officers and the transaction of any other business that may legally come before said meeting, will be held at the Phoenix House, in Dedham, on WEDNESDAY, March 30th, at 10 o'clock, in the forenoon.
HENRY O. HILBRETH,
Recording Secretary.
Dedham, March 12th, 1859

FRANCIS P. LOUD
WOULD inform the public that he has removed from his old stand on Temple street
to
JOHNSON'S BUILDING,
Next door to B. F. Meservey's, and entered into copartnership with Warren Veazie, under the firm of
LOUD & VEAZIE.
It gives the New Firm pleasure to announce to the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that they have made a large addition to the stock of the senior member, and will keep constantly on hand
A FULL ASSORTMENT
OF
WORSTED FOR EMBROIDERY,
Patterns of all kinds, and a General Assortment of Fancy Articles.
ALSO
Children's Clothing, Shirts, Shirt Bosoms, Fancy Cravats, Collars, Head Dresses, Pocket Handkerchiefs, Tape Trimmings, Buttons, Sewing Silk, Embroidery Silk, Spool Cotton, Needles, Nets, Dress Trimmings, Carcets, Edgings, Perfumery, &c., &c.
ALSO—A large assortment of
CONFECTIONARY, NUTS, &c.
N. B. Stating done to Order.
Quincy, March 12

Guardian's Sale
OF
REAL ESTATE.
THE subscriber, Guardian of Chester D.
Pratt, Hannah L. Pratt, Elizabeth W. Pratt, and Charles H. Pratt, minors, by virtue of a decree of the Probate Court, for the County of Norfolk, will sell at Public Auction, at the house of Gideon Burrell, in Weymouth, in said County on FRIDAY, April 1st, 1859, at one o'clock, P. M., all the interest of said minors in and to the following Real Estate, situated in the south part of said Weymouth, their interest being Four-sevenths of One-ninth part, viz:
The Homestead of the late Samuel Burrell, deceased, containing about Fifty Acres with a Dwelling House and other buildings thereon Also—Three Wood Lots, containing in all about Twenty Acres.
Terms made known at the time and place of sale.
GEORGE W. PRATT, Guardian
Weymouth, March 12th, 1859.

Cheap! A Good Chance.
J. F. BURRELL has a few pairs of those Boots, which he will sell for $1 62.
Also—A small quantity of another lot,
the former price $1 88, which he will sell for $1 58
Men's Congress Boots—Old Price $2 00—for $1 75
Ladies' Misses' and Children's Boots and Shoes for sale and warranted.
Next Door to Quincy Market House.
HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy, March 12

Balsam, Plaster, &c.
DR. Blackman's Genuine Healing Balsam
and Plaster.
Dr. Samuel B. Smith's Magnetic Salve for Sore Throat, Ring Worm, and similar diseases.
Dr. Bennett's Canker Powder and Tooth
Preservative—for sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Aug. 22.

Floor Oil Cloths
OF the most celebrated productions, for sale by the
New England Carpet Company,
75 HANOVER ST., BOSTON.
March 5

New Stock and New Styles!
—OR—
PAPER HANGINGS.
JUST received a lot of New Paper Hangings, which I shall offer at VERY LOW PRICES,
hoping that those in want of the above articles will call and examine my stock, as I have a large assortment and some very desirable patterns.

CALEB PACKARD,
Cor. of Hancock and Granite Streets.
Quincy, March 5

Elegant Carpets
AT LOW PRICES,
Now Opening from Auction!
100 PIECES of Superb Tapestry Brussels, subject to manufacturer's slight imperfections, and will be sold for 87 1/2 cents per yard. These Carpets are of the most recent production—rich and gorgeous colors, and of the finest quality. The imperfections are scarcely perceptible, not injuring the appearance or durability of the goods.
NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO.,
75 HANOVER ST., Opp. American House,
Boston, March 5

NEW BOOK.
Will be ready, JANUARY 1, 1859,
TWELVE MESSAGES from the Spirit
John Quincy Adams through Joseph D.
Stiles, Medium, to Josiah Brigham. Price $1.50.
For sale by C. GILL & CO., at the Quincy
Bookstore.
Dec. 25.

Later From Europe.
A NEW and splendid assortment of Ladies'
Collars, Sleeves, Flouncings, Bands, Edg-ings, and a general assortment of Lace and White Goods, just received and for sale by
ELBRIDGE CLAPP.
Quincy, Aug. 21.

NORFOLK

J. T. & W. V. HAYWARD, HAYING TAKEN THE SHOP IN THE REAR OF Kimball's Cabinet Manufactory, ARE NOW READY TO EXECUTE
Painting, Glazing, Graining, MARBLING, PAPER HANGING, &c., and a share of the public patronage is solicited.
All orders promptly attended to.
JOHN T. HAYWARD,
WM. V. HAYWARD.
Quincy, Feb. 26.

Painting Business.
THE subscribers having formed a copartnership in business, under the firm of
DAVENPORT & POPE,
and having opened a Shop, on the premises of George Curtis, in School Street, are now prepared to answer all orders with neatness and dispatch Painting, Graining, Varnishing and GLAZING. done to satisfaction, and in a workmanlike manner.
Small as well as large jobs thankfully received;
and a share of public patronage respectfully solicited.
WILLIAM DAVENPORT,
CHARLES E. POPE.
Quincy, Oct. 9.

LIVERY STABLE.
THE subscriber having purchased the establishment of George J. Jones, on Hancock street, and made additions thereto, is prepared, at the old stand, to accommodate his friends
and the public with
Horses and Carriages.
PLEASURE PARTIES furnished with teams
and drivers, or single carriages, at the shortest
notice.
Personal attention given to the business, and a liberal support from the public solicited.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

VESTS, (Custom Made), from 1 75 to $5.
T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31.

Watches! Watches!!
25 per cent less than cash prices.
B. F. MESERVEY,
Has just purchased at an Assignee's Sale
One thousand Dollars Worth of
GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES.
Will fail to be a Great Inducement to those who wish to purchase, if they will
CALL AND EXAMINE THE STOCK.
Quincy, Feb. 12.

India Rubber Boots, Shoes, &c.
NOTWITHSTANDING the great advance
in the prices of India Rubber Boots and Shoes,
HENRY A. HALL & CO.
being headquarters for every variety of India
Rubber and Gutta Percha goods, will sell these indispensable articles, all warranted first quality,
until further notice at the following low rates:
Men's Heavy Boots per pair $3 37
" Light and Heavy Overshoes " 3 25
Ladies' do. do. do. 56
" Long Boots " 1 50
" do. do. do. 1 25
" do. do. do. 45
" do. do. do. 45
" do. do. do. 2 25
" do. do. do. 1 50
" do. do. do. 4 00
Men's Wood-lined Mittens " 50
Also—India Rubber Soles and Cement, of superior quality.
WAREHOUSE, 146 CONGRESS ST.
Boston, Nov. 20.

Quincy Bakery.
THE subscribers would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that they have taken the Quincy Bake-House,
and intend carrying on the baking business in all its branches—adhering strictly to the Cash system—and hope by manufacturing the Best Quality of Bread,
to merit the patronage of the Citizens of this and
the neighboring towns.
Trout & Glover.
Quincy, Oct. 16.

Boston Almanac for 1859
For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE,
Quincy, Jan 1

MILLINERY
AND
FANCY GOODS STORE.
THE subscriber would respectfully inform the Ladies of Quincy and vicinity, that she has opened a Millinery and Fancy Goods Store,
at her residence on
FRANKLIN ST., SOUTH QUINCY,
where she will keep a full assortment of Articles
usually found in a Store of this kind.
—ALSO—
DRESS MAKING,
Done at Short Notice.
Mrs. Mary E. Curtis.
Quincy, Oct. 9.

1859.
OLD Farmer's Almanac.
Brown's Almanac and Pocket Memorandum.
Family Christian Almanac,
Lilly's Almanac,
Juvenile Almanac,
Diaries of all kinds and sizes, at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Dec. 11.

Fall and Winter Fashions for 1858
Just received by
JOHN DINEGAN,
Hancock St., a few rods from
THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
—ALSO—
New Styles of Fancy Cassimeres & Vestings
CONSISTING OF Velvets, Silks and Satins
—ALSO—
A CHOICE SELECTION
OF
French, English & German
BLACK AND COLORED
BROADCLOTHS and DOESKINS
which will be
MADE TO ORDER in the LATEST STYLE.
Quincy, Sept. 11.

REMOVAL.
JOSEPH MORAN
TAILOR
RESPECTFULLY informs his friends, the inhabitants of Quincy, and the public generally, that he has removed from Goodnow's Building, corner of Hancock and Granite streets,
to the corner of
Hancock Street and Cottage Avenue.
Opposite Pantons' Currying Shop.
He warrants to supply his customers with all
kinds of Garments on the MOST REASONABLE TERMS
and in the
BEST AND NEWEST STYLES.
He also pledges himself to FIT, in any Style
of Garment, as he has had no misfit since his commencement in business.
Call and Give Him a Trial. — 23
Quincy, Nov. 13.

BROADCLOTH Frock and Sack COATS,
(Custom Made), from 6 to $12.
T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31

CALL AT
J. W. LOMBARD'S,
Over Elbridge Clapp's Store, and there
SAVE YOUR MONEY
BY BUYING
BUSINESS COATS, FROCKS & SACKS
At Prices varying from $2 to $6 50.
Patterns of All Descriptions, from $1 to $2 00.
Boys' Jackets,
from 1 75 to $3 00.
Call early and Replenish your wardrobe.
Quincy, Feb. 12.

OVER COATS, (Custom Made), from 7 to $12.
T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31.

THE CITIZENS'
CLOTHING HOUSE
STILL AHEAD.
Mark the Prices!
GOOD HEAVY, WARM, SERVICEABLE
Double Breast
OVER COATS!
$3 00.
HEAVY, WARM,
Durable, Fall and Winter
PANTS,
ONLY $1 25 PER PAIR.
UNDER SHIRTS AND DRAWERS,
FROM 40 TO 50 CENTS.
In connection with other styles of Fashionable
Clothing, as Low in proportion.
We challenge the entire trade to produce a
parallel instance.
Nos. 29 and 30 Rock Square,
Is the ONLY place for these bargains
IN BOSTON.
JACKMAN & MERRILL,
Nov. 20.

HEAVY Ribbed UNDER-SHIRTS and DRAWERS, from 70 to $1 37.
T. DODDS.
Quincy, Oct. 31.

J. W. LOMBARD
Having replenished his Stock for
FALL & WINTER
DESIRES to invite the public generally to call and examine his Stock—which he has selected with care—consists in part of Pilot Cloth, Beavers, Doeskins,
Kerseymeres, Velvet and Satin Vestings.
Over Coats, Ready Made, from $8 to $10.
Business Coats, Ready Made, from 6 to $8.
Ready Made Pants from 2 25 to $5 50.

Gentlemen Furnishing their own Cloths can have their Garments made with care.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Amortypes, Melanotypes and Photographs.
MR. I. H. HOUSTON,
WOULD inform the Citizens of Quincy and vicinity that he has fitted up a room in
GOODNOW'S BUILDING,
and invites the attention of all who wish anything pertaining to the art. All Pictures warranted to give satisfaction.
Quincy, March 5

Lost,
ON the evening of the 22d inst., a Buffalo Robe, between the Unitarian Meetinghouse and the residence of the subscriber. The finder will be suitably rewarded by returning it to JOHN PARKER
Quincy, Feb. 26

New Paper Hangings
—AND—
BORDERINGS.
4000 Rolls Paper Hangings,
New and Beautiful Patterns to be sold at prices ranging from SIX CENTS TO ONE DOLLAR Per Roll—up Good Paper and Handsome Designs and Colors, as can be found at any store in the city for the prices.
—ALSO—
50 NEW PATTERNS,
OF BORDERINGS,
AT PRICES FROM ONE CENT PER YARD, UPWARDS, ACCORDING TO THE STYLE.
The whole making a very attractive assortment, and from which good selections can be made and good bargains obtained.
A liberal discount made to those who buy for several rooms or for new houses.
Call and Examine.
C. GILL & CO., - - HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy, Feb. 26.

NOW READY
A FULL AND COMPLETE ASSORTMENT
OF
Paper Hangings, Borders,
Curtains, &c.,
OF THE
Latest and Most Desirable Patterns.
Can be found at
ELBRIDGE CLAPP'S STORE,
Hancock Street.
THE prices are so low that everybody can afford to have their dwellings adorned and rendered attractive with these neat and beautiful papers. Please call and examine the Goods and prices.
Quincy, Feb. 26

Kidderminster Carpets!
NEW PATTERNS—never before exhibited in this market—now opening by the New England Carpet Co.
75 HANOVER STREET, BOSTON.
March 5

DAVID B. STETSON
WOULD inform his friends and the public
that he has
Returned to his Old Stand
Where he will keep a good assortment of
WEST INDIA GOODS, FAMILY PRO-VISIONS, FANCY GOODS, AND AN-TIQUE, CHINA, GLASS, AND BRASS-WARE, SILK, CASSIMERES, RUSSIA SALT, &c.
and all the popular Medicines, Essences, Flavoring Extracts, &c. A good assortment of

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the premises.
South Quincy, March 12.

For Sale,
ONE-half of a HOUSE within one min-
ute's walk of the Depot. Rent, $50 per year. Inquire of the Subscriber, near the pre-

Poetry.

For the Patriot.

Katie.

To-day while counting o'er
The buds in Memory's garden, comes a dream
Of one all beautiful: the gathering sheen
Of Childhood's sky kisses a laughing stream,
That leaps upon the shore;
And Innocence, where wave and flower meet,
Makes happy music with her dimpled feet.

Her laugh comes back to me
So silvery clear, I start; that forehead fair,
The violet eye with soul-tho't mirrored there,
And the long tresses of the sunny hair,
Which in childish glee
She sweeps away from off her lily brow,
Thick clustering round to kiss its fairness now,

All—all with joy I see,
The eye upraised with look so gentle, meek,
Or, now half curtained, laughingly asleep,
While the long lashes sweep the rounded cheek,
Where blue-veined tracery
Creeps here and there 'twixt every shining tress,

Adding fresh charms to childhood's loveliness.
Amid the brother band
She glides all lovingly; how fair the sight,
A sister sweet folds in her arms so white
Each little head; none other claims the right;
And day by day that hand
With mystic roof weaves her young life with theirs;

The shuttle glides—how fast the morning wears.
I know the child is fled;
A lovely maiden comes to me in dreams;
Yet the same splendor in the blue eye beams,
While sunny hair ripples in wayward gleams
Around the fair young head;
I know she moves the central star, to light
A pastor's home—long be that hearthstone bright.

Beyond the shadowy pale
I stretch my hand, and point her destiny
With rainbow haze; a flowery life-road see,
Then trembling cry—My God it rests with Thee,
Alas! a low deep wail
From breaking hearts, I know the fair is fled; Death found strange beauty; swift his arrow sped.

Our Father, 'tis thy hand!
The stricken feel it, yet 'tis hard to say—
Thy will be done. No parent near to lay
In those cold arms a darling's form of clay,
And with the spirit stand
'neath the bright portals of Aerial day,
Till enter spirit's hallowed home-sway.

It could not be O God!
It could not be, then fold them tenderly
In thy Almighty arms; soothe lovingly
Each bleeding heart, and fill with Heaven and Thee.
So shall they kiss the rod,
The soul her shining wing shall lift from dust,
And sing—'Altho' He slay me, I will trust.'
Braintree, Mass. Oke.

Minutes.

We are but minutes—little things!
Each one furnished with sixty wings,
With which we fly our unswerving track,
And not a minute ever comes back.
We are but minutes—yet each one bears
A little burden of joys or cares.
Take patiently the minutes of pain—
The worst of minutes cannot remain.
We are but minutes—when we bring
A few of the drops from pleasure's spring;
Taste their sweetness while yet we stay—
It takes but a moment to fly away.
We are but minutes—use us well—
For how we are used we must one day tell.
Who uses minutes, has hours to use.
Who loses minutes, whole hours must lose.

Anecdotes.

An inquisitive female visited Boston jail recently and asked one of the prisoner what he was in for?

For stealing a horse.
Are you not sorry?
Yes.
Wouldn't you try and do better next time?
Yes, I'll steal two!

Is a man's pocket empty when he has got something in it?
Why no.
Well, mine is empty, and I have got a big hole in it.

What has been your business? said a judge to a prisoner at the bar.
Why, your honor, I use to be a dentist—now I am a pig-sticker; then I put teeth in—now I knock 'em out.

Why is a muf like a fool?
Because it holds a lady's hand without squeezing it.

Mr. Singlestick mystified a tea-party by remarking that women are facts. When pressed to explain the meaning, he said:
Facts are stubborn things.

As two country lads were passing a druggist's establishment where a sign was exhibited which had on it the words—Congress Water—one asked the other what sort of water that was.
Why, you fool, replied his companion, that's what they spout at Congress.

A little boy who was sent with a servant girl to a Catholic church, because his Protestant parents feared the noise he might make on his first appearance at church, told his father on his return, that he didn't like the preacher, because he put on a night gown before folks.

NATHANIEL WHITE, —HAS FOR SALE— LUMBER, Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand

Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,
QUINCY CANAL WHARF.
July 10, 1852.

SEASONED LUMBER,
Of all descriptions, at prices to suit the times.
DIMENSION FRAMES,
Finished at short notice.
Best quality of Lime constantly on hand.
ALSO—Good Pine Wood at $6 a Cord.
For sale at BRACKETT'S WHARF.
Quincy, May 8

FISHER A. KINGSBURY,
Counsellor at Law,
Commissioner for the States of
MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VER-
MONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE ISLAND AND NEW YORK.
Weymouth, Mass.
Nov. 26.

ATTENTION. The Largest and Most Complete ASSORTMENT OF HARDWARE

DOORS, SASHES, &c. &c.,
BLINDS
BAILEY, CARVER & CO.
Having recently made large additions to our stock of
BUILDING MATERIALS,
we are prepared to furnish them at prices to correspond with the times.
CHEAPER THAN EVER!!
We will sell Nails by the Ton or single Pound.
DOORS,
SASHES,
BLINDS, WINDOW GLASS,
NAILS,
SHUT LEAD,
DRAWING PINS,
PRIMING PINS, DOOR BELLS, SCREWS,
&c., &c.
MORTICE LOCKS,—in a great variety
ALSO—Pail, Rim, Closet, Store and Sash
LOCKS; MORTICE, THUMB AND PEOPLE'S
LATCHES;
Porcelain, Glass, Mineral and Mahogany Knobs;
Wrought, Fancy Plate,
AND AXLE PULLEYS,
A good assortment of Hinges of all kinds.
STRAP, BLIND, AND T HINGERS;
SHOVELS; DOOR SCRAPERS;
Bacon's Patent Lever Blind Fast—Growth's
improved Blind Fast. Also—A great variety of Sash Fasteners.
Foster's Patent Window Supporter,
The best thing ever used in the place of weights;
DOOR BELLS HUNG TO ORDER.
DON'T FORGET
AT THE OLD STAND OF
BAILEY, CARVER & CO.,
SCHOOL STREET.
Quincy, Jan. 23.

Granular Fuel.

Patented, June, 1852.

Manufactured from Brushwood and Twigs

For Kindling Coal Fires

AND all purposes for which a quick hot fire is needed. It is intended

By its Cheapness and Cleanliness

TO SUPERSEDE CHARCOAL.

It is especially adapted for Summer Use, when a quick fire is wanted but a short time. As it can be used in all kinds of Stoves, and being allowed to go out immediately after using, enables the user to practice Economy.

The extreme low price of this Fuel is also a great advantage, being but one-half the price of charcoal. It kindles quick, is clean and cheap, and will be sold and delivered at the following low prices for cash:—

Under 25 bushels, 10 cents per bushel.

Over 25 " " " " " "

Orders left at the Store of E. Clapp, Henry A.

Newcomb, Peter W. Newcomb, Quincy Point, or

at Badger & Hanson's Machine Shop, will be

promptly attended to.

MANUFACTURED AND SOLD BY

GEORGE SAVIL,

Rear of Badger & Hanson's—Cemetery st.

Quincy, Aug. 14.

Pickles.

50 GALLONS of Pickles just received and

for sale cheap for cash.

Geo. L. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Feb. 28

Pure Cider Vinegar.

800 GALLONS PURE CIDER VIN-

EGAR, made on the farm formerly owned by B. V. French, now in store and for sale by the barrel or smaller quantity, by

GEORGE L. BAXTER & CO.

Quincy, Aug. 15.

Boot and Shoe Findings.

JUST received and for sale low, a lot of and Shoe Findings, &c., by

Quincy, Apr. 18

Fresh Tamarinds,

FOR sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Oct. 16.

QUINCY BOOKSTORE —AND— BOOK BINDERY.

Established in the Year 1838.

BOOKS, STATIONERY
AND
FANCY GOODS

C. GILL & CO. have always on hand a large assortment of the above—being fully prepared to meet all the wants of this market.

BLANK BOOKS
of any particular pattern, made to order.
STATIONERY, IN GREAT VARIETY,
at the lowest prices.

Miscellaneous and Juvenile Books,
will be sold low
ALL SCHOOL BOOKS,
used in this and neighboring towns,
at publishers' prices.

Book Binding.
ALL KINDS OF
MAGAZINES, PAMPHLETS,
SHEET MUSIC, &c.,
bound in a neat and durable style.
"Small Profit" to ensure "Ready Sales."
Full equivalent for your money.

Twenty years' practice has proved these rules to be good ones, and we shall continue to be governed by them, in all branches of our business.

C. GILL & CO.
HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy, March 20.

New Store! New Goods!

B. F. MESERVEY.

HAVING returned to Quincy and taken the Store, one door north of David B. Stetson's Variety Store, in

JOHN'S BUILDING,

Will keep constantly on hand, a large stock of

Gold and Silver Watches,

Fob, Curb and Vest Chains,

LOCKETS,

Cameo, Gold Stone, Jet, Florentine, Painted,

Coral and Mossie Jewelry.

GOLD BRACELETS, BELT PINS,

Gents' Pins and Studs,

FINGER RINGS,

Together with a large assortment of

Silver and Plated Ware,

Clocks and Fancy Goods.

Having his Goods direct from the manufacturer, he will be enabled to sell them at less than the usual retail prices. He will also keep a

LARGER STOCK

of all Goods warranted as represented.

Old Gold and Silver taken in exchange.

Gold Plates Engraved.

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired in a faithful manner, and done when PROMISED.

Quincy Oct. 24

GROCERIES, FLOUR,

—AND—
PROVISIONS!

THE Subscriber would respectfully invite the Inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity to call

and examine his stock of Groceries, Flour and

Provisions, where they will find a

Good assortment of all kinds

of Goods kept commonly in a Grocery Store,

which he will sell at the lowest wholesale prices.

A few more chests of Old Hyslop Tea at 25 cents per pound.

50 Tubs of prime dairy Butter.

200 Bushels of Chenango and Long Red Potatoes.

All those in want of Goods will find it for their interest to call and examine, as they will find a good assortment at the lowest prices.

Goods delivered to any part of the Town

free of expense.

H. VINAL,

at the Old Stand of Faxon & Brothers.

Quincy, Oct. 27.

National Police Gazette.

THIS Great Journal of Crime and Criminals

is in its Twelfth Year, and is widely circulated throughout the country. It contains all

C. C. JOHNSON, Druggist and Apothecary, GODDOW'S BUILDING,

Corner of Hancock and Granite streets.
Keeps constantly on hand a large assortment
of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs,
Fancy Articles, Perfumery, Havana Cigars,
Foreign Fruits and Swedish Lecches.

Physicians' Prescriptions,
Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch; and warranted of the purest quality.
Quincy, Nov. 13.

Important to Housekeepers.

SOHMER & CO.'S POLISH,

IS conceded by all who have used it, to be the BEST ARTICLE yet discovered for Cleaning and Polishing Piano-fortes and Furniture of every description, in the shortest possible time.
Any lady or child can use it. It removes
OIL, GREASE, OR STAINS
of any kind, and will make any article of Furniture look as well as new. It is decidedly the best article in use for restoring Cane, Leather, Harnasses, Patent Leather Boots, &c. &c.
$3 per dozen, or 37 cents Single Bottle.

SOLD BY SOHMER & CO.

At his Upholstery Room,

265 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

Persons wishing Furniture Repaired or certain work executed, can have it done at their house, by addressing a line through the mail.

Boston, Jan. 22.

YOU HAD BETTER

TRY

My Mother's Salve.

THIS CELEBRATED

PREPARATION has obtained an enviable and

world-wide reputation for its great cura-

tive properties, and has been the agent for

relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to

health and usefulness, that the proprietors

feel it a duty they owe to the public for their

generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve,

to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all

afflicted may avail themselves of its healing properties.

"My Mother's Salve"

IS A PERFECT CHEMICAL COMPOUND, prepared from

ROOTS, HERBS AND GUMS, gathered from the forest, and possesses

HEALING, SOOTHING AND PAIN-RELIEVING

VIRTUES

never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.

IS SAFE AND EFFECTUAL. All those troubled

with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM,

ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such

like diseases, will find in its use great relief,

and in most cases a permanent cure.

"My Mother's Salve"

IS A BURN OR SCALD, takes out the fire,

soothes the irritating pain, and heals the

wound more speedily and effectually than any

other preparation.

"My Mother's Salve"

IS WORTHY OF CONFIDENCE, and thousands having

used it and recommended it to their friends

is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS FOR USING

"My Mother's Salve"

Are simple. Every mother and nurse know

how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and

all who use the Salve will apply it in propo-

riety, renewed at times, as good judgment

may direct. For Rheumatism and other

pains, rub the parts smartly with the Salve.

In cases of Cough, Tightness of the Lungs,

Sore Throat, and such like ailments, rub in cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-

pared by A. M. BECK.

BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors.

No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.

For Sale in Quincy by MRS. E. HAYDEN

Oct. 30.

ly

Hall's Great

SCROFULAR REMEDY.

THIS Purely Vegetable Preparation is pleasant

and agreeable to the taste, and simple in its

action, causing neither vomiting or purging. It

acts directly upon the primary cause of disease—

regulates the Bowels, removes all vitiated secretions, giving a healthy action to the Liver and correct tone to the Stomach. It overcomes that feeling of Lassitude which is often experienced in the Spring and Summer, and renews and restores the vital energy and Physical Strength.

In thousands of cases of Scrofula and Scrofu-

lar Humors, such as Salt Rheum, Erysipelas,

Scald Head, Tumors, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Ever-sore, White Swelling, Dropsy, Boils, Barber's

Itch, Piles, Old Sores, and all diseases which

manifest themselves by Eczema or Eruptions on

the Skin, it has been used with the most gratifying

success, after every other known remedy has been tried and failed to afford relief

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XXIII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, MARCH 26th, 1859.

NUMBER XIII.

FASHIONABLE Tailoring Establishment

J. W. LOMBARD,

HAS taken rooms over the store of E. Clapp, (formerly occupied by Mr. J. M. Beckford,) and wishes respectfully to inform his friends and the public generally that he intends to carry on THE TAILORING BUSINESS.

In all its branches; and hopes by punctuality and strict attention to business to merit a share of patronage.

JOS. W. LOMBARD, Jr.

Quincy, Apr 18

BUSINESS COATS, (Custom Made,) from 6 to $10.

T. DODDS.

Quincy, Oct. 31.

Put this out and keep it for Reference.

Great Chance to Save Money!!

BY HAVING YOUR CLOTHES MADE BY

C. A. COLLINS,

203 Washington Street,

Cor. Bromfield street, up stairs.

REASONS WHY. 1st. My rent is less than any Custom Tailor in Boston.

2. I buy my Goods for Cash, taking advantage of the markets.

3. I sell my Goods for Cash only.

4. I make no bad debts for Customers to pay for.

5. I work for the interest of my Customers.

Gentlemen can depend on having Garments which for style, fit, nice trimming, and faithful work, cannot be surpassed.

I pay particular attention to making Pants, being the most difficult of all garments to fit nicely and at the same time perfectly easy.

My Pants are cut by a system original with myself, and used by no other person. I warrant my Pants to retain their shape at the knee till worn out, and to fit handsomely and be easy in every particular.

Some of the Prices.

I sell a nice Frack or Dress Coat, from German Black or colored Broad Cloth, made to order, for from $15 to $25.

Black German Dye Pants, 5 to 8.

Suit Band and other style Pants, 5 to 8.

Best quality Suits, 12 to 15.

Black, Valencia and Plain Vests, 25 to 50.

Business Coats, 10 to 15.

Spring and Fall Over-Coats, 10 to 15.

Water Over-Coats, 12 to 20.

Where gentlemen furnishing their own Cloth, I make and trim it for them into Garments in the best style, at less prices than any other Tailor in Quincy.

Always on hand the newest and best goods of all the manufacturers of this and foreign countries.

CHESTER A. COLLINS,

203 Washington street, corner Bromfield street,

Quincy, Mass., BOSTON.

July 17.

To Boot and Shoe MANUFACTURERS.

WE wish to call your attention to the following Goods, which we are prepared to sell on the most favorable terms.

Black and Colored Dressing, finished especial Black, Brown and Drab Caps, Congress smocks.

Black Brown and Drab Felts for snow shoes, Lastings, all wool, Italian do. Silk and Cotton Wap do.

Serge de Meris.

Robinet Gussel Wels, of beautiful quality for Congress shoes.

Black and Colored Dressing, finished especial Black, Brown and Drab Caps, Congress smocks.

Black Brown and Drab Felts for snow shoes, Lastings, all wool, Italian do. Silk and Cotton Wap do.

Serge de Meris.

Robinet Gussel Wels, of beautiful quality for Congress shoes.

Black and Colored Dressing, finished especial Black, Brown and Drab Caps, Congress smocks.

Black Brown and Drab Felts for snow shoes, Lastings, all wool, Italian do. Silk and Cotton Wap do.

Serge de Meris.

Robinet Gussel Wels, of beautiful quality for Congress shoes.

Black and Colored Dressing, finished especial Black, Brown and Drab Caps, Congress smocks.

Black Brown and Drab Felts for snow shoes, Lastings, all wool, Italian do. Silk and Cotton Wap do.

Serge de Meris.

Robinet Gussel Wels, of beautiful quality for Congress shoes.

Black and Colored Dressing, finished especial Black, Brown and Drab Caps, Congress smocks.

Black Brown and Drab Felts for snow shoes, Lastings, all wool, Italian do. Silk and Cotton Wap do.

Serge de Meris.

Robinet Gussel Wels, of beautiful quality for Congress shoes.

Black and Colored Dressing, finished especial Black, Brown and Drab Caps, Congress smocks.

Black Brown and Drab Felts for snow shoes, Lastings, all wool, Italian do. Silk and Cotton Wap do.

Serge de Meris.

Robinet Gussel Wels, of beautiful quality for Congress shoes.

Black and Colored Dressing, finished especial Black, Brown and Drab Caps, Congress smocks.

Black Brown and Drab Felts for snow shoes, Lastings, all wool, Italian do. Silk and Cotton Wap do.

Serge de Meris.

Robinet Gussel Wels, of beautiful quality for Congress shoes.

Black and Colored Dressing, finished especial Black, Brown and Drab Caps, Congress smocks.

Black Brown and Drab Felts for snow shoes, Lastings, all wool, Italian do. Silk and Cotton Wap do.

Serge de Meris.

Robinet Gussel Wels, of beautiful quality for Congress shoes.

Black and Colored Dressing, finished especial Black, Brown and Drab Caps, Congress smocks.

Black Brown and Drab Felts for snow shoes, Lastings, all wool, Italian do. Silk and Cotton Wap do.

Serge de Meris.

Robinet Gussel Wels, of beautiful quality for Congress shoes.

Black and Colored Dressing, finished especial Black, Brown and Drab Caps, Congress smocks.

Black Brown and Drab Felts for snow shoes, Lastings, all wool, Italian do. Silk and Cotton Wap do.

Serge de Meris.

Robinet Gussel Wels, of beautiful quality for Congress shoes.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION
Over Mr. E. Clapp's Store, on Hancock St.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

TWO DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.

No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.

Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business.

Letters and communications, (postage paid,) will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers.

Railway Village, JOSIAH BARCOCK.

West District, GEORGE H. LOCKE.

Milton, CHARLES BEECK.

Dorchester, ORIN P. RACON.

Weymouth, F. A. KINGSBURY.

Abrington, JOSEPH CLIVERLY.

South Scituate, SAMUEL A. TURNER.

Brookline, (N. Y.) GERSHOM DREW.

Miscellaneous.

The Other Side.

Break-fast was just over at the parsonage; the table was cleared away, the chairs set back, and Mrs. Ashton, in a neat morning dress, with a pretty little cap on her pretty little head, was standing with her arm over her tall husband's shoulder, looking at the morning paper. And as fine looking a pair they were as you will be likely to see in a summer's day. The Rev. Clement Ashton was indeed the handsomest man in the parish, and that with good reason; whether he ever had any idea of his own on the subject, was entirely his own affair.

Mrs. Ashton, as she was styled by the parish—Christiana, as her godfathers and godmothers named her—Christsey, as her brothers and her husband called her—was not usually regarded as remarkably handsome. Her features were not very regular, and she was not fair; but her eyes so bright and clear, her figure so elastic and trim, her abundant hair, and above all, her frank, easy manners, and the expression of sunny good temper and perfect openness which lighted up her face, made most people consider her a very attractive woman. Every one in the parish liked her, from the two old people who sat near the stove in church, and always came round to get their dinner at the parsonage on Sundays, to Mrs. Dr. Rush, who was by far the grandest lady in the parish.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashton had been married about six months, after an engagement of almost three years, during which time they had corresponded vigorously, but had seen but very little of each other, for Mr. Ashton was an assistant in an overgrown parish in one of our larger cities, and could seldom be spared; and Christsey was a teacher in another great city, where she supported herself, and helped by her labors to educate one of her brothers for the ministry. It was not till this brother had finished his studies, and was on an independent footing, that she had consented to be married.

George cannot support himself entirely, she said, in answer to the remonstrance of her lover; he is not strong enough to labor as many of the young do, and he needs my help. I know that he has talents that will make him eminently useful in the calling he has chosen; I know, too, that if he attempts any more than he is doing, his health will fail, and he will become discouraged. You must content yourself to board a while longer with your good friend, Mrs. Bicketts, Clement.

And to this resolution she steadfastly adhered, despite Clement's persuasion, and those of George himself, who was much distressed at the thought, that his sister's marriage should be put off on his account. Under these circumstances the lovers did not see much of each other, and they were finally married, without Christsey's ever having suspected her husband of any infirmity of temper. She had suffered much on discovering that such was the case, and felt inclined sometimes to wish she had never been disenchanted; but she was a very wise woman; she knew her husband's intrinsic excellencies, and his strength as well as weakness, and altering and old maxim to her purpose she resolved both to endure and to cure.

What do you set about to-day? she asked, as Mr. Ashton, having exhausted the paper, arose from the sofa corner.

Visiting, replied his reverence. I must go up to old Mrs. Balcomb's and see the Jones's, and try to prevail on Phil Taggart to let his children come to Sunday-school once more. Then I have to see poor Maggy Carpenter, who is much worse again; and if I have time I shall get into the omnibus and ride out to the mills to see that girl Miss Flower mentioned to me yesterday.

What a round! exclaimed Christsey. You will never get home to dinner at two o'clock. I think I will put it off till six, and run the risk of being thought "stuck up," like poor cousin Lily.

What do you mean?

Why, you know they always dine at six to suit the doctor's arrangements. One day Lily called about some society matter, on a lady who lives not a hundred miles from her street, about five o'clock in the afternoon. The lady herself came to the door, and Lily was about entering, when she thought she perceived the smell of roast meat in the hall, and said very politely, but perhaps it is now your dinner hour?

No, indeed! replied madam, with indignation. We don't dine at this time of day; we are not so stuck up!

Poor Lily! exclaimed Mr. Ashton, laughing. What did she say?

O, she did her errand and retired, of course. There was nothing to be said.

Mr. Ashton turned to go into the study, and as he did so, his foot caught in the carpet and he was nearly thrown down. Christsey started in alarm, but he recovered himself and said pettishly—

I do wish you would have that carpet nailed down. I have stumbled over it twenty times in the course of a week, I do believe!

I thought Amy had fastened it, returned his wife, with perfect mildness. I am sure I saw her at work there. The door must pull it out of place, I think.

O! of course there is some excellent reason for its being out of order. It seems to me that with all your ingenuity, you might find some way of making it more secure.

He turned into his study, shutting the door after him with unnecessary force, and Mrs. Ashton returned to the fire and arranged her work basket for the day, with something of a cloud on her face. She was not left long undisturbed, for Mr. Ashton's voice was soon heard calling her in impatient tones.—She sighed, but arose and entered the next room, where she found her husband standing before his bureau, partly dressed, and with shirts, cravats and handkerchiefs scattered about him like a new kind of snow, while his face bore an expression of melancholy reproach at once painful and ludicrous.

What is the matter? she asked.

O, the old story! Not a button where it ought to be; not a shirt ready to wear! I do not mean to be unreasonable, he continued, in an agitated voice, as he tumbled over the things, to the manifest discomposure of the clean linen, but really, Christsey, I think that you might see that my clothes are in order. I am sure I would do more than that for you; but here I am delayed and put to the greatest inconvenience, because you cannot sew on these buttons! I should really think that a little of the time you spend in writing to George and Henry might as well be bestowed on me.

This address was delivered in a tone and manner of mournful distress, which might have been justified, perhaps, if Mrs. Ashton had picked his pocket as he was going to church.

What is the matter with this shirt? asked Christsey, quietly examining one of the discarded garments. It seems to have all the buttons in their places; and this one, too, is quite perfect; and here is another. My dear husband, how many shirts do you usually wear at a time?

O! it is all very well for you to smile, my love, but I do assure you I found several with no means at all of fastening the wristbands. We had breakfast late, and now I shall be detained half an hour, when I ought to be away. I know you mean well, but if you had served a year's apprenticeship with my mother before you were married, it might have been all the better for your housekeeping.

It might have prevented it altogether, thought Christsey; but the thought was repressed in a moment. She picked up and replaced the scattered apparel, folded the snowy cravats, warmed her husband's over-shoes, and saw that the beautiful little communion service presented by a lady of the parish, and consecrated to such sufferers as Maggy Carpenter, was in readiness. Before he left the house, Mr. Ashton had forgot both his fretfulness and its cause. He kissed his wife, thanked her for her trouble, proposed that she should send for Lily to spend the day with her, and strode away with his usual elastic step and pleasant face.

Christsey watched him from the door till he turned into the next street, and then went back to the fireside, and to her own reflections.

This fretfulness and tendency to be greatly disturbed at little matters, was almost her husband's only fault. He was self-sacrificing to the last degree, faithful and indefatigable as an apostle almost in his professional labors, liberal to a fault, and in his administration of parish matters, wise and conciliating to all. He could bear injuries, real injuries, with the greatest patience, and was never known to harbor resentment.

But with all these good qualities, Mr. Ashton had one fault—a fault which threatened to disturb and finally destroy the comfort of married life. If his wife by extravagance or bad management, had wasted his income and involved him in difficulties, it is probable that he would never have spoken an unkind word to her; but the fact of a button being missed, or book removed from its place, would produce a lamentation half indignant and half pathetic, which rung in Christsey's ears, and made her heart ache long after Clement had forgotten the circumstance altogether.—Strange as it may seem, Mr. Ashton never thought of this habit, of which, indeed, he was but imperfectly conscious as to its being a fault.

He thought, indeed, that it was a pity he should be so sensitive, and sometimes said to his ideas in this respect; but that his peculiar trials, as he was pleased to call them, ever became trials to other people, he did not imagine. He had, indeed, remarked, in spite of himself, that Christsey's face was not as cheerful, nor her spirits as light as when they were first married—and he regretted that the cares of housekeeping should wear so heavily upon her; but nothing was further from his thought than that anything in himself could have produced the change.

Mr. Ashton, exhausted with his day's work, turned towards home with his mind and heart full of all that he had seen and felt. He said very little during dinner, but when the table cloth was removed, and he sat down in his dressing gown and slippers before the fire, he related to his wife all the events of the day, describing with all the enthusiasm of his earnest nature, the patience and holy resignation he had witnessed, and ended by saying—

Certainly, religion has power to sustain and console under all trials, and under every misfortune.

Except the loss of a button, replied Christsey, seriously. That is a misfortune which neither philosophy nor religion can enable one to sustain.

The Rev. Mr. Ashton started as though a pistol had been discharged at his ear.

Why, what do you mean, Christsey? Just what I say, returned Christsey, with the same soberness. Yourself, for instance; you can endure, with the greatest resignation, the loss of friends and misfortune; I never saw you ruffled by rudeness or abuse from others, or show any impatience under severe pain; but the loss of a button from your shirt, or a nail from the carpet, gives you a perfect right to be unreasonably unkind, and—I must say it—un-Christian.

Mr. Ashton arose, and walked up and down the room in some agitation.

I did not think, my love, he said at last, in a trembling tone, that you would attach so much importance to a single hasty word. Perhaps I spoke too quickly, but even if it were so, did we not promise to be patient with each other's infirmities? I am sure I am very glad to bear with—

Mr. Ashton paused; he was an eminently truthful man, and upon consideration, he really could not remember that he had ever had anything to bear from his wife.

If it were only once, my dear husband, I should say nothing about it; but you do not seem in the least aware how the habit has grown upon you. There has not been a day this week in which you have not made my heart ache by some such outburst of fretfulness.

Mr. Ashton was astonished; but as he began to reflect, he was still more surprised to find that his wife's accusation was quite true.

One day it had been about the front door mat, the next about a mislaid Review, and then a lost pair of gloves, which, after all, were found in his own pocket. He felt that it was all true, and as his conscience brought forward one instance of unkindness after another—real unkindness—he sat down again and covered his face with his hands.

But this is not the worst, continued Christsey, becoming agitated in her turn. I fear—I cannot help fearing—that I shall be led to feel as I ought not towards you. I fear lest I shall in time lose the power of respecting my husband; and when respect goes, Clement, love does not last long. This very moment I found myself wishing I never knew you. Christsey burst into tears, an unusual demonstration for her; and Clement springing up once more, traversed the room once or twice, and then sat down by his wife's side.

Christiana, he said mournfully, I have deserved it—I feel that I have but to lose your respect, your love—my punishment is greater than I can bear, Christsey.

It was but the thought of a moment, replied Christsey, checking her sobs; but I am frightened that the idea should ever have entered my mind. If I ever should, I would rather die this moment.

God forbid! ejaculated her husband, clasping her in his arms. But why, my dearest love, have you never told me of this before?

It is neither a grateful or a gracious office for a wife to reprove her husband, or a woman her pastor, replied Christiana, laying her head on his shoulder; and if I had not been left here all day, I think I should hardly have got my courage up now. But if you are not angry, I am glad that I have told you all that was in my heart; for indeed, my dear, it has been a sad, aching heart, this long time. And now I must tell you how those two unlucky shirts came to be buttonless.

No, don't say one word about them, my love, said Clement, impatiently. I will never complain again, if the sleeves are missing as well as the buttons.

But I must tell you, because I really mean to have my house-keeping affairs in as good order as any one. I was looking over your shirts yesterday afternoon, and had put them all to rights but these two, when Mrs. Lennox came in, in great distress to say that her sister's child was much worse, and they feared dying; so I dropped all, and went over there. You know how it was. No one had any calmness or presence of mind. The child's convulsions were frightful to witness; the mother was in hysterics, and Mrs. Lennox worse than nobody at all. It was nearly midnight before I could get away, and meantime Amy had put the room in order, and restored the shirts to their places.

Any put her head into the room. If you please, missus, a young woman in the kitchen would like to see missus a minute.

Missus arose and went into the kitchen, and Mr. Ashton, taking a candle from the table, entered the study and locked himself in. Christsey waited for a long time, and at last went and tapped at the door. It was opened with a fervent kiss, and though there were not many words spoken on either side, there was a light in the eyes of both husband and wife which showed the understanding was perfect between them.

How to Sustain Your Local Paper.

1.—Lay aside your fears that the Editor will get rich faster than his neighbors. We have never heard of a man making more than a decent living by a publication of a country newspaper, even if he had ever such a good business.

2.—If the paper agrees with your ways of thinking subscribe and pay for it, and persuade your neighbors of the same mind to "go and do likewise." Do not tell the editor to send your paper without paying, and when you get to owe two or three dollars tell your friends who speak of it, that the paper is of no account, that it will burst up one of these days.

3.—If you have a father, mother, brother, sister or friend of any kind, residing at a distance, and are able, subscribe, pay for and send them a copy.

4.—If you have any printing you wish done, do not "jew" the editor down to a starvation price, and when he comes to make a purchase of you "spike on the tariff."

5.—If you have any advertising or job work to be done, take it to your country paper, except, perhaps, you may wish to advertise in more than one paper.

6.—Do not run off to the city to get your handbills, labels, cards, &c. printed because forsooth, you can get a reduction of a few cents in price. Support your own as you wish to be supported.

7.—If you have the control of any legal advertising, send it to your friend. This kind of business pays better than any other, and the more of it you can send to the editor of your paper, the better for him and it. In proportion to the amount of the receipts of a paper is an editor enabled to make it useful, amusing and entertaining to the community which it is published.

8.—Do not expect much of a paper when an editor is driven to be his own compositor, proof-reader, pressman and "devil."

9.—Do not expect the editor to make honorable mention of you or your business every few weeks for nothing. The space in a paper, and a man's time, are worth something, and every notice comes back to the drawer of the recipient in dollars and cents. An editor should not be allowed to go hungry, barebacked or barefooted. They "eat, drink, and wear, just like other people."

10.—If the editor owes you a shilling, do not chase him from "rosy morn to balmy eve" for it, and when you happen to get the balance on the other side, "cut the gentleman's acquaintance."

11.—Finally, my brethren, if you wish to properly sustain your country paper, to live the balance of your days in peace with God and man, and occupy a seat in Paradise after death, practice the Golden Rule—"Do unto others as you would wish they would do unto you," under like circumstances.

Forethought.

If a man faints away, instead of yelling out like a savage, or running to him to lift him up, lay him at full length on his back on the floor, loosen the clothing, push the crowd away so as to allow the air to reach him and let him alone. Dashing water over a person in a simple fainting-fit is a barbarity, and soils the clothes unnecessarily. The philosophy of a fainting-fit is, the heart fails to send the proper supply of blood to the brain; if the person is erect, that blood has to be thrown uphill; but if lying down, it has to be projected horizontally—which requires less power, is apparent.

If a person swallows a poison, deliberately or by chance, instead of breaking out into multitudinous and incoherent exclamations dispatch some one for a doctor; meanwhile run to the kitchen, get half a glass of water, in anything that is handy, put into it a teaspoonful of salt and as much ground mustard, stir it an instant, catch a firm hold of the person's nose, the mouth will soon fly open, then down with the mixture, and in a second or two up will come the poison. This will answer in a larger number of cases than any other. If by this time, the physician has not arrived, make the patient swallow the white of an egg, followed by a cup of strong coffee (because these nullify a larger number of poisons than any other accessible articles), as antidotes for what remains in the stomach.

If a limb or other part of the body is severely cut, and the blood comes out by spirals or jerks, press firmly, as the doctor says, be in a hurry, or the man will be dead in five minutes; there is no time to talk or send for a physician; say nothing, but with your handkerchief, throw it around the limb, tie the two ends together, put a stick through them, twist it around, tighter and tighter, until the blood ceases to flow. But stop, it does no good. Why? Because only a severed artery throws blood out in jets, and the arteries get their blood from the heart; hence, to stop the flow, the remedy must be applied between the heart and the wounded spot—in other words, above the wound. If a vein had been severed, the blood would have flowed in regular stream, and slowly, and on the other hand, the tie should be applied below the wound, or on the other side of the wound from the heart, because the blood in the veins flows towards the heart, and there is no need of such a hurry.—Hall's Journal of Health.

A Silencing Retort.

In a small town in one of the counties of Ohio, a stranger rode up to the door of a tavern, and having dismounted, ordered a stall and some oats for his horse. A crowd of loafers—that class of independent citizens who are never equal to decent men except on election day—swarmed about the bar-room and steps, waiting to be invited up to the counter. Among this crowd the stranger's business was at once the subject of impertinent speculation. One, more impudent than the rest, made free to inquire of the traveler what occupation he followed, to which the latter replied that his business was a secret one at present, but that he would make it known before leaving town.

the law, and the rich do not. To permit fraud is akin to committing fraud. The wrong we suffer to be done is not far from the wrong we do, and omission may draw after it as long a train of evil as commission.

—Cambridge Chronicle.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, March 26th, 1859.

MELANCHOLY AFFAIR.—It is with regret we record the untimely death of Major J. L. Gregg, Chief Engineer of the Florida Railroad, and son-in-law of Samuel Curtis, Esq., of this town, who was shot dead at Jacksonville, Fla., on the 19th inst., by Alfred T. Seagr, a contractor, who, it is said, belongs to one of the Bridgewaters in this State, where his wife and family are now residing. Mr. Gregg was unmarried. The telegraph reports that great excitement prevails in the city of the outrage, and that lynch law is threatened to the assassin, who is now in jail. The remains of Mr. Gregg will probably reach this place on Sunday morning—his wife and family having them in charge. We know Mr. Gregg to be an honest, peaceable and warm-hearted gentleman, universally esteemed by a large circle of acquaintances who valued his courteous society.

SCHOOL BOOKS.—One of the most important acts passed by the Legislature this winter is the law to prevent the too frequent change of "Text Books" in our public schools. The expense of the changes amounts in the aggregate, to a very large sum. The changes are sometimes desirable and necessary, it cannot be denied of late years that they have been too frequent. The law now in force, is as follows:

SECT. 1. The School Committee of each city or town, or otherwise, a sufficient supply of school books for the public schools, and shall give notice of the place where such books may be obtained; and the books shall be supplied to the scholars at such prices as merely to reimburse the city or town the expense of the same.

SECT. 2. No change in the school books used in the public schools shall be hereafter made, except by the unanimous consent of the School Committee of the city or town in which such change is proposed: Provided, however, that whenever the School Committee shall consist of a greater number than nine, and questions relating to school books shall be referred to a sub-committee of the same, the consent of two-thirds of said sub-committee, and the concurrence of a majority of the members present, at any meeting of the Board called for the purpose, shall be requisite for such change.

SECT. 3. Whenever a change is made, as provided by the second section of this act, each pupil then belonging to the public schools, and requiring the substituted books, shall be furnished with the same by the School Committee thereof, at the expense of said city or town.

CAUTION TO ANIMALS.—The Legislature has passed an act, which has received the approval of the Governor, to the effect that "Every person who shall cruelly beat, maim or torture any animal, shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail or house of correction not more than one year, or by a fine, not exceeding one hundred dollars." Brutal teamsters and drivers of horses had better make a note of this law.

CLOTHING.—Jackson & Merrill, of Boston, with their usual perseverance, have commenced the spring campaign in earnest. Their stock is replete with all the most desirable styles and fabrics of the season. The custom department is controlled by artists of acknowledged superiority, with a stock of cloths equal to the desires of all. Their facilities in doing business extend more real inducements to purchasers than any other clothing house in that city, which will be fully demonstrated to all who give them a call.

HATS.—Hats, new, good and handsome. Everybody should see C. C. Gil & Co.'s new assortment of black and light hats, low, medium and high crowns, of the best stock, well made and every way adapted to please.

"OUR FLAG." Congress passed an Act in 1818, providing that one "New Star" shall be added to the National Flag on the 4th of July next succeeding the admission of a new State. So that the number will remain thirty-two until the next 4th of July, after which it will be thirty-three.

A MERITED COMPLIMENT. We learn with pleasure, that Joseph W. Robertson, Esq., of this town, has been appointed by the Governor and Council, a Justice of the Peace for the County of Norfolk.

SICKLES' TRIAL. The New York daily papers will contain the full trial of Hon. Daniel E. Sickles for the murder of Dr. Burton Key, at Washington City. All who wish an early copy, should immediately give their orders to West, the news carrier in this town.

TO READERS AND WRITERS. The letter from our Paris correspondent we are obliged to omit as well as Dr. Babbitt's article, until our next issue. Several advertisements are deferred, and the reader's attention is particularly called to our advertising columns of this week.

Boston Correspondence.

Boston, March 24, 1859.

Building operations—encouraging to mechanics.—Legislature—Judges.

The mild weather, of the past week has given increased animation to business operations here, particularly building. No less than six churches are to be erected or finished the present year in Boston. While costly granite and freestone ware houses are to be built in business quarters throughout the city, the South End is to take the lead in the march of improvement, particularly at the Back Bay and Beacon Street extension. All of the streets, with vacant lots at the south part of the city, are to be more or less built up the present year. Indeed, this portion of Boston is rapidly improving, and is sought as the favorite residence of new and many old residents of the Tremont City. It is said our main thoroughfare, Washington Street, will receive many additions and improvements. This unusual enterprise in building, will, to some extent, re-animate the granite business of your town, now more dull than it has been known for many years. Our stone contractors and operatives should not despair, for with them good times are surely coming.

Our Legislature continues remarkably diligent though somewhat erratic in its movements. Many bills that reach a third reading, become rejected; a reconsideration is moved, they come up again and are passed. This was the case on the resolve to purchase the Hancock House for $100,000. After an animated debate, it was finally settled in the House by the passage of the Resolves. The deed is done, and the venerable mansion of Governor Hancock, on Beacon Street, will soon be the property of the Commonwealth.

It was not a party question, but the strength of its advocates was found in the ratio of its distances as residents from the metropolis. The country members from the far off towns, not regarding the purchase with much favor. The great bill for reforming the Judiciary has successfully passed the ordeal of the House—the Senate has still to act on it. The annexation of Roxbury to Boston is a failure, the bill having been rejected.

The Act creating the new town of Belmont has passed, much to the chagrin of the people of West Cambridge, of which it was formerly a part. Great rejoicings followed by the inhabitants of the new town.

The bill establishing the new Superior Court, "having the same powers and jurisdiction in all actions and proceedings at law, whether civil or criminal, as the Supreme Judicial Court, the Court of Common Pleas, and the Municipal Court of the city of Boston," is one of great importance, and will result about a dozen judges, who but a short time since, thought themselves secure on the w. lack for life. Eleven new judges are to be appointed by the Governor and Council, whom I doubt not will make judicious selections.

The Courts of Probate and Insolvency consolidated last winter session, remain untouched, they having been found to work advantageously. You are aware that there are thirteen in number, or one to each county. The Hon. George White of your town is one of the youngest judges of these Courts in Massachusetts. He succeeded during the past year a very popular and excellent man as Probate Judge; and his warmest friends entertained some solicitude for his success. These apprehensions are dispelled. He has already established for himself a good reputation for judicial qualification. His success is not to be wondered at, for it is the result of untiring application and diligence on all matters coming before him for advice, in his profession. For a few weeks past, by reason of the illness of Judge Ames, of Suffolk County, Judge White has acted in a double capacity of presiding Judge of the Probate and Insolvent Courts for the Counties of Norfolk and Suffolk. Of course, his labors have been very extensive. But he has acquitted himself in the Courts here, as in his own County, in an able, dignified and satisfactory manner.

Judge White has been recently appointed by the Corporation of Harvard University, a visitor to that venerable seat of literature, for examining the students in certain branches of their studies. This is significant of his standing in our literary community as a good scholar.

LIKENESS.—We learn that I. H. Boston will remain in this town a short time longer, and those who wish splendid life-like Androgynes or Melanotopes should give him an immediate call. Pictures from twenty-five cents to ten dollars, all warranted.

CLAM CHOWDER. "Yankee Seth," at Shaw's Saloon, is prepared, to-day and evening, to answer all orders.

In Brittany, France, the young girls go to fetes and parties to pick up a husband, and every one wears a row of buttons on her jacket, for every hundred francs worth of property she possesses. Some of them are rich, and they take good care that the rest shall know it.

CLAM CHOWDER. "Yankee Seth," at Shaw's Saloon, is prepared, to-day and evening, to answer all orders.

In Brittany, France, the young girls go to fetes and parties to pick up a husband, and every one wears a row of buttons on her jacket, for every hundred francs worth of property she possesses. Some of them are rich, and they take good care that the rest shall know it.

New Stores in Boston. The Melodeon edifice, on the site of the once famous Lion Tavern, on Washington street, Boston, where, is to be torn down, and the owner, Hon. Charles Francis Adams, of this town, will erect on the premises, a building for stores in the lower part, with a hall overhead. The work of demolition will commence about the first of May.

CALL AND SEE. The Boston and New York Furnishing Store for ladies and children, No. 233, Washington street, Boston, is the largest establishment of the kind in New England. An advertisement from which will be found in another column.

A CONVENIENT BUSINESS EXCHANGE has been opened at 15 Kilby street, Boston, under the title of the "Mercantile Club Rooms." The business men in this community, as well as those of the principal cities and towns in the vicinity of Boston, have long felt the necessity of a convenient place, where they could make appointments to meet in Boston for the purpose of transacting business. At these rooms they have just such a retreat as has been desired, where they can meet for the transaction of business, or for lunch or dinner, in a social way, without intrusion, and with every convenience of newspapers, desks and stationery, &c., and for the quick and satisfactory dispatch of business.

Special Notices.

SPIRITUALISTS MEETING. Services, usual hours, forenoon and afternoon in Johnson's (Maine) Hall, Mrs. M. S. Townsend will speak to-morrow forenoon and afternoon.

NOTICE. The members of the Hancock Light Guard are hereby notified to meet at their Armory, THIS EVENING, at 7 1/2 o'clock, on business of interest and welfare to the Company.

Per order of the Commander,
Quincy, March 26. 1w

MERCANTILE CLUB. 15 KILBY STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

GENTLEMEN: This Establishment is entirely on a new principle, and is strictly for the Mercantile interest. There is, from 11 to 2 o'clock each day, a Lunch, and a Table d'Hôte from 4 to 6, strictly on the Club House principle. There are regular files of the journals of the United States and Europe, embracing Mercantile, Literary, Political and Sporting matter. There is a Bulletin of the current events happening each day.

We have the honor to extend an invitation to gentlemen, assuring them that they will meet with nothing but strictly gentlemanly intercourse.

RUSSELL SMITH,
THOMAS WILSON, } Proprietors.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 11th inst., George, son of Mr. George and Mrs. Josephine Wyman, aged 8 weeks.

In Milton, on the 19th inst., Mr. Thomas Williams, of consumption, aged 43 years.

In South Boston, Sukoy Foster, widow of the late Dea. Adam Bent, aged 75 years.

Auction.

WILL be sold at Public Auction, on TUESDAY, March 26th, at 1 o'clock A. M., at Hudson's Cove, Gloucester, 2 pairs Lyng Red Working Steers, 2 Gery-manders, 2 High-wheeled Drays, 2 Dericks, with Gays, &c., complete, Lot of Chains, Bars, Hammers, Wedges, &c.

Also, Tools and Machinery in Blacksmith Shop. Also, about 450 tons Granite, as it now lies.

The above being the property of the late firm of Torrey & Putnam, and sold on credit of whom it may concern.

TERMS CASH.
ANDREW ELWELL, Auctioneer.
Roxbury, March 26. 1w

Vessels at Auction.

WILL be sold at Auction, on TUESDAY, April 12, at 11 o'clock A. M., as they now lie in Vincent Cove, near Spring Street, Gloucester:

SLOOP WILLIAM JAMES. Has a suit of sails but little worn, and has everything ready for work.

—AT—
SLOOP ELIZABETH. ANDREW ELWELL, Auctioneer.
Roxbury, March 26. 3w

Real Estate at Auction.

WILL be sold at Public Auction, on THURSDAY, April 7, at 3 o'clock, P. M.:

That Valuable Piece of Land, containing about three quarters of an Acre, with a choice lot of Apple, Pear and Cherry Trees, standing thereon, situated on Washington street, and owned by William L. Marden.

Conditions at Sale.
EBEN ADAMS, Auctioneer.
Quincy, March 26. 2w

New Grass Seed

50 TO 75 BUSHELS of Northern Herd's Grass, Red Top, and Clover Seed, just received and for sale at Boston prices.

—ALSO—
75 bushels of Seed Barley, of first quality, by
GEORGE L. BAXTER & CO.
Quincy, March 26. 1f

For Sale,

ABOUT 40 Cords of good old Cow Manure, suitable for Gardens.

Apply to
CHARLES A. SPEAR,
or JOHN Q. A. FIELD.
Quincy, March 19. 1f

Something New.

WE have just added to our stock of PAPER HANGINGS, a large lot of the latest styles, received direct of the manufacturers, which we shall sell cheap.

DANIEL BAXTER & CO.
Quincy, March 26. 1f

Paper Hangings.

JUST received, and for sale by the Subscribers, an assortment of Paper Hangings, which will be sold as low as can be bought elsewhere.

GEORGE L. BAXTER & CO.
Quincy, March 26. 1f

For Sale.

A NEW two story Building, partly unfinished, on a Quarter of an Acre of Land in Union street. Terms easy. Inquire of
C. NEWCOMB.
Quincy, March 26. 1m

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

AT AUCTION.

WILL be sold at Public Auction, on SATURDAY, April 9, at 3 o'clock P. M.:

The Property formerly owned by Amos Buckman, situated on a private way leading from Mount Pleasant street, in South Quincy, consisting of a modern and well built one and one half story Dwelling House, containing eight rooms, also a Carpenter's Shop, with about half an acre of Land, and several Fruit Trees.

A Part of the Purchase Money may remain on Mortgage, if desired.

—ALSO—
Five House Lots on Mount Pleasant street. This Property is situated within four minutes' walk from a Depot, Public Schools, and Messrs. A. Curtis & Co.'s Boot Manufactory. For further particulars enquire of LIRA LITCHFIELD.

EBEN ADAMS, Auctioneer.
Quincy, March 26. 3w

Executor's Sale of

REAL ESTATE

IN BRAINTREE.

THE Real Estate belonging to the late Deacon David Hollis, will be sold at Public Auction, by order of the Judge of Probate and Insolvency, on FRIDAY, the 15th day of April next, the sale to commence at one o'clock in the afternoon.

The several Lots will be sold upon the Premises, and in the order here mentioned: Lot No. 1.—About Seventeen Acres of Pasture Land, lying on West street, and known as "Clay Swamp."

Lot No. 2.—About Seven Acres of Wood Land, adjoining Lot No. 1, and known as "Little Pasture."

Lot No. 3.—About Forty Acres of Tillage and Wood Land, adjoining Lot No. 2, and known as "Whitmarsh Plain."

Lot No. 4.—About Nine and a Half Acres of Land, adjoining Lot No. 3, and known as "Vernal Plain."

Lot No. 5.—One undivided fourth part of the Lyceum Store, and at the same place, a Horse Shed in the rear of the First Parish Meeting House.

Lot No. 6.—The Homestead of said deceased, consisting of about Six Acres of Land, and the Buildings standing thereon. This place is situated within a quarter of a mile of the North Braintree Depot, and in a good state of cultivation, offers unusual inducements to purchasers.

Conditions made known at the sale.

DAVID N. HOLLIS, Executor.
JONATHAN FRENCH, Auctioneer.
Braintree, March 23. 3w

Administrator's Sale

OF

REAL ESTATE.

PURSUANT to a License granted by the Judge of Probate and Insolvency for the County of Norfolk, will be sold at Public Auction, on the twenty-fifth day of April next, at two o'clock in the afternoon, at the late residence of CALVIN WHITE, late of Braintree, deceased, a Farm, consisting of about Sixty Acres, described as follows:

About Nine Acres Mowing Land, near and adjoining the residence of the deceased, on the west side of Commercial street.

—ALSO—About Thirty-Six Acres of Land, with Buildings thereon, on the east side of Commercial street.

—ALSO—About two Acres of Mowing Land, on the corner of Shaw and Allen streets.

—ALSO—A Wharf and Stone House, occupied by Stetson & Bowditch, on Shaw street.

—ALSO—About Six Acres of Salt Meadow, situated in Quincy and County of Norfolk, known as the Rye Island Meadow.

—ALSO—About two Acres of Salt Meadow, situated in Quincy, and owned in common with Lemuel Vessey, called the Germantown Meadow.

Most of this Farm is situated on the south side of Penn's Hill, is well watered, with good buildings thereon, and abundance of Fruit Trees of various kinds.

All the above being the Estate of Calvin White, late of said Braintree, deceased.

For particulars enquire of Austin White, south side Penn's Hill.

AUSTIN WHITE, Administrator.
Braintree, March 26. 2w

In Insolvency.

NORFOLK, ss.—In the matter of SAMUEL ALLEN, of Medway, in said County, Insolvent Debtor, pending before William L. Walker, Esq., Commissioner of Insolvency.

Notice is hereby given, that an adjourned third meeting of the creditors of said insolvent will be held on the 1st of MONDAY, being the fourth day of April next, at 11 o'clock A. M., at the Probate Court Room, in Webster Hall, in Roxbury, in said County of Norfolk, at which meeting creditors may be present and prove their claims—and third meeting having been adjourned to that time and place.

A. R. MORSE, } Assignee.
V. R. COMBES, }
Medway, March 16, 1859. 2w

Seed Potatoes.

A SUPERIOR LOT of

WHITE CHENAGONES,
JACKSON WHITES,
STATE OF MAINE,
JENNY LINDS
and DAVIS SEEDLING POTATOES, now in store, suitable for Seed, which we will sell low.

DANIEL BAXTER & CO.
Quincy, March 26. 1f

SEED POTATOES.

200 TO 300 BUSHELS of Seed of White Chenagones, Davis Seedlings, Jackson Whites, Nova Scotia Chenagones, and Long Reds, for sale cheap for cash, by
GEORGE L. BAXTER & CO.
Quincy, March 26. 1f

TO BE LET,

THE residence of the late Wm. Torrey, on Granite street, in Quincy, two minutes' walk from the Railroad Station, consisting of one House, finished, Stable attached, together with one Acre of Land, with a great number of choice Fruit Trees.

Also—Two Lots of Land, near said place, to let together or separately.

Possession given immediately. Enquire on the premises, of MRS. WILLIAM TORREY.
Quincy, March 26. 1f

Wanted.

THE Subscribers have just received a fresh supply of NORTHERN CLOVER, RED TOP, and HERD'S GRASS SEED,
of the new crop.

Purchasers are wanted for the same. Apply at the store of
DANIEL BAXTER & CO.
Quincy, March 26. 1f

$300.

AN APPEAL TO THE PUBLIC.

WE WANT YOUR DECISION.

We are prepared to sell for the

LOW PRICE

—OR—

$300

A GOOD FASHIONABLE BUSINESS SUIT, Fully equal to any that can be purchased elsewhere for DOUBLE THAT SUM.

EVERY ARTICLE OF OUR IMMENSE STOCK, COMPRISING SELECTIONS FROM THE Choicest Stocks
OF THE
NEW YORK MARKET.

WE NOW OFFER AT Prices Proportionably Low.

LANE'S GREAT BARGAIN STORE, 32 Dock Square.

March 26. 3w

Look at This.

MESSRS. BEAN & CLAYTON

WOULD respectfully inform their customers and the public generally, that by a few years of sad experience, we have come to the conclusion that the only true principle for Retail Clothing Dealers is to SELL FOR CASH, which will enable the seller to sell for LESS PROFITS, and the buyer will be more likely to get his money's worth.

Now to save our good customers from paying the debts of our bad ones, we take this opportunity to inform them and the public generally that on and after April 1, 1859, we shall sell

FOR CASH ONLY.

We hope this step we are about to take will meet the views of all our patrons and friends.

BEAN & CLAYTON,
No. 2 Union Street, - - Boston.

CORNER ELM STREET.
March 26. 6w

203 Washington Street.

BOSTON AND NEW YORK

Ladies' and Children's Furnishing Store.

MRS. WYMAN now invites the attention of the Ladies of Boston and vicinity, to her new and well selected Stock of Goods, to suit the wants of all, for cash. Dress Makers, and all others, will find a choice selection of patterns, trimmings or plain from Europe and New York. Goods of all kinds for sale as low as can be bought elsewhere. Inviting all, with many thanks for the past liberal patronage which she has received from all parts of the world.

Dress Making, by an experienced workman. Ladies', Misses' and Boys' Suits, ready made.

Infant's Wardrobe complete, unequalled in style and beauty.

Dress Making taught, and Diagrams for sale. Lessons given in Embroidery, Starching and Stamping done to order.

Best Watch Spring Skirts for Ladies and Children.

Grave Clothes ready made, or made to order.

293 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON.
Boston, March 26. 6w

Kessenger's Notice.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK, ss. Randolph, March 21st, 1859.

HON. GEORGE WHITE, Judge of Probate and Insolvency, in and for the County of Norfolk, has tested a Warrant against the Goods and Estate of

HENRY L. CUSHING,

of Dorchester, in said County, Trader, an Insolvent Debtor, and the payment of any debts, on the delivery of any Property, belonging to said Insolvent Debtor, and the transfer of any Property by him, are forbidden by law.

A meeting of the Creditors of said Insolvent Debtor will be held at a Court of Insolvency, to be held at Dedham, in said County, at the Insolvency Court Room, on the First Monday of April next, at 9 o'clock, in the forenoon, for a purpose of Debts, and the choice of an Assignee or Assignees.

J. T. JORDAN, } Deputy Sheriff,
Messenger.
March 26. 2w

To the Honorable Judge of Probate and Insolvency, for the County of Norfolk.

THE Petition of Joseph A. Arnold, Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

SAMUEL FRENCH, 2d.

late of Braintree, in said County, Farmer, deceased, respectfully represents, that the said deceased had at the time of his death, Real Estate, consisting of his Homestead, bet g a House and outhouse, and about Fourteen Acres of land, situated in the Town of Braintree, in said County, and about Six Acres of Pasture Land, called "Great Swamp Hill," and about Six Acres of Woodland, near the house of Adam French, all of said premises being and being claimed by the said Samuel French, and that the said Samuel French, at the time of said deceased, for just debts, including funeral expenses, amount to $1623 61, and that the charges of a minute return are $103, making his Personal Estate $—, being insufficient to pay the said debts, and other claims against the said Samuel French, two of whom are minors, to-wit: the said Adam French, son of the said Samuel French, and Charles A. Arnold, and the said Administrator therefore prays that he may be licensed and empowered to sell and convey as will produce said sum of $1726 61.

JOSEPH A. ARNOLD, Adm.

J. H. COBB, Reg.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Office, Mar. 19, A. D. 1859.

THE petition of Joseph A. Arnold, Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

SAMUEL FRENCH, 2d.

late of Braintree, in said County, Farmer, deceased, praying that he may be licensed to sell and convey certain Real Estate of said Samuel French, 2d.

ORDERED. That the said Joseph A. Arnold, duly attested person interested in the Estate of said Samuel French, do appear at a Court of Probate to be held at Roxbury, in said County, on the sixteenth day of April, A. D. 1859, at two o'clock in the afternoon, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said Petition should not be granted, by producing an attested copy of the said Samuel French's will, and three or more credible witnesses, with these affidavits, three weeks previously in the newspapers, called the Quincy Patriot, printed at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk.

GEORGE WHITE, } Judge of Probate
& Insolvency.
Braintree, March 26. 3w

Doct and Shoe Findings!

KNIVES, NAILS, PEGS, BRISTLES, THREAD, AWLS, KITTLES, RASPS, BITTERS, TACKS, &c.

A good Assortment—low for Cash.

J. FRANKLIN BURRELL.
Quincy, March 12.

Weymouth and Braintree

Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Poetry.

The Procession of the Months.

On New Year's Eve I sat me down, and looked Into the clear blank air, wherein anon
I saw as moving visions, these—the Months.

Black January, stern, and hard and cold, —
Inexorable vanguard of the year;

His brother following close, with head bent down,
And eyes avert, and lagging, painful tread.

Then March—the young and lusty. In his breath
Is life—full, daring, feverish, and wild,
Eager and fatal as a thoughtless love.

Passionate April—girl-child of the year—
Weeping her heart out on the lap of spring,
Until the May-time cometh, flowery fair,
And all the earth smiles back the smile of heaven.

June—thrilling, tremulous with coming joy,
Her rosy pulses thrilling all the air.

And rich July, oppressed with empery,
Bathed in a flood of gold and tawny rest
By starlight, with low sighs and murmurings.

August, queen-regent, born unto the throne,
Holding her state with bland, assured content,
Gracious and regal-generous, large of heart.

September—gentle matron—with sweet eyes
And a low voice that penetrates, persuades,
And looks of love, and tender, guiding hands.

October, with a calm and thoughtful brow,
But quick decisions in the look of him,
And a great will that may not be gaudied.

Subbing November cometh, veiled in mist,
And weeps lamenting o'er the faded earth.

And then the last—December—takes its rank
Submissive, and contented to be old,
Grateful for unthought rays of happiness,
And ever mindful of the holy time
That cometh towards the end.

So they passed on—
The Months, in long procession, glad to go Unto the goal of all things—even to God.

The Consoler.

In winter when the trees are bare,
And nights are numbing;
When in the damp and chilly air
The birds are numbing;
When from winds rattle on the road
And nip our fingers,
There is a comforter abroad
Who never lingers;
Ever he sings in silent ways —
The winter closes;
Tis I restore the summer days;
Time brings the roses.

When summer heats our veins oppress,
And the winds swell;
When faint with noon-tide saltiness
We pine for shelter;
When, weary with the daily walk
O'er mud and gravel;
We long for change, for fire-side talk,
And the lamp's shadow—
Still sings the soothe of our woes—
"To sigh is folly;
Tis I restore the summer days;
Time brings the roses.

True friend!—too often called a foe—
He prompts all gladness;
He whispers warmth when cold winds blow,
And joy in sadness;
He lights the darkness of to-day
With promised morrows,
And has some kindly word to say,
In all our sorrows.
For every grief he has a spell—
Care's best controller;
And loves all those who use him well—
Tis he, the Consoler!

Our Country—A Little Bagg

Greatest country! bravest people!
Finest churches—tallest steeples;
Fastest horses—fairest women;
Biggest lakes that fishes swim in;
Most of railroads; longest rivers—
Beats creation—all to shew;
Never flinching—never flinching;
Some of one thing—mostly pumpkin;
Jumps the highest—squats the lowest;
Runs the fastest—walks the slowest;
More disasters—more delusions;
More confessions—more confusions.
Who can beat us? who outdo us?
Who can hold a candle to us?

Anecdotes.

A Frenchman being about to remove his shop, his landlord inquired the reason; stating at the same time that it was considered a very good stand for the business. The Frenchman replied, with a shrug of the shoulders:

Oh, yes he's very good stand for de business, me stand all day, for nobody come to make me move.

Sammy, my son, how many weeks belong to the year?
Forty-six, sir.
Why Sammy, how do you make that out?
The other six are lent.

An idle man once asked a coal merchant what a peck of coal, multiplied by eight, divided by four, with a ton added to them, and a bushel subtracted, would come to.

Well, said the coal merchant, "if you burn them they'll come to ashes."

A person was remarking the other day, how very cheap everything had got.
Not everything, replied a friend.
Why, what is not?

Woman!
Oh, I forgot women are always dear.

Oh, she was a jewel of a wife, said Pat, mourning over the loss of his better half;
she always struck me with the soft end of the mop.

I say, Tom, said a precocious youngster, about as high as a dinner table, to a companion as well covered with rag as himself; I say Tom, I think I'm growing stronger every day since I began chewing tobacco!

NATHANIEL WHITE,

LUMBER,

Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand

Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,

QUINCY CANAL WHARF.

July 10, 1852.

SEASONED LUMBER,

DIMENSION FRAMES,

Best quality of Lumber constantly on hand.

Also—Good Pine Wood at $6 a Cord.

For sale at BRACKETT'S WHARF.

Quincy, May 8.

FISHER A. KINGSBURY,

Counsellor at Law,

Commissioner for the States of
MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VER-
MONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE ISLAND and NEW YORK.

Weymouth, Mass.
Nov. 26.

ATTENTION.

The Largest and Most Complete

ASSORTMENT OF

HARDWARE!

DOORS, CASES, &c. &c.

Ever offered to the people of Quincy, may be found by calling upon

Bailey, Carver & Co.

Having recently made large additions to our stock of

BUILDING MATERIALS,

we are prepared to furnish them at prices to cor-
respond with the times.

CHEAPER THAN EVER!!

We will sell Nails by the Ton or single Pound.

DOORS,

SASHES,

BLINDS,

WINDOW GLASS,

NAILS,

SHEET LEAD,

FRAMING PINS,

WINDOW FRAMES,

DOOR BELLS,

SCREWS,

&c., &c.

MORTICE LOCKS,—in a great variety

Also—Pail, Rim, Closet, Store and Sash

LOCKS;

MORTICE, THUMB AND PEOPLE'S

LATCHES;

Porcelain, Glass, Mineral and Mahogany Knobs;

BLAKE'S BUTTS,

AND AXLE PULLEYS.

A good assortment of Hinges of all kinds.

Wrought, Fine, Plate,

STRAP, BLIND AND TUNGES;

SHOVELS; DOOR SCRAPERS;

Also, Patent Lever Blind Fastenings—Crawell's improved Blind Fastenings. Also—A great variety of Sash Fastenings.

Foster's Patent Window Supporter,

The best things ever used in the place of weights;
DOOR BELLS HUNG TO ORDER.

DON'T FORGET

AT THE OLD STAND OF
BAILEY, CARVER & CO.,
SCHOOL STREET.

Quincy, Jan. 23.

GRANULAR FUEL.

Patented, June, 1852.

Manufactured from Brushwood and Twigs

For Kindling Coal Fires

AND all purposes for which a quick hot fire is needed. It is intended

By its Cheapness and Cleanliness

TO SUPERSEDE CHARCOAL.

It is especially adapted for Summer Use, when a quick fire is wanted but short time. As it can be used in all kinds of stoves, and being allowed to go out immediately after using, enables the consumer to practice Economy.

The extreme low price of this Fuel is also a great advantage, being but one-half the price of charcoal. It kindles quick, is clean and cheap,
and will be sold and delivered at the following
low prices for cash—

Under 25 bushels, 10 cents per bushel.

Over 25 " " " " " "

Orders left at the Store of E. Clapp, Henry A.
Newcomb, Peter W. Newcomb, Quincy Point, or
at Badger & Hanson's Machine Shop, will be
promptly attended to.

MANUFACTURED AND SOLD BY

GEORGE SAVIL,
Rear of Badger & Hanson's—Cemetery st.

Quincy, Aug. 14.

Pickles.

50 GALLONS of Pickles just received and
for sale cheap for cash.

GEORGE L. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Feb. 28.

Pure Cider Vinegar.

800 GALLONS PURE CIDER VIN-
EGAR, made on the farm formerly owned by B. V. French, now in store and for sale by the barrel or smaller quantity, by

GEORGE L. BAXTER, & CO.
Quincy, Aug. 15.

Boot and Shoe Findings.

JUST received and for sale low, a lot of Boot
and Shoe Kit, Findings, &c., by

Quincy, Apr. 18.

Fresh Tamarinds,

FOR sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Oct. 16.

QUINCY BOOKSTORE

—AND—

BOOK BINDERY.

Established in the Year 1838.

BOOKS, STATIONERY

AND

FANCY GOODS!

C. GILL & CO. have always on hand a large assortment of the above—being fully prepared to meet all the wants of this market.

BLANK BOOKS

of any particular pattern, made to order.

STATIONERY, IN GREAT VARIETY,
at the lowest prices.

Miscellaneous and Juvenile Books,

will be sold low.

ALL SCHOOL BOOKS,

used in this and neighboring towns,
at publishers' prices.

Book Binding.

ALL KINDS OF

MAGAZINES, PAMPHLETS,

SHEET MUSIC, &c.

bound in a neat and durable style.

"Small Profit" to ensure "Ready Sales."

Full equivalent for your money.

Twenty years' practice has proved these rules to be good ones, and we shall continue to be governed by them, in all branches of our business.

C. GILL & CO.

HANCOCK STREET.

Quincy, March 20.

New Store! New Goods!

B. F. MESERVEY,

HAVING returned to Quincy and taken the Store, one door north of David B. Stevens's Variety Store, in

JOHNSON'S BUILDING.

Will keep constantly on hand, a large stock of

Gold and Silver Watches,

Fob, Curb and Vest Chains,

LOCKETS,

Cameo, Gold Stone, Jet, Florentine, Painted,
Coral and Mosaic Jewelry.

GOLD BRACELETS, BELT PINS,

Gents' Pins and Studs,

FINGER RINGS.

Together with a large assortment of

Silver and Plated Ware,

Clocks and Fancy Goods.

Having his Goods direct from the manufacturer, he will be enabled to sell them much less than the usual retail prices. He will also keep a

LARGER STOCK

than ever offered before in Quincy.

All Goods warranted as represented.

Old Gold and Silver taken in exchange.

(33) Coffin Plates Engraved. (33)

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired in a faithful manner, and done when PROMISED.

Quincy, Oct. 24.

GROCERIES, FLOUR,

—AND—

PROVISIONS!

THE Subscriber would respectfully invite the Inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity to call
and examine his stock of Groceries, Flour and Provisions, where they will find a

Good assortment of all kinds
of Goods kept commonly in a Grocery Store,
which he will sell at the lowest wholesale prices.

A few more chests of Old Hyson Tea at 25 cents
per pound.

50 Tubs of prime dairy Butter.

200 Bushels of Chenango and Long Red Potatoes.

All those in want of Goods will find it to their interest to call and examine, as they will find a good assortment of the lowest prices.

(33) Goods delivered to any part of the Town
free of expense.

H. VINAL,
at the Old Stand of Faxon & Brothers,
Quincy, Oct. 27.

National Police Gazette.

THIS Great Journal of Crime and Criminals
is in its Twelfth Year, and is widely circulated throughout the country. It contains all the Great Trials, Criminal Cases, and appropriate Editorials on the same, together with information
on Criminal Matters not to be found in
any other newspaper.

Subscription, $2 per annum; $1 for six months, to be remitted by subscribers, (who should write their names and the town, county
and state where they reside plainly.)

GEORGE W. MATSELL, CO.,
Editors & Proprietors of the
National Police Gazette.
New York City, Apr. 25.

The Atlantic Cable.

HAS been successfully laid, and Foreign Goods of the latest styles are received every week, and sold on the most reasonable terms by

ELBRIDGE CLAPP, Hancock st.
Quincy, Aug. 21.

Boots and Shoes.

ELBRIDGE CLAPP has just received a full assortment of Boots and Shoes, suitable for the season, which he will sell at the

VERY LOWEST PRICES.

Give him a call soon.

A lot of Boots and Shoes slightly worn are offered Very Cheap.

Quincy, July 31.

WHITE HANDS!

PERSIAN BATH

SOAP.

For the Toilet, Bath, Nursery, Shaving,
and for Cleaning the Teeth.

THIS superior Soap will make the HANDS
WHITE and SOFT, and is a certain remedy
for CHAPPED HANDS, TANS, SUN-BURNS,
CHAFING, and all medicinal purposes where a
Healing and Emollient effect is desired.

W. M. SMITH HALL, Sole Proprietor, Quincy, Mass.

C. DYER, Jr., General Travelling Agent.
Price—25 cents per cake.

Sold by MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy Aug 22

C. C. JOHNSON,

Druggist and Apothecary,

GOODNOW'S BUILDING,

CORNER of Hancock and Granite streets,
keeps constantly on hand a large assortment
of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs,
Fancy Articles, Perfumery, Havana Cigars,
Foreign Fruits and Swedish Leeches.

Physicians' Prescriptions.

Carefully compounded, with neatness, accuracy
and despatch; and warranted of the purest quality.

Quincy, Nov. 13.

Important to Housekeepers.

SONERS & CO.'S

POLISH,

Is conceded by all who have used it, to be the BEST ARTICLE for the preservation of the finishing and Polishing Parquet, and Furniture of every description, in the shortest possible time.
Any lady or child can use it. It removes

OIL, GREASE, OR STAINS
of any kind, and will make any article of Furniture look as well as new. It is the best and the best article in use for restoring Carriage Leathers, Harnesses, Patent Leather Boots, &c. &c.
$3 per dozen, or 37 cents Single Bottle.

SOLD BY SONERS & CO.
At his Upholstery Rooms,

265 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

(33) Persons wishing Furniture Repaired or carriage work executed, can have it done at their house, by addressing a line through the mail.

Boston, Jan. 22.

YOU HAD BETTER

TRY

My Mother's Salve

THIS CELEBRATED
PREPARATION has obtained an enviable and world-wide reputation for its great curative properties, and has been the agent for
relieving so many sufferers, restoring them to
health and usefulness, that the proprietors
feel it a duty they owe to the public for their generous patronage, to cause this Salve to be made it accessible to rich and poor, that all afflicted may avail themselves of its healing
qualities.

"My Mother's Salve"

Is a PERFECT CHEMICAL COMPOUND, prepared from ROOTS, HERBS and GUMS, gathered from
the forest, and possesses

HEALING, SOOTHING and PAIN-RELIEVING

VIRTUES

never before combined in a Salve or Ointment.

"My Mother's Salve"

Is SAFE and EFFECTUAL, and all those troubled with RHEUMATISM, SALT RHEUM, ERYSIPELAS, GOUT, PILES, and such like diseases, will find in its use great relief,
and in most cases a permanent cure.

"My Mother's Salve"

Ina BURN or SCALD, takes out the fire,
soothes the irritating pain, and heals the
wound more speedily and effectually than any
other preparation.

"My Mother's Salve"

Is worthy of confidence and thousands having
used it and recommended it to their friends
is a test of its worth. DIRECTIONS FOR USE

Are simple. Every mother and nurse know
how to spread a plaster and dress a sore, and
all who use the Salve will apply it in proportions, renewed at times, as good judgment
may direct. For Rheumatism and other rheumatic parts smartly with the Salve.

In cases of Croup, Tightness of the Lungs, Sore Throat, and such like ailments, rub as cases of Rheumatism. In any case of pain a good result follows the use of this Salve. Pre-
pared by A. M. BECK

BURRELL & HUNTING, Sole Proprietors,
No. 6 Tremont Street, Boston.

For Sale in Quincy by MRS. E. HAYDEN
Oct. 30.

Hall's Great

SCROFULAR REMEDY.

THIS Purely Vegetable Preparation is pleasant
and agreeable to the taste, and simple in its action, causing neither vomiting or purging. It
acts directly upon the primary cause of disease—
regulates the Bowels, removes all vitiated secretions, giving a healthy action to the Liver and correcting tone to the Stomach. It overcomes that feeling of Languor which is often experienced in the Spring and Summer, and renovates and re-